AFFLUENZA

It was a story that made national headlines – Ethan Couch, a privileged 16 year old with a troubled past, killed four innocent people while driving drunk. It was not the accident itself that catapulted the case into the national media; rather it was the teen's defense team's argument that Couch suffered from "affluenza". At the sentencing, a prominent psychologist testified that Couch was a product of profoundly dysfunctional parents, who gave their son too much and never taught him the consequences of his actions. The strategy worked, and Couch did not go to jail – sparking a national outrage over privilege and accountability. Matt Gutman reports.
