1:50 SEGMENT #1 - Stirring Speeches: What makes them memorable?

13:11

SYNOPSIS: It's been more than 50 years since President John F. Kennedy delivered his famous "Ask Not..." inauguration speech, and it's still one of the most memorable and inspiring speeches in American history. But why? What makes a speech memorable and moving? And who are the masters of writing and speaking that gave us the rich archive of famous speeches? We talk to three men who have studied and written speeches to find out the secrets of good public speaking and writing for the ages.

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Thurston Clarke, author of "Ask Not: The inauguration of John F. Kennedy and the speech that changed America," (www.thurstonclarke.com); Curt Smith, former speechwriter for George H.W. Bush, Sr. Lecturer at University of Rochester (www.curtsmithusa.com); Martin J. Medhurst, Distinguished Prof. of Rhetoric & Communication, Baylor University (www.baylor.edu).

COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: Presidential history, war, education, government, politics

16:15 SEGMENT #2- The Commons: Why we need to keep them that way

9:11

SYNOPSIS: So many cities and states are in deep financial difficulty that they're privatizing some of their basic public services just to pay the bills. At the same time, citizens are trying to clean up their towns and help each other out by reclaiming abandoned land and using it for community gardens, playgrounds and open markets. We talk to a writer and speaker about the concept of "the commons" and how municipalities and citizens are often at odds about who owns them, how they should be administered, and if privatization is always a good idea.

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Jay Walljasper, editor of www.OnTheCommons.org, and author of "All That We Share: A field guide to the commons."

Program # 12-30

Air week: 7-22-12

1:59 SEGMENT 1: Changes in payments for over the counter drugs

12:01

Synopsis: The federal government has moved to prevent flexible spending accounts from paying for over the counter drugs, and is exploring taking some prescription drugs to a "behind the counter" non-prescription class. Both moves could save the government and health system money, but would shift drug costs to consumers, since insurance does not pay for non-prescription drugs.

Host: Reed Pence. Guests: Dr. Matthew Mintz, Assoc. Prof. of Medicine, George Washington Univ. School of Medicine; Kurt karst, Director, Hyman, Phelps & McNamara law firm, Washington, DC

COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: health insurance; federal government, taxes and regulation; economics

15:04 SEGMENT 2: How family moves can leave permanent hurt

8:55

Synopsis: Family moves can have devastating lifelong effects on children if they are unprepared or if the move comes at an inopportune time of life. Experts discuss children at risk and ways to make moving easier on them.

Host: Nancy Benson. Guests: Dr. Diana Gruman, Assoc. Prof. of Psychology, Western Washington Univ.; Dr. Frederic Medway, Distinguished Prof. Emeritus of Psychology, Univ. of South Carolina.

1:50 SEGMENT #1 - Teaching History and Civics More Effectively

12:39

SYNOPSIS: Math and science curricula seem to get the most attention from politicians and the media, while history and civics come in a distant second in importance these days. Our guests say this is shortchanging students – and ultimately society – in the long term, since good citizens need knowledge of the history of their country, to know the people who made a difference, and a good understanding of how our government and political systems work.

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Meira Levinson, Assoc. Prof. of Education at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, author of the book, “No Citizen Left Behind,” (www.gse.harvard.edu); Kenneth Davis, author of the “Don’t Know Much About...” series of books, including “Don’t Know Much About History,” (www.dontknowmuch.com).

COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: education, urban issues, poverty, politics, civil rights, government

15:32 SEGMENT #2- Wind Power: Creating Energy & Jobs

9:54

SYNOPSIS: The U.S. has a goal of generating 20% of our nation’s power through wind energy by the year 2030. The giant turbines on wind farms around the country won’t just generate electricity – they also create thousands of jobs in wind technology, manufacturing, education, transportation and more. Our guest discusses how the industry has evolved during the past 40 years, and how it’s learned from early mistakes to build, site and maintain wind farms that are safer for wildlife and less annoying to humans.

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Philip Warburg, author of “Harvest the Wind: America’s journey to jobs, energy independence and climate stability,” (www.philipwarburg.com).

The listing is by no means exhaustive. The order in which the issues appear does not reflect any priority or significance.

Synopsis: Sudden infant death syndrome has decreased by more than 50 percent in the last 20 years, largely thanks to the "Baby on Back" campaign. However, some cultures are resistant to this message. Other infant deaths in bed due to suffocation and strangulation are increasing. Experts discuss efforts to clear cribs of bedclothes, blankets and bumpers, and lessen infant bedsharing with adults to reduce this toll.

Host: Reed Pence. Guests: Bill Schmid, CEO and founder, Halo Innovations safe sleep device developer (halosleep.com); Dr. Fern Hauck, Prof. of Family Medicine, Univ. of Virginia and member, American Academy of Pediatrics SIDS task force (healthychildren.org).

COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: youth at risk; parenting issues; minority issues; education

15:21 SEGMENT 2: Is there an alternative form of consciousness? 7:37

Synopsis: Mainstream science holds that thought, belief and emotion can be explained completely by chemical and electrical processes. But a dissident group believes that evidence is piling up for a second form of consciousness which is currently unmeasurable, and which would explain phenomena such as out-of-body and near death experiences. A researcher explains.

