New England Weekend

Sunday, July 9, 2023

6:45 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Lyndia Downie, Executive Director of Pine Street Inn, about the Boston Planning and Development Agency's recent approval of a plan for the Comfort Inn on Morrissey Boulevard in Dorchester, MA, to be transformed into permanent supportive housing for seniors. The project got some blowback from neighborhood groups and lawmakers, but Pine Street Inn says it's a critical step to help unhoused seniors make their way off the streets and rebuild their lives. They discussed the project, the fight over the Long Island Bridge, and their upcoming workforce development graduation.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 13, 2023

6:30 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with New Bedford City Councilor Ian Abreu about how he's introducing his grandfather's syrup recipes to a new generation and what's coming down the pipeline from Silmo. Long-time residents of the South Coast of Massachusetts, especially New Bedford, grew up with Silmo syrup in their milkshakes, frappes and other treats. Decades ago, the business closed down, but thanks to the City Councilor it's getting new life.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 20, 2023

6:40 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Jess Ackerman, an Audit Readiness Leader at Deloitte, about what's missing from Massachusetts' business boardrooms. Women and BIPOC representation in business boardrooms is better than it's ever been, but there is still quite a lot of work to do. That's the story in a new report from Deloitte and the Alliance for Board Diversity called "Missing Pieces." It takes a closer look at diversity at Fortune 500 companies, specifically in their leadership, on both a state and national level. They discussed the survey and its findings.

ISSUE: HEALTH / MEDICINE / NUTRITION

New England Weekend

Sunday, July 23, 2023

6:30 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Julie Burns, President and CEO of Rize Massachusetts, about how Xylazine test strips could change the opioid crisis. It started as something you could find behind the doors at the veterinarian's office: xylazine, a drug that's most frequently used to sedate animals so they can be treated. Now, it's found its way into the illicit drug market and combined with fentanyl and other opioids, it's proving to be especially deadly. Burns talked about their efforts to fund new research for test strips, another method of harm reduction that could potentially help to turn this crisis around.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 27, 2023

6:30 AM

20 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Dr. Shira Doron, Chief Infection Control Officer at Tufts Medical Center, about how COVID's back on the scene as more and more people are testing positive. There are so many questions out there about where we go from here with the virus: do we get a new booster or wait? Should we be masking? What's going on with long COVID? Dr. Doron answered those questions and offered insight on how best to protect ourselves.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 6, 2023

6:45 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with John Petrozzelli, Director of the MassCyberCenter, about his work in the military, FBI, and the private sector, and current mission of helping direct policy and education efforts when it comes to cybersecurity here in Massachusetts. He discussed ideas, his background, and the Center's efforts to help protect people online.

New England Weekend

Sunday, September 24, 2023

6:50 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Essex County Women in Transition program assistant superintendent Jennifer Murphy about their program, mission, and impact. Leaving the prison system, no matter how long one has been incarcerated, can be confusing, scary, and frustrating, with little support on the outside to help people re-integrate into society. The Women in Transition program is a minimum-security pre-release program, helping women recovering from addiction make their way out of incarceration and start a healthy life.

ISSUE: EDUCATION / PARENTING / FAMILY

New England Weekend

Sunday, July 9, 2023

6:30 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Andrew Harris, CEO and Founder of Guild Chronicles, a special roleplaying game and educational program to help autistic and neurodivergent kids learn social-emotional skills. They talked about the game and how Guild Chronicles works with schools and therapists to support young people and their development.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 6, 2023

6:30 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with State Senator Paul Mark (D-Becket) about a plan to get rural towns connected. Dial-up internet access just doesn't cut it these days. We have so much to stream, send, and create! Reliable high-speed internet is a critical tool not just for socializing, but also for work and health care access, among many other areas. Rural areas have struggled to keep pace with the infrastructure, but that's changing in western Massachusetts.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 20, 2023

