DESCRIPTION OF REGULAR PROGRAMS

5:20 am Viewpoints 30-minutes

A Nationally syndicated program produced by MediaTracks, out of Des Plaines, IL.

Viewpoints feature a half-hour look at important issues in the news and in our lives.

5:50 am The Platform 30-minutes

A Cox Radio, Miami locally produced program.

The Platform is a weekly half-hour informed discussion about the issues and concerns of South Florida. The host talks with community leaders, representatives of local and state agencies, and charitable organizations, in an effort to create awareness and inspire pro-active involvement with causes and agencies.

COMMUNITY ISSUES RELATED PROGRAMMING

Health

October, 7 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Fix Feeling Sluggish

Duration: 0:22:03

Dr. Cass Ingram re-joined the program to discuss new findings with a berry called the “Thimbleberry”. He also discusses why he eats the rainbow and how sunlight can help your mood.

October 28, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Real Wolfmen? Or Just Imagination?

Duration: 0:11:41 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Stuart Vyse, Prof. of Psychology, Connecticut College, New London, CT, author of “Believing in Magic: The psychology of superstition,” (www.stuartvyse.com); Linda Godfrey, journalist and paranormal investigator, author of “Real Wolfmen,” (www.lindagodfrey.com).

There have been people who swore they saw Big Foot, or a ghost or saw a flying saucer shoot across the sky. Are they correct? Are they wrong? Do they make it up? Or are they actually seeing what they say they are – only in their imagination? We talk to a journalist who has recorded the sightings of wolves who walk upright like humans, and a psychologist who says people’s minds can trick them into seeing and hearing things that aren’t there. We’ll find out what credible witnesses said about the wolf-like creatures, and if it’s even possible for wolves to walk upright and use their forepaws like hands. We’ll also discuss the nature of fear, and why people can imagine they see something when they actually don’t.

November 4, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Anger why we have it; How and when to control

Duration: 0:11:18 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Dr. Howard Kassinove, Prof. of Psychology, Dir. of The Institute for the Study and Treatment of Anger and Aggression, Hofstra University, Long Island, NY, co-author of the book, “Anger Management for Everyone: Seven proven ways to control anger,” (www.amazon.com); Koren Zailckas, author of “Fury: A memoir,” (www.korenzailckas.tumblr.com), (www.facebook.com/kzailckas).

Everyone gets angry from time to time, but some people let it rule their lives. We talk to a psychologist and to an author who addressed her anger issues about what anger is, what it does to us physically and mentally and how to control it so it doesn’t interfere with our lives and the lives of those around

November 18, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – How to Feed Yourself and Your Family Better

Duration: 0:21:53

Elizabeth Ward comes back on to talk about her book, How to Feed Yourself and Your Family Better: Decoding the Dietary Guidelines for Your Life, and the health movement that is taking over the country. We discuss keeping fit during the holidays and how fruit can help you do that.

December 2, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Detoxifying Your Body

Duration: 0:20:24

Dr. Alan Greenburg talks about his personal battle with depressing and constant pain, and tells us what he found out about common toxins and how they can affect you negatively. He discusses cleanses, signs of health problems and detoxifying.

December 30, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Introverts: They're not who you think they are

Duration: 0:11:13 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Todd Kashdan, Prof. of Psychology, George Mason University, author of the forthcoming book "Mindfulness, acceptance and Positive Psychology," (April 2013), (www.toddkashdan.com); Sophia Dembling, introvert, author of the book, "The Introvert's Way: Living a quiet life in a noisy world,"

Introverts get a bad reputation for being party poopers, shy, and even anti-social. Our two guests say that couldn't be further from the truth, and dispel the myths surrounding introverts. We discuss what introversion is, why it's not the same as shyness, how introverts can be gregarious, talkative and a lot of fun to be around.

Women and Family

October 14, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Baking for Halloween

Duration: 0:20:34

Nancy Siller, host of the PBS Series 'Bake Decorate Celebrate', joins us again to talk about the trends for Halloween this year both in decorating and baking. She also provides us tips for storage, how to manage holiday baking and ways to decorate that won't break the bank.

