(Hosted this week by Greg Gordon and produced with Lucia Chappelle)

An All-Star salute to the International Transgender Day of Visibility; Uganda lawmakers criminalize coming out in a new homophobic law, Namibia
Supremes

strip citizenship from a bi-national gay couple's child, Bosnian thugs attack Banja Luka queer activists, high courts in Bolivia & Nepal open doors to marriage equality, more U.S. states pass anti-trans bills, anti-queer bigots in Australia and the U.S. violently protest trans rights and Drag Queen Story Hour, more news!

= Program #1,826 RUNDOWN =

Opening teases + theme music + headlines and intro . . . . . 1:10

SEGMENT #1 – "NewsWrap": Uganda lawmakers celebrate passage of the 2023 version of their Anti-Homosexuality Act that reinstates the death penalty for "aggravated homosexuality" and even makes it illegal to come out; Namibia's Supreme Court disallows the Namibian citizenship of the son born via surrogate in South Africa to gay bi-national couple Namibian Philip Luhl and his Mexican spouse Guillermo Delgado [with brief comments by their attorney UNO KATJIPUKA]; thugs attack Pride-attempting LGBTQ activists in the Bosnian city of Banja Luka; the Supreme Courts of Bolivia and Nepal each order the full legal recognition of same-gender couples; the World Athletics Council bans trans-female competitors from all elite track and field events, while Wyoming becomes the latest U.S. state to ban trans female students from the 8th to 12th grade from participating in school sports; Arkansas' Republican-controlled government enacts 2 anti-trans bills, one allowing anyone who received gender-affirming care as a minor to sue their doctors for malpractice, and the other requires trans students and staff to use campus bathrooms based on their birth certificate gender; Nebraska advances a bill to ban gender-affirming healthcare for trans young people [with comments by State Senator MEGAN HUNT]; Kentucky's Democratic governor vetoes bills to ban gender-affirming care for minors and requiring all trans people to use bathrooms based on their birth certificate gender, but a Republican-dominated legislature could override them, while Kansas' Democratic governor vetoes a young trans sports ban bill for the 3rd consecutive year that this time could be overridden by the majority Republican legislature; Utah's Republican government bans conversion therapy for minors; anti-queer rightwing thugs assault peaceful LGBTQ protestors in a Sydney suburb outside a speech by one of Australia's most outspoken trans-phobic MPs [with day-before violence planner CHRISTIAN SUKKAR in a social media post, and on-scene sound of the melee]; meanwhile, British anti-trans campaigner Posie Parker (AKA Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull) gets supportive Nazi salutes outside Parliament House in Melbourne, while independent Aboriginal M.P. LILIA THORPE gets roughly arrested trying to storm the stage of a Parker speech in Canberra; while members of the far-right U.S. militia group The Proud Boys get out-protested by defenders of a Drag Queen Story Hour being held at Manhattan's LGBTQ Center and hosted by state Attorney General Letticia James [with brief comments by attending gay New York City Councilman ERIK BOTTCHER] (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by SARAH MONTAGUE & DAVID HUNT, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:59] + "This Way Out Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter promo (with a music bed by CREDENCE CLEARWATR REVIVAL) [:26] ..... 11:25

SEGMENT #2 - March 31st is the INTERNATIONAL TRANSGENDER DAY OF VISIBILITY. The four featured guests from our 2022 series on trans issues hosted by ROGR Q. MASON and produced with BRIAN DeSHAZOR and DAVID GONZALEZ -- RIKKI NATHANSON, ADMIRAL RACHEL LEVINE, SAM LONG, and DORIAN WOOD -- embody the "visibility" theme (with music by DORIAN WOOD)..... 15:08

"This Way Out" heads for preservation at the U.S. Library of Congress;

Scotland's new First Minister is Muslim and pro-queer, U.S. V.P. Kamala Harris defends LGBTQ rights in Ghana, British trans-phone Posie Parker flees New Zealand,

U.S. Republicans' anti-trans rash spreads to more states, the Miley Cyrus-Dolly

Parton "Rainbowland" duet is "too controversial" for Milwaukee-area, Wisconsin first-graders, and more LGBTQ news from around the world!

= Program #1,827 RUNDOWN =

=> NOTE SPECIAL OPENING: "TRUMP Truth" + EMERSON, LAKE & PALMER
prelude +

Opening teases + theme music + headlines and intro . . . . . 1:11

SEGMENT #1 – "NewsWrap": Queer ally Humza Yousaf is elected First Minister of Scotland, making him the first Muslim to lead a European democracy; U.S.

