YALTA: PEACE, POWER AND BETRAYAL, Epsd No.

With the war against Germany drawing to an end in February 1945, the stage was set for the creation of the agreement that would define post-World War II Europe. On February 4, three of the most powerful leaders in the world, Winston Churchill, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Joseph Stalin, met at the seaside Crimean resort town of Yalta to craft a peacetime settlement that would forever alter the European landscape. But in the years following World War II, central questions regarding the Yalta conference have emerged: "In their desire for peace, did Churchill and Roosevelt concede too much to the Soviet Union? In ending one war, did they inadvertently lay the groundwork for the next?"

03/01/2005 11PM, 60 min.; Format: Documentary

INDEPENDENT LENS, Epsd No. 615, "Sisters Of '77"

On a historic weekend in November 1977, 20,000 women and men attended the first federally funded National Women's conference in Houston, Texas, where they caucused, argued and finally hammered out resolutions that revolutionized the women's movement. This film combines archival footage and interviews with past and current activists and participants.

NOVA, Epsd No. 3206, “Saving The National Treasures”

Every year, more than a million people visit the Rotunda at the National Archives in Washington to gaze at three documents that define our nation's heritage: the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. But these touchstones of democracy are in serious trouble. The ink is flaking from parchments that are already badly faded, while the glass casements built to exhibit them are disintegrating. To head off the danger, the Archives embarked on a five-year project to design state-of-the-art encasements and a new rotunda. NOVA was given exclusive behind-the-scenes access to this unique project from start to finish. The result is a brilliant evocation of the colorful history of these documents and an insider's look at the extraordinary engineering efforts that are safeguarding America's equivalent of the Crown Jewels.

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE, Epsd No. 1705, “Kinsey”

Alfred Kinsey was a little-known biologist at Indiana University when, in the 1940s, he began compiling exhaustive data from tens of thousands of interviews about the sexual practices of men and women. The results of that research were the explosive, best-selling "Kinsey Reports." Implicit in the revolutionary study was a plea for greater tolerance. "Such terms as abnormal, unnatural, oversexed, and undersexed," wrote Harper's Magazine, "have little validity in the light of Professor Kinsey's revelations." The man behind the inflammatory reports seemed at first glance an unlikely "revolutionary." Publicly, he was an erudite, tweedy academic, but in private Kinsey was far more complex. As his interest in sex research deepened so did his wide-ranging sexual experimentation. Though his work was groundbreaking and up-ended established ideas about sexual practices in America, his own sexual orientation and personal beliefs almost certainly shaped and biased his findings. Through interviews with his research assistants, his children, people who took his sex questionnaire, his biographers, and intellectual historians, this probing documentary assesses Kinsey's remarkable achievements, while examining how his personal life shaped his career.

02/07/2005 9PM, 49:17:00 min.; Format: Documentary

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE, Epsd No. 1704, “Building The Alaska Highway”

It was one of the greatest triumphs of the U.S. Army in 1942, and one of the boldest homeland security initiatives ever undertaken. A job, some said, that was better suited for Paul Bunyan than it was for inexperienced military men. But on November 20, 1942, on a remote vista in Yukon Territory, several hundred men braved the bitter cold to mark the end of an ordeal that few people thought possible: the completion of the Alaska Highway. American Experience presents Building the Alaska Highway, the story of nearly eleven thousand Army engineers who battled freezing temperatures, ice and snow, mountains, mud, muskeg, and mosquitoes to blaze a 1500-mile road through one of the harshest landscapes in North America, and take a huge step forward in defending the nation from threats in the Pacific. The program interweaves interviews with historians and engineers who built the highway, and presents archival footage and beautiful cinematography of the sub-Arctic route the road took. The film also features never-before-seen home movies of the Alaska Highway.

02/08/2005 11PM, 90 min.; Format: Documentary

P.O.V., Epsd No. 1713, “Chisholm '72 - Unbought & Unbossed”

This documentary recaptures the times and spirit of a watershed event in American politics, when Shirley Chisolm, an African-American woman, dared to take an equal place on the presidential dais. The New York Democratic congresswoman's bid engendered strong and sometimes bigoted opposition, setting off currents that affect American politics and social perceptions to this day.

