Last Thursday, Facebook added informational tags to posts that are related to the elections. These labels direct users to informational options, such as the voter information center.

Even so, civil organizations alert the Latino community of their vulnerability to false information. Our correspondent at the White House, Rafael Sánchez Cruz, prepared a report on this matter.

The leaders of three of the world's largest tech companies face a dilemma after a Netflix documentary about the problems caused by their services sparked a Senate hearing scheduled last Wednesday. The CEOs of Facebook, Google and Twitter are accused of censoring their users. The spokeswoman for the Republican National Committee Yalí Núñez reflects on the censorship of Twitter regarding the complaint by Tony Bobulinski, a former partner of Hunter Biden. There is a question on everyone's mind: what will happen on election night? With the coronavirus pandemic sparking mass mail-in votes, calling an official winner will take longer than usual. Due to the way absentee votes are counted in different states, it could take days or weeks before an official result is released. The first polls will close at 6 p.m. ET and the last polls will close at 1 a.m. Eastern time in Alaska. We talked about this and more with the independent political analyst, Carlos Manuel Indacochea from Vienna in the state of Virginia.

Description of Program

President Trump said his campaign team will legally challenge "every state that Biden recently won over." "All the states recently claimed by Biden will be legally challenged by us for electoral fraud and state electoral fraud. There is a lot of evidence, just consult the media. WE WILL WIN!"

The president wrote on his Twitter account. But what legal mechanisms could be used? Constitutional lawyer Angel Leal from Miami, Florida talks to Tsi-tsi-ki Felix about it.

The Joe Biden campaign said that if the ~ Democrat wins the election, the US government will have the power to kick any "intruder" from the White House, alluding to President Donald Trump. A spokesperson for the Biden campaign thus responded to reports from various media that ~ Trump has no intention of accepting a possible defeat and has not prepared a concession speech in the event that media projections give victory to his rival. Tsi-tsi-ki Felix discussed this and more with Jennifer Molina, director of Hispanic media at Biden for President. "I will never stop fighting for re-election," says Trump. The president said he will continue his legal battle, as Joe Biden gets closer to getting enough votes to win the presidency. The president also questioned again "the integrity of the entire electoral process" in his country. Ivan García-Hidalgo from the Hispanic Leadership Council speaks with Tsi-tsi-ki Felix about it.

Zapata, Texas is located in the Rio Grande area, south of Laredo and borders Mexico, and according to the results of the 2020 election of the Texas Secretary of State, in Zapata 3,867 people voted in the presidential election. Of them, 2,032 voted for Donald Trump; and 1,820 by Joe Biden. The difference was just 212 votes, enough to paint the county red. Mercedes Schlapp, senior spokesperson for the Trump-Pence 2020 campaign, spoke to us about these pro-Trump voters. Young people in the United States usually don't go to the polls on election day, according to polls from past elections. Commonly, they are the age group that goes to the polls the least. But, as our correspondent Ronald Moreno tells us, the 2020 elections are expected to reflect a different count.

The news of the week for the Latino community in the United States was the appointment of California Attorney General Xavier Becerra as possible secretary of health and human services for the Biden-Harris administration. Becerra is not a doctor, he does not have any experience in the office that Biden wants to place him, but it seems that diversity matters more in the new cabinet. Our correspondent in the White House Rafael Sanchez-Cruz has the reactions and also in an interview the lawyer Carlos Salvado speaks about it. In other news that impacts our community. This week there was talk of DACA and TPS. The United States government will extend until October 4, 2021, the temporary protected status (TPS) to citizens of El Salvador, Honduras, Haiti, Nicaragua, Nepal and Sudan, according to an announcement published on the page of the Citizenship Service and Immigration (USCIS), this measure favors more than 200 thousand Salvadorans, some 44 thousand Hondurans and 4,508 Nicaraguans. On the other hand, the Trump administration criticized at the beginning of the week the ruling of a federal judge in Brooklyn who reactivated in its entirety the program of deferred action for the arrivals in the childhood (DACA). Juan Escalante, member of the FWDUS Organization, talks to us about it.

This week the president-elect promised that 100 million doses of the COVID-19 vaccine will be administered in his first 100 days in the White House.

But meanwhile the impact on health and finances of the pandemic continues to affect our families, with essential workers the most affected. For many Hispanic women with frontline jobs, social distancing and self-isolation are luxuries that cannot be afforded in addition to lack of access to healthcare, living in multigenerational households, lack of information, and the added stress caused by these factors. many of them are at higher risk for heart attacks.

Dr. Monik Jimenez spokesperson for the American Heart Association speaks to Politics about it.

