

WAGT-CD, AUGUSTA, GEORGIA QUARTERLY FCC COMMUNITY PROBLEMS LIST OF COMMUNITY PROBLEMS, NEEDS AND CONCERNS
October 1, 2023—December 31st, 2023

CRIME AND SAFETY

Oct. 3, 5 p.m. 7:17: AUGUSTA, Ga. - After a deadly police pursuit took the life of a mother of two, the I-TEAM is digging deeper into the numbers of deadly pursuits in our area, and how the Richmond County Sheriff's Office is reviewing them. Earlier this year, the I-TEAM uncovered new information about a deadly police chase that killed Ashley Irvin. She was an innocent bystander, driving to her parents' house around the corner when she was hit and killed.

Oct. 4, 8 a.m. 2:41: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta Commission members toured the Charles B. Webster Detention Center on Wednesday amid several reports of issues with jail conditions. Conditions within the jail have been addressed by the commission several times, with the first reports starting at the beginning of the year.

Oct. 5, 5 p.m. 6:41: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Georgia's occupational licensing commission is made up of lawmakers, members of local chambers of commerce and experts in fields that require licenses to work. Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger created the Georgia Works Commission in the spring with the goal of streamlining the licensing process.

Oct. 11, 6 a.m. 2:55: WASHINGTON, D.C. - Hundreds of thousands of those who fought for our country are fighting another battle: one for benefits. New numbers show the Department of Veterans Affairs' backlog of claims has surpassed 300,000. This number represents claims that have been pending for more than 125 days, so we aren't talking about the ones that are brand new.

Oct. 11, 10 a.m. 2:25: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta Commission members held a work session on Wednesday on how best to address panhandling in the city. City leaders have recently proposed ordinances seeking to curb the practice, but they were warned by legal staff not to follow their initial course because it's unconstitutional.

Oct. 12, 4 p.m. 4:49: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Our I-TEAM has uncovered new information about a sex scandal at the Richmond County Sheriff's Office. So far, two deputies have been fired and two others have been demoted in a pair of separate incidents.

Oct. 14, 9 p.m. 2:01: AIKEN COUNTY, S.C. - Two people have been taken into custody and a suspect is dead following a traffic stop by Edgefield County that turned into a full-on chase. Just after 7:30 p.m. Saturday, News 12 began receiving tips about a heavy police presence in South Carolina around Exit 18 on I-20.

Oct. 15, 9 p.m. 1:13: BLYTHE, Ga. - Arrest warrants from the Richmond County Sheriff's Office detail "severe injuries" that left a 6-week-old boy in critical condition and got his parents arrested. On Wednesday, the Richmond County Sheriff's Office arrested 19-year-old Emma Pittman and 35-year-old David James with charges of cruelty to children in the first degree and aggravated battery for both.

Oct. 17, 11 a.m. 4:12: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Granting the wish of a Richmond County deputy who was shot in the face, a judge denied bond to the suspect during a hearing Tuesday that revealed more details about the encounter than we've ever learned. The deputy, Michael Cole, was at the bond hearing Tuesday morning.

Oct. 17, 7 p.m. 1:59: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We're learning more about a drive-by shooting that injured four people at a grocery store in a part of Augusta that's seen more than its fair share of violence. The shooting happened Tuesday evening at Paul's IGA on Greene Street at East Boundary. On Wednesday, the windows were shattered from what witnesses said were rounds from a machine gun.

Oct. 19, 12 p.m. 1:47: AUGUSTA, Ga. - For a number of Augusta Commission meetings, representatives from hotels in Augusta have been voicing their complaints about guests overstaying their welcome, and the need for the city to step in. We're talking about people who've been living in these hotels for weeks or months without paying.

Oct. 21, 2 p.m. 0:33: WADLEY, Ga. - The Georgia Bureau of Investigation is looking into a shooting incident with Jefferson County deputies that sent one person to the hospital. On Saturday at 10:07 a.m., the Wadley Police Department responded to a 911 call in the 700 block of North Main Street regarding an individual pointing a firearm at passing cars.

Oct. 22, 8 p.m. 0:43: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A driver has been arrested in connection with one of two fatal traffic accidents that happened over the weekend. It was the latest deadly weekend in a bad stretch for Richmond County. Over the previous weekend, two pedestrians were killed in crashes, and two pedestrians were killed a week earlier. Meagan Monica Burton, 32, was arrested Sunday in connection with a traffic accident in the 1800 block of Gordon Highway.

Oct. 23, 4 p.m. 1:39: SANDERSVILLE, Ga. - A hearing began Monday in Washington County court for a prisoner fighting what Georgia Innocence Project calls his wrongful conviction. The evidentiary hearing will continue Tuesday in support of Erik Heard's habeas corpus petition.

Oct. 24, 3 p.m. 0:50: WAGENER, S.C. - Controversy continues for the Wagener Fire Department, where the fire chief resigned last week after being accused of fraud and breach of trust for alleged paycheck padding. In the latest incident, a woman was arrested on two counts of third-degree assault and battery after some issues at a Halloween corn maze staged by the agency.

Oct. 24, 4 p.m. 2:54: SANDERSVILLE, Ga. - Tuesday marked a second day of testimony in a hearing for a prisoner fighting what Georgia Innocence Project calls his wrongful conviction. It won't be the hearing's last day. The evidentiary hearing began Monday and continued Tuesday, but it will need to go on longer, probably at a time to be determined in the future.

Oct. 26, 5 p.m. 7:27: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The I-TEAM recently uncovered sex scandals between deputies in the Richmond County Sheriff's Office - but those aren't the only scandals. We've uncovered another one. Unlike the other cases, this one didn't involve a relationship between two deputies; this one involved a deputy and a woman who called 911.

Oct. 30, 5 p.m. 5:42: AUGUSTA, Ga. - If you have kids, Tuesday is a big night. Halloween means bags of candy after going door to door. But some companies are copycatting the popular candies. And these treats are tricking kids into more than a sugar high.

Nov. 1, 3 p.m. 2:21: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We're starting to put more pieces together in the case of a man accused of murdering someone and then burying the body in a shallow grave in his backyard. Colby Jovan Smith, 30, was detained on the scene after the body was found Monday in the 800 block of Heard Avenue, nearly a month after the murder. Smith remained in Richmond County jail on Wednesday on charges of murder and concealing a death.

Nov. 2, 8 a.m. 2:07: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Shocked customers watched in the drive-thru at an Augusta Chick-fil-A when a driver shot at a homeless man who tried to get into his car. No one was hurt, but the homeless man was arrested and customers' nerves were rattled. The drama unfolded around 6 p.m. Wednesday at 3130 Peach Orchard Road.

Nov. 2, 4 p.m. 2:23: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Georgia is no stranger to a high number of car accidents. In 2020, more than 331,000 were reported in the state, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. The Richmond County Sheriff's Office said they've responded to roughly 9,000 car accidents this year alone and more than 1,300 are hit-and-runs.

Nov. 2, 11 a.m. 1:34: EVANS, Ga. - A jury found Damione Aaron Evans guilty Thursday in the trial over a 2016 rape and robbery in Columbia County. Thursday started out with closing arguments from the defense, pleading with the jury to not deliver a guilty verdict for Evans. The case dates back to seven years ago, which was the defense's biggest argument, calling it an injustice to try a case after such a long period of time.

Nov. 5, 5 p.m. 2:30: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Food truck owners are coming together to help a local vendor who lost his trailer in a fire over the weekend. A fire broke out Sunday evening at Augusta's Foodees Festival near the Fifth Street bridge. Around 5:30 p.m., a News 12 reporter on scene at Augusta's Foodees Festival caught a photo of a food truck fire that broke out.

Nov. 5, 3 p.m. 0:17: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Richmond County Sheriff's Office is investigating a shooting that happened Sunday afternoon in south Augusta that left one person injured. On Sunday, the Richmond County Sheriff's Office says deputies responded to the 3600 block of Goldfinch Drive at 1:53 p.m. in reference to shots fired with one person being shot.