VICE PRESIDENT KAMALA HARRIS pushes GHANA PRESIDENT NANA

AKUFO-ADDO to quash a horrific anti-LGBTQ bill now being considered in Parliament [with comments by each at a March 27th joint press conference in the West African nation]; outraged Kiwis end the New Zealand speaking tour of British anti-trans campaigner Posie Parker before she's able to say one bigoted word [with sound from the estimated 5,000 protesters in Auckland]; Republican majorities in the U.S. states of Iowa, Georgia, West Virginia and Kentucky enact bills to ban most gender-affirming care for transgender people under the age of 18, while Republican majorities in Iowa, Idaho, Kentucky, and Florida approve bills to require the use by transgender people of sex-segregated public facilities, like bathrooms and locker rooms, based only on their birth certificate gender [with opposition testimony in Florida by trans-man KALEB HOBSON-GARCIA and a trans-teen's father, JEFF WALKER]; and a right-wing-pressured school superintendent in Wisconsin bans kids at Heyer Elementary School from singing their version of "RAINBOWLAND", the 2017 duet by MILEY CYRUS and DOLLY PARTON, because it "could be perceived as controversial" [with excerpts from the song and brief comments by SARAH SCHINDLER, the parent of a 7-year-old at the school] (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by JOHN DYER V & AVA DAVIS, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR). [10:48] + "This Way Out Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with a music bed by THE BEATLES) [:29]. . . . . 11:17

SEGMENT #2 – Around the world in 35 years. "This Way Out: The International LGBTQ Radio Magazine" debuted on non-commercial community stations on April 1, 1988, and at last count it's broadcast on almost 200 local terrestrial and internet outlets in Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, the Philippines, and the USA, as well as on the World Radio Network in English for North America, Africa, Asia-Pacific, the Caribbean and Europe. Thirty-five years of recorded LGBTQ life is worth preserving. Later this month "This Way Out" CEO and "NewsWrap" Producer BRIAN DESHAZOR will be a presenter at the gender and sexuality caucus of the RADIO PRESERVATION TASK FORCE OF LIBRARY OF CONGRESS in WASHINGTON, DC. In observance of our 35th anniversary, Brian talks to Radio Preservation Task Force chair JOSH SHEPPERD about the show's historic legacy and the project to maintain it. But first, Coordinating Producer GREG GORDON tells "NewsWrap" anchor MICHAEL TAYLOR GRAY how "This Way Out" was born. And later, LYNN HARRIS-BALLEN (from "Feminist Magazine" on KPFK/Los Angeles) chats with Associate Producer LUCIA CHAPPELLE for some more memories (with instrumental intro music by TRIUMPH). . . . . 14:16

SEGMENT #3 – "This Way Out" Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo #2 (with a music bed by THE MOODY BLUES) [:29] + Brief promo for next week's conversation with UKRAINIAN LGBTQ activist OLENA SHEVCHENKO [:18]. . . . . :47

= Program #1,828 RUNDOWN =

=> NOTE: brief "Hello Again" INTRO by THE CARS + Opening teases + theme music + headlines and intro. . . . . 1:29

SEGMENT #1 – "NewsWrap": The U.S. Supreme Court rejects West Virginia's emergency request to continue its ban on 12-year-old trans track and field athlete Becky Pepper-Jackson from competing as a member of her middle school's girls team while lower federal courts consider the ban's constitutionality; Kansas Republicans shove through a ban on any gender-affirming care for trans young people under the age of 18, and another bill to force trans people to use sex-segregated public facilities, like bathrooms, that match their birth gender; Republican governors in Indiana and Idaho each sign bills outlawing all gender-affirming healthcare for under-18 trans young people, and Idaho adds prison time for any healthcare professional who violates the ban; North Dakota Republican lawmakers set an ugly record by advancing to their Republican governor ten anti-queer bills in just one week that, among other rights restrictions, ban and criminalize gender-affirming care for trans youth under 18, ban kindergarten through college trans athletes from competing as themselves in girls' and women's school sports, ban all trans people from changing their legal gender, and ban them from using bathrooms based on their gender identity, along with outlawing family-friendly drag shows; New Jersey Governor Phil Murphy, a Democrat, swims against the tide by issuing an Executive Order to protect people providing and seeking gender-affirming healthcare in his state; the Biden administration's Education Department gets mixed reviews for its proposal to interpret Title IX, the landmark measure that bans bias in education based on gender, to outlaw blanket bans on trans student athletes, but gets heat for allowing certain anti-trans exceptions; and country star and event co-host KELSEA BALLERINI performs her hit song “If You Go Down (I’m Going Down, Too)” at the CMT fan-based country music awards, with RuPaul’s Drag Race veterans MANILA LUZON, KENNEDY DAVENPORT, JAN SPORT and OLIVIA LUX dancing and singing back-up vocals, to thumb their collective noses at the growing rash of state bans on family-friendly drag shows [includes a song excerpt and brief comments from 3 of the fierce artistes] (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by KALYN HARDMAN & MICHAEL LEBEAU and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:51] + “TWO” I.D. by Australian Broadcasting Corporation presenters NATE BYRNE and MON SHAFTER [:19] + “This Way Out Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with a music bed by BILLY JOEL) [:30]. . . . . 11:40

