Women and Families

April 6, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Kitty Genovese: The real story 50 years later

Duration: 0:10:44 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Kevin Cook, author of "Kitty Genovese: The murder, the bystanders, the crime that changed America,"

In 1964, a young bar manager was brutally assaulted and stabbed to death in New York, supposedly while 38 bystanders watched and did nothing to help her. The story of Kitty Genovese made headlines around the world, and made New York City famous for its cold, unfeeling people who "didn't want to get involved." But was the story as told in the press true?

April 13, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Internet Privacy: How you can fight snooping online

Duration: 0:12:27 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Julia Angwin, award-winning journalist, author of "Dragnet Nation: A quest for privacy, security and freedom in a world of relentless surveillance,”; William Kling, adjunct professor of law, IIT Chicago-Kent College of Law, clinical assistant professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago School of Public Health,

It seems you can't get away from email spam, Internet scams and companies using your online purchases and web browsing to badger you with shopping opportunities. Every time you sign up for a blog or make a purchase, you are inundated with unwanted – and sometimes dangerous – intrusions into your personal and private information. We talk to a journalist who has tried to erase her digital footprint, and an attorney who deals with online privacy about the issue.

April 20, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Adult Swimming: It's important for safety and health

Duration: 0:10:47 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Rob Butcher, Executive Director, United States Master Swimming (USMS)

Summer is a time for fun in the sun, and swimming is a favorite pastime when the temperature rises. With that in mind, it's amazing that millions of adults never learned to swim! We talk to a swimming expert about why it's important for adults to learn to navigate the pool for their own health, safety and the safety of their children. It's also a great activity where you can make new friends, keep fit and have fun.

April 20, 2014 6:55 a.m.

The Platform – A Brain Boost for the Family

Duration: 0:26:50 minutes

He suggests meals, family activities and talks about the dangers of not eating 'smart foods'

April 27, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Bitcoin: What it is and why we need to take it seriously

Duration: 0:11:12 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Peter Leeds, owner and CEO of Peter Leeds Penny Stocks, author of "Penny Stocks for Dummies," Joe Deaux, Economic Analyst at The Street

The virtual currency, "bitcoin," has been in the news lately for its fantastic rise in value, then it's dramatic fall after the world's largest bitcoin exchange filed for bankruptcy. We talk to two financial specialists about what it is, how it's used, the pros and cons of dealing in bitcoin, and what the future might bring for this novel currency.

April 27, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Women of the Atomic Age

Duration: 0:11:26 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Craig Nelson, author of "The Age of Radiance: The epic rise and dramatic fall of the Atomic Era," Denise Kiernan, author of the best-selling book, "The Girls of Atomic City," now in paperback.

The Atomic Age is credited mostly to men like Einstein, Oppenheimer and Fermi. Although there's no question that these eminent scientists were leaders in the development and understanding of nuclear power, there were also many women who contributed knowledge and sometimes their health and lives, but who are overshadowed by the men. We talk to two authors whose books give these women the recognition they deserve.

May 4, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Twin Loss and Bereavement

Duration: 0:12:20 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Mary Rockefeller Morgan, psychotherapist, author of the book, "When Grief Calls Forth the Healing: A memoir of losing a twin," Dr. Nancy Segal, prof. of psychology, Cal State-Fullerton, founder and director of The Twin Studies Center, author of several books on twins

The loss of a loved one is always difficult, but when an individual loses a twin sister or brother, it's even more so. The bond between these siblings is different than with or between other siblings, and the grief often lasts a lifetime. We talk to two twin specialists, one who lost a twin brother herself, about the special relationship between twins, why the sorrow is often more intense and long-lived, and how family and friends can help a grieving twin through their loss.

May 25, 2014 6:55 a.m.

The Platform – Kids and Electronics

Duration: 0:27:33 minutes

Sharon Retcher, co-founder of Baby First, comes on to talk about the effects electronic devices are having on the family unit and children. She discusses how it can be socially crippling, how you should teach your children how to operate electronic devices and how to limit their exposure and monitor what your kids are doing.