Nov. 5 p.m. 1:48 NORTH AUGUSTA, S.C. - Captain Junior Johnson begins his role as chief of North Augusta Public Safety on Jan. 1. He was announced as the new chief on Nov. 15. Current Chief John Thomas took over the position in 2009 and started with over 20 years of experience in the field. He announced his end-of-the-year retirement in September. Johnson says he has big shoes to fill.

Nov. 7, 5 p.m. 2:03: HARLEM, Ga. - On Tuesday, a proposed county construction project is causing a headache for families in Harlem. Right now, the county is buying land for the Eucree Creek Interceptor Sewer Line Project. If plans move forward, backyards and walking trails will be impacted.

Nov. 9, 6 p.m. 5:41: LINCOLNTON, Ga. - Federal prosecutors in Minnesota are wrapping up a trial that involved companies taking more than $300 million from seniors across the country. Those victims were typical seniors or other vulnerable individuals. For Penny Mashburn and her family, nearly $70,000 could've been life-changing money.

Nov. 9, 8 p.m. 2:45: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Ten days ago, a suspicious activity call to 911 ended with the discovery of a body on Heard Avenue. The body was in a shallow hole covered with a blue tarp. Investigators haven't released the name of the victim, but we are learning more details about the man accused of killing him. Colby Jovan Smith, 30, had two warrants for his arrest at the time of the murder.

Nov. 13, 3 p.m. 1:40: AIKEN COUNTY, S.C. - It's an issue we see in multiple neighborhoods across the CSRA: concerns and the need for a traffic light. This time, it's off Ascauga Lake Road in Aiken County at the intersection of Blanchard Road. It's a heavily traveled road already, but being near new construction like Highland Springs Middle School, traffic is a huge concern for so many families who travel that way daily.

Nov. 13, 3 p.m. 1:48: AUGUSTA, Ga. - An escapee is back in Bibb County after being captured over the weekend in a raid that shook an Augusta neighborhood and shocked neighbors. Just after 8 a.m. Sunday at a home in the 3000 block of Alpine Road in Augusta, authorities captured 37-year-old Johnifer Dernard Barnwell in a raid that shocked many of the neighbors. Our cameras were the only ones rolling while deputies searched for evidence.

Nov. 13, 2 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The well-battered Olive Road bridge has been struck again by a vehicle. This time, it happened around Monday morning, according to railroad employees. By afternoon, Olive Road was blocked by barriers on both sides of the notoriously low railroad overpass. The bridge usually has to be inspected for damage and sometimes repaired before the road can reopen after a crash.

Nov. 13, 12 p.m. 3:43: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A lawsuit alleges "grossly negligent" and reckless acts led to the death of a mental health patient who wasted away in Bamberg County jail, where he was kept instead of being sent for psychiatric care that was ordered for him. The lawsuit alleges Alan R. Thibodeau died because the jail failed to secure the needed medical attention and medications.

Nov. 14, 3 p.m. 3:18: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Richmond County is seeing a high number of pedestrian deaths this year alone. 2020 was our highest year, but we're on track to surpass that, even though the deaths seem to come in peaks in valleys, like two mid-October weekends that each had two fatalities. Of 54 pedestrian deaths from 2018 to 2023, we've learned that 60% of those deaths happened in the same ZIP code, 30906.

Nov. 14, 3 p.m. 2:24: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The problem of veteran homelessness remains profound despite improvements in recent years. That's why the Department of Veterans Affairs reached out with the Homeless Veteran Stand Down, not only meant to get veterans daily needed items like toiletries but also to put them on a path off the streets. VA is on track to permanently house 38,000 homeless veterans this year, having reached 26,470 through July.

Nov. 15, 7 p.m. 3:04: AUGUSTA, Ga. - For the first time, we are hearing from the family of a Bamberg County inmate with mental health issues who died in the hospital after dropping 77 pounds in five months. On Monday, we told you his family filed a lawsuit against Bamberg County claiming grossly negligent treatment of their loved one. It claims in five months, he wasted away in jail despite being ordered to go to a psychiatric hospital.

Nov. 20, 5 p.m. 10:08: AUGUSTA, Ga. - This February marks four years since the night deputy Brandon Keathley struck deputy Nick Nunes in the back of the head with a flashlight as they were working to perform CPR on a 17-year-old dying from gunshot wounds. A grand jury indicted Keathley.

Nov. 20, 2 p.m. 1:58: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It's been three years since the death of 33-year-old Felycya Harris, who identified as a transgender woman. She was found shot to death on Meadowlark Drive. Two years ago on Nov. 20, deputies arrested a suspect- 30-year-old Jerrome Tyvone Miller.

Nov. 20, 12 p.m. 2:06: THOMSON, Ga. - Authorities have identified the teenage boy who died after being shot in Thomson last week. Jonathan Johnson, 14, of Thomson, was shot in the head around 6:30 p.m. last Tuesday in the 500 block of Anderson Avenue. He succumbed to his injuries at 11:31 a.m. Saturday an Augusta hospital.

Nov. 21, 10 p.m. 2:11: THOMSON, Ga. - It's been one week since a shootout in Thomson that killed 14-year-old Jonathan Johnson. The Georgia Bureau of Investigations announced Tuesday three teenagers are behind bars in connection to the felony murder of Johnson. Two of those teenagers are also facing gang charges. The shooting is now expanding the push for more resources for teenagers in the area.

Nov. 21, 6 p.m. 5:15: WAYNESBORO, Ga. - Hundreds of local families lost financial help with child care over the last two months. Across the state, it adds up to thousands. This comes after pandemic money to daycares stopped and deductibles in Georgia's child-care subsidy program went into effect.

Nov. 26, 6 p.m. 2:34: AIKEN, S.C. - A second shooting at the Walmart on Whiskey Road has raised concern among neighbors in Aiken. A person was injured in Sunday's shooting at the same Walmart where a 13-year-old girl was injured in a shooting in June. The latest shooting happened during an altercation in the parking lot, according to the Aiken Department of Public Safety.

Nov. 26, 6 p.m. 2:34: AIKEN, S.C. - A person was injured in a shooting Sunday at the Whiskey Road Walmart in Aiken – the same one where a 13-year-old girl was injured in a shooting in June. The latest shooting happened during an altercation in the parking lot, according to the Aiken

Department of Public Safety. The report came in at 4:35 p.m., and arriving officers learned there had been an altercation among several people.

Nov. 27, 1 p.m. 2:00: AUGUSTA, Ga. - As the temperature gets lower, concerns are getting higher about the well-being of Augusta's homeless population. The need to address homelessness in Augusta is pushing others outside typical leadership to tackle the issue. Brian Green went before Augusta Commission members a few weeks ago asking for tens of thousands of dollars to start his own program.

Nov. 27, 2 p.m. 2:29: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Coming on the heels of a holiday weekend that brought three fatal shootings across the CSRA, the Richmond County Sheriff's Office Gang Unit is speaking about the rise in crime. One major thing the deputies wanted to highlight is that gang activity is spiking here – and it's only going to get worse.

Nov. 28, 3 p.m. 1:46: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A fragile truce between Israel and Hamas continues to hold, but analysts warn the war is far from over. Hostages from both sides have been released with diplomats from both sides working to extend the ceasefire for another day. Here at home, two locals escaped the conflict and are now safely back home.

Nov. 28, 5 p.m. 2:18: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Zykee Ryans almost made it to 5 years old, but a bullet cut his brief life even shorter. Still, friends and family wanted to mark the occasion, so they held a balloon release on his birthday Tuesday. They remembered him as a boy who loved superheroes – especially Spider-Man – and who was a shining light in their lives.

Nov. 30, 11 a.m. 0:32: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The GBI says it's finished its investigation on the Richmond County deputy who fatally shot himself while under investigation over criminal allegations. Investigator Brian Manecke was found dead in his car by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office back in September.

Nov. 30, 4 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We're in the thick of the holiday shopping season and that means scammers are doing their best to separate you from your well-earned money. Scams are all over the place and the CSRA is no different. Will Rogers is a private wealth adviser and even he said he almost fell victim to a scam on Facebook.

