Dear Alex,

I have reviewed several episodes of the program "SCIENCE NATION" and I am confident that the series meets the educational and informational needs of children 13 to 16 years of age with its program content. The series is all about science and how it relates to everyday life. The series is an excellent example of how a television program can educate and illuminate all aspects of the scientific world to a teenage viewer. From laser technology to the importance of magnets to plant research to developing risk assessments for natural disasters, "SCIENCE NATION" features scientists from around the United States explaining complex issues in simple, understandable ways. I believe the series sparks interest in young viewers to further their studies in the science world while informing them of recent scientific developments.

"SCIENCE NATION" is educational, informative and entertaining, and an important part of any teenager's television viewing schedule.

Sincerely,
