INTERVIEW WITH TIM KAINE / SENATOR FOR VIRGINIA

Immigration, economics, health care and other issues are the most important for the Hispanic community. This week, for example, the victory of the Democrats in three local elections in different states has to be reflected in a change in the lives of Latinos and in just weeks the future of thousands of dreamers could change again. In addition to the elections on the way back and a census count that many fear responding generates anxiety in our families. Tim Kaine former candidate for the country's vice presidency and federal Senator for the state of Virginia knows these issues well.