Nov. 30, 5 p.m. 7:50 AUGUSTA, Ga. - An internal investigation of the Waynesboro Police Department finds "no evidence" officers violated policy when investigating the alleged crimes of Gery Flakes Jr. and Daniel Nunn. AMZ Investigations, LLC, conducted it after attorney Edward Tarver filed a formal complaint and request for an investigation by an authorized external agency on behalf of Flakes.

Dec. 2, 4 p.m. 0:27: LEESVILLE, S.C. - The death of a woman missing out of Barnwell County has been ruled a homicide, according to authorities. The body of Regina Arroyo, 56, was found around 4 p.m. Dec. 3 in the North Fork Edisto River near Wagner Highway in the Leesville area of Lexington County, according to authorities.

Dec. 4, 6 p.m. 2:02: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Weeks after we uncovered complaints detailed in emails between Augusta's fire department and Central EMS, the ambulance service is now responding with its own report card. Central EMS started out in Richmond County as a last-minute midnight call to start service. In a failed Gold Cross deal, commissioners wanted at least eight ambulances.

Dec. 4, 8 p.m. AIKEN, S.C. - It's been about two weeks since we broke the news of the death of a Bamberg County inmate with mental health issues. Alan Thibodeau died in the hospital after he dropped 77 pounds in five months, according to a lawsuit. His family filed a lawsuit against Bamberg County claiming gross negligence led to his death. On Monday, we talked with another family who filed a lawsuit against the same medical company that operates in Bamberg County.

Dec. 4, 12 a.m. 1:57: WRENS, Ga. - Money, drugs, and guns are all in a YouTube video News 12 obtained that sparked an investigation, putting more than a dozen people behind bars. Some of the people charged in the investigation are as young as 15 years old and the oldest is 28.

Dec. 4, 8 p.m. 1:56: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Some business owners are working around issues like smoke damage after a fire broke out in the 900 block of Jones Street on Monday night. On Monday, the Augusta Fire Department responded to the scene of a structure fire. According to authorities, the fire happened just before 7 p.m.

Dec. 5, 8 a.m. 1:58: JACKSON, S.C. - An Aiken County man is being charged with kidnapping a 30-year-old mother who remains missing a day after his arrest following a raid on a North Augusta home. The Aiken County Sheriff's Office said Wednesday that new arrest warrants had been obtained against Daniel Gabriel Harmon, 34, a day after his arrest on a charge of second-degree domestic violence.

Dec. 6, 7 p.m. 2:02: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A mother of 11 remains behind bars with her oldest son nearly two weeks after a 4-year-old boy died from a gunshot wound. Brittany Ryans and Ladarian Ryans are charged in the death of 4-year-old Zykee Ryans. Through an open records request to the Georgia Department of Family and Children Services, News 12 learned officials with that agency think a 6-year-old was the one who shot Zykee.

Dec. 7, 3 p.m. 1:49: JACKSON, S.C. - A missing Aiken County mom's family is hoping for a miracle. Jamilla Shanae' "Millie" Smith has been missing since Saturday, and her ex-boyfriend, the last person known to have been with her, has been arrested on a charge of kidnapping. Even after authorities have combed the area around Smith's home for at least two days at 425 Old Jackson Highway, there's been no sign of her.

Dec. 7, 6 p.m. 6:03: LOUISVILLE, Ga. - The family of Freddie Walker, who died after a stun-gun incident in July, confirms prominent attorney Benjamin Crump will represent them in the case. Our I-TEAM is digging deeper into the death of Freddie and how deputies handled the situation at the family's home. Walker's family told our I-TEAM they don't feel like the proper protocol was followed.

Dec. 7, 2 p.m. 3:09: THOMSON, Ga. - Family and friends gathered to remember Jonathan Johnson with a balloon release at Thomson Middle School. Jonathan died Nov. 18 at 11:31 a.m. after suffering a gunshot wound to the head in the 500 block of Anderson Avenue. Things are still extremely raw for his family. It's been nearly three weeks since he was shot and later died.

Dec. 7, 7 a.m. 2:35: AUGUSTA, Ga. - This week, another pedestrian joined the long list of those claimed by Augusta's busy roads. It's a reflection of a nationwide trend. Amy Marie McMilion, 52, who's homeless, died before dawn Thursday on the eastbound side of the 2000 block of Gordon Highway after being hit by a vehicle.

Dec. 8, 6 p.m. 2:37: JACKSON, S.C. - Saturday marks one week since anyone heard from Jamilla Smith. Deputies say the missing Aiken County mother was running from her boyfriend Daniel Harmon when she went missing. He remains behind bars in the Aiken County Detention Center on domestic violence and kidnapping charges.

Dec. 10, 12 a.m. 2:45: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We're looking into the rules about high-speed police chases after one ended with a Georgia State Patrol vehicle slamming into the entrance sign at News 12. And it all began with a case of speeding. No suspect was ever caught in the late Saturday chase that began on Washington Road and ended about a mile north at 1226 Gray Way.

Dec. 11, 11 a.m. 2:25: JACKSON, S.C. - The family of an Aiken County missing woman is offering a $5,000 reward for information about her case. Meanwhile, Aiken County Sheriff's Office is following up on every lead to find out what happened to Jamilla "Millie" Smith, who's been missing since Dec. 5. Daniel Harmon was arrested and charged with kidnapping her, but she hasn't been found.

Dec. 11, 8 p.m. 2:57: MILLEN, Ga. - U.S. Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg came to Millen on Friday to discuss a new railroad project that Sens. Jon Ossoff and Raphael Warnock announced earlier this week. It'll fix a problem that's plagued the town for decades: trains stopped on the track for an interminable amount of time, blocking traffic on both sides.

Dec. 12, 6 p.m. 2:29: AIKEN, S.C. - Kind and loving words were used by family to describe Jamilla Smith, a missing woman from Aiken County. We are learning more about the moments and days just before her kidnapping. It's been 10 days since Jamilla vanished from her driveway off Old Jackson Highway in Aiken County.

Dec. 13, 6 p.m. 3:22: NORTH AUGUSTA, S.C. - We're learning more about the seven Aiken County massage parlors raided by SLED in August. SLED is not saying what items they took from the businesses, but search warrants show investigators suspected of labor and sex trafficking. During the raid, no one was arrested. But on Friday, SLED did arrest and charge Ping Hong Tang, who is connected to several of the massage parlors.

Dec. 13, 5 p.m. 5:03: AUGUSTA, Ga. - She was fired for lying about a relationship with her supervisor, but a former investigator at the Richmond County Sheriff's Office says she was untruthful because that supervisor ordered her to lie about it. Allison "Allie" Walker says she has the text message to prove it.

Dec. 13, 6 p.m. 1:38: AUGUSTA, Ga. - With Augusta seeing two deadly shootings within 24 hours, it may seem like crime is everywhere, even though at least nationally, the murder rate is down this year. Augusta's latest murder cases claimed the lives of two men.

Dec. 14, 5 p.m. 7:05: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Tyrique Robinson died a week after voters elected him to the Richmond County Board of Education. Authorities ruled his death as a suicide and closed the case one year ago. Now two others are dead – the lead investigator on the case and the mother of Tyrique's son.

Dec. 14, 7 p.m. 2:04: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We've been digging into the surge in pedestrian deaths in Richmond County. We've collected data that shows 60% of those deaths happen in one zip code:

30906. According to numbers from Richmond County Coroner Mark Bowen, 19 pedestrians have died in 2023. Last year, that number was eight.

Dec. 15, 6 p.m. 1:56: AIKEN, S.C. - Last week, News 12 uncovered new details about the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division investigation looking into possible sex trafficking at massage parlors in Aiken County. During the raid in August, no one was arrested. But Dec. 8 in an undercover sting, SLED did arrest and charge Ping Tang, who is connected to several of the massage parlors. It's not just happening at certain places. Advocates, like Dominique, say trafficking is everywhere.

