JULY 1 – SEPTEMBER 30 2023

GOVERNMENT

MORNING EDITION Weekdays 5 a.m. - 10 a.m.

RUN TIME – 5 Hours

SOURCE – NPR

Every weekday for over three decades, Morning Edition has taken listeners around the country and the world with two hours of multi-faceted stories and commentaries that inform, challenge and occasionally amuse. Morning Edition is the most listened-to news radio program in the country. A bi-coastal, 24-hour news operation, Morning Edition is hosted by, Steve Inskeep, Noel King, and Rachel Martin. These hosts often get out from behind the anchor desk and travel around the world to report on the news firsthand. Produced and distributed by NPR in Washington, D.C., Morning Edition draws on reporting from correspondents based around the world, and producers and reporters in locations in the United States. This reporting is supplemented by NPR Member Station reporters across the country as well as independent producers and reporters throughout the public radio system.

(2.) HOMELESSNESS KEEPS GOING UP -- Despite more attention and money to reduce homelessness, the numbers in many U.S. cities keep going up. Experts say a key reason is the persistent lack of affordable housing. - 4:00

(6.) JUNE JOBS PREVIEW -- The Labor Department reports this morning on the strength of the job market in June. The Federal Reserve is watching closely. - 3:45

9/26/23

(1.) BIDEN AND UAW -- Biden will visit picketing autoworkers in Detroit today{TUESDAY}. It's a very unusual move for a sitting president, and possibly unprecedented. - 3:45

(2.) HOUSE SPEAKER POLITICS -- NPR's Steve Inskeep speaks with Catholic University professor Matthew Green about the political future of House Speaker Kevin McCarthy as he faces a potential government shutdown. - 4:45

(6.) FL CONGRESSIONAL MAP -- Florida Governor Ron DeSantis faces a legal challenge to a congressional map he drove through the legislature. Voting rights groups say the map targets Black voters and violates the U.S. Constitution. - 4:00

(11.) AG SEC ON SHUTDOWN -- NPR's A Martinez talks to Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack about programs -- such as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program -- which would be affected if the government shuts down. - 5:00

9/27/23

(1.) SHUTDOWN MILITARY IMPACT -- How would a government shutdown affect the national defense? What about members of the military? NPR's Steve Inskeep speaks to White House National Security Council spokesperson John Kirby. - 5:00

(5.) AL VOTING RIGHTS IMPLICATIONS -- A U.S. Supreme Court order has signaled that more congressional voting districts where Black voters have a chance of electing their preferred candidate are coming to the South, including Alabama. - 3:30

9/29/23

(1.) WHITE HOUSE & SHUTDOWN -- The White House is getting ready to oversee the furloughing of thousands of civil servants as government funding is expected to run out on Sunday. - 3:59

(7.) U.S. ON SAUDI-ISRAELI RELATIONS -- NPR's Sarah McCammon talks with Representatives Dean Phillips (D-Minn.) and Joe Wilson (R-S.C.) about the U.S. role in fostering a relationship between Saudi Arabia and Israel. - 7:10

ALL THINGS CONSIDERED - All Things Considered is the most listened-to, afternoon drive-time, news radio program in the country. Every weekday the two-hour show is hosted by Ailsa Chang, Audie Cornish, Mary Louise Kelly, and Ari Shapiro. In 1977, ATC expanded to seven days a week with a one-hour show on Saturdays and Sundays, which is hosted by Michel Martin. During each broadcast, stories and reports come to listeners from NPR reporters and correspondents based throughout the United States and the world. The hosts interview newsmakers and contribute their own reporting. Rounding out the mix are the disparate voices of a variety of commentators. All Things Considered has earned many of journalism's highest honors, including the George Foster Peabody Award, the Alfred I. DuPont Columbia University Award and the Overseas Press Club Award.

RUN TIME – 2 Hours

PROGRAM SOURCE - NPR

Weekdays 4 p.m. to 6 p.m.

