Brief Description: Republican candidates John Kasich and Ted Cruz have agreed to partner in an effort to keep Donald Trump from becoming the party's nominee. The two rivals issued statements on Sunday announcing their new plan. Cruz is reportedly going to focus on Indiana while Kasich will work toward Oregon and New Mexico. Trump is calling the decision desperate.
Name of Story: Cruz and Fiorina	Date: 4/27/16	Newscast: 11P	Reporter: JC
Duration: 0:44
Brief Description: Presidential Ted Cruz is now running with former Hewlett Packard Carly Fiorina as his hopefully vice President. WSL 10's political analyst Ed Lynch says the timing of this announcement is clearly a ploy to direct attention away from his opponent Donald Trump. Lynch says partnering with Fiorina is a strange choice because it doesn't add anything to Cruz's platform. Both Cruz and Fiorina are Tea Party Republicans. Lynch says one possible explanation for Cruz's choice is Fiorina's campaign for Senate in California that gained her popularity there in 2010.
Name of Story: Felon Voting Rights GOP Lawsuit	Date: 5/3/16	Newscast: 5A	Reporter: JZ
Duration: 0:51
Brief Description: Republican lawmakers in Virginia plan to challenge the Governor's Rights Restoration Order. Republican leaders have hired an attorney to challenge the executive order saying governor McAuliffe's quote "Flagrant Disregard" for the constitution can't go unchecked. The governor says he believes that people who served their time should be given a second chance. The Governor's act restores voting and civil rights to more than 200,000 Virginians. Even if this new order is overturned by a judge political experts say it likely won't be in time for this November's Presidential election.

Goodlatte says the US may also need to consider changes to its interrogation methods.
Name of Story: Senate Vote On Gun Bills Date: 6/20/16 Newscast: 7P Reporter: DJ
Duration: 1:43
Brief Description: The senate voted down 4 different measures, including stricter background checks and closing loopholes that would have impacted gun sellers and buyers coast to coast. The vote which stuck mostly to party lines came 8 days after the worst mass shooting in US history. Republicans remain steadfast that the massacre was more of a national security issue with the killers self-proclaimed support to ISIS instead of a reflection of America's gun control situation. But a brand new poll shows a majority of Americans want to see some changes when it comes to gun laws. A CNN poll shows 55% of Americans favor stricter gun laws, up almost 10% since October.