June 1, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Baby Names: Why and how parents choose them

Duration: 0:09:57 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Jennifer Griffin, author of "1,107 Baby Names that Stand the Test of Time"; Jonah Berger, Prof. of Marketing, The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, author of the NYTimes and WSJ best-seller, "Contagious: Why things catch on,"

Why do parents name their babies what they do? What goes into that decision? And why do some names become popular and others fall out of favor? We talk to a baby name specialist and a branding expert about how and why people name their kids what they do

June 8, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – A Son Remembers His Father, Jack Lemmon

Duration: 0:10:35 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guest: Chris Lemmon, actor, author of "A Twist of Lemmon: A tribute to my father."

Oscar-winning actor Jack Lemmon entertained audiences for more than 50 years in films such as "Some Like It Hot," "The Days of Wine and Roses," "The Odd Couple," "The Apartment," and many, many more. We knew Jack Lemmon as the "everyman" in his films, but we didn't know much about his life outside of Hollywood. His son, Chris, offers us a look behind the scenes at the life of his dad and the relationship they shared until his death in 2001.

June 8, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Cat Care During the Dog Days of Summer

Duration: 0:10:55 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Dr. Marty Becker, veterinarian, member of the "The Dr. Oz Show" medical advisory panel, and author of "Your Cat: The owner's manual," Jackson Galaxy, cat behaviorist, host of Animal Planet's "My Cat From Hell," author of "Cat Daddy,"

It's summer, and families are heading out to beaches, resorts and on camping trips and taking the family dog with them. But what about the family cat? Is it a good idea to take your feline family member with you? And how do cats fare, overall, during the summer at home or away? We talk to two cat experts about caring for your cat during the dog days of summer.

June 8, 2014 6:55 a.m.

The Platform – Five things Men Want

Duration: 0:26:11 minutes

June is Men's Health Month and in honor of that we talked with Dr. Christopher Mohr, PdD RD CSSD and Sport's nutrition advisor for Men's Health Magazine. He Discusses the 5 things men want to achieve for their health, home and lifestyle and how they can get on the right path.

June 22, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Michael Jordan: The Life

Duration: 0:10:34 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Roland Lazenby, sports journalist, author of "Michael Jordan: The life." (twitter.com/lazenby)

Michael Jordan is without question one of the premiere athletes of the 20th century. But what made him so good? How did he take a mediocre basketball team with rag-tag players and help make it into a sports dynasty? We talk to a man who has followed and written about professional basketball and the Chicago Bulls for decades, about Jordan, the team and his contribution.

June 29, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – The Tolerance Trap

Duration: 0:10:33 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: F. Michael Higginbotham, Wilson H. Elkins Prof. of Law, Univ. of Baltimore School of Law and author, Ghosts of Jim Crow: Ending Racism in Post-Racial America; Suzanna Walters, Prof. of Sociology and Director, Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Northeastern Univ. and author, The Tolerance Trap: How God, Genes and Good Intentions are Sabotaging Gay Equality; Ellen Bravo, Director, Family Values at Work and author, Taking On the Big Boys.

Despite having a black president and laws designed to ensure equalities for minorities, unequal treatment is still widely present in American life. Our guests discuss how laws can go only so far in addressing inequality as long as society merely tolerates minorities, regarding them as "the other" and requiring them to be labeled.

June 29, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – The Tolerance Trap Part 2

Duration: 0:10:57 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: F. Michael Higginbotham, Wilson H. Elkins Prof. of Law, Univ. of Baltimore School of Law and author, Ghosts of Jim Crow: Ending Racism in Post-Racial America; Suzanna Walters, Prof. of Sociology and Director, Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Northeastern Univ. and author, The Tolerance Trap: How God, Genes and Good Intentions are Sabotaging Gay Equality; Ellen Bravo, Director, Family Values at Work and author, Taking On the Big Boys.

In part 2 of this program on combatting discrimination, our guests discuss concrete ways activists and the "man on the street" can attack inequality on the job, in family situations, in religion and in basic civil rights.

June 22, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Creating a Consensus: Bringing diverse groups together

Duration: 0:10:34 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Betsy Leondar-Wright, Program Dir. of the national non-profit organization Class Action and author of the book, "Missing Class: Strengthening social movement groups by seeing class cultures."

