KETKY: October 26, 2016 at 2:30 AM ET

The above programs were either produced, funded or acquired and scheduled by KET. The list does not take into account the educational programs KET airs during the day and overnight. This list also does not take into account numerous programs fed from PBS, many of which cover the topics above. As noted, many of these programs air at various times throughout the week after their original broadcast on the KET network of channels: KET, KET2 and KET KY (The Kentucky Channel).

KET polled its viewers in March and April 2016 to find out what issues in the State were of concern to them. The resulting priority list - with the Environment taking the top spot, followed closely by the Education, the Economy and Health - was culled from the results of that poll of over 650 respondents, which took place via online voting and via mail. The priority list basically remained the same from the previous year's polling with the exception of the Economy and Health categories swapping places (the Economy was fourth on the list of priorities and it is now in third place with Health slipping back to the fourth position.) Viewers will be polled again in March and April 2017 in order to update this priority list and plan productions for future months.

During this last quarter, KET continued to carry Legislative coverage for the various committee meetings that were scheduled outside of the regular Legislative session. KET also provided forums for the major political races in the state.

Undoubtedly KET's largest effort in our public affairs productions over the last quarter has been the continuation of our year-long "Inside Opioid Addiction" initiative. From covering the 2016 National Rx Drug Abuse & Heroin Summit in Atlanta to traveling to Washington DC to interview lawmakers, doctors and scientists, KET is producing a wide diversity of programs all geared at stemming the growing opioid addiction problem in the state. Using all of our weekly productions – "Kentucky Tonight," "One to One with Bill Goodman," "Kentucky Health," and "Connections with Renee Shaw" – our plan is to fully examine the issues and challenges of this national epidemic and provide some solutions for those in Kentucky. An episode of "HealthThree60" this quarter tackled this subject in December with an examination of pain management without addiction.

Education continues to be our primary mission and as part of our ongoing efforts to create more awareness of academic issues, we examined the use of technology in our schools as it relates to preparing students for future employment.

For the past two years, KET has been recording the words and memories of Kentucky Vietnam War veterans and in November, we premiered a new two-hour documentary – "Kentucky Veterans of the Vietnam War: In Their Own Words" – that told the storied history of this conflict and the lives that were changed because of it. We screened the documentary for a number of Veterans' groups and the response was overwhelmingly positive.

KET aired a number of specials that were provided by independent producers during this quarter. "Inside Northern Kentucky" is a continuing monthly series that profiles the events and activities taking place in the top of the state. Other productions included "O' Appalachia: Art and Self-Taught Artists," which looked at the homegrown artists in Kentucky, and "My Ancestral Kentucky Home with James Sleet" which followed an African-American man as he tried to discover his ancestry.

KET continues using its statewide digital channel, the Kentucky Channel (KET KY), to feature a diverse variety of programming by, for and about Kentuckians. From live legislative coverage in Frankfort, to Kentucky arts and music programs, documentaries about the history of the Commonwealth, and programs about the issues that affect all citizens, from health to the economy, The Kentucky Channel was designed specifically for the viewers of Kentucky. Utilizing KET's program archives and current production projects, along with productions from independent producers around the state, partnering broadcast entities, and a variety of other sources, the Kentucky Channel provides Kentucky programming 24/7.
