WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Mary Hsieh, Head of Government Programs at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts, about open enrollment for Medicare. From changing plans to costs and coverage, going through your options can quickly get overwhelming when enrolling in Medicare. Hsieh broke down the important information needed before open enrollment, which runs from October 15 through December 7, 2023.

New England Weekend

Sunday, October 22, 2023

6:40 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Dr. Bisola Ojikutu, Executive Director of the Boston Public Health Commission, about new data showing Black Bostonians not only have the highest rates of infant mortality (more than three times the rate of white infants) but also have the highest rates of premature births and low birth weight. City officials say these stark inequities need to be addressed immediately. They discussed these findings and the city's plan to turn these trends around.

New England Weekend

Sunday, November 12, 2023

6:30 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Lilly Stairs, Founder and CEO of the Chronic Boss Collective, about how millions of Americans suffer from at least one chronic condition, and the physical, mental, and emotional impacts of those illnesses can make it very difficult to navigate the fast-paced world of business. Stairs is a "serial entrepreneur" who knows about these difficulties first-hand, as she has multiple chronic conditions. She discussed how she is offering a space for other ambitious women in business to network, focus on their health, and find community with her Chronic Boss Collective.

New England Weekend

Sunday, December 10, 2023

6:50 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Michelle DiBlasi, DO, Psychiatrist and Assistant Professor at Tufts University School of Medicine, about seasonal affective disorder. They discussed why this happens during the fall and winter months and what help is available for those suffering from SAD.

New England Weekend
Sunday, December 17, 2023
6:30 AM
10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Professors Michael Levin and Gizem Gumuskaya about robots and your body. When you think of robots, you may not necessarily think of them inside your body. A research team at Tufts University teamed up with Harvard researchers to do just that. They've discovered "anthrobots", tiny living robots made from human cells, and they say this could lead to major developments in modern medicine and healthcare. The professors talked about their research, the science and ethics of their discovery, and what they hope to see happen with this new creation.

Sunday, December 3, 2023

6:40 AM

20 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Ed Gaskin, Executive Director of Greater Grove Hall Main Streets, about the beautiful banners that have been installed along Blue Hill Avenue in Dorchester, Roxbury, and Mattapan, MA. Each banner highlights one of Boston's Black female leaders - some you may know well, others you have yet to learn about. The public art project is a labor of love and they discussed how the vision is to honor these powerful and beloved women.

New England Weekend

Sunday, December 24, 2023

6:30 AM

5 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Professor Julie K. Norem from Wellesley College about the psychology of New Year's resolutions, why we make them in the first place, the science of goal-setting, and how to treat yourself well as you work toward your goal. With 2024 at our doorstep, your thoughts might turn to setting one, or several, New Year's resolutions. Whatever your goals - losing weight, getting a new job, setting a personal best in a race, or making your bed every day - it's important to make sure you're putting yourself in a position to succeed mentally, physically, and emotionally.

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Kait Smith, Curator and Chair of the Gingerbread Exhibit at the Portsmouth Historical Society, about their annual gingerbread house exhibition, featuring not-your-everyday cookie creations. The city's celebrating a special anniversary by honoring their neighbors through gingerbread, lovingly piecing together replicas of some of the city's most iconic buildings, and some you may not know about. They discussed the event and Smith also shared some tips on how to build the perfect gingerbread structure.

New England Weekend
Sunday, December 31, 2023
6:50 AM
10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Griff Gall, Artistic Director for the Back Bay Ringers, about handbells, how they're played, and their groups mission to uplift members of the LGBTQIA+ community. This time of year, we hear all kinds of bells - jingle bells, sleigh bells, so on and so forth - but handbells are a beautiful instrument that never goes out of season. The Back Bay Ringers have had a busy holiday season, but they're gearing up for something big in 2024: their 20th anniversary! Gall talked about their history and future.

WJMN ran a total of twenty-six, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Tuesday (10/24) through Sunday (12/31). Navigating the transition from service to civilian life is not always easy, but DAV believes no veteran should have to go at it alone. They provide a lifetime of support for veterans of all generations and their families, in positive, life-changing ways. They ensure veterans and their families can access the full range of benefits they deserve, provide care and support during tough times, advocate for the veteran community on Capitol Hill, connect veterans with meaningful employment, and so much more. They provide free, professional assistance to more than 1 million veterans every year to connect them with the healthcare, disability, employment, education and financial benefits they have earned through military service and have submitted more than 12 million claims on their behalf.

