2.1	Economy	6AM	4/2/2022	96 Seconds	2 NEWS Today Weekend Edition	U-S employers adding 431 thousand jobs in the month of March, with unemployment rate falling to 3.6%, that's nearly back to pre-pandemic levels. The President saying the hiring trend means fewer worker shortages. Inflation remains the top issue for a majority of Americans, with many workers seeing their wage increases swallowed up by rising prices. President Biden is moving to reduce the burden. His administration will release a record million barrels of oil a day from the nation's strategic reserves over the next six months. His administration today announcing new fuel economy standards, requiring 2026 model year vehicles get an average 49 miles to the gallon, nearly 10 miles per gallon better than last year's models.
2.1	Environment	4:30AM	4/1/2022	79 Seconds	2 NEWS Today	A band of deadly storms continues to batter the South East. In the Florida panhandle two people were killed and another two injured in what local authorities believe was a tornado. A tornado also touched down in Chelsea Alabama, leaving damaged homes and fallen trees in its wake. And in Mississippi storms damaged a church roof. Many are still bracing for more damage as the weather system moves east.

2.1 Crime	6AM	4/2/2022	92 Seconds	2 NEWS Today Weekend Edition	Friday Attorney General Merrick Garland announced the Department of Justice is charging 12 people in conspiracy to illegally traffic roughly 90 guns between Illinois and Tennessee. Many of the guns were later used in a deadly mass shooting in Chicago. Friday's announcement comes as the Biden Administration and specifically the Attorney General launch a larger effort to try and crack down on violent crime across the country. President Biden's new budget includes, 1 point 7 billion for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives. Garland is also asking Congress for 3 billion dollars for local grant funding to help cities like Chicago.
2.1 Economy	4PM	4/6/2022	106 Seconds	First @ 4	Shoppers are pinching pennies as inflation continues to soar, and fears of a recession are on the rise. According to new data, consumers are buying more generic store brands for the first time in almost two years, choosing cheaper versions of cooking oil, eggs, sugar, toilet paper and baby formula. And shoppers are purchasing smaller amounts of products like cereal and cleaning supplies, as inflation remains at a 40 year high. Families are making cuts to afford those rising grocery and gas bills. With inflation sky high, Goldman Sachs now puts the odds of a recession at 38 percent in the next 2 years. Last week, changes in the bond market signaled a possible economic slowdown. Recessions usually trigger widespread job cuts and unemployment. But Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell says he's trying to prevent that by raising interest rates gradually this year.
2.1 Politics	4:30AM	4/7/2022	60 Seconds	2 NEWS Today	President Joe Biden signed a bill Wednesday that will overhaul the U.S. Postal Service. "The Postal Service Reform Act of 2022" will ensure mail delivery six days a week. The Bill also says the Postal Service must develop an online dashboard to track service performance and report regularly on its operations and finances. Congress mustered a bipartisan support with the House approving the Bill last month, and the Senate sent it to Biden's desk on Tuesday.

2.1 Economy	6PM	4/10/2022	99 Seconds	2 NEWS @ 6PM	Former Treasury Secretary Larry Summers says Americans may need to brace for a recession as early as next year. Summers says the only hope is the Federal Reserve, if it can find a way to raise interest rates and gently slow down business investment and consumer spending. On Fox News Sunday White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki said the Biden Administration is working to combat historic inflation. But she says many Americans still need help recovering from the pandemic. This week the Administration extended the Federal Pause on student loan payments through August. Senate Republican Leader Mitch McConnell says delaying payments only adds more fuel to the fire.
2.1 Crime	4PM	4/13/2022	103 Seconds	First @ 4	Building trust and enhancing community relations, those are the driving forces behind a plan to reorganize the Dayton Police Department. This plan will create new divisions within the department with a Major overseeing each division. The restructuring also includes the creation of geographic beats, which will put the same group of officers in the same area of Dayton, hoping to foster more trust with people living in those neighborhoods. This plan is part of the Police Department's ongoing push for reform and was designed with input from the community. Something city leaders felt was crucial moving forward.
2.1 Environment	4:30AM	4/19/2022	77 Seconds	2 NEWS Today	Confusion over mask ruling not in all airlines dropping mandates in airports and transit hubs across America. Mass confusion over the mask mandate. It covered airplanes, boats, trains and busses. United Airlines and Alaska Airlines announcing that masks are no longer required, effective immediately. Two years into the pandemic, the ruling seems to put an end to an era marked by heated public debate, and unruly passengers often arguing about masks. The mandate was set to expire, but the CDC extended it until May 3, to study the impact of the Omicron subvariant. The Justice Department and the CDC, not commenting about if the government will appeal.