SEGMENT #2 - Lesbian feminist OLENA SHEVCHENKO has been known as a prominent Ukrainian human rights activist for years. On February 24, 2022 her life and the LGBTQ movement in her country was changed forever. Since the Russian invasion her work has become even more significant, making her one of TIME Magazine’s Women of the Year. Shevchenko left her war-torn homeland to speak at the World Pride Human Rights Conference in Sydney, Australia. While she was there, “This Way Out” correspondent BARRY McKAY sat down with her for this exclusive interview (with intro/outro music from the Ukraine National Anthem, and a tease from next week’s Part 2). . . . .

A queer Ukrainian's hopes for a more liberated future;
India's top court hears marriage equality arguments;

The Cook Islands decriminalizes sex between men, Museveni hypes harsher penalties for queer Ugandans, DeSantis lackeys expand “Don’t Say Gay”, Florida restricts trans meds & toilet use, a trans state lawmaker scolds anti-trans Montana House Republicans, the US House passes a trans female sports ban going nowhere, more!

= Program #1,830 RUNDOWN =

Opening teases + theme music + headlines and intro. . . . . 1:10

SEGMENT #1 – “NewsWrap”: Lawmakers in the South Pacific Ocean nation of the Cook Islands repeal laws against consensual adult gay sex [with comments by PRIME MINISTER MARK BROWN]; Uganda President Yoweri Museveni refuses to sign the latest draconian Anti-Homosexuality Bill because execution for “aggravated homosexuality” is not harsh enough; Florida’s DeSantis installed Board of Education bows to their overlord’s wish to extend the “Don’t Say Gay” law banning any classroom discussion of sexual orientation and gender identity through 12th grade; Montana’s House Speaker muzzles his state’s only transgender lawmaker, Democratic REP. ZOOEY ZEPHYR, after she tells her Republican-majority colleagues that they will have “blood on their hands” for passing legislation to deny gender-affirming healthcare for trans people under the age of 18; gay Colorado Governor Jared Polis signs measures to protect women’s choice and gender-affirming care in his state, while FLORIDA CONGRESSMAN GREG STEUBE introduces a bill in the U.S. House to federally ban trans girls and women from competing in school sports that is “dead on arrival” in the Democratically controlled Senate (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by TANYA KANE-PARRY & MARCOS NAJERA, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:39] + Tease and promo for next week’s feature interview with Ugandan rights beacon FRANK MUGISHA [:25]. . . . . . 11:04

SEGMENT #2 – Tease & BB for Olena Pt 3 [:27] + India’s Supreme Court began hearings this week on a combination of petitions from around the country seeking one goal: marriage equality. The plaintiffs claim that with homosexuality no longer criminal, the rights of marriage should follow. Laws governing several forms of marriage in the world’s second most populous country are complicated. Plaintiffs’ counsel MUKUL ROHATGI argued that opening the institution to same-gender couples fits under a broader reading of one of those laws, the Special Marriage Act. Another advocate for the plaintiff couples, MENAKA GURUSWAMY, laid the cards on the kitchen table. The initial rebuttal from the government side was the contention that same-gender marriage is an “urban elitist idea.” That notion was shot down because there was no actual data to back it up. SOLICITOR GENERAL TUSHAR MEHTA fell back on the tired argument that marriage equality should not be in the hands of the Court {3:46} . 4:13

