

QUARTERLY ISSUES REPORT

July 1, 2023 – September 30, 2023

KLZZ-FM, KMXK-FM, KXXS-AM, KZRV-FM, WWJO-FM, WJON-AM

Saint Cloud, Minnesota

Section I: Issues

Each station has identified the following issues facing our community this quarter.

- A. Mental Health: In June the Minnesota Legislature passed a $6.2 billion dollar health and human services bill that considers the hiring of more mental health experts, funding the 988-suicide lifeline. The bill also according to the Minnesota Reformer gives $14-million to school-linked behavioral health programs. These include community mental health providers partnering with their local schools to provide mental health services for students. The $14 million funds grants to the providers, who are then in a better position to aid uninsured and low-income students.
- B. Agriculture: This year in Minnesota and across the Midwest a drought has been affecting many growing cash crops, including corn and soybeans. At the peak of the drought, Minnesota farmers had to pick between risking their livelihoods by forgoing crop insurance, or taking the insurance payment and hoping it is enough to get by into next year.
- C. Personal Finance: In May of 2023 A bill passed before the legislative session ended quietly added a course on personal finance to the curriculum. Beginning in fall 2024, it will be a requirement for high school graduation to learn how to balance your budget. The Financial Literacy Coalition of Minnesota says the class could be a life-changing one, particularly for lower-income and at-risk students. Minnesota is the 20th state in the US to require personal finance class for graduation.
- D. Cannabis Legalization: In August of 2023 Minnesota legalized the sale of recreational marijuana. It was the 23rd US state to legalize cannabis, and St. Cloud has put a moratorium on new cannabis-based businesses until regulation has been established in MN.
- E. Retail Trends: According to McKinsey online in early 2023, “44% of frontline retail workers we considering leaving their jobs in the next 6 months”. Currently there are lots of open jobs in Central Minnesota with seemingly no one to fill them, and starting in October, student loan repayments that had been paused by COVID are going back into collections. Will more Minnesotans take on part time jobs to pay their loans off?

1:47	SEG. 1: "95 PERCENT LEFT TO DISCOVER": THE PEOPLE TASKED WITH UNCOVERING THE MANY MYSTERIES OF OUR UNIVERSE	7:53
	Synopsis: We speak with Egyptian-American astrophysicist Sarafina El-Badry Nance about her experience earning a PhD in astrophysics. Before specializing in this field, she had to gain a good understanding of math, physics, and astronomy. She openly shares that these subjects never came naturally to her and it took a lot of hard work to get where she is today. Now, she's speaking out about the barrier to entry in these fields and the importance of greater inclusion and opportunities for those who've been historically excluded. Host: Gary Price. Guest: Sarafina El-Badry Nance, astrophysicist, PhD Candidate, University of California-Berkeley, author, Starstruck: A Memoir of Astrophysics and Finding Light in the Dark . 	Synopsis: When you imagine who's a runner – who do you picture? Most Americans would describe a person who's lean, muscled, and fits into a certain body type category. Martinus Evans, runner, author & founder of the Slow A-F Run Club, is hoping to break this way of thinking. He argues that anyone – at any body size – can be a consistent runner. Evans shares his story of how he got into running and embodies his own mantra as a 300-pound-man who's run eight marathons. Host: Marty Peterson. Guest: Martinus Evans, runner, founder, Slow A-F Run Club, author, Slow A-F Run Club: The Ultimate Guide for Anyone Who Wants to Run .