Dec. 15, 5 p.m. 3:16: SANDERSVILLE, Ga. - A Washington County chief judge is under investigation by the Judicial Qualifications Commission on 58 counts of judicial misconduct. Filed with the commission in 2022, 56 pages of documents show formal charges filed against Robert Reeves, who is chief judge for Georgia's Middle Judicial Circuit Court in Washington County.

Dec. 16, 4 p.m. 0:40: EDGEFIELD, S.C. - Edgefield County roads claimed two lives in separate crashes within 12 hours of each other over the weekend. The latest crash happened just after 10 a.m. Saturday and involved two motorcycles and a pickup at South Carolina Highway and North Martintown Road, according to Lance Cpl. Brittany Glover with the South Carolina Highway Patrol.

Dec. 18, 7 p.m. 1:47: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A house fire just days before Christmas couldn't have come at a worse time for an Augusta family of 11. No one was hurt in the fire that broke out around 7:15 p.m. Monday in the 2400 block of Apricot Lane at Papaya Street. But there was material loss.

Dec. 18, 7 p.m. 1:54: BARNWELL, S.C. - The family of Regina Arroyo is still searching for answers weeks after her body was found in the North Fork Edisto River in Lexington County. Arroyo went missing on Dec. 1 and her body was found on Dec. 3. She was an advocate for animal welfare and ran a transportation service that rescued animals from kill shelters.

Dec. 19, 7 p.m. 2:54: SYLVANIA, Ga. - A police officer is back on the job after being disciplined following an arrest in Screven County. On Nov. 2, officers were called to a home because of an "unwanted person," according to reports. It quickly led to a woman being forced to the ground. The entire incident is caught on a body camera worn by Cpl. Jonathan Simpson with the Sylvania Police Department.

Dec. 20, 10 p.m. 2:17: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Mercy Ministries on Broad Street is condemned after facing multiple violations this month. On Dec. 7, an official inspection with the Augusta Fire Department found multiple violations. They found the building was operating with no power, which also means no heat. The only power they had was from a generator. The power was shut off because they didn't pay, documents say.

Dec. 22, 7 p.m. 2:22: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Someone stole a Christmas tree from the lawn of the Affinis Hospice office on Walton Way. They moved into this location in November, and since they had a nice front lawn, they decided to spread Christmas cheer into their new neighborhood. "We were really excited to put the Santa Claus out there. We had a tree we had all sorts of, but we even decorated the tree with ornaments and lights," said Community Care Liaison for Affinis Hospice, Sara Simmons.

Dec. 23, 3 p.m. 1:30: JACKSON, S.C. - The Aiken County Sheriff's Office's investigation into Jamilla Smith has turned from a missing-persons case to a homicide case. On Saturday, Capt. Eric Abdullah with the Aiken County Sheriff's Office says 34-year-old Daniel Harmon, who was previously charged and arrested in this case, is now being charged with murder.

Dec. 23, 3 p.m. 2:16: JACKSON, S.C. - The Aiken County Sheriff's Office's investigation into Jamilla Smith has turned from a missing-persons case to a homicide case. On Saturday, Capt. Eric Abdullah with the Aiken County Sheriff's Office says 34-year-old Daniel Harmon, who was previously charged and arrested in this case, is now being charged with murder.

Dec. 23, 8 p.m. 0:26: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Richmond County Sheriff's Office is reporting that a person has died following a single-motorcycle accident on I-20 westbound. The Richmond County Coroner's Office has identified the cyclist as 21-year-old Jonathan Campbell from Fort Eisenhower. On Saturday at 3:53 p.m., the Sheriff's Office responded to an accident with injuries at the I-20 westbound flyover ramp to I-520 eastbound.

On Saturday just before 9 p.m., the Allendale Police Department's Facebook page posted about a shooting that left one person dead. While there was no active threat to the Allendale community when the report was posted on social media, the police department said SLED had been called in to assist in the case.

Dec. 26, 6 p.m. 2:12: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Weeks after 19-year-old Tyler Smith was shot and killed on Telfair Street, his mom sat with News 12 to share his story. Smith was shot at least once inside a house on the street, according to authorities. He died two weeks before Christmas and now his mom, Tracy Hawthorne, is left to mourn her son's death instead of spending the holidays with him.

Dec. 26, 8 a.m. 2:04: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A newly released state accident report reveals new details on how a pedestrian was fatally struck by a Richmond County Sheriff's Office patrol car on Christmas Day. Seanque L. Hester, 43, died at Meadowbrook Drive and Bullock Avenue, becoming the 20th pedestrian this year killed by a vehicle in Richmond County.

Dec. 27, 8 p.m. 2:35: AIKEN, S.C. - Correctional officers go through a lot of training before they are ready to watch over inmates. Part of that includes what protocols to follow when an inmate is suicidal. But a wrongful death lawsuit claims in Aiken County's Detention Center those protocols are not being followed.

Dec. 27, 3 p.m. 3:29: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A newly released dashcam video shows what happened when a Georgia State Patrol trooper pursued a speeder and ultimately crashed into the entrance sign at News 12, where the patrol car went up in flames. No suspect was ever caught in the late Dec. 9 pursuit that began on Washington Road after the trooper took off after a Mustang was traveling 81 mph in a 45 mph zone. The trooper tried to make a U-turn, but was stopped by another car.

Dec. 28, 6 p.m. 2:01: JACKSON, S.C. - A family hoping for a Christmas miracle is now stricken with grief. Over the weekend, a missing person's case quickly transformed into a murder investigation for Jamilla Smith. Investigators and her family are hoping to find and bring Jamilla's body home.

Dec. 29, 4 p.m. 1:42: AUGUSTA, Ga. - On Dec. 16, Madeline Rogers woke up to a text she'll never forget. Her best friend and mom of five's life was hanging in the balance after a car accident. "It was pretty heart-wrenching, especially the first few days," Rogers said.

HEALTH

Oct. 9, 8 a.m. 0:56: EDGEFIELD, S.C. - The Edgefield County Sheriff's Office held a free community training session over the weekend on how to use Narcan to save lives. The training was held at the Old Macedonia Baptist Church over the weekend to learn about Narcan and how to use it to save lives. Narcan is used to reverse an opioid overdose.

Nov. 1, 5 p.m. 2:31: GROVETOWN, Ga. - Columbia County bus drivers are honoring one of their own who died unexpectedly over the weekend. "Heather... Ms. Heather Walls" echoes through Grovetown Middle's radio before dismissal. Walls was a cancer survivor, but the cancer came back earlier this year and she died unexpectedly over the weekend.

Nov. 1, 2 p.m. 1:55: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Around this time last year, we talked to Jackson Drumgoole, founder of the Bridge Builder Community. Not only will it be Augusta's first tiny home community, but it's specifically for teens aging out of the foster care system. Many are left with nothing – or very little – when they no longer have a foster home.

Nov. 3, 12 p.m. 1:39: EVANS, Ga. - A student was sent to a hospital after collapsing during a middle school basketball game earlier this week, the Columbia County School District said. On Wednesday, emergency medical teams responded to Lakeside Middle School during a basketball game after school hours, the district said.

Nov. 6, 11 p.m. 1:35: AIKEN, S.C. - The Aiken Center is requesting more help to address the opioid crisis in Aiken County. They picked up a check at Monday's North Augusta City Council meeting to help them. City council approved $25,000. The money is part of a settlement from the State of South Carolina.

Nov. 7, 6 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The need for foster parents has been on the rise over the past several years. Right now, there are 539 kids in foster care in our area. The majority of those are in Richmond County. We spoke with several foster care services who said they're getting anywhere from 30 to 50 calls a day about kids needing a place to go.

Nov. 9, 4 p.m. 2:05: WAYNESBORO, Ga. - A heartbeat bear is a stuffed animal that records the heartbeat of a loved one. For a Waynesboro mother, Nichole Tootle, her bear holds her son's heartbeat who passed three years ago. Now, she's on a mission to make sure grieving families just like hers have this special memento.