6:30 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Senator Elizabeth Warren (D-MA) about the child care crisis. Working families around New England and the country are struggling to find balance when it comes to child care. Not only is it more expensive than ever, but it's becoming more and more difficult to find a space for children in programs. Centers closing during the height of the pandemic made the problem that much worse, forcing parents out of the workforce. Politicians on both sides of the aisle say it's time to find a solution to this growing crisis. Warren shared her thoughts on the situation.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 20, 2023

6:50 AM

5 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Laurie Kirby spoke with Ray DePasquale, President of Massasoit Community College in Brockton, about how Massachusetts community colleges want adults to come back to class. In the new state budget Governor Maura Healey recently signed into law, there is a new program offering up some hope for adults here in Massachusetts who either want to go to college for the first time or finish a degree they may have had to leave behind. DePasquale talked about the new program and the benefits of returning to get a degree, no matter your age.

New England Weekend
Sunday, September 3, 2023
6:30 AM
20 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Dr. Sarah Kyriazis, Principal of the Wawecus Road School in Worcester, MA, about their new "Spark Academy" program, which hopes to create a future-ready hub of innovation at the school. Classrooms these days look far different than they did even just 10 years ago. Instead of pencils, overhead projectors, and chalkboards, you'll find tablets, interactive whiteboards, and laptops. Tech experts say innovative technologies in the classroom are here to stay, including artificial intelligence. They discussed the new "Spark Academy."

New England Weekend
Sunday, September 3, 2023
6:50 AM
10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with State Senator Jo Comerford (D-Hampshire, Franklin and Worcester) about funding for rural Massachusetts schools. School districts around the Commonwealth, especially in rural areas, are struggling with budget cuts, classrooms that aren't fully stocked, and teachers reaching into their own pockets to pay for much-needed supplies. Many rural schools are facing some big-time problems, and while there's some help from Beacon Hill, it's still not enough. Comerford talked about her efforts to convince her fellow lawmakers to increase state funding and support for those communities.

ISSUE: CULTURE / RACE RELATIONS / GENDER

New England Weekend

Sunday, July 16, 2023

6:30 AM

20 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Zoe Bradford, a playwright and co-founder of the Company Theatre in Norwell, MA. They talked about the world premiere of a rock opera that tells the story of a strong young woman you may have learned about in your history books: Joan of Arc. "Born To Do This" is the brainchild of Bradford and she talked about the show and her creative process.

New England Weekend

Sunday, July 23, 2023

6:45 AM

15 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with John Santos, General Manager and CEO of the Dorchester Food Co-Op, about their new store opening in Dorchester's Bowdoin/Geneva neighborhood and how it's not your typical grocery store. It's a food co-op, owned collectively by the members of the surrounding community and the store's employees. Santos outlined the benefits of cooperatives in neighborhoods, the buildout, their mission, and what they have to offer.

New England Weekend

Sunday, August 20, 2023

6:55 AM

5 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with North Shore Music Theatre owner Bill Hanney how the movie Jaws was not easy to create. Jaws has become a classic New England-centric movie over the years, but it turns out, behind the scenes, it was anything but easy to put together. In fact, it was so chaotic that a new comedy on the stage highlights all the production maladies. It's called The Shark is Broken, and Hanney is lending his talents to the show to make sure it's a resounding success. They talked about the show's journey to Broadway, along with what's happening these days at the North Shore Music Theatre.

New England Weekend

Sunday, September 24, 2023

6:40 AM

10 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Katie Greene, Vice President of Marketing and Events at One SouthCoast, about a chowder lover event in New Bedford, MA. For years, residents of the New Bedford area have made their way to the coast for the Chowderfest, a tasty event that helps people sample all the savory soups the South Coast has to offer. This year was no different, with the One SouthCoast Chamber hosting their 18th Annual Blount Fine Foods New Bedford Seaport Chowderfest. Greene detailed the event.