Public Service Announcement – THE FOUNDATION FIGHTING BLINDNESS

Wednesday, October 25, 2023 – Friday, December 29, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of twenty-five, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Wednesday (10/25) through Friday (12/29). The Foundation Fighting Blindness was established in 1971 by a passionate group of families driven to find treatments and cures for inherited retinal diseases that were affecting their loved ones. At that time, little was known about these blinding retinal diseases. Very little research was being done, and there were no clinical trials for potential treatments. The Foundation's goal was clear and focused: To drive the research that would lead to preventions, treatments, and cures for blinding retinal diseases, including age-related macular degeneration, retinitis pigmentosa, Usher syndrome, Stargardt disease and Leber congenital amaurosis (LCA). Together these conditions affect more than 10 million Americans and millions more throughout the world. Today, the Foundation Fighting Blindness is the world's leading private funder of retinal disease research. That funding has been a driving force behind the progress toward cures, including the identification of more than 270 genes linked to retinal disease, and the launch of over 40 clinical trials for potential treatments.

Public Service Announcement – SUSAN G. KOMEN

Wednesday, October 25, 2023 – Friday, December 29, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs, 4-hour programs, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of twenty-five, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Wednesday (10/25) through Friday (12/29). Susan G. Komen is the ONLY organization that addresses breast cancer on multiple fronts such as research, community health, global outreach and public policy initiatives in order to make the biggest impact against this disease. Their mission is to save lives by meeting the most critical needs in our communities and investing in breakthrough research to prevent and cure breast cancer. In 1980, Nancy G. Brinker promised her dying sister, Susan, that she would do everything in her power to end breast cancer forever. In 1982, that promise became the Susan G. Komen® organization and the beginning of a global movement. What was started with $200 and a shoebox full of potential donor names has now grown into the world's largest nonprofit source of funding for the fight against breast cancer. To date, they've invested nearly $3.6 billion in groundbreaking research, community health outreach, advocacy and programs in more than 60 countries. Their efforts helped reduce deaths from breast cancer by 43% since 1989 and they won't stop until their promise is fulfilled.

Public Service Announcement – RODMAN FOR KIDS

Wednesday, November 8, 2023 – Friday, December 1, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during an 8-hour program, 6-hour programs, 5-hour programs, 4-hour programs, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of forty-eight, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Wednesday (11/8) through Friday (12/1). At Rodman for Kids, they believe every young person deserves access to the programs, resources, and opportunities they need to dream, grow, and succeed. They are committed to raising resources, building capacity, and creating opportunities for youth-focused organizations, their leaders, and the kids they serve. A better future begins with investing in the youth in our communities. This includes supporting education, health, social, and creative development. Rodman for Kids provides comprehensive support, including fundraising and organizational resources, to youth-focused charities of all sizes—from passion projects in the incubation stage to established community youth organizations to hospital pediatric units. In addition to financial support, Rodman for Kids provides space and programs for collaboration, networking, professional development, and best practices for their Charity Partners. One donation can have an impact on every organization and the thousands of kids collectively served.

Public Service Announcement – THE GENESIS FOUNDATION FOR CHILDREN

Monday, November 20, 2023 – Sunday, December 31, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs, 5-hour programs, 4-hour programs,
3-hour and 30-minute programs, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of one hundred and two, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Monday (11/20) through Sunday (12/31). The Genesis Foundation For Children provides funding for clinical, informational, and therapeutic programs for children born with physical and intellectual challenges and genetic disorders. In 1982, Dr. Murray Feingold, a leading pediatrician and geneticist, created what he called The Genesis Fund (later renamed The Genesis Foundation for Children) to provide integrated, compassionate care and advocacy for patients with rare diseases and genetic disorders. With The Genesis Foundation's financial support, Dr. Feingold was able to establish The Feingold Center for Children, now The Feingold Service at Mass General for Children, which assembles a team of specialists dedicated to providing comprehensive care to their patients and allows sufficient time to spend with them learning together. Today, the Feingold Model of Coordinated Care has expanded to include offering therapeutic and informational services.

Public Service Announcement – FEMA / AD COUNCIL

Friday, December 1, 2023 – Saturday, December 30, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs, 3-hour and 30-minute programs, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of ten, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Friday (12/1) through Friday (12/30). In recent years, devastating earthquakes, tornadoes, floods, and wildfires have highlighted the need for Americans to prepare for natural disasters. However, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), half of Americans have not discussed or developed a family emergency plan. The Ad Council partnered with FEMA with the goal of educating Americans about the best ways to prepare. The Ready Campaign recommends taking four steps towards preparedness: 1) be informed about the different types of emergencies that could occur and their appropriate protective actions; 2) make a family emergency plan including information on how to reconnect and reunite; 3) build an emergency supply kit to have supplies you will need whether at home, at work or in the car; and 4) get involved by finding opportunities to support community preparedness. Through these PSAs, families are faced with the harsh reality of what can happen when you don't have an emergency plan in place before a disaster or emergency strikes.

Public Service Announcement – TODAY'S MILITARY

Friday, December 1, 2023 – Sunday, December 31, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs, a 3-hour and 30-minute program, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of ten, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Friday (12/1) through Sunday (12/31). The Today's Military website is produced by the United States Department of Defense as a resource for young adults, parents and educators curious about military service. TodaysMilitary.com is not intended to promote any one branch of the U.S. Military. With cooperation from the Service branches, their goal is to paint an accurate picture of what it's like to work, live and serve in today's Military. Interviews with active-duty service members provide genuine insight into the challenges and rewards of service. Interactive tools allow site visitors to explore the range of military career opportunities, estimate military pay and explore the less tangible benefits of service. Above all, they hope the site fosters conversations and helps people make the best decision for their future or the future of someone they care about.