November 11, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Kid Lit: What makes a good kid's book

Duration: 0:12:42 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Deborah Stevenson, Dir. of The Center for Children's Books, editor of their bulletin, in the Graduate School of Library and Information Science, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign (<http://ccb.lis.illinois.edu>); Bob Balaban, award-winning actor, director, Oscar-winning producer; children's book writer whose most recent book is "The Creature from the Seventh Grade: Boy or Beast"; Amy Krouse Rosenthal, author of many children's books including "WUMBERS: It's words cre8ed with numbers," (www.whoisamy.com).

Kids' books never seem to go out of style, and there's nothing kids love more than sitting with mom or dad and having a Dr. Seuss story read to them for the umpteenth time. But what makes a kids' book a good read? We talk to two kid lit authors and a child reading specialist about the characteristics of good books for young and middle-school children.

November 18, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Kids and Tech: A psychologist takes a hard line

Duration: 0:10:36 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Dr. Edward Christophersen, board-certified children's clinical psychologist at Children's Mercy Hospital, Kansas City, MO, author of "Parenting That Works: Teaching skills that last a lifetime," (www.childrensmercy.org).

Are kids too involved in technology to the detriment of other parts of their lives? One psychologist thinks so, and takes a harder line than many parents do on how much and what kind of tech is good for kids. Our guest also discusses how too much sitting in front of "screens" is one reason so many kids are overweight or obese. Too much tech is also interfering with family cohesiveness and sometimes exposing our kids to online material that they shouldn't be seeing.

December 9, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Christmas Cookie Share

Duration: 0:22:14

Mary Beth Harrington, a flavor and baking expert, talks with us about how you can organize your baking with a cookie share. She also talks about, and shares, her favorite holiday recipes with tips for freezing dough, decorating with kids and enjoying time in the kitchen this holiday.

December 16, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – One Child at a Time: Adopting older children

Duration: 0:11:16 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Jake Dekker, adoptive parent and author of "One Kid at a Time: A single dad, a boy in foster care and a adoption," (www.jakedekker.com); Nathan Ross, adopted teenager, with the Midwest Foster Care and Adoption Association (www.mfcaa.org).

Many adoptable kids spend their childhoods moving from foster home to foster home, until they “age out” of the system at 18. Unfortunately, parents who adopt often want only infants, and that leaves thousands of young people without permanent homes. We talk to an adoptive parent and a man who was adopted as a teenager about the challenges of adopting older children, why its important for their welfare and society, and how the system should be changed to make more of these adoptions a reality.

December 23, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Dealing With Holiday Stress

Duration: 0:10:20 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Dr. Mary Lamia, clinical psychologist and psychoanalyst in private practice in Marin County, CA, (www.marylamia.com); Paul Hujlich, author of “Stress Pandemic: 9 natural steps to survive, master stress and live well,”

The holidays, with their family gatherings, crowded shopping malls and unpredictable weather, are a time of stress for many people. We talk to two stress specialists about how to calm down a bit during this hectic time of year and also prevent undue stress at other times.

Finances and Employment

October 14, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Money and Emotions

Duration: 0:10:46 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Hill Harper, actor, “CSI: NY,” best-selling author of “The Wealth Cure: Putting money in its place,” (www.manifestyourdestiny.org); Dr. David Reiss, psychiatrist in private practice in San Diego, CA (www.dmr dynamics.com).

Although the economy is rebounding, many people are still feeling stress over their jobs, mortgages, retirement situation and all of the other things that have been affected by the downturn. One of the ways people deal with stress is to use money as a way to feel in control, raise self-esteem or deal with grief and loss. We talk to a best-selling author and a psychiatrist about how people can get into financial and emotional trouble when their lives are wrapped up with making, spending and hoarding money.

October 28, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Career, Money and Life

Duration: 0:24:03

Nicole Carter, Human Potential Coach, talks about your finances and how you can better save for the future. She talks about getting a better career, how to write a resume, retirement plans and talks about the Fall Job Expo.

October 21, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Building Income with Municipal Bonds

Duration: 0:21:36

Bill Walsh President of Hennion and Walsh, re-joins the program to talk about municipal bonds and teach us about ways we can invest. He talks about the main types of bonds, the range of return and frequently asked questions.

December 2, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Solo and Encore Careers: The benefits and the pitfalls

Duration: 0:10:53 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Jeanna Pool, marketing professional, author of the book, "Marketing for Solos," (www.marketingforsolos.com); John Schuster, exec. Coach, author of "The Power of Your Past,"

With unemployment high, and thousands of boomers retiring every day, many people are looking to strike out on their own or start new careers doing something completely different. Two business consultants offer advice on how to market your services as a solo entrepreneur, and to make an "encore" career out of one of your passions.

