

Radio Issues and Programs List

KISM.fm

For the Period: 10/1/22 – 12/31/22

The Public Affairs Program airs on KISM.fm every Sunday, from 6:30 am – 7:00 am. Attached is a sample list of some of the local topics covered each week.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 10-2-22 (30:11)

Good morning. I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show where we present part of a debate between candidates for Washington State Senate in the 42nd District – Democratic candidate Sharon Shewmake and Republican candidate Simon Sefzik...

...Once again that was part of a debate between the two candidates for State Senate in the 42nd District Democrat Sharon Shewmake and Republican Simon Sefzik. You and hear the complete debate at KGMI.COM. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 10-9-22 (28:06)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show where we bring you another debate between candidates for the State House of Representatives from the 42nd District. Today we hear from Democratic Candidate Alicia Rule and Republican Tawsha Dysktra Thompson...

This has been part of a debate between Republican Tawsha Dysktra Thompson and Democrat Alicia Rule, candidates for the State House of Representatives from the 42nd District. Hear the complete debate at KGMI.COM. And thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 10-16-22 (29:09)

Goo morning, I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show where you'll get an update on our retail spending habits, our over crowded animal shelters and more...

We begin with a local artist who took the rocks used to smash windows at a Bellingham store and made art from them. They were then auctioned off to benefit a local non-profit that works with LGBTQ teens. Kevin Coleman joins us...

A report on retail spending shows we're still opening up our wallets but our habits are changing. Analyst Ted Rossman with Bankrate.com fills us in...

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan.

Our local animal shelter is overcrowded. I spoke with executive director Laura Clark...

=====

Comedian Lewis Black is coming to Bellingham's Mount Baker Theatre...

=====

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 10-30-22 (22:06)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan along with Dianna Hawryluk. Thanks for joining us for today's show.

We begin with how to teach our children to be better grownups. A program adopted by Bellingham Public Schools aims to instill empathy in young children. Founder of the program – Roots of Empathy – Mary Gordon joins us...

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan along with Dianna Hawryluk.

Matthew Thuney is an aficionado of the unexplained – ghosts, UFOs, Sasquatch and more. He's been teaching classes on the subjects at Whatcom Community College and recently held a session on ghosts and hauntings. He talks about what he's seen in the Pacific Northwest...

Once again, that was Matthew Thuney. His class has already happened but check with Whatcom Community College about other courses he offers about mysterious phenomena. And that's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 11-6-22 (29:06)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan along with Dianna Hawryluk. Thanks for joining us for today's show where you'll hear how you can voice your thoughts on a new Whatcom County Jail, get tips on avoiding a growing scam, and get the low-down on a local award-winning hot sauce company.

We begin with a visit with Whatcom County Auditor Diana Bradrick, who has some information and tips on making sure your vote is counted this Tuesday...

The Whatcom County Council is sponsoring a listening session in a little over a week that will allow you to voice your thoughts on a new Whatcom County Jail. Councilmember Barry Buchanan fills us in... The online survey for the jail is already closed but the listening session is coming up on November 15th.

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan along with Dianna Hawryluk...

Local residents continue to be taken in by a phone scam. Whatcom County Undersheriff Doug Chadwick fills us in on what to watch out for...

A Bellingham hot sauce company has produced a world champion. Mathew Mini tells us how he got started and what makes his sauce so special...

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 11-13-22 (16:10)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show...

The Bellingham City Council will host a townhall meeting tomorrow (Monday) evening to address affordable housing in our community. Council President Hannah Stone tells us what they hope to find out from the public and how you can take part...

Thanks for joining us for this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan.

Whatcom County is also hosting a public meeting this week to discuss plans for a new jail proposal and other public safety issues. It's Tuesday evening. Whatcom County Council member Barry Buchanan fills us in...

...The on-line survey has already closed but the meeting, once again, is this Tuesday evening.

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 11-27-22 (29:02)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show.

The state of Washington has now banned net pen fish farms like one that collapsed near Cypress Island in 2017. That failure allowed hundreds of thousands of non-native fish to escape into Puget Sound. I spoke with local wild fish advocate and former fisher in Washington and Alaska, Anne Mosness. She says this is a good first step in helping wild fish runs...

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan.

I recently got an update on COVID, RSV and the flu from Dr. Sudhakar Karlapudi, Chief Medical Officer with PeaceHealth St. Joseph Hospital in Bellingham...

The City of Bellingham says some have been ignoring the rules and causing damage at the Sehome Hill Arboretum. I spoke with Parks and Recreation Director Nicole Oliver...

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 12-4-22 (29:30)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show where you'll hear about the process to "cure" ballots in local elections and how that helped an initiative to pass in the November election, also, how would our region's bridges hold up in the event of The Big One?

We begin with a generous gift to the Lighthouse Mission Ministries, which supports the homeless community in Whatcom County. The owners of the world-renowned The Willows on Lummi Island have decided to close the restaurant and donate the property to the mission. I spoke with Lighthouse President and CEO Hans Erchinger-Davis...

An childcare initiative in Whatcom County had a come-from-behind victory in November's elections, squeaking over the finish line 20 votes ahead. Some of the last minute votes that were counted were "cured," a process that allows voters to correct their signatures on ballots that the auditor's office had challenged. I spoke with Whatcom County Auditor Diana Bradrick about the process and how votes are tallied...

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan.

The Big One – a magnitude 9 earthquake off Washington's coast would be devastating to our infrastructure. Researchers at the University of Washington have been studying how different parts of it would hold up. Their most recent study looks at our region's bridges. I spoke with professor Marc Eberhard...

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 12-11-22 (30:15)

Good morning, I'm Joe Teehan. Thanks for joining us for today's show where you'll hear about a new salmon processing vessel that's being built and will spend part of each year in Bellingham, what some gun control advocates would like to see from the upcoming legislative session, and scams to be on the lookout for.

We begin with a conversation with Blaine Police Chief Donnell Tanksley, who's announced a run for Whatcom County Sheriff...

A Seattle company has picked Bellingham as the home port for a new, efficient processing vessel for Alaska Salmon. The barge-like processor will be built at the Fairhaven shipyard and it will then spend part of each year in Bellingham, bringing good jobs to the waterfront...

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan.

A gun control advocacy group has released its wish list for the upcoming legislative session. I spoke with Renee Hopkins with the Alliance for Gun Safety...

A new report finds Washington's new long-term care program, the WAcares Fund, will be solvent for decades. The program's director, Dr. Ben Veghte, fills us in...

Scammers have been calling local residents, and duping some, with claims they're law enforcement officers. Whatcom County Undersheriff Doug Chadwick explains what to be on the lookout for...

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.

CRG Public Affairs Show for 12-25-22 (28:58)

Good morning and Merry Christmas, I'm Joe Teehan. We're bringing you some of our favorite interviews from 2022 on our program today. We begin with a program adopted by Bellingham Schools aimed at teaching empathy to young kids...

Thanks for listening to this Cascade Radio Group Public Affairs Show. I'm Joe Teehan.

The Lighthouse Mission Ministries has been serving the local homeless community for decades, and they recently received an enormous gift from a local couple...

Whatcom County Undersheriff Doug Chadwick reports on a scam that you'll want to avoid in the coming year...

That's our show for this week. Thanks for listening. I'm Joe Teehan.