Be Kind to Everyone
The Bible says we are to be kind to everyone. I'm Mary Lowman, and when you take that literally—to be kind to everyone—you realize it's a very tall order. It means be kind to people who are rude, people who make your life difficult, people who wrong you or diss you. Is it realistic for us, as Christ-followers, living in this unkind world, to be kind to everyone? We'll talk about this week on The Christian Working Woman.

Unexpected Acts of Kindness
Would you say that your world—the people, the places you go, your workplace—are less civil and more harsh than before? There are various causes for this, but for those of us who are Christ-followers, our focus should be on our response instead of complaining about it. I'm Mary Lowman and this week we'll talk about how you and I can make a difference by simple acts of kindness. Please join me for The Christian Working Woman.

The Lovingkindness of God – Lisa Bishop
This week on The Christian Working Woman, Lisa Bishop is going to re-introduce us to the lovingkindness of God. I say "re-introduce us" because we can easily just take for granted that our God is kind. As his followers, we should dispense kindness to people at work, at home, to everyone around us. But I find that sometimes it's not easy to be kind: it's not my natural default. If that's a struggle for you, you'll want to join Lisa for some helpful insights.

I'm Mary Lowman, and that's the question for Fran this week as I continue the Fran and Jesus stories. If you're like me, you can so relate to Fran's predicament 'cause you've been there—I've been there—so many times. Find out how Fran deals with these failures. Join me for The Christian Working Woman.