December 23, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Holiday Savings and Tips

Duration: 0:20:57

Adrienne O'Hara is a toy expert and she joins the program to talk about last minute buy, the hottest toys this year and how to buy for an age and be a success. She also talk about ways you can save money shopping and even after the holidays are over.

Community Events

November 11, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Women In Distress present Safe Walk-Run 5K

Duration: 0:25:19

Mary Reidel, President of Women in Distress in Broward County, comes on to talk about the organization and how it helps the women in our community. She discusses way you can help and their Safe Walk-Run 5k to help raise funds for new programs.

November 4, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform Part 1 – Holiday Food Drive

Duration: 0:15:00

Mary Reidel re-joins the program to talk about the holiday food drives Women in Distress is hosting this year. She also discusses new programs Women in in Distress is offering as well as ways you can help.

November 4, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.
The Platform Part 2 – Feeding South Florida
Duration: 0:13:17

Diana Brooks, president of Feeding South Florida, comes on to talk about her organization and the ways we can help them fulfill their holiday goals this year. She also discusses volunteer opportunities and events coming up this holiday season.

Consumer Affairs

October 7, 5:21 a.m.
Viewpoints Segment #1 – Looping & Multiage Classrooms Can Help Kids
Duration: 0:12:11 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: David Marshak, educator, researcher, author of "Kids Need the Same Teacher for More Than One Year," (www.kidsneedthesameteacher.net); Jenny Williams, kindergarten and 1st grade facilitator, Santa Clarita Valley International Charter School, CA (www.scvicharterschool.org); Michael Kelly, Asst. Prof. Educational Leadership Program, Regent University, Virginia Beach, VA (www.regent.edu).

Back in the early part of the 20th century, one-room schoolhouses were a common sight in many rural areas. Those buildings are gone, but the concept of having more than one grade in a classroom, and students having the same teacher for two, three or more years is gaining converts. We talk to three educators about the benefits and challenges of "multiage" classrooms and "looping" students and teachers for several years.

October 7, 5:21 a.m.
Viewpoints Segment #2 – Spy the Lie: The art of deception detection
Duration: 0:10:25 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Phillip Houston, former CIA officer specializing in lie detection, co-author with Michael Floyd and Susan Carnicero of "Spy the Lie: Former CIA officers teach you how to detect deception,"

Everyone has told a lie, but not everyone can get away with it -- especially if they come up against a group of CIA officers who have spent their careers ferreting out the truth. We talk to one former CIA lie detector about the verbal and non-verbal signs of lying, how to spot someone who might be lying, and why it's so difficult for the vast majority of people to lie and get away

October 14, 5:21 a.m.
Viewpoints Segment #2 – First Cameraman: The life of the White House
Duration: 0:11:29 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Arun Chaudhary, former Official White House Videographer, author of "First Cameraman: Documenting the Obama Presidency in Real Time," (www.firstcameraman.com).

What would it be like following the president wherever he goes as his official videographer? We talk to the first man to ever hold that position about his experiences in the White House, on the campaign trail, and the serious, fun and funny moments he has had with the Obamas in his job as first cameraman.

October 21, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Communication, Social Contracts and the Election

Duration: 0:11:41 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Jeremy D. Holden, award-winning branding and research strategist, author of "Second that Emotion: How decisions, trends and movements are shaped," (www.jeremydholden.com); Michael Rooni, attorney, mediator and author of "Attractive Communication: 300 ways to make communication more attractive," (www.attractivecommunication.com).

There's not much time before the presidential election, so each side is pulling out the stops to ensure a win. We talk to two communication experts about what each candidate can do to in these final days to better communicate their messages and their character to those undecided voters.

October 21, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – The dark side of the insect world

Duration: 0:10:57 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Amy Stewart, author of "Wicked Bugs," (www.wickedbugs.com) illustrated by Briony Morrow-Cribbs (www.brionymorrow-cribbs.com) ; Jeff Eisenberg, Pres. of PestAway, Inc., author of "The Bed Bug Survival Guide," (www.bedbugsurvivalguide.com).

We all know that there are beneficial bugs in the world, and without them, we'd have no agriculture, no honey, and no butterflies! However, along with the beneficial things bugs do, comes the bad...and even the "wicked." We talk to a writer who documents the darker side of the bug world, and an exterminator who pulls back the covers on bed bugs and tells us how to avoid and get rid of them.