SEGMENT #3 - Last time on "This Way Out", lesbian human rights activist and TIME Woman of the Year OLENA SHEVCHENKO talked about UKRAINE's LGBTQ community facing the RUSSIAN invasion. Her exclusive interview with our Sydney correspondent BARRY McKAY continues with questions about queer Ukrainians showing up as heroes under occupation (with music from the Ukraine National Anthem) [11:26] . . . . . 11:26

SEGMENT #1 – "NewsWrap": Hungary's President Katalin Novak vetoes a bill that calls on citizens to report queer couples who are raising children to the authorities in a rare rebuke of ham-fisted far-right autocratic P.M. Viktor Orban - but a simple legislative majority can override it; an estimated 200,000 people celebrate the first in-full-bloom LGBTQ Pride festival after a 4-year COVID-caused absence, and press their conservative federal government to open civil marriage to same-gender couples; U.S. NBA multi-champion DWAYNE WADE tells "Showtime's" "Headliners" why he and his wife Gabrielle Union moved their family out of Florida (hint: they're proudly parenting trans-daughter Zaya); The Walt Disney Company, an outspoken corporate opponent of Florida's "Don't Say Gay" law, sues power-hungry Republican Governor Ron DeSantis for "retaliation" after his thus-far failed efforts to eliminate their self-governance of the Orlando property in and around Walt Disney World; about 300 drag queens and their supporters invade the Florida statehouse in Tallahassee to protest the DeSantis "anti-queer agenda" [with chants of "Drag Is Not A Crime" and "Hey Hey Ho Ho Ron DeSantis Has Got To Go"]; a Missouri judge places a temporary "hold" on the edict issued last week by the state Attorney General outlawing gender-affirming healthcare for all trans people regardless of age, while the U.S. Justice Department joins 3 families' lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of Tennessee's state ban on gender-affirming healthcare for trans young people under the age of 18; and the Montana House's overwhelmingly Republican majority banishes the state's only transgender lawmaker, Missoula-area state Representative ZOOEY ZEPHYR, for the rest of the legislative session for her unapologetic "breach of decorum" "blood on your hands" remarks against a soon-to-be-passed measure to ban trans under-18's gender-affirming healthcare (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by DAVID HUNT & MELANIE KELLER, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:59] + JOE BIDEN "stand up" snippets from the April 29th WHITE HOUSE CORRESPONDENTS DINNER [:33] . . . . . 11:22

SEGMENT #2 – Quickie "TWO" I.D. by Olympian GREG LOUGANIS [:04] + "This Way Out" Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with SADE music bed) [:29] +. If you thought UGANDA's infamous anti-homosexuality legislation was a thing of the past, think again! The so-called "Kill the Gays" measure is back with a vengeance. Veteran Ugandan LGBTQ activist FRANK MUGISHA has been in Washington, DC, lobbying for support against the bill that has been circulating in various forms for more than a decade. Mugisha was interviewed on April 17th by AMY GOODMAN of DEMOCRACY NOW! - and we have highlights (intro/outro music from the Uganda National Anthem) [14:35]. . . . . 15:18

SEGMENT #1 – “NewsWrap”: Ugandan lawmakers send the horrific Anti-Homosexuality Bill 2023 back to President Yoweri Museveni for his signature after spurning most of his requested revisions; far-right Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan stokes usual anti-queer fears on his reelection campaign trail; Seoul's city government snubs South Korea's premier Pride event and issues a permit for a Christian youth concert instead of to organizers of the long-running on that date and in that venue Seoul Queer Culture Festival; Montana's Republican governor signs a bill banning gender-affirming healthcare for trans minors as Missoulians march in support of their duly elected but GOP-ousted-for-passionately-opposing-it trans state Representative Zooey Zephyr [brief audio], while the Republican super-majority sends a slew of other anti-queer bills to the governor for his probable signature; Oklahoma's Republican GOVERNOR KEVIN STITT also signs a trans youth gender-affirming healthcare ban, and then vetoes what is usually routine funding for the state's public television broadcaster because it's “indoctrinating” kids; Maryland's Democratic governor signs measures to guarantee a woman's right to choose and gender-affirming healthcare for trans people in his state, while Illinois' Democratic governor is expected to sign a bill passed this week by the state legislature that denies public funding for book-banning library boards; Pennsylvania's House passes a bill to ban LGBTQ bias in employment, housing, and education [with “the political is personal” remarks by state lawmaker PAUL TAKAC], but it faces an uphill battle in the GOP-controlled state Senate; hundreds protest the anti-queer agenda of Florida's Republican Governor Ron DeSantis [with sounds of the sit-in at the governor's office], while his GOP legislative lackeys approve several anti-queer bills, including a measure that allows trans minors to be removed from their families if they are getting gender-affirming healthcare; and in “the land Down Under”, Victoria state PREMIER DAN ANDREWS suggests that violence-prone anti-drag protestors, who most recently forced the cancellation of a sold-out Drag Queen Story Time sponsored by the Monash City Council, should take their hate to a more-appropriate place [Florida] (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by AVA DAVIS & JOE BOEHNLEIN, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:59] + “This Way Out” Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with SUGARLOAF music bed) [:24]. . . . . 11:23