The Moderna pharmaceutical company announced that its vaccine against covid-19 has been effective up to 95 percent. Rival drugmaker Pfizer announced a week earlier that its vaccine showed similar effectiveness, now both await FDA authorization for use.

Moderna expects to have about 20 million doses, destined for the United States, by the end of 2020. Pfizer and its German partner biontech expect to have about 50 million doses worldwide by the end of the year. On the other hand, the cases of infected by covid 19 in the United States are close to 12 million, and almost 250 thousand deaths. In the world there are already more than 55 million infected and 1.33 million dead. The infectology expert, Dr. Alejandro Macías from León, Guanajuato, Mexico spoke about it. The fear of a closure of the country that would generate a crash in the world stock markets, company bankruptcies, higher unemployment and a chaotic situation has made millions wonder what will happen this winter. Just this week President-elect Joe Biden and Vice President-elect Kamala Harris spoke about an economic recovery and the best long-term reconstruction. When: 10/1/20-12/31/20

Duration: :30 seconds

Description of program:

Thousands of teens in foster care are waiting for the love and support from a family, but unfortunately almost 20,000 young people leave foster care without a family every year. Families that adopt teens provide them with stability during a critical period in their lives. Teens that have been adopted are more likely to graduate, go to college, and be more emotionally secure than their peers that have ‘aged out’ of foster care without the security and encouragement of family. Inspired by real families’ stories, this honest and heartfelt campaign reveals the remarkable value of adoption for both teens and parents. With the tagline, “You can’t imagine the reward,” these emotional messages reassure prospective parents and inspire them to consider adopting a teen. This successful campaign has contributed to the more than 870,000 children and youth that have been adopted from the U.S. foster care system since 2004.

When: 11/15/20 – 12/31/20

Duration: 30 second PSA

Description of program:

Project Roadblock is a multiplatform drunk driving prevention campaign exclusive to local broadcast television stations and is the largest annual station-supported initiative of a single PSA campaign. Sponsored by TVB, the U.S. Department of Transportation's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), and the Ad Council, Project Roadblock inspires dialogue about the dangers of drinking and driving and subsequently motivates men 21-34 years-old to stop driving ‘buzzed.’ Now in its 17th year, Project Roadblock has proven its ability to inspire change, create impact, and save lives. In fact, through continued support of Project Roadblock and in combination with other drinking and driving prevention efforts, alcohol-impaired driving fatalities have decreased 28% from 14,409 in 2004 to 10,511 in 2018. However, there is still more work to be done. In December 2017, over 280 people were involved in an alcohol-impaired driving fatality and 296 people were killed in traffic fatalities on New Year’s Day. With your help this upcoming December, the road to safety continues.

Program: Ad Council – Flu Vaccine PSA

When: October 1, 2020 – December 31, 2020

Length: 30 second

Description of Program

As many as 45 million Americans get sick with the flu each season, resulting in up to 810,000 hospitalizations. Furthermore, longstanding inequities that put undue burden and barriers on Black and Latinx/Hispanic communities have resulted in flu vaccine coverage disparities and disproportionate impacts of the flu. The Flu Vaccination campaign encourages everyone to get a flu shot to protect themselves, their families and their communities—while also saving medical resources that can be used to care for COVID-19 patients. PSAs direct audiences to GetMyFluShot.org for more information, including where to get a flu shot.

Program: Ad Council – Autism Awareness PSA

When: October 1, 2020 – December 31, 2020

Length: 30 & 60 second

Description of Program

Though autism can be reliably diagnosed in children as young as 18 months, most aren't diagnosed until they're between four and five—and studies indicate that age is even higher for low-income and minority children. Research shows that early diagnosis and early intervention is crucial; it can translate to a lifetime of impact by supporting healthy development, improved communication, and overall positive outcomes later in life. Our bilingual campaign featuring Julia, the four-year-old Sesame Street Muppet with autism, shows viewers that the more her family and friends understand her world, the brighter she shines

Program: Ad Council – Alzheimers Awareness PSA

When: October 1, 2020 – December 31, 2020

Length: 30 & 60 second

Description of Program

Close family members know their loved ones best, and are typically the first to notice memory issues or cognitive problems but they're often hesitant to initiate a conversation—even when they know something is wrong. For those with Alzheimer's and their family members, an early diagnosis can help decrease the burden of the disease by allowing more time for critical care planning. That's why it's so important to have these conversations. To tell real, relatable stories of families who have benefited from early detection we created the "Our Stories" campaign in partnership with the Alzheimer's Association. The campaign empowers people to have these critical conversations with loved ones when they notice something is different. The website

Alz.org/OurStories offers families helpful tools and resources, including information on the disease and the benefits of an early diagnosis, as well as interactive conversation starters.
