General Synopsis for Episode #302

In this episode of Career Day, viewers meet four passionate professionals whose careers take them on stage, the field, the classroom and the kitchen. The youngest professional in this episode is Ty Forhan, the lead performer in the Broadway musical 'Billy Elliot'. Fourteen-year-old Ty started acting at the age of 5 and dancing at the age of 9 in Canada. He attends school backstage before rehearsals since he travels all over the United States performing. He calls his career 'surreal' by being able to perform to a live audience and feel their energy. Professional soccer player AJ DeLaGarza is a defender for the LA Galaxy. His passion for soccer started at the age of 4. Being a dedicated soccer player and champion, he shares 'you must be prepared for every practice and every game, it is a 24 hour job'. AJ loves what he does and would like to represent the US in the World Cup. Elementary science teacher Lisa Niver Ranja love of science began at an early age when she dissected a cow eye with her father. As a dedicated teacher, Ms Ranja does not want her students to see science as scary but fun and exciting and it is everywhere.