01/31/2005 9PM, 120 min.; Format: Documentary

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE, Epsd No. 1703, "Fidel Castro"

For the leader of a small Caribbean nation, Fidel Castro has had an inordinate impact on the latter half of the 20th century. The controversial, charismatic dictator has confounded American presidents from Eisenhower to Bush, while surviving a CIA-backed invasion, countless assassination plots, an economic embargo - even the collapse of his benefactor, the Soviet Union. Unflinching in its approach, this new documentary from Adriana Bosch ("Jimmy Carter"; "Reagan") does not shy away from controversy, acknowledging both Castro's accomplishments and his failures.

FORT NIAGARA:THE STRUGGLE FOR A CONTINENT, Epsd No.

The story of Fort Niagara is the story of a struggle for a continent. For over 150 years, four nations struggled to control this strategic point at the mouth of the Niagara River, and thus control the critical water artery it protected. But the fort is not only unique for its history, it is unique for its longevity. Visitors to the site today can still explore one of North America's largest collections of original 18th century military architecture--tangible reminders of the fort's important past. Experience for yourself this exciting story of one of America's most unique historic places. Rare archival footage, expert commentaries and spectacular videography of the fort itself come together in brilliant high definition to create a program that is a must for anyone interested in the story of North America.

THE QUILTMAKERS OF GEE'S BEND, Epsd No.

This one-hour film documents the modern lives and history of the black quiltmakers of Gee's Bend, Alabama. For more than 150 years, the women of Gee's Bend have made quilts reflecting their world. Over generations, they worked in isolation and poverty, continuing to inhabit the remote plantation land their forefathers once slaved. Today, art critics worldwide are comparing them to the great creative enclaves of the Italian Renaissance. Michael Kimmel of the New York Times says the quilts are "some of the most miraculous works of modern art America has produced." Dr. Alvia Wardlaw, contemporary art curator at the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, says, "It asks us all about genius, and where does it reside."

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE, Epsd No. 1513, "Murder At Harvard"

In November 1849, Dr. George Parkman, one of Boston's richest citizens, suddenly disappeared. The physician had last been seen walking towards the Harvard Medical College. Many suspected Parkman had been robbed and murdered by a poor Irish immigrant, but the Harvard Medical School's janitor thought differently. He spent two grueling nights tunneling beneath a basement laboratory looking for clues, and what he discovered horrified Boston and led to one of the most sensational trials in American history. Based on a book by historian Simon Schama, Murder at Harvard uses drama and documentary to re-examine this grisly episode and to uncover why, though a guilty verdict was handed down, the case has forever remained unresolved. Schama plays a key role in the film as a "time-travelling" detective who puts himself in the place of the story's central characters. Weighing and sifting the evidence, he probes the lingering mysteries that have puzzled so many for more than 150 years.

DO YOU SPEAK AMERICAN?, Epsd No. 101,

Robert MacNeil returns to PBS as host of DO YOU SPEAK AMERICAN?, a cross-country journey exploring the vibrancy, energy and flashpoints of the many ways Americans speak English. The three-part series follows MacNeil as he traverses the United States, conversing with characters from all walks of life in an effort to find out just what "American" sounds like. Along the way, he spotlights controversies like Ebonics and political correctness in speech; asks whether or not the country has "dumbed down" the language too much; traces the history of regional dialects and looks at the ways they reflect local cultural identity; and explores the conclusions we draw about fellow Americans based on the way we speak.

BRIARS IN THE COTTON PATCH:THE STORY OF KOINONIA FARM, Epsd No.

Briars in the Cotton Patch is a documentary film that explores the unusual story of a community founded on the principles of non-violence and sharing that changed the lives of thousands of people, both within and outside of their commune. The members were, and still are, followers of Jesus who actively show their faith in their lives and their social activities. They are "briars" because their lives prick society's norms. Narrated by former Atlanta Mayor and UN Ambassador Andrew Young, this one-hour television documentary examines the remarkable personalities and events of Koinonia Farm. Although not widely known, its significance and impact stretches around the world because it is the seed from which Habitat for Humanity International grew. This is a powerful story of Christian persecution, racial injustice and uncommon courage.