Nov. 9, 11 a.m. 2:20: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The city of Augusta on Thursday held a dedication and unveiling ceremony for the city's COVID-19 memorial plaque at Heroes' Overlook on the Augusta Riverwalk. The permanent plaque is intended as a point of remembrance to all Augustans who lost their lives to the COVID-19 pandemic. Mayor Garnett Johnson spoke during Thursday's ceremony, saying no community was immune to this virus.

Nov. 13, 4 p.m. 2:06: AUGUSTA, Ga. - With inflation and the rising cost of food, some of our local non-profits and organizations are reaching out to the community for some help this holiday season. At Golden Harvest, they say it's all hands on deck for them as they gear up for a busy couple of weeks.

Nov. 14, 2 p.m. 0:17: AUGUSTA, Ga. - After years of complaints about the current Richmond County jail medical provider, Augusta leaders aren't wasting any time in changing things. The Augusta Commission had already decided to drop WellPath and move forward with VitalCore Health Strategies as the new provider starting Jan. 1. But on Tuesday, commissioners decided to make the change sooner. Instead, the new contract will take effect Dec. 1.

Nov. 15, 8 p.m. 1:39: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta commissioners are moving the start date up for their new inmate medical care provider- VitalCore Health Strategies. Contracts were slated to start in the new year but the current provider, Wellpath, could be checking out sooner than expected. But as one problem moves out, another might be coming in.

Nov. 15, 5 p.m. 1:42: AUGUSTA, Ga. - This Thanksgiving, community organizations are getting ready to feed more people than ever. It takes a lot of work to pull off a Thanksgiving meal of this size. One community organization says after nearly 20 years of serving the community, this will be their last event.

Nov. 16, 2 p.m. 3:25: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Organizers spent weeks getting ready for Thursday evening's Feast Before the Feast, an annual Thanksgiving-style dinner that's actually before the holiday. While inflation has doubled, so has the number of people to be fed at no cost. The number is now 4,000. From Golden Harvest to the Center of Hope, we know the need continues to rise, especially around the holiday season.

Nov. 17, 3 p.m. 2:08: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It's been seven months since a new ambulance service has been responding to emergencies in Augusta. It's not just your life on the line, but also your tax dollars at work. Central EMS landed the job and the support of the city by quickly responding to calls during the first two weeks on the job.

Nov. 20, 12 p.m. 0:57: AUGUSTA, Ga. - For the 32nd year in a row, the James Brown Family Foundation gave back to the community. On Monday morning, they wrapped up their turkey giveaway. Almost 300 turkeys were passed out.

Nov. 22, 7 p.m. 2:12: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A mysterious illness is hitting the United States once again without a trace. Only this time, it's impacting our canine friends. The National Vet Association said the mysterious outbreak started in mid-August in Oregon.

Nov. 23, 11 p.m. 2:32: AUGUSTA, Ga. - For every charity that gives out free meals on Thanksgiving, there are people who choose to spend the day with strangers, serving those in need. The dining hall at the Salvation Army is like any other dining room, a space to give thanks.

More than a hundred plates were served on Thanksgiving to those in need. Just like any other home-cooked meal, the food came from family.

Nov. 28, 3 p.m. 2:41: AIKEN, S.C. - Now that a mysterious dog illness has reached the CSRA, you may wonder how to keep your pet safe. One local vet has some guidance. Potentially deadly canine infectious respiratory disease has been sweeping the United States in recent weeks, and news broke this week that a case has surfaced in Aiken.

Nov. 28, 6 p.m. 6:20: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Funding is on the way to help fight the issue of opioids in the community. Over the next 18 years, hundreds of millions of dollars will be used to create resources for impacted communities. But how and when will that money be used in Richmond County?

Nov. 28, 7 p.m. 6:20: AUGUSTA, Ga. - You would think the drug problem would be worse for our youth, but as we found, the data shows the opposite. Our I-TEAM takes a deeper look at the crisis impacting our area. According to the Georgia Department of Public Health, fentanyl is Augusta-Richmond County's number one killer of adults ages 30 to 50 years old.

Nov. 28, 6 p.m. 6:20: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The opioid crisis knows no boundaries and it's a growing issue impacting families across the two-state. Since 2010, the Department of Health says opioid overdose-related deaths have been on the rise in Georgia. About 2,500 Georgians lose their lives to a drug overdose every year. When you single out opioid deaths, The National Center for Drug Abuse says that's more than 1,400 people a year.

Nov. 29, 5 p.m. 1:43: AIKEN, S.C. - With high opioid overdose numbers in both Aiken and Richmond counties, the need for long-term recovery centers is on the rise. After operating a women's shelter for four years, Recovery Road Ministries celebrated the grand opening of its men's home on Wednesday.

Dec. 1, 4 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Recently, a dog and cat were found together in a parking lot on Gordon Highway, and now they have a sweet friendship. This cat and dog are practically glued together. "I mean it's just, it's absolutely amazing, and they love each other so much," said Crystal Eskola, deputy director of Augusta Animal Services.

Dec. 1, 3 p.m. 1:54: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Family Counseling Center of the CSRA has been serving the area for the last 43 years. They provide access to mental health care to anyone in the community, regardless of their ability to pay, if they are uninsured, or if their insurance doesn't cover mental health options. Executive Director Celina Keys says they are the only place in the area that provides this service.

Dec. 1, 6 p.m. 2:19: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Fighting food insecurities is a growing topic in the Augusta area. Data shows a lack of food can impact college students' ability to achieve their educational and professional goals. The National Center on Safe Supportive Learning Environments said across the country one in three students will experience food insecurity at some point during their admission.

Dec. 4, 9 p.m. 2:32: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Behind a now-cut ribbon is a new room at GAP Ministries in Augusta. Laundry services are now provided to anyone who might need them in the community. The laundry room joins a growing list of often-overlooked services for local people in need.

Dec. 6, 4 p.m. 2:08: AUGUSTA, Ga. - When it comes to holidays, there wasn't a better one in the eyes of Lynda Barrs. She lived for Christmas. Every room in the house would be decorated, and her Christmas cheer was unmatched.

Dec. 7, 3 p.m. 2:07: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Family Counseling Center of the CSRA's need for funding is now at a critical point. The center has been in a financial hole for the past couple of years, but now the hole appears too deep to get out of. It's looking to raise $80,000 by the end of the year to keep the doors open.

Dec. 12, 8 a.m. 2:05: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Salvation Army has a new shower and laundry trailer for the homeless, while another nonprofit, Compass for Hope, is nearly ready to launch a laundry trailer to join the mobile shower unit it's had for some time. The Salvation Army on Tuesday unveiled its new mobile shower and laundry room, becoming the latest CSRA nonprofit to offer these often-overlooked services to those in need.

Dec. 12, 3 p.m. 1:38: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It's that time of year again when you hear bells outside stores across our area, all for a good cause. The Salvation Army of Augusta's Red Kettle Campaign is underway, raising money to keep the lights on, feed, and house people at the Center of Hope, one of the few homeless shelters in our area.

Dec. 15, 4 p.m. 1:51: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Close to the border of Richmond and Columbia counties sits the Habitat for Humanity Restore. Now, a portion of this location is getting a makeover and transformed into a new resource center in early 2024. "It feels great just to see the walls go up and the idea that was in my head come to fruition," said Bernadette Fortune, CEO of Habitat for Humanity of the CSRA.

Dec. 18, 9 a.m. 1:39: AUGUSTA, Ga. - There's a chance for families to spend Christmas with shelter animals during the "Home for the Holidays" event with animal services in the CSRA. The Augusta Animal Services and the Aiken County Animal Shelter are hosting the event, where you can sign up to foster a dog or a cat for the holidays.

Dec. 18, 11 p.m. 1:51: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It's the season of giving, and a lot of groups work to give back to the homeless in the area. Recently, the city has been pushing good Samaritans to avoid directly donating to the homeless and steering those resources to groups like the Salvation Army to help with the big picture of homelessness. One man says those efforts are going too far.

Dec. 19, 3 p.m. 2:09: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We're now less than one week away from Christmas. While that means unwrapping gifts and family time for many people, it also means potential exposure to illnesses that tend to spike this time of year. That can come from being in large crowds while doing some last-minute shopping, going to a Christmas party or simply just being with a large family.

