On MARCH 12, 2012, KWJB was granted a license by the Federal Communications Commission to serve the public interest as a public trustee until August 1, 2013. "KWJB is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission to serve the public interest as a public trustee."

Our license will expire on August 1, 2013. We must file an application for renewal with the FCC by April 1, 2013. When filed, a copy of this application will be available for public inspection during our regular business hours. It contains information concerning this station's performance during the last eight years [or other period of time covered by the application, if the station's license term was not a standard eight-year license term].

Individuals who wish to advise the FCC of facts relating to our renewal application and to whether this station has operated in the public interest should file comments and petitions with the Commission by July 1, 2013.

Further information concerning the FCC's broadcast license renewal process is available at [address of location of station's public inspection file] or may be obtained from the FCC, Washington, DC 20554.