SEGMENT #2 – ROBERT PATRICK O’CONNOR died peacefully on April 23, 2023 at his home in Los Angeles. He was 85. “This Way Out’s” BRIAN DeSHAZOR (with thanks to VOJISLAV RADOVANOVIC and JASON JENN of Art Documents) pays tribute to the gay American playwright, poet, lyricist, short story writer and novelist, perhaps best known for his award-winning Broadway play “Kennedy’s Children” (with comments by BONNIE YOUNG and music by ODIUS ARI DESANO) . . . . . 14:23

How Australia's "Number 96" broke TV's straight ceiling;

India's Supreme Court mulls marriage equality, Sri Lanka's top court clears a path to sex law reform, a Guatemalan trans woman gets closer to U.S. asylum, Republican majorities in 2 U.S. states turn teachers into trans tattletales, Montana equality advocates challenge the new pediatric care ban, Washington shields trans kids from unsupportive parents, Indiana high schoolers save a censored queer-themed play, more!

= Program #1,833 RUNDOWN =

NOTE: BILLY PRESTON quickie prelude + Opening teases + theme music + headlines and intro. . . . . 1:13

SEGMENT #1 – “NewsWrap”: India’s Supreme Court wraps up 10 days of hearings on marriage equality, with no timetable for a ruling; Sri Lanka’s Supreme Court advances efforts to repeal antiquated anti-queer sex laws by ruling that it would be constitutional; the 6-to-3 conservative majority U.S. Supreme Court somewhat surprisingly rules unanimously that a persecuted Guatemalan transgender woman can stay in the U.S. to continue her asylum request; the U.S. Food & Drug Administration relaxes rules again for blood donations by men who have sex with men, but troubling restrictions remain; Republican majorities in the U.S. states of Indiana and North Dakota pass several bills to deny rights to LGBTQ people, especially transgender young people, but equality advocates file suit to challenge Montana’s recently-enacted law denying access to gender-affirming healthcare for trans people under the age of 18; the Democratic majority in the U.S. state of Washington protects young trans people who are getting gender-affirming care from estranged parents who oppose it; and [with an introduction from the theme music of late 1950’s U.S. TV show “The Adventures of Robin Hood”], FORT WAYNE, INDIANA high school students raise funds to mount a play at an off-campus venue that was banned by school officials after a few parents complained about “controversial” queer content [with brief comments, from a report on Fort Wayne’s WBOI-FM by Ella Abbott, by School Superintendent WAYNE BARKER, censorship-fighting director BLANE PRESSLER, and sophomore PEYTON STRATTON, who plays the title character “Marian” in the play suggesting that the “Maid” was the real “Robin Hood” (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by MICHAEL TAYLOR-GRAY & WENDY NATIVIDAD, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [9:44] + a snippet from “Everyone Is Gay” by A GREAT BIG WORLD [:30] + “TWO” I.D. by Aussie bridge-builder ANTHONY VENN-BROWN [:15] + “YWO” Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with BLONDIE music bed) [:27] . . . . . 10:56

SEGMENT #2 - What were you watching on TV in 1972? Depending on where you lived, it may have been Steptoe and Son or Sanford and Son, All in the Family or Til Death Us Do Part, Coronation Street, Guadalupe or The Guiding Light. If you were lucky enough to live Down Under, your TV set was the site of an amazing breakthrough for LGBTQ visibility, a nighttime series called “NUMBER

