Description: Driving in the winter means changes in the way you drive. Snow, sleet and ice can lead to hazardous road conditions.

Description: Shovelling snow is a major activity in many parts of the United States, especially during the Ellensburg winter season.

Description: You may not live in one of America's five coldest cities, but that doesn't mean you don't have to protect yourself from frostbite and hypothermia.

Description: Carbon monoxide detectors save lives, but less than one-third of American homes have one installed.
Clear ventilation areas and check the batteries in your detectors.

Description: Driving in the winter can be dangerous especially when conditions come out of nowhere.
Keep chains in your car or have studded tires.

Description: Ensure your packages do not get stolen off of your front porch is the talk your neighbors ask if any of them are home during the day. See if they are available to retrieve your packages while you are away at work.

Description: When ordering packages this time of the year is to send them to the office where you work during delivery hours.

Description: Make sure that your packages don't get taken off of your front porch this winter. An easy way to prevent a package thief is to install security cameras, either real or fake ones.

Description: One safe way when shipping packages through the mail is to sign up for delivery alerts. Most shipping services have the ability to sign up for text or email alerts to allow you to be notified every step of the way during the shipping process.

Description: A simple way to ensure this is to request a signature confirmation from your shipping provider. This will make the delivery service require someone to sign for the package when it gets dropped off.
