

PUBLIC FILE REPORT – FIRST QUARTER 2023
FOR 920 WGHQ AM KINGSTON and 92.5 W223CR FM KINGSTON

News

Magic 92.5 WGHQ presents newscasts every hour during morning drive (6am to 10am – although, the 7am and 8am newscasts only air on our stream because Kingston Community Radio takes over the AM and FM on air programming) and then in alternating hours from 10am to 7pm weekdays. These newscasts are prepared and presented by NBC Radio News, an outside contractor.

Weather Forecasts from Accuweather air hourly every day from 6am to midnight.

Magic 92.5 WGHQ maintains an online community calendar where local groups and organizations can add their events. This part of the website is managed and audited by Program Director Randy Turner. A recorded version of some events airs several times a day.

THINGS WGHQ HAS PROMOTED AND / OR PARTICIPATED IN
DURING FIRST QUARTER 2023

March 9, 2023

Skywalker and Randy Turner
WSPK Hudson Valley N.Y.

Thank you both so much for being guest panelists at the 2023 Intercollegiate Broadcasting System conference, held February 24-25, 2023 at the Sheraton Times Square in New York City.

Skywalker, thanks for appearing on two panels: "So You Want To Be On The Air" and "Voicetracking: Is The Future of Radio Pre-Recorded?"

Randy, thanks for appearing on three panels: "So You Want To Be On The Air," "Branding & Programming Your Radio Station," and "Imaging Your Radio Station."

The conference was a huge success thanks in part to both of you. I hope you are both willing to participate again next year!

Sincerely,

Public Affairs Program

Sunday mornings 6:00-6:30am

"51%" from WAMC / National Public Radio

This is a program about many subjects and topics ranging from the environment and health to kids and politics, the arts and more from a women's perspective.

Date            Show #      Guest and Topic

JANUARY 1                      1744

For all its tidings of comfort and joy, the holiday season is a difficult time for some. On this week's 51%, we take a look at some ways to combat loneliness this time of year, and therapist Keli Rugenstein shares how parents of estranged adult children can find peace.

JANUARY 8                      1745

On this week's 51%, we look back at some of our biggest stories and favorite conversations of 2022

JANUARY 15                      1746

What's your New Year's resolution? On the latest 51%, we speak with dietician and personal trainer Nicole Rodriguez about how to set healthy and realistic nutrition goals that fit your lifestyle. And in this season of gym memberships, career scheming, and personal development, one multi-generational study suggests the key to fulfillment is actually, quite simple: nurturing our relationships. The New York Times' Jancee Dunn shares what we can learn from the world's longest-running study on human happiness.

JANUARY 22                      1747

On this week's 51%, we explore how building for the future demands reckoning with our past. NYU Stern School of Business professor and social psychologist Dolly Chugh offers guidance for the "gritty patriot" in her new book "A More Just Future."

JANUARY 29                      1748

On this week's 51%, we speak with filmmaker Tracy Heather Strain about her new PBS documentary "Zora Neale Hurston: Claiming a Space." We'll also hear from ceramicist Kelli Rae Adams about her latest installation at MASS MoCA, titled "Forever in Your Debt."

FEBRUARY 5                      1749

January 22 would have marked the 50th anniversary of the landmark Supreme Court decision Roe v. Wade, had the Court not decided to overturn the ruling last year. On the latest 51%, we speak with Amy Littlefield, longtime abortion access correspondent for The Nation, about how the fall of Roe is currently playing out in states and women's health clinics across the U.S.

FEBRUARY 12                      1750

On this week's 51%, we speak with Hollywood dialect coach and author Samara Bay about how to buck America's "voice standards" and embrace the power in your voice.

FEBRUARY 19                      1751

On this week's 51%, we speak with editors Nan Bauer-Maglin and Daniel Hood about their new book Gray Love: Stories About Dating and Relationships After 60.

FEBRUARY 26                      1752

On this week's 51%, we speak with Katie Hood, CEO of the One Love Foundation, about the differences between healthy and unhealthy relationships — and how to tell which one you're in.

MARCH 5                      1753

On this week's 51%, we speak with Dr. Clarence Lusane about his latest book "Twenty Dollars and Change: Harriet Tubman and the Ongoing Fight for Racial Justice and Democracy," on the lifelong activism of Harriet Tubman and the future of the $20 bill.

MARCH 12                    1754

On this week's 51%, we speak with Alisha Fernandez Miranda about her journey from CEO to intern in her new memoir "My What If Year."

MARCH 19                    1755

On this week's 51%, we recognize Women's History Month. Jennifer Herrera, vice president of external affairs for the National Women's History Museum, shares how the organization is working to fill the gaps in our history books. Our associate producer, Jody Cowan, stops by a donation ceremony for a replica of the Women's Rights Pioneers Monument at the New York State Museum.

MARCH 26                    1756

Parenting isn't easy – especially when children are difficult. On this week's 51%, Dr. Adelia Moore discusses how you can become a more confident parent, love with conviction, and see your children as the unique individuals they are.