96.” “This Way Out” Sydney correspondent BARRY MCKAY describes the AUSTRALIA that gave birth to the history-making soap opera, and in Part 1 of a 3-part series introduces us to a new documentary that celebrates it (featuring documentarian ANDREW MERCADO, a pivotal scene from the show starring ABIGAIL and JOE HESHAM, and with theme music from the show and a brief tease for next week’s Part 2). . . . . 15:30

How Aussie audiences fell in love with TV's first queers;

Estonia's government proposes marriage equality, Namibia's highest court approves

foreign-wed queer bi-national couples, married queer Taiwan couples gain full adoption

rights, China's government shuts down the Beijing LGBT Center, Florida's anti-

LGBTQ

campaign drags on, Nebraska and Texas batter trans youth, Missouri's A.G.

withdraws his absurd ban on all trans healthcare, West Hollywood honors "This Way Out", more news!

= Program #1,834 RUNDOWN =

Opening teasers + theme music + headlines and intro. . . . . 1:10

SEGMENT #1 – "NewsWrap": Estonia's government approves draft legislation creating both marriage equality and a registered partnership option; Namibia's highest court orders the government to recognize the civil marriages of 2 of its citizens to queer spouses they had legally married elsewhere and grant the foreign spouses permanent residency status and work permits; Taiwan lawmakers expand their 4-year-old marriage equality legislation by granting married queer couples the same adoption rights as their heterosexual counterparts [with brief comments by activist FANG CHI]; the government of China’s Xi Jinping continues to turn the screws on its queer citizens by forcing the closure of the 6-year-old Beijing LGBT Center; Florida’s Republican Governor Ron DeSantis gleefully signs 5 more bills passed by his legislative lackeys to persecute LGBTQ people, their families, and their healthcare providers [with a cameo by RON DwSANTIS], including a drag show ban that has already forced the cancellation of 2 planned Pride celebrations; Nebraska’s Republican-dominated government approves one bill that both bans most abortions in the state and gender-affirming healthcare for trans people under the age of 19; queer advocates have already filed a legal challenge to Republican-heavy Texas’s gender-affirming healthcare ban for trans minors; Missouri’s Republican Attorney General Andrew Bailey withdraws his draconian “emergency rule” that banned any gender-affirming healthcare for trans people regardless of their age, but GOP Governor Mike Parson is expected to sign a measure passed by the Republican-majority legislature that bans that care for trans minors; and the West Hollywood City Council honors “This Way Out” with a proclamation celebrating its 35th anniversary [with excerpts from remarks by Associate Producer LUCIA CHAPPELLE] (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by SARAH MONTAGUE & MICHAEL LEBEAU, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:37] + “YWO” Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with MEN AT WORK music bed) [:27] . . . . .

SEGMENT #2 - Captain Kirk and Lt. Uhura’s infamous “Star Trek” kiss still had U.S. television execs sniffing their smelling salts, and small screens around the world were way in the back of the closet when audiences Down Under embraced a groundbreaking soap opera. In the second of his 3-part series, “This Way Out” Sydney correspondent BARRY McKAY has more about the characters whose impact is the subject of a new documentary (featuring documentarian ANDREW MERCADO, star JOE HASHAM, a pivotal scene from the show starring CARLOTTA and JEFF KEVIN, and with theme music from the show and a brief tease for next week’s Part 3) . . . . . 15:22

Harvey Milk's 90th Birthday Kicks off Pride Season;

Uganda enacts its dreaded Anti-Homosexuality Act, Turkish homophobia keeps Erdogan in power, Latvia's Parliament elects Europe's first gay President, Jerusalem Pride parades on Bibi's watch, the U.S. Defense Department shoots down an Air Force base's Pride drag show, and more global LGBTQ news!

= Program #1,836 RUNDOWN =

Opening teases + theme music + headlines and intro. . . . . 1:10

SEGMENT #1 – “NewsWrap”: Ugandan President Yoweri Museveni signs the draconian Anti-Homosexuality Act 2023 into law, which includes execution for "aggravated homosexuality" (with comments from “Democracy Now!” by Ugandan activist DELOVIE KWAGALA); Turkish queers and their allies express fears of escalating oppression by newly re-elected far right anti-queer President Recep Tayyip Erdogan; long-serving Latvian Foreign Minister Edgars Rinkēvičs makes history with his election by lawmakers to be the first Baltic and E.U. nation with an openly-gay president; a second district court has ruled that Japan's ban on marriage equality is unconstitutional, but 2 others have ruled to the contrary, and a final ruling in a fifth district court is due June 8th; an estimated 30,000 people celebrate Pride in Jerusalem, ironically guarded by outspokenly anti-queer Israeli National Security Minister Itamar Ben-Gvir; and the U.S. Defense Department bows to far-right Republican hysteria and cancels a popular annual Pride Month drag show at Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas, Nevada (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by JOE BOEHNLEIN & AVA DAVIS, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [9:57] + “TWO” Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with PINK FLOYD music bed) [:25] . . . . . 10:22