2.1 Politics		4:30AM	4/25/2022	107 Secomds	2 NEWS Today	Elation underneath the Eiffel Tower tonight, Emmanuel Macron's followers celebrating the first French President to be re-elected in 20 years. A French vote for continuity amid the turmoil of war in Europe, and for President Biden one less thing to worry about. Biden and Macron see the World in similar ways. Marine LePen's supporters devastated, it was an unprecedented showing for a far tight candidate, underscoring deep frustrations across France over domestic issues like inflation, but tonight they booted the result. LePen's past Praise for President Putin weakening her appeal, Macron had compared a victory for her with the election of President Trump and Brexit. Tonight she promised not to abandon the French people, but it is the third time they have rejected her populist politics, instead choosing a leader whose election slogan was, all together.
2.1 Politics		4PM	4/25/2022	124 Seconds	First @ 4	Republican lawmakers visiting Eagle Pass, Texas today, drawing attention to what they see as a crisis on the border that will only be exacerbated by the Biden Administration's plans to end "Title 42", a public health policy that allows for the expedited removal of migrants at the U.S.-Mexico border during the Covid-19 pandemic. That measure, put in place by the Trump Administration, has blocked more than 1.7 million attempts to cross the Southern Border. Congressman Michael McCaul (R-TX) Title 42 being lifted means 500,000 over the next five weeks. My State of Texas, we just simply can't absorb this. Arizona Senator Mark Kelly warning "that this administration's lack of a plan to deal with this crisis will burther strain our border communities." The White House says they are preparing.
2.1 Environment		5PM	4/26/2022	60 Secinds	Five on 2	An E-F Zero tornado was confirmed in the Eaton Township in Lorain County, according to Cleveland's National Weather Service. It is one of the areas hit hardest by the storms, that ripped the roof from a storage facility. Several cars were also damaged. So far, no injuries have been reported.
2.1 Politics		5PM	4/27/2022	140 Seconds	Five on 2	With less than a month until Title 42 expires, Homeland Security Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas says they are expecting a surge of migrants. But he says his department has a plan to deal with the increase by streamlining asylum claims and boosting their border presence. Senator James Lankford says it's the wrong approach. Since the start of the pandemic, Title 42 has blocked migrants seeking asylum at the Southern Border. Republicans like Senator Todd Young say lifting the policy next month will cause chaos, and some prominent democrats agree. But others like Congressmen Pete Aguilar and Bennie Thompson are glad to see it go. Secretary Mayorkas says it's on Congress to make that happen.

2.1 Economy	4PM	4/29/2022	110 Seconds	First @ 4	State Senator Steve Huffman who represents the Tipp City area wants Ohio to join a group of states that do not have an income tax. The plan would expand on policies already in place. Since 2011, the State cut its nine tax brackets down to five, with its highest tax rate now just under four percent. Huffman says the Senate is still generating revenue despite the gradual decreases. The proposal would continue the gradual decrease of 10 percent each year over 10 years until the State Income Tax is fully eliminated. But how would that offset that revenue? Experts say there are several ways to make up the money. Huffman believes eliminating the State Income Tax would generate enough growth and keep more money in the pockets of Ohioans.
2.1 Economy	1P	5/2/2022	110 Seconds	First @ 4	As the economy is shrinking, so are peoples wallets, which are being drained by everything from soaring prices for staples like milk and eggs, to fuel for your car. It's forcing parents like Yolanda Alexander to make difficult choices. The mother of two, just had a new 200-dollar rent hike kick in. Yolanda Alexander, "I don't fill my gas tank up as much or put enough in to get me to where I need to be and to get me back home. As far as groceries? No, I don't buy the normal amount of groceries as I normally would." Many Americans are cutting out extras, Amazon's most recent quarterly sales reflected the company's slowest growth since 2001. And Netflix lost subscribers for the first time in more than a decade. Still economists say overall consumer spending is still strong, everything from flights and family trips, to fast food. Domestic spending actually accelerated in the first quarter, absent the government, that kind of resilience and that acceleration is also what helped to fuel inflation to its highest level in four decades.
2.1 Health/Healthcare	SPM	4/29/2022	98 Seconds	Five on 2	The FDA is hoping to reduce disease and death by unveiling a plan to ban menthol flavored cigarettes and all flavored cigars. Menthol is a flavor added to reduce irritation and harshness of smoking. And some groups use these tobacco products more than others. Right now, it's estimated nearly 18.6 million people in the U.S. smoke menthol cigarettes. The FDA believes this ban could prevent hundreds of thousands of those people from dying. But local health leaders don't want people to wait for it to be enforced, they urge smokers to get help quitting as soon as possible