Dec. 19, 6 p.m. 2:10: AUGUSTA, Ga. - There are 500 low-income families and neighbors looking for hope, help, and holiday cheer this season. As inflation rises, the Salvation Army's Operation Angel Tree program is granting more wishes than ever. It's the Christmas miracle a lot of families prayed for.

Dec. 19, 9 p.m. 1:55: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Family Counseling Center of the CSRA is currently fighting to get $80,000 by the end of the year or closing their doors might be a reality. The center helps the underinsured get mental health services. They've been doing this for 47 years, as it's a growing need in our area.

Dec. 21, 2 p.m. 2:16: AUGUSTA, Ga. - With Christmas nearly upon us, GAP Ministries went beyond its normal Thursday resource day to give those in need the ingredients for some holiday cheer. Volunteers gave away 190 chickens, side dishes and homemade desserts to make for a holiday meal. The homemade aspect was something that Executive Director Nomi Stanton says is what makes their organization different.

Dec. 21, 6 p.m. 2:10: NORTH AUGUSTA, S.C. - One senior at North Augusta High School is going above and beyond for his community. When he isn't leading his peers, he's spending time volunteering. His willingness to give back comes from a place of understanding. Alex Moore knows what it's like to be in need.

Dec. 22, 5 p.m. 1:46: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Day or night, the cold temps have been unforgiving for everyone. We do have shelters, but not everyone can make it to one, not to mention the requirements and restrictions in place. One woman started her own nonprofit and now she's using her own money to make sure people living on the streets have the chance to stay warm this winter.

Dec. 23, 10 p.m. 2:06: AUGUSTA, Ga. - There's one man in the area who once served our country and is now choosing to continue to serve those in need in the CSRA. Kenny Frame dreamed about being in the military, "I grew up, loving to serve, serve people volunteering where I could and led me to the military," said Frame. He served for eight and a half years, being deployed to Afghanistan and Korea, but a shoulder injury sidelined him.

Dec. 25, 8 a.m. 0:57: AUGUSTA, Ga. - If you would like to volunteer this Christmas, join the Golden Harvest Food Bank food drive to make sure those in need get a meal this holiday season. If you've watched our newscasts lately, you know there's a huge need for food, toys, and other items this Christmas. Golden Harvest Food Bank is making sure the hungry are getting a meal this holiday season.

Dec. 27, 10 p.m. 2:03: AUGUSTA, Ga. - This time of year, blood donations drop as people are busy around the holidays. The Sheppard Community Blood Center is helping attract donors by offering donors free movie tickets. On a good day, Sheppard could see up to 100 blood donors come through the doors, but during the holidays, those numbers dry up.

Dec. 27, 8 p.m. 2:35: AIKEN, S.C. - Correctional officers go through a lot of training before they are ready to watch over inmates. Part of that includes what protocols to follow when an inmate is suicidal. But a wrongful death lawsuit claims in Aiken County's Detention Center those protocols are not being followed.

Dec. 28, 2 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Family Counseling Center's time is running out. "We're tired, they're tired," said Executive Director Celina Keys. The center is making its last push for donations to stay alive and keep providing a service no one else provides in the area.

Dec. 29, 6 p.m. 1:59: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The CDC classifies December, January, and March as the most dangerous times of the year for drug and alcohol-related deaths. Since 1999, nearly 91,000 deaths have been reported. The American Addiction Center says during the holidays, 29% of people say they drink more. The holidays are known to be a joyful time, but for others, this can be a challenging time for those in recovery.

ECONOMY

Oct. 3, 3 p.m. 1:51: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A few months ago, the son of former Augusta Mayor McIntyre submitted a petition to rename Augusta's Riverwalk after his father. Now it's passed. McIntyre Sr. was convicted of extortion and left office, but people still think he should be honored as the man who came up with the idea.

Oct. 10, 3 p.m. 1:48: AUGUSTA, Ga. - As committees of the Augusta Commission met Tuesday, there was a lot of discussion on the merits of having city employees physically clock in for work. Some commission members say they're frustrated over department heads having "surprise" vacation time, and they want the administrator to notify them when they're out of office.

Oct. 16, 5 p.m. 2:07: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The 2023 election season has begun and Augusta's biggest item on the ballot that affects everyone in Richmond County is a possible sales tax for a new James Brown Arena. The tax would charge half a percent on all goods that are subject to sales tax, which would be 50 cents for a $100 purchase. Election Day is Nov. 7, but early voting got underway Monday, bringing out 87 voters.

Oct. 17, 11 a.m. 1:41: AUGUSTA, Ga. - With all the chatter around SPLOST funds, millage rate and different departments using or abusing funding, we're finally getting our first look at the Fiscal Year 2024 proposed budget for Augusta-Richmond County. And it's big - the biggest ever at $1.156 billion, an increase of 5.5%. 2024's newest edition was an investment back into the workers of Augusta.

Oct. 26, 3 p.m. 1:48: AUGUSTA, Ga. - More money, still some problems. Augusta-Richmond County Interim Administrator Takiyah Douse presented a record $1.156 billion budget to city leadership last week. But Augusta Commission members are still saying too much money is going toward certain areas, while others aren't getting enough attention. So commission members gathered Thursday afternoon for a budget work session.

Oct. 30, 8 p.m. 2:00: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta commissioners are looking at a new food truck ordinance on Tuesday, following past issues. It was tough for their staff to check business licenses at big events like the Saturday market. Right now, there is not a lot on the books in Augusta for food trucks.

Nov. 2, 6 p.m. 2:03: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Having a car to get to work is something a lot of us take for granted, but not everyone has that luxury. In 2021, United Way partnered with Lyft to fight the labor shortage. This year they've booked more than 2,600 rides to get people to work. The city of Augusta just announced a partnership with the Biden Administration to keep it running.

Nov. 3, 12 p.m. 2:08: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The answer is simple. Either yes or no to the James Brown Arena. With election day around the corner, there is a growing debate across Augusta. Businesses in Downtown Augusta say the arena will boost business, but others are torn.

Nov. 6, 6 p.m. 2:12: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It's your turn to decide: Will you vote yes or no for a new James Brown Arena? "C-SPLOST" is a proposed half-penny sales tax in Richmond County, which equals out to an extra 50 cents for every $100 spent. Right now, Augusta leaders are making a last-minute push to voters.

Nov. 7, 6 p.m. 2:28: GROVETOWN, Ga. - Incumbent Gary Jones kept his post as mayor of Grovetown in Tuesday's election. Running for his third term, he got 42% of the votes, vs. 36% for challenger Ceretta Smith and 22% for challenger Deborah Fisher. Both challengers are two former councilwomen. "I am happy I can serve the citizens well," said Jones after the results were in.

Nov. 7, 7 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Richmond County voters decided a new James Brown Arena is worth it. They cast ballots on the matter Tuesday for the second time in two years, approving a half-penny sales tax to pay for the new venue. As of late Tuesday, it was passing with 66% "yes" votes and 34% "no" votes.

Nov. 7, 5 p.m. 0:40: AIKEN, S.C. - Incumbent Democrat Gail Diggs kept her seat for District 1 on the Aiken City Council. Diggs and Republican challenger Demarcus Sullivan fought for votes on Tuesday. The mayor's post would normally also be up for grabs, but that was settled weeks ago in the Republican primary.

Nov. 8, 6 p.m. 2:22: AUGUSTA, Ga. - More than 10,000 Richmond County voters decided it's time for a new James Brown Arena. They approved a half-penny sales tax to build it and when work begins on the two buildings, the JBA and the Bell Auditorium will be under one roof. Leaders are already looking to bid on big events when the arena opens in 2026, from live acts to NCAA basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, and even wrestling.

Nov. 8, 5 p.m. 1:41: AIKEN, S.C. - Teddy Milner will soon start a job that goes beyond owning a restaurant in downtown Aiken. "I'm just a goofy restaurant owner who loves to see the town, the city, move forward in a positive way," Milner said. After the election results came in, it was confirmed Milner would be the first female mayor in the city's history. Seeing it finally come to an end gave her a sense of relief.