Host: Nancy Benson. Guest. Dr. Mario Beauregard, Assoc. Research Prof. of Neuroscience, Univ. of Montreal and author, Brain Wars: The Scientific Battle Over the Existence of the Mind and the Proof that Will Change the Way We Live Our Lives

2:05 SEGMENT 1: "Almost a Psychopath"

12:51

Synopsis: Almost everyone is victimized at some point by a cutthroat co-worker who lies with ease and feels no remorse. These people may be "almost psychopaths," people with psychopathic characteristics too subtle to be diagnosed. Two experts explain how these people operate and how the rest of us can avoid being played.

Host: Reed Pence. Guests: Jim Silver, former federal prosecutor, and Dr. Ronald Schouten, Assoc. Prof. of Psychiatry, Harvard Medical School and Director, Law and Psychiatry Service, Massachusetts General Hospital. They are co-authors, Almost a Psychopath: Do I (Or Someone I Know) Have a Problem with Manipulation and Lack of Empathy

1:49 SEGMENT #1 – Green Building: Hidden Treasures from Demolitions

11:42

Quarterly Issues Report: 3rd Quarter 2012 7/1/12 through 9/30/12

There follows a listing of some of the significant issues responded to by Radio Station WXNT along with the most significant programming treatment of those issues for the above period. The listing is by no means exhaustive. The order in which the issues appear does not reflect any priority or significance.

SYNOPSIS: Since the foreclosure crisis began, many buildings – commercial, religious and residential – became victims of the wrecking ball. These days, though, there's a movement to not demolish and bury old buildings but "dismantle" them and reuse many of the materials. Many of those structures are very old, and hold secrets and treasures that a careful salvager can find. We talk to a building materials reuse expert and a demolition treasure hunter about how they work, the excitement and dangers of their jobs, and what the reuse of materials means to the environment.

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Anne Nicklin, Exec. Dir. Building Materials Reuse Association (www.bmra.org); Jay Chaikin, treasure hunter, star of National Geographic Channel's "Abandoned," Wednesday evenings at 9 pm eastern time (www.channel.nationalgeographic.com)

COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: environment; labor; American heritage; recycling; infrastructure, business

14:33 SEGMENT #2- Crosswords: Not Just for Grandma Anymore 10:55

SYNOPSIS: You see it everywhere: middle-aged people and seniors working crossword puzzles on the train, bus or in the coffee shop. Why don't younger people do crosswords? Where are the puzzle-solving Gen-Y'ers? We talk to a young puzzle constructor about how he's trying to change the look and feel of the old-fashioned crossword to make it more relevant to younger solvers. We also find out how he became the youngest person to ever create a Sunday crossword for the New York Times.

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Natan Last, crossword constructor, author of the book, "Word: 144 Crossword Puzzles That Prove It's Hip to Be Square," (www.workman.com).

1:50 SEGMENT #1 - School Integration: Helping kids fit in 11:54

SYNOPSIS: When we think of integration in our nation's schools, we usually think of urban minority children being bussed into suburban schools, or white suburban kids attending mostly minority inner city schools. While mixing kids of different races, ethnicities and economic levels in the same school is a good thing, it's not enough. We talk to an educator and researcher about why it's also important to ensure that every child not only has access to good teachers, resources and a safe school, but opportunities in that school that aren't separated by the boundaries of race, economic standing or culture.

1:50 SEGMENT #1 - Mass Incarceration: The effects on family and community

11:11

SYNOPSIS: Millions of Americans are incarcerated in jail or prison on any given day – many of them for non-violent crimes. Because of our tough “law and order” stance against crime in the U.S., a great number of these inmates will be behind bars for five years, 10 years, maybe even life. Is this a good strategy? We talk to two prison educators about how long incarcerations of non-violent criminals such as drug users, hurts families and communities, and find out how prisons, non-profits and communities can help rehabilitate and return inmates to their families to live productive lives.

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Ernest Drucker, Scholar in Residence, John Jay college of Criminal Justice, Prof. of Epidemiology, Columbia University, NYC, author of “A Plague of Prisons,” (www.plagueofprisons.com); Joan Blount, former parenting educator in the Healthier Urban Families Outreach program, Wayne State Univ., Detroit (www.mpsi.wayne.edu).

14:04 SEGMENT #2- Negative Political Ads: Do they help candidates?

11:26

SYNOPSIS: Millions of dollars are being spent on negative campaign ads this election cycle, as candidates and their supporters try to tear down their opponents while they build themselves up. Do these ads work? If so, why? Are they good for the country or American politics in general? We discuss these issues and find out how negative ads affect not only the elections but also the political activity long after the elections are decided.

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Stephen Farnsworth, Prof. of Political Science, University of Mary Washington, Fredericksburg, VA (www.umw.edu); Sean Meshorer, author of “The Bliss Experiment,” (www.theblissexperiment.com).

COMPLIANCY ISSUES COVERED: politics & elections, media, government
