| Trump and Clinton prep for conventions, terror in Turkey, and SCOTUS rules on abortion: Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton gear up for their party's conventions as talk about potential running mates escalates. Trump seeks a VP with the Washington experience he lacks as he continues the struggle to unite the Republican party. Meanwhile, Sen. Elizabeth Warren joins Clinton on the campaign trail. Will Warren attract progressive Democratic voters to Hillary? Mistrust still surrounds the former secretary of State as the investigation into her personal email account carries on. And heading into the July 4 weekend, global security forces are on high alert after a well-planned terror attack at the Istanbul airport left hundreds dead or wounded. Plus, the Supreme Court -- still operating with just eight justices -- issues its most decisive decision on abortion in 25 years. |                                 |

| Painting a vibrant picture of Brooklyn in the tumultuous 1970s: "Another Brooklyn," by Jacqueline Woodson, is not a typical coming-of-age novel. It takes place in Brooklyn in the 1970s, an environment in which drugs were ubiquitous, white flight was on the rise and young girls of color relied on each other for support. Woodson grew up in that era herself, and Jeffrey Brown meets with her in Brooklyn to discuss how she sees writers as 'history keepers.' |                   |

| F.S. KEY AND THE SONG THAT BUILT AMERICA celebrates Francis Scott Key's writing of America's national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner." Key, a constitutional lawyer, famously penned the lyrics following the 12-hour bombardment of Ft. McHenry in September 1814. Against a backdrop of history, and through the eyes of Key's loving wife Polly (played by Deborah Hazlett), the film highlights Key's personal life, legal career and artistic development. The documentary covers Key's major cases (including the Aaron Burr conspiracy), his vehement opposition to the War of 1812, his enlistment in the militia, his participation in the ill-fated defense of Washington, D.C., and his penchant for poetry and art. |  |

| This film traces the ascent of an ambitious country boy from a peanut farm in Plains, Georgia, to the Oval Office; it examines the failings of Jimmy Carter's political leadership in the context of the turbulent 1970s; and explores the role religion played in his career. Carter ran for president as an outsider. He rode into power on the post-Watergate disaffection with Washington politics. But his inexperience resulted in an ineffectual and fractured administration. Inflation, recession, and a humbling hostage crisis blew his presidency dramatically off course. The crowning achievement of his one-term in office, the Camp David Accords, which established a framework for peace in the Middle East, was the inspiration for his life after the White House. In the years since, Carter has recast himself as a giant of moral leadership. He has struggled to bring peace to war-torn countries; fought for the eradication of life-threatening diseases; and dedicated himself to housing America's poorest citizens. The film features interviews with many close to the Carter administration including his wife Rosalynn, son Chip, Press Secretary Jody Powell and Vice President Walter Mondale. |                                   |

| Jackson Pollock's "Mural": The Story of a Modern Masterpiece is a new documentary produced by the University of Iowa in collaboration with the University of Iowa Museum of Art. The film documents the truths and the myths surrounding this mammoth sized painting "Mural". Artist Jackson Pollock created the painting in 1943 for art patron and advocate Peggy Guggenheim, for her New York townhouse. This painting measuring approximately 20 feet long by 8 foot high changed the landscape of American modern painting forever. Pollock's creation ignited what would later be called "Abstract Expressionism", an art movement, which even the C.I.A. would embrace to further the cause of American freedom during the uneasy years of the Cold War. |  |

| Des Moines Metro Opera Presents Manon is a lavish reworking of a rarely performed musical masterpiece. First performed in Paris in 1884, composer Jules Massenet's famous opera tells the story of the young and impulsive Manon, who falls in love with the student des Grieux. Because Manon also longs for luxury, she cannot resist when the rich nobleman De Bretigny offers to make her his mistress. Manon's choice between young love and the allure of life's unavoidable temptations is the cause of her descent from innocence to complete desperation. |                                       |

| From 1972 to 1974, the Watergate scandal was frequently a part of "The Dick Cavett Show." In fact, Cavett was at the forefront of national TV coverage, interviewing nearly every major Watergate figure as the crisis unfolded. With exclusive access to the archive of the show, DICK CAVETT'S WATERGATE documents the scandal in the words of the people who lived it: from the botched burglary at the Democratic National Headquarters; to the must-see TV of the daily Congressional Watergate hearings; to the ongoing behind-the-scenes battle between the White House and "The Dick Cavett Show," culminating with the resignation of President Nixon on August 9, 1974. DICK CAVETT'S WATERGATE offers a unique opportunity to mark the 40th anniversary of a defining moment in American history. |                         |

| When Ronald Reagan's first term reached its halfway point, he was challenged with tremendous economic strife, the recession and unemployment had battered Reaganomics. As the Pentagon spent $34 million per hour on building up U.S. military forces and nuclear weapons, the deficit increased. However, an economic transformation in 1983 and the slow return of Americans to work secured a second term for Reagan -- a term that would afford him his greatest triumphs and his most difficult blows. "The American Experience" chronicles Reagan's last four years in office -- from the loss of his closest advisors and the Iran-Contra scandal, to the dawning of the fall of Communism in Europe. |                             |

| Struggles for power plant with White House backing raise concerns about clean coal: Clean coal technology is key to the Obama administration's plans for combating climate change. But a high-profile power plant, once a poster child for clean coal's promise, has run billions over budget in construction costs, faces federal investigations and allegations of fraud. William Brangham talks with Ian Urbina, who investigated the story for The New York Times. |                  |

| Above Manhattan's bustle, a reshaped public space: In the mid-20th century, it was a railroad; now it's a public park. Built in the 1930s, 30 feet above the streets of Manhattan, the High Line was crucial for transporting cargo. But with the decline of rail transportation, it closed in 1980 and was abandoned. Almost three decades later, it opened again -- this time, as a shared space for greenery, art and leisure. Jeffrey Brown reports. |                   |

| Are young kids losing the brain-boosting benefits of playtime? As kindergarten and pre-k have become more academically rigorous, some worry that the very youngest students may be missing out on crucial development through abundant playtime. But other educators believe setting high expectations for achievement helps kids, especially low-income students, excel. Special correspondent Cat Wise reports. |                  |
