

Quarterly Issues Report

KWAX FM 91.1

For the Period October 1 through December 31, 2023

KWAX is the primary control point for full power stations KWRX Redmond, KWVZ Florence and translators K255CA Bend, K215ED Sun River, K287BF Glide, K225BF Salem, K217FZ Newport, K225CC Corvallis, K250BK Roseburg, and K270BJ Cottage Grove. All stations and translators repeat the programming originated at KWAX Eugene-Springfield in its entirety. KWAX provides live programming from their studios each Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. through 5 p.m.

KWAX is an all-classical music format station with no local or national news sources. As such, the primary focus on community issues for KWAX is in support and awareness generation for the arts and the many arts groups active in the communities served by the station and network of transmitters and translators.

KWAX Presents-Broadcasts of local and regional professional arts groups performances

Professional arts groups from around the extensive KWAX coverage area supply digital quality recordings and liner notes from each performance. KWAX Presents is an ongoing initiative started in 2018 to provide a broadcast of each participating arts groups' recent performance. KWAX Presents is a service to listeners who may not have the means or mobility to attend in person and to expand awareness of each groups' performances to a greater audience.

KWAX Presents aired performances by the Oregon Mozart Players on 11/17, High Desert Chamber Music on 10/3 and 12/15, Chamber Music Amici on 10/6 and 12/8, Eugene Vocal Arts on 11/3, and the Eugene Symphony on 11/10.

Classics for Kids-Saturdays at 9 a.m.

Every Saturday KWAX programs a special hour of classical music designed especially for youth. Classics for Kids® has been honored with a National Community Impact Award for Engagement by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting in recognition of its innovative on-air and online services for children. The six-minute syndicated weekly program hosted by Naomi Lewin tells a story of the origin of a particular style, describes the ethnic influence of some music, or focuses on a particular composer. KWAX host Rocky Lamanna then programs representative pieces for the balance of the hour and discusses the opportunity for kids to engage further with quizzes, activities, and other curriculum available on the Classics for Kids website.

Egan Warming Center – 10/10, 11, and 13

Homelessness is an important local issue, particularly in the Eugene-Springfield area. A coalition of local safety net organizations, government, and community leaders established the Egan Warming Center program in 2008 following the freezing death of homeless veteran Major Thomas Egan. Administered by St. Vincent de Paul Society, Egan warming centers are activated when temperatures are forecast to dip below 32 degrees.

KWAX broadcast the need for volunteers to staff Egan Centers for the coming winter season as well as the means to register via the Egan website.

Listener's Choice – Friday afternoons

As a service to listeners around its coverage area, KWAX offers four hours of weekly programming devoted to listener requests. Each week KWAX solicits requests on Friday mornings and presents an afternoon of classical music pieces completely programmed by listeners.

Seasonal Chanukah Specials-12/7, 8, and 14.

KWAX programmed special one-hour specials featuring traditional Chanukah music over three days during the season.

Ballad of the Brown King-12/25

KWAX acquired and aired a special featuring traditional Christmas music by African Americans composers and musicians.

Arts Line-Daily on-air community bulletin board for arts events throughout the KWAX coverage area

KWAX provides and solicits contributions to its Arts Line. Arts groups of all types are encouraged to call the KWAX Arts Line number and record a message regarding their event or performance. These recordings are assembled into a daily Arts Line message and broadcast several times each day as a service to local arts groups and listeners.

Weather Forecast-Weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Weather is an important topic in Western and Central Oregon. Because our service area has several microclimates from coastal conditions to mountain passes, weather information is an important service for listeners. KWAX provides weather forecasts around our coverage area each weekday during their live programming block from 8 a.m. through 5 p.m.

Other Syndicated Programming that supports classical music education:

Composer's Datebook, weekdays 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Host John Birch presents a daily snapshot of composers past and present, with timely information, intriguing musical events and appropriate, accessible music related to each.

Exploring Music with Bill McLoughlin, M-F 7-8 p.m. The host provides commentary and analysis in a one-hour daily program with a single, in-depth theme each week.

Sunday Baroque with Suzanne Bona, Sundays 6-10 a.m. Inspiring and appealing offerings each weekend from compositions written circa 1600-1750.

The Piano Matters, Tuesdays 5-6 p.m. Noted pianist and author David Dubal compares recordings of great piano works performed by various artists past and present.

The Spanish Hour, Tuesday, 6-7 p.m. Host Candice Agree presents recorded performances featuring works from the Iberian Peninsula, the Americas, Mexico, and the Caribbean from the Middle Ages through the 21st century.

Classical Guitar Alive, Wednesday, 5-6 p.m. Tony Morris produces and hosts the only nationally broadcast guitar radio program in America.

Played in Oregon (performances recorded in the state of Oregon), Thursdays, 5-6 p.m.

Millennium of Music, Fridays, 6-7 p.m. Pre-baroque music is seldom focused on in traditional classical programming.

Feminine Fusion, Sundays, 4-5 p.m. Weekly one-hour program that highlights the influence of women in classical music.

Metropolitan Opera (live from Lincoln Center in NYC), December through May and WFMT Opera Series May through November. Saturdays 10 a.m.-1 p.m.