

WAAV

Public Issues Show

Sunday 6:30am

October- December 2013

4th Quarter

Shaper Speaks Public Issues Show

4th Quarter

October-December 2013

10/6/13

The UNCW CIE program spoke about the great opportunities they have for young entrepreneurs and how they want to get businesses and the “napkin stage” which is the point of the business where all of it’s information can fit on a napkin.

10/13/13

Dawuud El Amin visited Shaper Speaks to discuss his book “No Covers” and the current issues in our community concerning youth violence. He examines the problem and gives his idea of real solutions to try and promote change to decrease the number of minority males turning to gangs and the streets.

10/20/13

District Attorney Ben David visited Shaper Speaks to discuss the Blue Ribbon Commission, Virgo Middle school’s prominent strides in education and current issues in our community concerning youth violence. He examines the problem and talks about how prevention has to be implemented in order to reduce the need for suppression in our impoverished communities.

10/27

Isiah Hunter of New Beginning Church speaks about the anti-gang initiative for Halloween Night called Halleluiah Night. A night of positive programs for youth and parents minus the masks.

11/3

Dan Brawley of Cucalorous Film Festival speaks about the growth of the locally based film festival and how they have turned into one of the the largest growing film festivals on the east coast, screening over 300+ films in one week.

11/10/13

Coastal Care's Ken Blackman and Harold Dunlap discussed the social services (substance abuse counseling, job-training, etc) offered to citizens that have lost their jobs and have been unemployed for lengths of time.

11/17/13

Pender County Commissioner Jimmy Tate spoke about the upcoming Youth/Teen Leadership Summit at the Coastline Event Center in which youth from all over the state will converge on Wilmington, NC and train to go back and be leaders in their own communities regardless of their age.

11/24/13

Jacqueline Lee Back-to-Work Project Coordinator for Linc, Inc. Discussed the approach to ex-felons getting jobs and who is and will be hiring regardless of criminal background.

12/1/13

Daryl Dockery of WRAAP Program for Teens that have no afterschool activities or cannot afford it. Serving students that have an educational and social gap that is not provided at home.

12/8/13

Christopher Everette Filmmaker of Wilmington on Fire. Discussed the history of the Race Riots of 1898 and how the documentary brings light to the racial relations we have in Wilmington, NC. Also discussed the upcoming release of the film slated for March 2014 in Wilmington.

12/15/13

Ministerial Roundtable Alliance discussed their part in helping prevent violence in the community. Members included Pastor Robert Campbell, Bishop J Nesbitt, and Minister Bo Dean.

12/22/13

Talked with Rasheed Diaab of the Wilmington Boxing Center about the new programs offered for children and how they can be part of the Wilmington City Boxing team by signing up and paying just $0 for a year. Also, there are health classes for adults throughout the year that are free.

12/29/13

Joy Gregory of Tru 2 You Productions speaks about being apart of the Wilmington Arts Society via acting, music, and or dance and how the independent grants are available beginning January 1st online and how individual artists can apply for those grants.