October 21, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – John Quincy Adams: Our greatest statesman?

Duration: 0:10:55 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Harlow Giles Unger, author of "John Quincy Adams," (www.harlowgilesunger.com).

When someone asks "who's your favorite president?" most people say Lincoln or Washington or Jefferson or Reagan or Clinton, or some other famous commander-in-chief. The name John Quincy Adams rarely makes anyone's top 3 list. But that's because what he did as president pales in comparison to what he did before and after he had the top job. We talk to John Quincy's biographer about the triumphs of liberty, equality, peace and justice our sixth president won not as president, but as a true patriot outside the White House.

November 4, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Voter Fraud: Is it really a problem?

Duration: 0:11:31 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Daniel Tokaji, prof. of law, Ohio State University Moritz College of Law, Sr. Fellow, Election Law Project at Moritz (www.moritzlaw.osu.edu); Tova Andrea Wang, Sr. Democracy Fellow at Demos, Fellow at the Century Foundation, author of "The Politics of Voter Suppression: Defending and Expanding Americans' Right to Vote,"

Americans go to the polls this month, and a number of states have enacted laws to make voters show photo IDs before they're allowed to cast their ballots. But is voter impersonation really a problem? Is there another agenda behind these and other laws that make it harder for citizens to vote? We talk to two election specialists about voter laws now on the books, and those that have been enacted in the past to find out why they were passed, who they benefited, and what can be done to ensure that largest number of eligible Americans can freely exercise their right to vote.

November 11, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – The New Faces of Social Activism

Duration: 0:10:14 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Emily Hunter, journalist, author of "The Next Eco-Warriors: 22 young men and women who are saving the planet," (www.nextecowarriors.com); Linda Stout, founder and director of Spirit in Action, author of "Collective Visioning: How groups can work together for a just and sustainable future," (www.lindastout.org).

Activism and protest movements are as American as apple pie: from the Boston Tea Party in 1773, to the Tea Party movement of today, we've always been a country where people have marched for change. However, today there's a difference in the way many activists are going about their business. We talk to two women who have written about the "new activism" and how it's become more inclusive, diverse and effective in getting the message out.

November 18, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Eating Aliens: Broadening your palette with unusual foods

Duration: 0:12:14 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Jackson Landers, hunter, adventurer, author of the book, "Eating Aliens: One man's adventures hunting invasive animal species," (www.jacksonlanders.com); Diane Morgan, chef, award-winning cookbook writer, author of "Roots: The definitive compendium," (<http://dianemorgancooks.com>).

Food TV has helped to broaden the palette of many Americans beyond the burgers and fries this country is famous for. But how far are you willing to go? We talk to an author and adventurer who has been hunting some strange, invasive species of animals, handing them over to experienced chefs and serving them up for dinner. Another author and chef talks about the nutritional and culinary benefits of some ugly, maligned and sometimes hard to find root vegetables.

November 25, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – American Presidents: Did you know.....?

Duration: 0:10:09 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Kenneth C. Davis, historian, author of "Don't Know Much About American Presidents,"

America's presidential election was watched around the world, just like our Commanders-in-Chief are. In 2012 we saw a very divided and partisan election cycle, but it wasn't always that way. We talk to a historian and author about why the world is fascinated by US presidents, how many of our founding fathers warned against political parties, and we'll learn some interesting details that you might not have known about presidents of the past.

November 25, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Cocktails and Wine: Changing with the culture

Duration: 0:12:43 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Lesley Blume, author of "Let's Bring Back: The Cocktail Edition," (www.lesleymmblume.com); Joel Stein, journalist, humor columnist for TIME Magazine, author of "Man Made: A stupid quest for masculinity," spokesperson for Stark Raving Wines,

It used to be that cocktail parties were formal affairs, where men wore suits or tuxes, and a woman dressed up in her best frock or evening gown. When hosts served wine at dinner, it was very, very important to pair each course with it's own, special bottle. How things have changed! We talk to a cocktail aficionado about cocktail culture and history; and a humor columnist about how wines have gotten less fussy, and more "macho" – and are even being paired with food truck fare.

November 25, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.

The Platform – Water Resources and Conservation

Duration: 0:31:04

Barbara Powel, water resources manager at the Natural Resources Planning and Management Division of Broward County, comes on to talk about ways you can save water and new city regulations for water conservation.

