Air Date: 07/14/2022

Program: Breakpoint

Issue: Great Lakes Symposium on Christian Worldview

Synopsis: Well, we live in times in which "deceit" has been joined by "confusion." So, even claiming to know truth can mean being called a "liar," even when it comes to the observable realities of shared history or biology. The flames are rising, smoke is filling the air, and you can only save one: the child or the container of embryos. According to Tomlinson, if you would choose to save the crying child, you're betraying the fact that, whatever you may say, you really believe embryos aren't equivalent to human beings. How, otherwise, could you justify saving one over 1,000?
