| Synopsis:                  | New York is the latest to legalize recreational marijuana. This move will create thousands of new jobs and is expected to generate billions of dollars in revenue after a lackluster year in tourism, real estate and business. And New York isn't alone. Each year, more states are voting to allow both adult-use and medical marijuana sales. But, with this, comes challenges. In a fast-growing industry, how do you ensure that smaller entrepreneurs aren't left behind? Or those who've been systemically affected by the war on cannabis are given greater opportunity? | 1:47  | 9:29     |

| Synopsis:                  | Organizing people or items by A to Z is a common method all over the world. It's used in schools, businesses,libraries and more. But why is this the predominant method today? What are some other systems that people ofthe past used? Historian Judith Flanders joins us this week to shed some light on the fascinating study ofalphabetization.                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 13:18 | 9:04     |

| From abrupt changes in gravity to galactic cosmic radiation, astronauts face numerous challenges as they push to explore farther into the unknown. Dr. Emmanuel Urquieta, from the Center for Space Medicine at the Baylor College of Medicine, joins Viewpoints this week to help us understand some of the health impacts of spending time in space and the hurdles that come with longer missions like sending humans to Mars.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 1:47                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 11:02                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

| Today, the average student graduating from a four-year, public university leaves with $28,600 in student loans. On top of this, students owe interest once payments kick in, and this can range from 3 to 5 percent for federal loans and can go as high as 12 percent for private loans. For some, the large sum of these loans plus interest can take several years to pay off and has a big effect on life decisions like when to start a family or if they can afford to leave a toxic job. This week – we cover the student loan crisis in the U.S. and talk about alternative options and resources that can help lower the current cost of higher education. | 14:51                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 8:11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

| Synopsis:                             | The late actor, Jimmy Stewart, gave us some very memorable characters during his time in Hollywood – many very funny; others endearing; and some dark and villainous. Perhaps Stewart's most dramatic role was the one that not many people know about, but that molded his life and his psyche – not to mention his acting – for most of his career: serving as a fighter pilot in World War II. We talk to an author who delved into Stewart's war service about how flying missions over Europe and seeing his comrades die affected the actor and the types of roles he chose to play post-war. | 1:47                 | 10:37            |

| Synopsis:                             | As more Americans look to decrease their carbon footprints, what's one way to make a big difference? Flippingthe narrative on the traditional American diet. Beef is more carbon-intensive to produce than chicken, but didyou know that cheese is also worse than chicken? It's this knowledge that can change people's dietary decisionsand decrease greenhouse gas emissions, slowing global warming. Paul Greenberg, a food and science writer,joins Viewpoints this week to share how people can adjust their daily eating habits to make a difference.                        | 14:26                | 8:43             |

| Synopsis:       | How often do you buy an item from the store that's packaged in a plastic container or wrapped in plastic? Daily decisions like these add up and are feeding into the global plastic crisis. Scientists estimate that there's anywhere between nine to 16 million tons of plastic on the sea floor, polluting the environment, harming species and releasing harmful microplastics into every corner of the planet. Two experts on plastic join us this week to shed some light on the problem and how we can each make a difference by changing our consumption habits and calling on leaders to craft stricter laws on waste management and manufacturing. | 1:46  | 12:05    |

| Synopsis:                            | The cryptocurrency that started it all, Bitcoin, is now valued at around 1.6 trillion dollars. And in just the last month, another, newer form of crypto, Dogecoin has skyrocketed in popularity across the Internet, sharply driving up the price per token. We explore the fascinating and fast-evolving world of cryptocurrency and the future of traditional financial systems as digital currency gains ground across the globe.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1:47          | 9:32             |

| The birth of the space shuttle in 1981 marked a new era of space travel. For the first time ever, NASA had a spacecraft that could launch into space and come back to earth and land like an airplane. While the shuttle had many successful flights, there were also some big catastrophes that ultimately led the program to cease operations in 2011. | Synopsis:                                     | Many people are worried that non-native plants and animals are invading the U.S. and preventing native species from thriving. Each year, a lot of money and time is spent trying to rid the land of these aliens - often to no avail. But, are these species present because they're the only ones that can exist in that environment? Are some plants and animals actually helping to create a more diverse and robust ecosystem? And are some native species really native to the U.S.? Our guests offer up a different perspective on the invasive species debate.                                                                                      | 1:47          | 8:11              |

| Synopsis:                  | The first New York Times wedding announcement was published in 1851. It was one sentence long and covered ayoung, white couple who had just married in New York. Today, the wedding and engagements section at the paperand other media outlets across the country look a lot different. We explore how this unique page has evolved overthe years and the rat race some couples go through to get an announcement published at a prominent paper likeThe New York Times. | 14:27     | 8:40     |

| Synopsis:            | In the U.S., most Americans commonly use vegetable or olive oil when cooking. While we don't often hear aboutpalm oil, it's in many of the products that we buy at the grocery store, including everything from food to personalcare products. And abroad, palm oil is widely used in cooking and frying. Last year, global consumption reached72 million tons. However, this ingredient is not being produced sustainably and has led to widespreaddeforestation in Southeast Asian countries. What's being done to curb the palm oil crisis? | 1:48  | 9:59     |

| Synopsis:            | Life has many challenges – but it's how you respond to these obstacles that truly matter. Characteristics likepassion, perseverance and grit can all factor into the end result and can make all the difference rather thanfocusing on pure talent or intelligence.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 13:49 | 8:24     |

 CULTURE CRASH:
 THE PERFECT ALBUM
 Time
 Duration

 Synopsis:
 This week, we discuss the importance of an album's length. All too often it can feel like some of the songs on the album are just there to fill time, so people feel like they're getting more music for their money.

| Synopsis:                   | Lake Mead, the reservoir created by the Hoover Dam, is at its lowest levels ever recorded. Drought is not a new problem in the West, but it is getting worse as the years go by. What's being done to curb water consumption and increase supply so people's taps don't run dry?                                                     | 1:48  | 11:15    |

| Synopsis:                   | On average, it's estimated that the typical worker receives one email every six minutes. This constant stream of emails and instant messages throughout the day continuously pulls people away from their main tasks and leads to workout burnout. And the pandemic – with more people working from home – has only made this worse. | 14:59 | 7:47     |

| Synopsis:                   | The 50 richest families in the world have a combined net worth of $1.2 trillion dollars. The Koch family, the second richest name on the list, is worth a staggering $100 billion dollars. Could you imagine having that amount of money? It's definitely enough to sustain several generations to come. How does one accumulate so much wealth? For many families, it isn't just about success and business growth, but the business of building wealth through loopholes like philanthropy and loose taxation laws. | 1:47 | 9:10     |