December 2, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Disaster Preparedness: What individuals and businesses can do

Duration: 0:11:46 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Braxton Southwick, author of "A Letter to My Friends," and a prepper featured in National Geographic Channel's "Doomsday Preppers," (www.channel.nationalgeographic.com); Nicolas Dubus, IT Director, CableOrganizer.com.

If Hurricane Sandy taught us anything, it's that it pays to prepare for the worst, and hope for the best. There was nothing that could be done about the billions in property damage, but so many didn't have to die, and many businesses could have stayed up and running with the right emergency plan. We talk to two disaster specialists about what individuals and companies can do to be more prepared in the event of a natural or man-made disaster.

December 9, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #1 – Is It A Word? Look it up in the dictionary!

Duration: 0:10:27 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Steve Kleinedler, Exec. Editor, The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language

Dictionaries have been staples for students and writers forever, but these days you're as likely to look for a definition online as you are in a conventional book. Not only has the format of the dictionary changed, but also the kinds of words you find in it. We talk to a dictionary aficionado and editor about the changes the dictionary has undergone in the last decade, what kinds of new words are in the book and how words, phrases and abbreviations find their way in.

December 9, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – Kids & Toys: How do you find the right ones?

Duration: 0:12:13 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: Marianne Szymanski, toy tester and Pres. Of Toy Tips Inc., (www.toytips.com); Matt Hiebert, educator and contributor to Spark Box Toys (www.sparkboxtoys.com), Founder of aroundsquare (www.aroundsquare.com).

How do you know what the best toy is for your small child? Should you buy traditional toys like blocks and dolls, or more high tech toys like computer tablets and video games? We talk to two toy and child specialists about how to determine what your child really wants, how different toys affect children's play and imagination, and what to do if you can't find the exact toy your child wants for the holidays.

December 16, 5:21 a.m.

Viewpoints Segment #2 – The Making of Disney's "Snow White"

Duration: 0:11:19 minutes

Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: J.B. Kaufman, film historian, author on staff of the Walt Disney Family Foundation, author of "The Fairest One of All: The making of Walt Disney's Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs,"

At Christmas, 1937, a very special movie was scheduled to open across the country, ushering in a new era in animated features. Unfortunately, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" only managed to open in one theater that December, but it soon became a worldwide hit. We talk to an author and film expert about why this Disney movie is so special, the ups and downs Walt Disney and his staff went through to create it, and the innovations in film animation that made "Snow White" a much beloved film even 75 years after its premiere.

December 16, 2012 at 5:50 a.m.
The Platform – Holiday Pet Safety
Duration: 0:27:01

Dr. Jen Chatfield joins the program to talk about your pets this holiday's season and the dangers they could be facing without you knowing it. She discusses hazards in your house, what not to feed your pet and ideas for keeping the furry friends happy when guests come over.

December 23, 5:21 a.m.
Viewpoints Segment #1 – General Sherman's Christmas
Duration: 0:12:16 minutes

Host: Christopher Michael. Guests: Stanley Weintraub, Professor Emeritus of the Arts & Humanities, Penn State University, author of "General Sherman's Christmas: Savannah, 1864,"

In December, 1864, General William Tecumseh Sherman was marching toward Savannah, Georgia, ready to meet Confederate troops head on. His men were stealing provisions from plantations and farm houses they passed; freed slaves were marching alongside the federal army that could not house or feed them; the people of Savannah were preparing for attack. We'll find out how two generals – one Union and one Confederate – spared the beautiful southern city and its residents from the horrors of destruction.

December 30, 5:21 a.m.
Viewpoints Segment #2 – Climate Change: Looking for signs; deciding what's important
Duration: 0:11:37 minutes

*Host: Marty Peterson. Guests: James Lewis, Professor and Chair of the Department of Biological Sciences, Fordham Univ. NY (www.fordham.edu); Daniel Botkin, biologist, author of The Moon in the Nautilus Shell: Discordant harmonies reconsidered,"*

There is no doubt that the climate around the world is changing. You just have to look at the frequency and intensity of storms; the fluctuation in temperatures in the winter and summer; the early blooming of trees and disappearance of ice in arctic regions. We talk to two scientists about the signs of climate change, what they mean to plants, animals and their habitats, and what we, as a planet, can and want to do to mitigate the effects of climate change.