AMERICAN EXPERIENCE, Epsd No. 1705, “Kinsey”

Alfred Kinsey was a little-known biologist at Indiana University when, in the 1940s, he began compiling exhaustive data from tens of thousands of interviews about the sexual practices of men and women. The results of that research were the explosive, best-selling "Kinsey Reports." Implicit in the revolutionary study was a plea for greater tolerance. "Such terms as abnormal, unnatural, oversexed, and undersexed," wrote Harper's Magazine, "have little validity in the light of Professor Kinsey's revelations." The man behind the inflammatory reports seemed at first glance an unlikely "revolutionary." Publicly, he was an erudite, tweedy academic, but in private Kinsey was far more complex. As his interest in sex research deepened so did his wide-ranging sexual experimentation. Though his work was groundbreaking and up-ended established ideas about sexual practices in America, his own sexual orientation and personal beliefs almost certainly shaped and biased his findings. Through interviews with his research assistants, his children, people who took his sex questionnaire, his biographers, and intellectual historians, this probing documentary assesses Kinsey's remarkable achievements, while examining how his personal life shaped his career.

FRONTLINE/WORLD, Epsd No. 401,
PBS's international newsmagazine returns for a fourth season with a report on the dangers of covering the war in Iraq, where sixty-two journalists have already been killed during the conflict. The constant barrage of car bombings, ambushes, kidnappings, and beheadings have turned much of the country into a "no go zone" for reporters. FRONTLINE/World cameras follow reporters as they try to do their job and survive in the mayhem of Iraq. Also featured: a dramatic, close-up look at the war in Sudan's Darfur region including interviews with rebel army leaders and the African peacekeeping troops trying to end the killings; and a visit to western China and a look at the Uighurs, Chinese Muslims, many of whom are afraid to speak out and one man is arrested for daring to tell his story to a reporter.

SLAVERY AND THE MAKING OF AMERICA, Epsd No. 101,

This groundbreaking series chronicles the institution of American slavery from its origins in 1619 - when English settlers in Virginia purchased 20 Africans from Dutch traders - through the arrival of the first 11 slaves in the northern colonies (in Dutch New Amsterdam), the American Revolution, the Civil War, the adoption of the 13th Amendment and Reconstruction. "The Downward Spiral"-- The first hour covers the period from 1619 through 1739 and spotlights the origins of slavery in America, focusing on Dutch New Amsterdam (later New York City). This installment shows how slavery in its early days was a loosely defined labor source similar to indentured servitude: Africans and others of mixed race and/or mixed culture had some legal rights, could take their masters to court and could even earn wages as they undertook the backbreaking labor involved in building a new nation - clearing land, constructing roads, unloading ships.

SLAVERY AND THE MAKING OF AMERICA, Epsd No. 103,

The series' third hour looks at the period from 1800 through the start of the Civil War, during which slavery saw an enormous expansion and entered its final decades. As the nation expanded west, the question of slavery became the overriding political issue of the time. These years saw an increasingly militant abolitionist movement and a widening rift between the North - which had largely outlawed slavery but continued to reap the vast economic benefits of the system - and the South, now home to millions of enslaved black men, women and children. The series' final hour follows the life of Robert Smalls as it takes viewers through the Civil War, Reconstruction and beyond. Smalls was a South Carolina slave who rode a stolen Confederate ship to freedom, became a sailor in the Union Navy, bought the mansion in which he had been enslaved and went on to a long, successful career in politics. Another major element of this hour is the transformation of the Civil War from a conflict intended to restore the Union to a conflict over slavery. With Smalls as framework, this final installment looks at the rise of the Ku Klux Klan and militant opposition to black rights, the end of Reconstruction and its replacement with a whole new kind of legalized oppression.

UNFORGIVABLE BLACKNESS:THE RISE AND FALL OF JACK JOHNSON, Epsd No. 101,

Episode one follows Jack Johnson's remarkable journey from his humble beginnings in Galveston, Texas, as the son of former slaves, to his entry into the brutal world of professional boxing, where, in turn-of-the-century Jim Crow America, the heavyweight champion was an exclusively "white" title. Johnson lived his life out loud, wearing fancy clothes, driving fast cars and openly flaunting the conventions of the time by dating and then marrying white women. Despite the odds, Johnson was able to batter his way up through the professional ranks, and in 1908 he became the first African American to earn the title Heavyweight Champion of the World. Johnson's victory set in motion a worldwide search for a "white hope" to restore the title to whites. On July 4, 1910, in Reno, Nevada, ex-champion Jim Jeffries, the new "Great White Hope," came out of retirement to challenge Johnson. Johnson easily won the contest, billed as the Battle of the Century, despite a hostile crowd and a steady stream of racial epithets hurled from Jeffries' corner. Johnson's victory provoked race riots all around the country, but his troubles were only just beginning.