Public Service Announcement – NATIONAL PEST MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION

Friday, December 1, 2023 – Sunday, December 31, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs, a 3-hour and 30-minute program, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of ten, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Friday (12/1) through Sunday (12/31). The National Pest Management Association (NPMA), a non-profit organization with nearly 5,000 members from around the world, was established in 1933 to support the pest management industry's commitment to the protection of public health, food and property. This commitment is reflected both in the continuing education of pest management professionals and the dissemination of timely information to homeowners and businesses. NPMA exists to positively impact the businesses and livelihoods of those in the pest management community each and every day. Headquartered in Fairfax, Va., just outside of Washington, D.C., the association today is guided by the vision of knowledgeable industry professionals who serve on NPMA's Board of Directors. The organization's professional staff addresses the technical, governmental, educational, business, and networking needs of its members.

6:30 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Nikki Shults, Executive Director of Little Brothers - Friends of the Elderly in Boston, about their work and their holiday plans for local seniors. The holiday season is here, and while this is normally a time full of joy and togetherness, it can also be a time of extreme loneliness for seniors who may not be able to get out and about as much as they used to, or aren't receiving as many visits from family and friends. LBFE in Boston engages with seniors in public and affordable housing all year long, helping them socialize with their neighbors and learn new skills. They discussed their work this year.

Public Service Announcement – JOIN THE BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT

Tuesday, December 12, 2023 – Saturday, December 30, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 6-hour programs, 5-hour programs, 4-hour programs,
3-hour and 30-minute programs, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of twenty, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Tuesday (12/12) through Saturday (12/30). The Boston Police Department needs officers, cadets and civilians to serve the city and its residents with empathy and integrity. If these are among your core values then the Boston Police Department is the place for you! This is a career where you can connect with residents, help those in need and make a positive impact both in the community and your own life. Officers are paid to go through an intense 29-week Academy program that includes procedural justice studies, physical and mental endurance and training, de-escalation tactics and much more. As a Boston Police Officer, you will receive a competitive salary, health insurance, life insurance, pension, paid time off and more. You can advance your career to higher ranks such as detective, sergeant, lieutenant and captain. They have jobs with many different areas of interest within the Department including the Drug Control Unit, Human Trafficking, Homicide, K9, Community Engagement and Crime Scene Response, to name just a few. This is a call to action to protect and serve all members of our community. Boston Police is a leader in the ever changing and challenging field of law enforcement.

6:45 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Mario Rodrigues and Satero DaVeiga, part of the My Brother's Keeper 617 team, about how they work to help recently released inmates develop critical skills to join the trades and give them the resources they need to start a new phase of their life. Here in Massachusetts, almost a third of people who find themselves in prison for a crime eventually re-offend and find themselves back behind bars. Experts say a major contributing factor is a lack of support for people leaving prison, something that My Brother's Keeper 617 is working to change in the city of Boston. They talked about the group's history, their new program, and the other ways they help the community.

6:30 AM

20 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Mickey Cockrell, CEO and Co-Founder of Catie's Closet, about the skyrocketing cost of living and how families around the Commonwealth are feeling the strain and leaning more on community services and non-profits like Catie's Closet for assistance. Catie's Closet is being called on far more frequently these days for crisis response to help fight homelessness and child poverty while providing essentials for the growing influx of migrant children in Massachusetts. Their SOS Urgent Response Program Fund is now all but depleted. They talked about the sharp jump in need and what they need from the public to continue making sure every child is clothed and taken care of.

Sunday, November 19, 2023 and Sunday, December 10, 2023

6:30 AM

40 minutes total of two, 30-minute programs

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Pine Street Inn President and Executive Director Lyndia Downie about how the Pine Street Inn in Boston has been working for years to create more permanent supportive housing in the Boston area, hoping to uplift those who find themselves at their lowest and help them get back on their feet. The Massachusetts emergency shelter system is officially overburdened, according to state data, and officials say they have to turn away families while putting them on a waitlist. While the ongoing migrant crisis is contributing to this, there are other factors forcing residents onto the streets, including inflation and the skyrocketing cost of housing. Downie shared an update on their efforts and discussed what's fueling the Commonwealth's housing emergency.

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Cherylann Walsh and Erica Solitro of Project Just Because, an organization in Hopkinton that makes sure everyone who needs a meal can get it, regardless of allergies, dietary restrictions, or family size. Almost 20 years ago, Walsh decided to make a change in her community, serving residents right out of her own home. That desire to help others has grown into Project Just Because, which also works to keep residents safe, healthy, and full of joy through their programs. Walsh and Solitro talked about their efforts and how you can help them provide for Massachusetts families in need.