SEGMENT #2 - This June brings a new season of Pride events to the Northern Hemisphere that kicked off with the late-May recognition of what would have been HARVEY MILK's 90th birthday. The month got off to a different start at one California school board meeting. A debate over banning a queer-positive social studies book included one member's slanderous reference to Milk as a pedophile. So we'll fill the education gap with this look back at the man who urged every queer person to come out. Not long after the first openly gay elected official in the U.S. became a San Francisco County Supervisor in January of 1978, he had a conversation with This Way Out's GREG GORDON. The November 27, 1978 assassination of Milk and Mayor George Moscone tore San Francisco apart. Former Supervisor Dan White was convicted of the lesser charge of manslaughter based on a “diminished capacity” defense. His sentence only amounted to five years in prison. When the verdict was announced on May 21, 1979, the queer community marched from the Castro District to City Hall to peacefully protest ... which, thanks to “over-zealous” cops, erupted into the White Night Riots and lesser-known Castro Invasion (produced by GREG GORDON, LUCIA CHAPPELLE and BRIAN DESHAZOR, featuring the voices of HARVEY MILK, DIANE FEINSTEIN, SALLY GEARHART, CLEVE JONES, HARRY BRITT, MEG CHRISTIAN & HOLLY NEAR, and with additional music by PEPPER MASHAY, BUENA SEGMENT #1 – “NewsWrap”: The United Kingdom’s National Health Service, claiming that their use has not been fully proven to be beneficial, drastically restricts access by transgender patients under the age of 18 to puberty blockers, while the U.K.’s Home Office announces an expansion of a program allowing gay men convicted of now-legal same-gender sex to apply for pardons to women convicted of lesbian sex, military service members, and men convicted of “solicitation of men”; Iceland bans conversion therapy, the debunked claim that LGBTQ people - notably including the "T" - can be made straight; the Australian state of Queensland drops reassignment surgery as a prerequisite to trans people as young as 12 changing the gender marker on their birth certificates and other government documents; the Australian Capital Territory becomes the first in the country to enact laws protecting intersex people from surgical intervention without their informed consent; Arizona’s Democratic Governor Katie Hobbs vetos an anti-trans “bathroom bill”, but Texas Republican Governor Greg Abbott signs a bill expanding his state’s ban on trans girls and women from competing in school sports under their gender identity to colleges and universities; Democratic Illinois Governor J.B. Pritzker signs a first-in-the-nation bill banning book bans; and Best Director of a Musical MICHAEL ARDEN steals this year’s even-more-queer-than-usual Tony Awards on June 11th by reclaiming the “F” word [with brief excerpts from his acceptance speech, and our “fill-in-the-blank” voice-over replacing almost all of the comments bleeped by CBS during its telecast (written by GREG GORDON, edited by LUCIA CHAPPELLE, reported this week by WENZEL JONES & NICO RAQUEL, and produced by BRIAN DeSHAZOR) [10:20] + Donor Thanks/E-Newsletter Promo (with SADE music bed)[:26]. . . . .

SEGMENT #2 - "TWO" I.D. by JOHN CAMERON MITCHELL (with music from "Hedwig & The Angry Inch") [:31] + The music of the all-trans woman rock band Lipstick Conspiracy lives again! They first made their mark on the U.S. West Coast in 2004, and toured for about six years. The nationwide epidemic of anti-trans fever is bringing them back together. From San Francisco, ERIC JANSEN of Out in the Bay Queer Radio and Podcast greeted their reunion.[featuring comments by LIPSTICK CONSPIRACY's SARAFINA MARASCHINO, SHAWNA LOVE and MARILYN MITCHELL, excerpts from "Call", "Just A Girl", "Locked Away", and "You (Do x 3)", and audio editing by DAVID KWAN] [14:31]. . . . .