UNFORGIVABLE BLACKNESS:THE RISE AND FALL OF JACK JOHNSON, Epsd No. 102,

By the end of 1910, Jack Johnson was on top of the world, the undisputed Heavyweight Champion of the World, the most famous - and notorious - African American on earth. But forces were gathering in America to stop him. When no one could be found to beat the champion in the ring, the U.S. government set out to destroy him in the courts, using his sometimes-troubled relationships with white women as the excuse to prosecute him. Unfairly charged with violating the Mann Act, a progressive-era piece of legislation designed to stop commercialized vice - not relationships between consenting adults - Jack Johnson was convicted and sentenced to jail. Skipping bail, Johnson fled to Europe, where he remained a fugitive for many years. In 1915 in Havana, Cuba, he defended his title in a still-controversial fight against Jess Willard, a fight that went on for 26 rounds in 105-degree heat. Determined to live his life regardless of the confines imposed by his color, Jack Johnson emerged as a central figure in America's ongoing struggle to deal with the question of race.

NOVA, Epsd No. 3204, "Nova Sciencenow"

Science and technology are changing lives at a dizzying pace. Hidden clues in your genes will soon enable your doctor to tell you whether you're likely to get a major disease perhaps decades before it happens. Advanced "nanotech" materials will lead to unimaginably tiny and powerful computers. Recently the first private space probe reached low-earth orbit, opening up a whole new era in aerospace. And increasingly sophisticated studies of climate change offer unsettling evidence of the environment your children and grandchildren will inherit. So how can you keep up with the fast-moving frontiers of science and technology? The answer is "NOVA scienceNow," an innovative science news and magazine show debuting January 25 and airing five times a year. "NOVA scienceNow" will draw on a limitless range of potential stories: from the secrets of the genetic code to fuel cells and hydrogen-powered cars, from the battle against cancer and heart disease to the quest to slow down aging and "grow" new organs. Correspondent Robert Krulwich of "Nightline" and ABC News will host the show. Krulwich's enthusiasm for science, his quirky humor and uncanny ability to make difficult subjects compelling and entertaining will bring a distinctive flair to the series. The program will bring to life the "how" and "why" behind cutting-edge discoveries and show the everyday impact and human side of science with accuracy, clarity and flair.

NOVA, Epsd No. 3201, "Welcome To Mars"

On January 3, 2004, a tiny rover named Spirit crash-landed on the dusty surface of Mars and sent its first message home. The elation of the assembled scientists, as well as the behind-the-scenes engineering story leading up to the landing, was captured by NOVA in "Mars Dead or Alive." That elation is the starting point for this sequel, which follows the adventures of Spirit and Opportunity on the red planet. Once again, NOVA's producers enjoyed unprecedented access to the mission scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory as they wrestled with the technical crises that soon beset the rovers. All goes well until Spirit suddenly falls silent and then, inexplicably, starts spewing gibberish. For three agonizing days, the engineers struggle to regain control of the unhinged rover before they finally solve the problem. Then Opportunity lands and sends back the image of an outcrop of bedrock just a few meters away. The rock turns out to be a crucial clue in the long quest to discover if there was once water and life on Mars. But the race to collect confirming data turns into an emotional rollercoaster for the engineers as they struggle to keep their earthly lives in synch with the longer day/night cycle of the red planet. "Welcome to Mars" presents a compelling inside story of triumph and technical ingenuity, full of scientific and human drama, with stunning fresh images from an alien world.

FRONTLINE, Epsd No. 2306, "Al Qaeda'S New Front"

On March 11, 2004, as four early morning commuter trains were arriving at Atocha station in Madrid, a series of bombs were detonated. Packed with commuters and students heading for work and school, the trains were blown apart. Pandemonium ensued. Fractured bodies littered the station and railway tracks, leaving 191 people dead and more than 1,400 injured. It was the worst terrorist attack in the history of Western Europe. And it was a grim reminder that the followers of Al Qaeda were very much alive and well. In "Al Qaeda's New Front," FRONTLINE, in association with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and The New York Times, investigates the alarming threat radical Salafist jihadists pose to Western Europe and its allies-including the United States. Home to an estimated 18 million Muslims, Western Europe has become the new and deadly battleground in the war on terror.