Activists working to make something happen in a community often have problems getting people to come to meetings or take part in other gatherings for a common cause. Why is that? What impediments of race, education, and economic status create roadblocks to building a consensus, and how can they be overcome? Our guest, an activist for more than 30 years and a director of a national non-profit organization, researched the issue and has some surprising answers.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – The Foodshed & Urban Gardening

Duration: 0:11:46 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Philip Ackerman-Leist, Dir. of the Green Mountain College Farm & Food Project, and of their Masters in Sustainable Food Systems Program, and author of "Rebuilding the Foodshed: How to create local, sustainable and secure food systems," Eric Toensmeier, urban gardener author of "Paradise Lot"

It's spring, and backyard gardeners are gearing up to plant the tomatoes, zucchini, lettuce and carrots. Wouldn't it be great if everyone could have a garden that would produce enough so they'd have fresh produce most or all of the year? And just imagine not having to apples shipped in from Australia and tomatoes from Mexico. We talk to two agricultural specialists about how to grow a lot of food in very small space, and how regional and urban farming – even in vacant city lots and around public buildings – could provide healthy, fresh food for much of the community, increase employment in job-starved cities, and help revitalize economies in depressed areas of the nation.

May 11, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – The Drunken Botanist: The plants behind popular spirits

Duration: 0:10:47 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Amy Stewart, author of "The Drunken Botanist:"

Cocktails are making a comeback, and the distilled spirits that go in them have very interesting and complex histories. We talk with an author who researched how many popular liquors are created, the myths that surround some of them and what fruits, vegetables and shrubs are used in the creation of some of your favorite drinks.

May 18, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Sustainable Fishing: Is farming the answer?

Duration: 0:09:32 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Meriel Brooks, Prof. of Biology, Program Director, Masters of Science Program in Environmental Studies, Green Mountain College, VT; Rick Moonen, Chef, Rick Moonen's RM Seafood restaurant, Mandalay Bay Casino and Resort, Las Vegas, NV

Doctors and nutritionists tell us to eat less red meat, and more fish. As a result, salmon, tuna, and various white fish have caught on in many households, with salmon being a favorite. A lot of Atlantic salmon is farmed in North America, and some people are skeptical that these operations are healthy – for people, the environment and the fish themselves. We talk to a scientist and to a chef about fish farming, how it can be done well, and how we should pursue good environmental practices as well as good aquaculture practices to make fish like salmon a sustainable option

June 15, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – The High Cost of Cheap Fashion

Duration: 0:09:46 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Elizabeth L. Cline, journalist, author of "Overdressed: The shockingly high cost of cheap fashion,"

The summer home clean-out is here, and old clothes and shoes are often the items that end up in the charity bin. Why is it that Americans have so much clothing to throw away? What happens to the clothing and other items that go off to the resale store? And how does the consumerism of Americans affect emerging economies and Third World countries? We talk to an investigator and author who went inside the "fast fashion" industry for the answers to those questions, and discuss some solutions to the "clothing pollution" that plagues the world.

June 22, 2014 6:55 a.m.

The Platform – Fukushima Radiation Hit the West Coast

Duration: 0:23:48 minutes

Dr. Carl Robertson and Jhoane Robertson are educators and clinical and formulary herbologists, in this interview they talk about the findings of West Coast Scientists who say they radiation from the 2011 Fukushima Power Plant disaster have reached the coast. Carl and Jhoane discuss the effects we will see because of this and how we can help prevent a disaster like this from happening again.

Education

April 13, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Post-High School Ed: Are we doing all we can?

Duration: 0:09:16 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Mike Rose, professor at the UCLA Graduate School of Education and Information Studies, author of the book, "Why School? Reclaiming education for all of us"

There are many students and adults who don't go to a four-year college, but are out in the workforce looking for a job or seeking to get a better one. But how do they get the education they need to find a job or move up in the work world?