Nov. 8, 3 p.m. 1:26: THOMSON, Ga. - On Tuesday, voters in Thomson elected for change. Benji Cranford won the mayor's race for the city, upseating longtime Mayor Kenneth Usry with 58% of the votes. We sat down with him to find out what his plans were for the city.

Nov. 13, 8 p.m. 1:45: AIKEN, S.C. - A Dougherty Road apartment complex has become a reality for neighbors in Aiken. The development passed 4-2 through Aiken City Council on Monday. Developers say it's expected to break ground after the new year. Also in 2024, officials say the South Carolina Department of Transportation will repave and re-pipe roads to battle flooding.

Nov. 14, 6 p.m. 2:07: AIKEN, S.C. - Jobs in the solar industry are on the rise in Georgia. In 2022, the National Solar Jobs Census reported more than 5,000 positions filled in the state, and that number is expected to rise 10 percent by the end of this year. Across the river in Aiken, two non-profits are introducing a first-of-its-kind job training program called the Solar United National Job Force Training Program.

Nov. 13, 11 p.m. 1:55: AIKEN, S.C. - Plans to add apartments, townhomes, parking garages, office buildings, and more, were approved on Monday night for the old Aiken Hospital site. Applause rang out when the unanimous vote was approved. It's all on the list to add a work, live, and play space to the city.

Nov. 14, 11 a.m. 1:41: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta Commission members and other city leaders continued Tuesday to iron out the details of what's proposed to be the city's biggest budget ever. Commission members gathered for a budget workshop that began just before 9:30 a.m., but it quickly became clear there would be no approval of the $1.156 billion budget Tuesday.

Nov. 15, 5 p.m. 2:14: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It was an announcement on Facebook that people were sad to see. Ruth's Family Restaurant announced on Facebook, "It is with a sad heart that we announce the closing of Ruth's Family Restaurant as of December 30, 2023. Thank you for 13 wonderful years! Y'all come on in and get some grits while you still can and let us say goodbye."

Nov. 15, 5 p.m. 0:52: AUGUSTA, Ga. - When it comes to breast cancer, yearly screenings can save lives. Now, there is a push to make screenings even easier for our veterans to get. This comes as the Senate passed a bill with an amendment by Georgia Sen. Jon Ossoff, expanding Department of Veterans Affairs mobile mammography programs.

Nov. 21, 6 p.m. 5:15: WAYNESBORO, Ga. - Hundreds of local families lost financial help with childcare over the last two months. Across the state, it adds up to thousands. This comes after pandemic money to daycares stopped and deductibles in Georgia's child-care subsidy program went into effect.

Nov. 27, 4 p.m. 1:56: AIKEN, S.C. - During Monday's Aiken City Council meeting, a new mayor was sworn in. Teddy Milner took over for Rick Osbon. Milner beat Osbon in the Aiken Republican primary by 14 votes. She told News 12 she was relieved to see it was official and she would be the next mayor of Aiken. "I just put one foot forward every day and took every day as it came. I've worked hard; my group that helped me during this campaign, and there was no way I would have ever been able to do it without them," Milner said.

Nov. 28, 1:50: 2:32: AUGUSTA, Ga. - There might be a solution on the road for Augusta's battered and berated Olive Road bridge. For years, city traffic employees have been ruling out an apparently common-sense solution to keep trucks from getting stuck under the notoriously low railroad overpass. But after pressure from Augusta Commission members, the employees may be budging.

Nov. 28, 3 p.m. 1:37: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A company that wants to convert biomass into fuel says south Augustans have been "unfair and egregious" in fighting its efforts to open a new plant. That's what came out ahead of Tuesday's committee meetings of the Augusta Commission. We last checked in with Renovatio Solutions' project in August when dozens of south Augustans came to the Augusta-Richmond County Municipal Building to voice their distaste over the plant that's proposed for Dixon Airline Road.

Nov. 24, 5 a.m. 2:10: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Now that Thanksgiving is over, the holiday shopping season is officially upon us. While Black Friday isn't as wild as it used to be, a few Augusta shoppers lined up before the stores opened – with some waiting as long as 16 hours to get a good deal. At Escape Outdoors on Furys Ferry Road in Martinez, Banks Oester and a friend had set up a tent and camped outside the store since 3 p.m. Thanksgiving Day.

Nov. 30, 8 p.m. 1:56: AUGUSTA, Ga. - For months now construction projects have been all over downtown Augusta, leaving eye sores for some neighbors and causing headaches for drivers. They are growing pains that leaders hope will help transform Augusta into a tourist destination. On upper Broad Street, cash registers are ringing and there isn't a free parking spot around.

Dec. 5, 3 p.m. 2:14: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Augusta Commission's meeting Tuesday was the last of the year, with the next one scheduled for Jan. 2, 2024. Before the meeting started, however, Augusta Commission members approved and adopted their 2024 fiscal year budget. After multiple conversations around a future $4 million to $5 million shortfall that Interim City Administrator Takiyah Douse says will hit next year's budget, commissioners asked for a 1% cut across all departments to save money.

Dec. 5, 6 p.m. 2:04: AUGUSTA, Ga. - New research shows a lot of people will be cutting back on the gifts this year, or even skipping Christmas together. Wallet-hub's holiday shopping survey says one in three will be foregoing gift-giving this year, while one in four still have holiday debt from last year. Worst of all, nearly half of Americans say their charitable giving is being impacted by inflation.

Dec. 6, 3 p.m. 2:01: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta bar owners are frustrated over the money they'll be losing on one of their biggest nights of the year. They won't be able to sell alcohol on New Year's Eve because it's a Sunday. The state of Georgia only allows sales on one Sunday per year, and local leaders can vote if there are multiple Sundays in consideration.

Dec. 7, 5 p.m. 1:45: AUGUSTA, Ga. - In 2022, with the help of Senator Raphael Warnock, Augusta Technical College and the Downtown Development Authority of Augusta received $2.3 million for a microenterprise center for small businesses in Augusta. Dec. 11, 3 p.m. 1:40: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The old Weed School made headlines in the past month with outside Augusta Commission meetings through the Augusta Land Bank eventually leading to its purchase. But beyond that, plans were being developed going back into February of this year.

Dec. 12, 7 p.m. 2:27: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It's almost 2024, but no one will be popping champagne at midnight in bars in Augusta. It's been a week since bar owners protested the Augusta Commission's decision to pick Super Bowl Sunday over New Year's Eve for Sunday sales. While nothing can be done to fix it this year, gears are in motion for a solution for next year.

Dec. 18, 5 p.m. 2:59: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The Georgia Department of Transportation says the Interstate 20 Savannah River Improvement Project is nearing the finish line of a years-long project. We're sure that many of us are tired of getting to the Georgia-South Carolina state line and seeing red lights backed up for miles because of construction and traffic.

Dec. 18, 6 p.m. 1:59: AUGUSTA, Ga. - From gutters to sidewalks and curbs, several zones in downtown Augusta started getting a major facelift this year on 5th, 6th, 13th, and Greene streets. The multi-million dollar project started around May with work impacting traffic business and more in the area, but there's even more in store for 2024. It's giving construction workers a bad rap for people driving through downtown.

Dec. 19, 8 p.m. 2:05: AUGUSTA, Ga. - We've been following the recent revelation that Augusta bars won't be celebrating the new year on December 31. Due to Sunday alcohol sales laws, Richmond County already used its one annual Sunday on the Super Bowl. But we found that the law wasn't enforced everywhere back in 2017.

Dec. 20, 7 p.m. 2:48: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The holiday shipping window is closed, and that means millions of shoppers will hit stores between Wednesday and Saturday to find a last-minute gift. Nov. 1, 5 p.m. 2:31: GROVETOWN, Ga. - Columbia County bus drivers are honoring one of their own who died unexpectedly over the weekend. "Heather... Ms. Heather Walls" echoes through Grovetown Middle's radio before dismissal. Walls was a cancer survivor, but the cancer came back earlier this year and she died unexpectedly over the weekend.

