The idea of manufacturing as a dirty and dangerous workplace is far from the truth today. As automation has expanded in manufacturing, many industries today resemble laboratories more than manufacturing plants.

As a manufacturing worker, your job duties could typically include producing products on a daily basis, assembling parts and working to help a plant meet production and financial goals for its organization.

This 25-hour course will prepare individuals with three valuable certifications commonly needed in manufacturing: Forklift (PIV) Driving, Six Sigma Yellowbelt, and OSHA 10 for General Industry.

For schedule information, or to register, please contact Lakischi Livingston at Lakischi.Livingston@fdtc.edu or 843-413-2719.

Time: 10:00 AM – 5:00 PM

North Carolina's Black Mountain College was an experimental and progressive landmark in American art. Its founders and faculty were among the most memorable men in 20th century art history: Josef Albers, Robert Rauschenberg, Buckminster Fuller, Willem de Kooning, Philip Cage, Merce Cunningham. But what about the women? Using twenty-seven artworks in a broad range of media, including painting, textiles, sculpture, ceramics, and photography, this exhibit explores the unhailed role of women artists at Black Mountain, whose own legacies often remain eclipsed by their male contemporaries.

This exhibit will be on display from March 6 through July 22.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday – Saturday and 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.