April 20, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Hands-on Tinkering: How it can help kids get ahead

Duration: 0:10:47 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Tim Shaw, inventor, engineer, host of "None of the Above" on the National Geographic Channel Karen Wilkinson, Tinkering Studio Director, the Exploratorium, San Francisco, co-author of "The Art of Tinkering,"

Many U.S. school children have trouble with math and science and sometimes it's because these subjects are not taught in a way that engages students. We talk to two "hands-on" educators about how involving young people – and adults – in science, technology and engineering in creative and sometimes explosive ways helps them learn about the principles of science and math in ways that sitting in a lecture never could

Viewpoints Segment #1 – The Gun that Changed History: The Colt Revolver

Duration: 0:10:17 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Robert Lautner, author of the novel, "Road to Reckoning,"

The six-gun is an iconic emblem of the Old West as much as the face-off between the sheriff and the bad guy on a dusty street at high noon. What many people don't realize, though, is that the gun that was used back in those old show-downs was a relatively new invention that changed the history of the west and of our country from then on. We talk to an author who used the creation of the Colt revolver as the centerpiece of his novel, about Samuel Colt, how he fought for years to get his gun into the marketplace, and how it revolutionized firearms and the gun industry for decades to come.

May 18, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – The Promise of a Pencil: Small actions make big changes

Duration: 0:09:32 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Adam Braun, Founder & CEO of Pencils of Promise, author of "The Promise of a Pencil,"

There are many activists such as Bono, Bill Clinton and Oprah who stir large numbers of people to contribute to a cause or spend time helping others less fortunate than themselves. But there are also some non-famous people who start small but are making a big change in the world. We talk to one young man who started by giving a poor Indian boy a pencil – just a pencil – and turned that one small act into a program to build schools for poor children in many countries around the world.

May 25, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Making Education in Poor Areas Better and More Fair

Duration: 0:10:59 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Greg Duncan, Dist. Prof. in the School of Ed., Univ. of California-Irvine, co-author of "Restoring Opportunity: The crisis of inequality and the challenge for American education,"; John Kuhn, school superintendent in Texas, author of "Fear and Learning in America"

When schools are sub-par, who is to blame? There's a lot of blame to share, but there are also good public schools out there and models for making troubled schools better, if we want to learn from them. We talk to two education specialists who have ideas on how to create better learning environments in schools, how to better equip and support teachers, and how to even the playing field for poorer students who are often stuck in a district's lowest-performing schools.

May 25, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – A Higher Call: An amazing story of heroism – by the enemy!

Duration: 0:10:29 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Adam Makos, journalist, author of the book, "A Higher Call: An incredible true story of combat and chivalry in the war-torn skies of World War II," (facebook: Adam Makos).

On Memorial Day this year, millions will gather to remember our heroic fallen soldiers, sailors and marines at events around the country. There were other heroes in war – those that survived and came home due to their courage and the courage of their comrades. We'll hear the story of a very unusual hero – a member of Hitler's air force – who risked his life to help an American pilot in distress, and who decades later met up with the man whose life he saved.

June 1, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – James Madison: A Life Reconsidered

Duration: 0:11:30 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: Lynne Cheney, former "Second Lady," scholar, and author of "James Madison: A life reconsidered) Kenneth C. Davis, historian, author of "Don't Know Much About the American Presidents,"

James Madison was one of our busiest and most prolific Founding Fathers, yet he often doesn't get his due in discussions of the framers of the Constitution, the Bill of Rights or freedom of conscience. We'll talk to a biographer, and a historian about Madison, his presidency, personal life and how his contributions to our founding are still being discussed today.

June 15, 2014 5:20 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Pope Francis: What changes can we expect in the Church?

Duration: 0:11:45 minutes

Host: Gary Price. Guests: John Thavis, journalist, author of "The Vatican Diaries: A behind-the-scenes look at the power, personalities, and politics at the heart of the Catholic Church," Dr. Joe Wenke, satirist, journalist, author of "Papal Bull: An ex-Catholic calls out the Catholic Church,"

The Catholic Church has been embroiled in problems during the past few decades, and the new pope, Francis, is being looked to for guidance and significant changes during his tenure. But is he really a breath of fresh air? How much will the Church change? Which of the "hot button" issues will the pope address head-on? What will remain the same? We talk to two Vatican observers about what they think is in store with the Church under Pope Francis