Sunday, July 30, 2023

6:30 AM

30 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Toy Burton, a longtime Roxbury resident with deep ties to the neighborhood, who realized her community was missing something: resources to help them open up and be vulnerable about mental health problems and thoughts of suicide. Enter "DeeDee's Cry," a nonprofit she founded in 2017 to connect BIPOC residents of Dorchester, Roxbury, Mattapan and beyond to mental health and counseling resources that haven't always been accessible. Toy is also the woman behind the Roxbury Unity Parade, which celebrates and unifies the neighborhood each and every year. She talked about her mental health journey and her efforts to help those in need through her organizations.

New England Weekend
Sunday, August 13, 2023
6:40 AM
20 minutes of a 30-minute program

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with the Executive Director of Mass NOW Sasha Goodfriend about efforts to end period poverty in Massachusetts. A coalition of businesses, activist groups, lawmakers and others around Massachusetts are teaming up to support a bill on Beacon Hill called "I AM," which hopes to expand free access to menstrual products in public places around the Commonwealth, including schools and prisons. Mass NOW is one of the advocacy groups that's part of the Massachusetts Menstrual Equity Coalition and Goodfriend talked about what the bill entails, the prevalence of period poverty in Massachusetts, and the impact it can have on someone's life.

Public Service Announcement – AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

Tuesday, August 15, 2023 – Monday, September 25, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 8-hour programs, 6-hour programs, 5-hour programs, 4-hour programs, 3-hour and 30-minute programs, 3-hour programs, and 2-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of two hundred and ten, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Tuesday (8/15) through Monday (9/25). At the American Cancer Society, they're on a mission to free the world from cancer. Until they do, they'll be funding and conducting research, sharing expert information, supporting patients, and spreading the word about prevention. All so people can live longer — and better. Whether they're working in a community close by or one halfway around the world, their mission remains the same: to save lives, celebrate lives, and lead the fight for a world without cancer. The American Cancer Society is the leading cancer-fighting organization with a vision of ending cancer as we know it, for everyone. They are the only organization working to improve the lives of people with cancer and their families through advocacy, research, and patient support, to ensure everyone has an opportunity to prevent, detect, treat, and survive cancer.

Public Service Announcement – JIMMY FUND / BOSTON MARATHON JIMMY FUND WALK

Friday, September 8, 2023 – Friday, September 29, 2023

Various Dayparts (all 30 seconds in length)

Aired during 8-hour programs, 6-hour programs, 5-hour programs, 4-hour programs, and 3-hour programs

WJMN ran a total of forty-four, 30-second PSAs during various dayparts, Friday (9/8) through Friday (9/29). The Jimmy Fund solely supports the fight against cancer at Dana-Farber. Since its founding in 1948, the Jimmy Fund has raised millions of dollars through thousands of community efforts to help save lives and give hope to cancer patients around the world. An official charity of the Boston Red Sox, Pan-Mass Challenge, Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association, and Variety Children's Charity of New England, the Jimmy Fund is an American favorite. "Dedicated to discovery...Committed to care" is the mission of Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. A world leader in cancer research and treatment, the Institute was founded in 1947 by Dr. Sidney Farber and fortified by our historic partner, the Dana Foundation. Dana-Farber is renowned for using their discoveries to improve the treatment of adults and children with cancer. It is the founding member of the Dana-Farber/Harvard Cancer Center, a National Cancer Institute-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center. It is also a federally designated Center for AIDS Research and a teaching affiliate of Harvard Medical School. Dana-Farber is consistently ranked as the number one cancer hospital in New England by U.S. News & World Report.

WBZ's Nichole Davis spoke with Plymouth State University Meteorology Professor Eric Hoffman about the rainy summer and what's been causing all the rain in New England. Autumn has arrived and yet the rain continues. Most of the summer has been wet, to the point where some cities are seeing close to record rain totals for the year. Hoffman broke down the weather patterns and offered insight into what to expect in New England for the fall and winter months.