Nov. 1, 2 p.m. 1:55: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Around this time last year, we talked to Jackson Drumgoole, founder of the Bridge Builder Community. Not only will it be Augusta's first tiny home community, but it's specifically for teens aging out of the foster care system. Many are left with nothing – or very little – when they no longer have a foster home.

Nov. 7, 5 p.m. 2:03: HARLEM, Ga. - On Tuesday, a proposed county construction project is causing a headache for families in Harlem. Right now, the county is buying land for the Eucree Creek Interceptor Sewer Line Project. If plans move forward, backyards and walking trails will be impacted.

Nov. 7, 6 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The need for foster parents has been on the rise over the past several years. Right now, there are 539 kids in foster care in our area. The majority of those are in Richmond County. We spoke with several foster care services who said they're getting anywhere from 30 to 50 calls a day about kids needing a place to go.

Nov. 9, 4 p.m. 2:05: WAYNESBORO, Ga. - A heartbeat bear is a stuffed animal that records the heartbeat of a loved one. For a Waynesboro mother, Nichole Tootle, her bear holds her son's heartbeat who passed three years ago. Now, she's on a mission to make sure grieving families just like hers have this special memento.

Nov. 9, 11 a.m. 2:20: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The city of Augusta on Thursday held a dedication and unveiling ceremony for the city's COVID-19 memorial plaque at Heroes' Overlook on the Augusta Riverwalk. The permanent plaque is intended as a point of remembrance to all Augustans who lost their lives to the COVID-19 pandemic. Mayor Garnett Johnson spoke during Thursday's ceremony, saying no community was immune to this virus.

Nov. 10, 4 p.m. 1:52: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The two-state is ramping up the Veterans Day events before Saturday's holiday. There are parades on Saturday, but on Friday, future service members were able to meet with the present. We were at Augusta University's Veterans Day event.

Nov. 10, 8 p.m. 1:56: AIKEN COUNTY, S.C. - There's no better way to kick off Veterans Day weekend than a hometown surprise. Redcliffe Elementary in Aiken County posted some touching photos on Facebook. After spending the last year away from his family and serving his country as a Marine, Aiken County native Lance Corporal Sage Hales returned to his roots for a very special visit.

Nov. 13, 3 p.m. 1:40: AIKEN COUNTY, S.C. - It's an issue we see in multiple neighborhoods across the CSRA: concerns and the need for a traffic light. This time, it's off Ascauga Lake Road in Aiken County at the intersection of Blanchard Road. It's a heavily traveled road already, but being near new construction like Highland Springs Middle School, traffic is a huge concern for so many families who travel that way daily.

Nov. 13, 4 p.m. 2:06: AUGUSTA, Ga. - With inflation and the rising cost of food, some of our local non-profits and organizations are reaching out to the community for some help this holiday season. At Golden Harvest, they say it's all hands on deck for them as they gear up for a busy couple of weeks.

Nov. 15, 5 p.m. 2:14: AUGUSTA, Ga. - It was an announcement on Facebook that people were sad to see. Ruth's Family Restaurant announced on Facebook, "It is with a sad heart that we announce the closing of Ruth's Family Restaurant as of December 30, 2023. Thank you for 13 wonderful years! Y'all come on in and get some grits while you still can and let us say goodbye."

Nov. 15, 5 p.m. 1:42: AUGUSTA, Ga. - This Thanksgiving, community organizations are getting ready to feed more people than ever. It takes a lot of work to pull off a Thanksgiving meal of this size. One community organization says after nearly 20 years of serving the community, this will be their last event.

Nov. 16, 2 p.m. 3:25: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Organizers spent weeks getting ready for Thursday evening's Feast Before the Feast, an annual Thanksgiving-style dinner that's actually before the holiday. While inflation has doubled, so has the number of people to be fed at no cost. The number is now 4,000. From Golden Harvest to the Center of Hope, we know the need continues to rise, especially around the holiday season.

Nov. 20, 12 p.m. 0:57: AUGUSTA, Ga. - For the 32nd year in a row, the James Brown Family Foundation gave back to the community. On Monday morning, they wrapped up their turkey giveaway. Almost 300 turkeys were passed out.

Nov. 21, 5 p.m. 2:00: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Social media was blowing up with a video showing a Richmond County deputy coroner saving a dog from the Augusta Canal last week. Chad Cheek is being hailed as a hero by many in the county after saving the young dog. At the Richmond County Coroner's Office, they now have a new office pet named Lucas.

Nov. 21, 4 p.m. 1:50: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Augusta Animal Services launched a "Home for the Holidays" promotion to help get foster homes for animals. But the need goes on beyond one holiday. "The pound isn't as nice of a home," said Lara Moore.

Nov. 22, 3 p.m. 1:34: GREENVILLE COUNTY, S.C. - In this week's One-Tank Trip, we visited the Poinsett Bridge, the oldest bridge in South Carolina. It used to be part of the state road, but now it's a popular place for people to visit. Pull off the road, go down some steps, and you'll find the Poinsett Bridge.

Nov. 22, 4 p.m. 2:25: AIKEN, S.C. - Community groups served up free Thanksgiving meals to those in need - but the need continues in Aiken County and elsewhere in the CSRA. Two organizations, Walking Tall Ministries and the Salvation Army, were busy in the days leading up to the holiday to ensure anyone who wants a meal can have one. "I am thankful to be covered in turkey juice," said Salvation Army Capt. April Tiller.

Nov. 22, 3 p.m. 1:25: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Several local nonprofits and organizations across the Augusta area had a busy Thanksgiving holiday. Right off Broad Street, Café 209 helped people who are experiencing homelessness. Tables line the inside of the restaurant as friends and family work to put together care packages.

Nov. 23, 1 p.m. 1:25: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Tables and chairs lined Monument Street off Broad Street to serve hundreds of people on Thanksgiving. Making a difference in the community is why organizers did it. Cafe 209, Peacing It Together Inc. and Mack Lander LLC joined forces to bring back Feast in the Street.

Nov. 24, 5 a.m. 2:10: AUGUSTA, Ga. - Now that Thanksgiving is over, the holiday shopping season is officially upon us. While Black Friday isn't as wild as it used to be, a few Augusta shoppers lined up before the stores opened – with some waiting as long as 16 hours to get a good deal. At Escape Outdoors on Furrys Ferry Road in Martinez, Banks Oester and a friend had set up a tent and camped outside the store since 3 p.m. Thanksgiving Day.

RELIGION

Oct. 24, 2 p.m. 2:17: AUGUSTA, Ga. - The old First Baptist Church and trees along downtown streets are among the top imperiled features on a list released Tuesday by Historic Augusta. The trees are an unusual addition to the annual list, which is usually reserved for buildings. From Sand Hills to Summerville and Laney Walker; all of these areas of Augusta have properties considered endangered by Historic Augusta.

Nov. 2, 3 p.m. 2:08: YEMASSEE, S.C. - A piece of history tucked away in Yemassee, S.C. is bringing in visitors from across the south. It's called the Old Sheldon Church Ruins. It's a structure that dates back to before the Revolutionary War.

Nov. 6, 3 p.m. 2:22: AUGUSTA, Ga. - After the name change of Army Post Fort Gordon to Fort Eisenhower, we're taking a look at some local connections the former president had in the area. A local church on Walton Way has a long-standing history with the former president. Reid Memorial Presbyterian Church is a smaller church in Augusta.

Nov. 9, 5 p.m. 2:19: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A local church in downtown Augusta is opening its doors to serve anyone in any time of need during the colder weather. Sounds of church bells and delivery trucks can be heard towards the end of Reynolds Street. "We're a downtown parish," said Rev. Dr. Eric Bidy of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Dec. 21, 11 p.m. 1:55: AUGUSTA, Ga. - A local church is giving hope to those who are facing a less-than-happy holiday season. The Saint Augustine of Canterbury Episcopal Church held the “Longest Night”: A Service of Hope event on Thursday. Thursday night marked the start of the winter solstice making it the longest night of the year.