But Sheriff Rob Streck says we're still a long way from declaring victory over the opioid epidemic. One way communities across the country try to fight back against addiction is with National Prescription Drug Take Back Day. The event encourages people to go through their cabinets and clean out unused and unwanted medications and dispose of them properly, preventing them from falling in the wrong hands. Sheriff Streck says the event highlights how dangerous abuse of prescription medications can be. The events are completely anonymous, and will accept prescription drugs, over the counter medications and veterinary medications. They do not accept liquids or syringes. Central Ohio got hit with some severe storms and this is just some of the damage left behind. 2.1 Health/Healthcare	5PM	5/13/2022	120 Seconds	Five on 2	For millions of parents the frantic search for formula is getting closer to home. And the shortage is growing. 43 percent of the nations baby formula supply is out of stock. Overright the White House announced new steps to address the crisis, as President Biden met with retailers and manufacturers, including Walmart, Target, Reckitt and Gerber. The new measures include increasing imports of formula, cutting red tape and asking regulators and states to crack down on price gouging. But the White House acknowledged it didn't have a time line for when parents can expect to see results on the shelves. For families, the need is dire. According to the CDC only 25% of infants consume only breast milk through their first 6 months, and many rely on specific formula brands. Inventories are now so low that some major stores have put limits on how much baby formula you can buy at a time. The months long shortage comes from a voluntary recall by manufacturer Abbott Nutrition that prompted the shutdown of a major plant, all of it made worse by supply chain issues.

2.1 Health/Healthcare	6PM	5/15/2022	132 Seconds	2 NEWS @ 6PM	Why does insulin cost so much money? It's a question, Senator Dick Durbin says is burdening families nationwide. Kerry Thomas and her two year old Kaitlin were amoung those joining Durbin at the Rush South Loop Clinic in a push for the "Affordable Insulin Now Act" which would cap the price for a bottle of insulin at 35 dollars a month for most Americans. He says an estimated 8 million Americans, a quarter million in Illinois, depend on insulin to manage their blood sugar. But managing this costs forces many families to ration doses. Ahead of the midterm elections, the Democrats' broader agenda to lower prescription drug prices remains stalled. The insulin bill passed the House in March with bipartisan support but the Senate is still negotiating a compromise.

2.1 Economy	4PM	6/10/2022	119 Seconds	First @ 4	Everything's expensive, food prices, gas prices. But perhaps worst, the squeeze at the gas station, which is only getting tighter. With the National average now higher than it's ever been, almost five dollars a gallon, with no relief in sight. It's the most visible sign of the Nation's soaring inflation with rates near 40-year highs, hitting every corner of the country. Experts say compared to last year, the average household is now paying $450 dollars more per month for the same goods. Mark Zandi Chief Economist, Moody's Analytics, "Well it's very painful, right? I mean you gotta make a hard choice, do I fill up my gas tank, do I buy my groceries, do I pay my rent? In the first quarter of 2022, household wealth dropped for the first time in two years, down from last year's record high. Experts say the fundamentals of the economy remain sound, with unemployment at near record lows. Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen, speaking from a policy forum, says she thinks a recession can be avoided. Still, a recent poll shows nearly 2/3 of Americans are not optimistic, and only expect inflation to get worse.
2.1 Politics	4:30AM	6/13/2022	71 Seconds	2 NEWS Today	The January 6th committee revealing a key witness to testify tomorrow, Former President Trump's 2020 Campaign Manager Bill Stepien. The Committee forcing him to testify by subpoena, stating last November that he 'supervised the conversion' of the 2020 campaign operation into a disinformation campaign to overturn the election. Chris Stirewalt, former FOX News Political Editor, "I was asked to testify. And I gotta go. Stirewalt coming under fire from the former President after defending the network's decision to call Arizona for then-candidate Biden, the first major signal Trump would lose his re-election bid. Tomorrow's hearing expected to focus on how the deadly attack on the Capitol was no spontaneous riot, but the direct result of the former President's misinformation. Members confident their nearly year-long probe has produced sufficient evidence for a criminal indictment.
