Synopsis:	U.S. Senator Gillibrand of New York is pushing for more federal dollars to be provided towards struggling restaurants, amid the pandemic. She's backing legislation that has bi-partisan support called the restaurant revitalization fund replacement act, which would add $60 billion towards funding already put into place through the American Rescue Plan. Gillibrand says less than a third of applicants have received the monies due to them.

Synopsis:	Local landlords are joining a class-action lawsuit on New York's eviction moratorium, which was extended last week until January 15th. Property Manager Michelle McClelland says it seems as though the responsibility has been put on landlords rather than state officials. The Hochul Administration promised several benefits to both landlords and tenants in the new eviction moratorium bill, but landlords remain skeptical because federal rent relief dollars are still waiting to be distributed and the burden of proof now lies with property managers, who must have evidence showing their tenants are falsely claiming benefits.

Synopsis:	A Pa. politician is proposing legislation giving minors the right to choose for themselves whether they want a COVID-19 vaccination. Pennsylvania, like most states, requires parental consent before a minor can get inoculated. State Senator Amanda Cappelletti's bill would give minors the ability to make their own vaccination decisions, regardless of their parents' wishes. She'll host a press conference today to discuss the measure.

Synopsis:	In New York, Governor Kathy Hochul has ordered all flags at state buildings to be flown at half-staff today in honor of the Americans and Afghans that lost their lives yesterday. She called the terrorism a "cowardly attack on innocent civilians and selfless service members." Meanwhile, Gov. Hochul has officially introduced her new lieutenant governor.State Senator Brian Benjamin. New York State GOP Chair Nick Langworthy says Hochul just doubled down on the Democrats' dangerous agenda by appointing a leftist who supports defunding the police. Benjamin will be officially sworn-in at a later date.

Synopsis:	Does Anything Really Threaten the Faith? The answer is no, according to today's Inside Out guest, Dr. John Mark Yeats. The Gospel is stronger than we give it credit for. Jesus told us that He would build His Church and not even the gates of Hell will prevail against it (Matthew 16:17-19), so nothing we think of as a threat will defeat it.

Synopsis:	What might it take to welcome special-needs families into your church? As churches re-think ministry to their communities after the pandemic, Sandra Peoples hopes they'll take steps to welcome families with members who have special needs. "The COVID season opened people's eyes to isolation and what special-needs families and adults with disabilities experience when they are isolated," she says. Peoples is an author and a seminary-trained inclusion-coordinator for her church. She's also a member of a special-needs family—both as a mother and as a sibling. She believes that remembering that isolated feeling during the pandemic can inspire churches to reach out to those whose circumstances make it difficult to join with others.