8/4/23

(1.) GOP CANDIDATES ON TRUMP INDICTMENT -- Draft: After a third indictment was brought against former President Trump this week, some Republican rivals react with caution. - 6:00

(5.) TENN. EXPELLED LAWMAKERS RE-ELECTED -- Two Tenn. lawmakers who were expelled after participating in a gun control demonstration in the statehouse won reelection. WPLN's Blaise Gainey explains where this leaves the gun control debate. - 3:30

(9.) JOBS NUMBERS -- US employers added 187,000 jobs last month -- a solid if not spectacular performance. Job growth has slowed since the beginning of the year, but employers are still adding more than enough jobs to keep the unemployment rate near a half-century low. - 3:45

8/24/23

(1.) TRUMP BOOKING IN GA -- Former President Donald Trump is set to turn himself in to Georgia authorities following his indictment there on racketeering charges. - 3:46

(3.) MS FELON VOTING RULING -- A federal court ruling earlier this month would allow as many as 30,000 formerly incarcerated felons to regain their voting rights in Mississippi. The state is looking to overturn that decision. - 2:09

(10.) PUTIN AND PRIGOZHIN -- NPR's Ari Shapiro talks to Fiona Hill, senior policy advisor at the Brookings Institute and former white house advisor, about the apparent death of Wagner Group leader, Yevgeny Prigozhin. - 6:45

9/28/23

(1.) OLDER VOTERS ON OLDER CANDIDATES -- In the next presidential election, voters might choose between the oldest would-be president ever, and the second oldest. NPR's Scott Detrow talks with seniors about electing a president their age. - 11:29

(2.) Amazon FTC Lawsuit -- NPR's Ari Shapiro talks with Adam Kovacevich, CEO of the tech industry coalition Chamber of Progress, about the FTC's lawsuit against Amazon for alleged abuse of monopoly power. - 5:45

(6.) House Republicans try to shift shutdown focus to immigration -- Government funding runs out at the end of the day on Saturday. House Republicans are trying to reframe the spending fight as a battle over the border, not a war within their own party. - 3:45

(10.) TUSKEGEE VA AT 100 -- Marking the centennial of the first Veterans Affairs hospital established to treat Black veterans, who protested after being denied equitable health care upon returning from WWI. - 5:09

HOMEGROWN MUSIC

SOURCE – WVIA-FM

TUESDAY at 9 p.m.

RUN TIME – 29:00

Homegrown Music is WVIA-FM's exclusive series which each week showcases the talents of regional contemporary music artists in recordings produced in the WVIA-FM studios by series host George Graham and is broadcast Tuesdays at 9:00 PM. Further information on Homegrown Music may be obtained via the World Wide Web at <https://www.wvia.org/radio/homegrown-music/> and <http://homegrownmusic.info>.

July 11 - International Orange - An outstanding jazz-rock fusion quartet, comprising musicians who have worked as backing musicians with jazz and rock groups worldwide. Their 2019 album A Man and His Dog was featured on the Mixed Bag album review. They perform a mix of new material and altered arrangement of tunes from their album in this encore of their 2019 Homegrown Music debut.

July 18 - A Homegrown Music Concert Encore: SIMON APPLE. The band called Simon Apple released a much acclaimed CD called River to the Sea in 2007, which featured guest appearances by luminaries like bassist Tony Levin, and Hugh McDowell of the Electric Light Orchestra. The individual members remain active, though the group has been on hiatus. They put in an outstanding live Homegrown Music concert in 2007, spotlighting their combination of progressive rock and melodic songs. While the Homegrown Music concert series is on summer hiatus, this segment presents an encore of Simon Apple's show.

July 25 - Mickey Spain. A veteran folksinger, Mickey Spain has been a member of the traditional Irish band Makem and Spain, and has recorded with such luminaries as Tom Paxton, Roger McGuinn, Noel Paul Stookey, and Jonathan Edwards. A Scranton resident in recent years Mickey Spain is heard in his 2018 Homegrown Music debut with a collection of original and traditional songs in a solo acoustic setting.

FEMININE FUSION – SUNDAYS 7 p.m.

1 Hour

“Feminine Fusion” is a weekly radio program that highlights the influence of women in classical music. These are the women throughout history and into the present day who create, perform, and inspire. Composer/announcer Diane Jones of WCNY-FM in Syracuse, NY is your host, and every week showcases some of these remarkable women.

Women are the central, unifying focus of this series. It is important to note, however, that their influence is broad-ranging, crossing the boundaries of culture, race, and gender. Who can know what might have happened to the likes of Aaron Copland, Donald Byrd, or Quincy Jones had they not studied with Nadia Boulanger?

“Had you asked me 10 years ago if I would have introduced a program focused on women in music, I would have said ‘no.’ Growing up in a houseful of brothers, I was always treated as their equal,” says Jones. “But there is still gender bias in the music world. I am anxious for the time when we no longer separate composers from women composers, or conductors from women conductors.”

Some of the individuals highlighted in this program entered the world of the arts knowing they faced opposition, and gathered their strength to face it head on. Others simply took to their chosen path, often unaware of the impact their actions would have. In every case, however, they have touched hearts and souls with their art.
