TOP COMMUNITY ISSUES FOR KRXP.

FOR THE QUARTER BEGINNING JULY 1, 2021 AND ENDING SEPTEMBER 30, 2021.

- 1. CHARITY: Pikes Peak Community College in Colorado Springs announced that all students seeking degrees and certificates will receive all required textbooks for free. PPCC is partnering with the company Slingshot, a textbook provider, to supply the free textbooks, as many students didn't buy them last year because they couldn't afford them. The college received $14 million in federal pandemic recovery funds and is spending it on the books and additional resources.
- 2. CRIME: Colorado Springs Police have made arrests in a ring of diesel fuel thefts that were stolen from local Kum & Go stations. The whopping price tag for the stolen goods? Over $410,000. Police started investigating in April when they were contacted about stolen credit cards being used to steal the fuel. One of the suspects had roughly 750 gallons of fuel on him when he was arrested. Other people are being identified, and more arrests are expected.
- 3. ECONOMY: Senator Michael Bennet, Governor Polis, and the state of Colorado announced a campaign to ensure that eligible families receive their Child Tax Credit and stimulus payments. Now through Friday, Oct. 15, families can use an app called GetCTC to directly file a 2020 simplified tax return with the IRS in order to claim all eligible advance CTC and stimulus payments. After October 15, the IRS will only accept paper applications until 2022. Families that earn less than $400,000 a year, or single parents earning $250,000 or less, are eligible to receive up to $3,600 for children under age six and up to $3,000 per child six years or older.
- 4. EDUCATION: Falcon High School shed more light into the reason its football program is suspended until further notice. They say coaches and even some parents knew about reports of hazing which later turned into sexual misconduct, and led to an investigation. The school said it learned that teammates from multiple grade levels participated, observed, and recorded the hazing and harassment. The adults who knew about the behavior said they did not report what they knew because it might negatively affect their playing status or the team's season. The El Paso County Sheriff's Office said the incidents occurred on campus.

5. ENTERTAINMENT: A Colorado Springs native won a gold medal and set an Olympic record in skeet yesterday. Amber English, who is a Cheyenne Mountain High School and UCCS graduate, hit 56 of 60 targets to set an Olympic record as she beat Diana Bicosi of Italy by one. English is a first lieutenant in the U.S. Army.
6. GOVERNMENT: It's official. Data shows that El Paso County is now the most populated county in the state. Meaning the county has more people and property parcels than any other Colorado county, surpassing Denver. Based on data from last year's census, the data was confirmed by the El Paso County Assessor who says people from Denver, Douglas, and other counties are settling in Monument, Falcon, and Security/Widefield.
7. HEALTH & SAFETY: President Joe Biden announced new federal vaccine requirements affecting as many as 100 million Americans yesterday, in an all-out effort to curb the surging COVID-19 delta variant. The government's new rules mandate that all employers with more than 100 workers require them to be vaccinated or get tested for the virus weekly. Biden has also signed an executive order requiring vaccination for all employees of the executive branch and contractors who do business with the federal government. No testing opt-out is expected to be included for the executive branch requirement.
8. MILITARY: Thousands are packing into the Afghan capital's airport, rushing the tarmac and pushing onto planes in desperate attempts to flee the country after the Taliban overthrew the Western-backed government. U.S. troops have fired warning shots as they struggled to manage the chaotic evacuation. The Taliban swept into Kabul after President Ashraf Ghani fled the country. This brings an end to a two-decade campaign in which the U.S. and its allies had tried to transform Afghanistan. The country's Western-trained security forces collapsed or fled in the face of an insurgent offensive that tore through the country in just over a week.
9. NATIONAL & STATE: A county coroner confirmed that human remains found along the border of Grand Teton National Park are those of Gabby Petito, and that she was a victim of homicide. However, officials did not disclose a cause of death. The 22-year-old disappeared while on a cross-country road trip with her boyfriend Brian Laundrie who is now being sought by authorities in Florida.

10. POLICE & FIRE: Colorado Springs Firefighters confirmed they recovered the body of a 25-year-old man from a pond at Red Rock Canyon Open Space. It was the expected and unfortunate outcome of a rescue-turned recovery which started earlier in the week after they were called to the park on reports of someone falling into the water and not resurfacing. The man's cousin told firefighters the victim fell from several feet into the water. Firefighters are investigating whether he jumped or fell into the shallow pond. It is speculated that he jumped as a daring type of act but it isn't clear.

11. WEATHER & UTILITIES: Some residents in Monument were informed their drinking water may not be safe due to high levels of radium in a notice from Donala Water and Sanitation. The company said it was notified of a violation on July 23, by the standards CDPHE has put into place. The release says the company should have the issue resolved by August 31, 2023. The notice also stated the situation is "not an emergency," but said some people should consult their doctor about drinking the water.
