Discovery Networks, U.S. policy statement on TV Parental Guidelines

Discovery Communications, LLC supports the goals of the inter-industry task force to provide parents with advance, cautionary program information that's simple to use, and has always been committed to offering quality non-fiction programming that educates, enlightens and informs our viewers. To that end, each of our cable networks may — at times — air documentaries that depict the consequences of violence through the use of graphic images, which underscore the seriousness of the acts committed. While we believe that such content is neither gratuitous nor without social context, Discovery Communications, LLC historically has pro-actively included advisories in programs that contain violence, nudity, objectionable language and other adult themes.

Discovery Networks, U.S., including Discovery Channel, TLC, and Animal Planet will participate in the voluntary ratings program and expects to continue to rate programs that we determine are not subject to the news/news magazine exemption.

The Hub, which is distributed by Discovery Communications, LLC, is equally committed to voluntarily rating its programming.

Oprah Winfrey Network, which is distributed by Discovery Communications, LLC, is equally committed to voluntarily rating its programming.

* As specified in Children's Television Obligations Of Digital Television Broadcasters, FCC 04-221 (¶24), "digital broadcasters [are permitted] to air all of their additional [3 hours of] digital [children's] core programming, beyond the 3 hour baseline on the main digital program stream, on one free digital video channel or distribute it across multiple free digital video channels, at their discretion, as long as the stream/s on which the core programming is aired has comparable carriage on multichannel video programming distributors ("MVPDs")." Accordingly, the SOAC program service has a Saturday core block of children's programming of twelve (12) hours (7 a.m. to 7 p.m.). Three (3) hours of that block provide compliance with FCC Rule 73.671 for the TBN Enlace service, and three (3) additional hours of that programming block also provide compliance for the JCTV program service. Similarly, the TBN service has a Saturday core block of children's programming of six (6) hours (7 a.m. to 1 p.m.). CHILDREN'S PROGRAMMING CERTIFICATION

This is to certify that the linear, VOD, and Spanish VOD programming service currently known as PBS KIDS Sprout (the "Service") was in compliance with the commercial time provisions of the Children's Television Act of 1990 (the "Act") as set forth in 47 U.S.C. Section 303a and the rules and regulation of the Federal Communications Commission promulgated thereunder during the period of October 1, 2013 through December 31, 2013 (the "Applicable Quarter"), except as provided below. A list of all programs that the Service considered children's programming under the Act that aired on the Service during the Applicable Quarter has been attached as Schedule A hereto and is fully incorporated herein.

The closing credits for "Lazytown," an educational and informational program supplied to Sprout by Lazytown, inadvertently included a fleeting (one-half second) display of the URL for a web site (www.lazytown.com) that did not conform to the FCC's Children's TV commercial limit rules for web site display, and such episodes were exhibited by Sprout in sixty-six instances. Even though the display of the URL was fleeting, and therefore barely discernible by viewers, it is possible that the FCC would consider this a violation of the commercial limit rules.

Sprout already had taken precautions to avoid any potential violations of the FCC's web site rules. Specifically, each episode of programming on Sprout is reviewed by Sprout, whose policy is to remove all URLs from program materials. In this case, however, the display of the URL in the closing credits was so fleeting it was missed during this review. Sprout is continuing to develop and implement procedures to minimize the possibility of a re-occurrence of this incident.

I hereby declare that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.
