Title: Getting the Most from a Gallon of Gas

Interview with Andrew Browning, Executive Vice President, Consumer Energy Alliance. Most people do not realize how much they waste gas or how much damage they can cause their vehicles by not following some basic rules of operation. It is estimated that gas prices will rise in the summer months. In order to reduce cost and wear, it is suggested a consumer should: Reduce excessive weight storage while towing, use cruise control, check tire pressure, get regular tune-ups and maintenance and reduce air conditioner usage.
