Vitalant is the new brand for Central Blood Bank. We are the community's leading non-profit blood donation organization. We provide blood to both the Allegheny Health Network and UPMC, so when you donate at one of our blood donation centers or blood drives, you can feel proud that your blood will stay here in our community.

Those hospital systems require about 600 units of blood and blood products every day. But due to the pandemic and other factors, area blood donors are only providing about half of what is needed.

The sudden and severe interruption to the national and international economy has affected countless households, leading to unemployment, furloughs, and business closures. Without the regular income, even with a portion available through unemployment insurance, these households have likewise fallen behind on paying bills, submitting loan payments, and staying up on regular expenses.

It comes as no surprise to anyone that the pandemic has left many families in financial shambles. We discuss consumer options of either avoiding bankruptcy or filing for bankruptcy.

Community Options believes in the dignity of every person, and in the freedom of all people to experience the highest degree of self-determination. Embracing this philosophy, Community Options works with individuals with significant disabilities through residential services, day programs, social enterprises that employ individuals with disabilities, high school transition programs, and specialized programs for respite and medically fragile adults. As a national agency, Community Options seeks to promote the inclusion of people with disabilities in the community through person centered and natural supports, and collaboration with community partners to increase accessibility to services. Community Options does not administer any large congregate programs, recognizing that people with the most severe disabilities need environments, equipment, clinical and staff support that are tailored to their very specific needs. In its history, the agency has developed a reputation for quality, cost effective administration that encourages individual choice and flexibility.
