DISCUSSION; As for customers in West Virginia:

Assistance to qualifying customers is available through the Dollar Energy Fund, the West Virginia Emergency Assistance Program, the Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP), and the West Virginia 20 Percent Discount Program. Dollar Energy Fund is an emergency hardship fund designed to help residential customers restore or maintain electric service. LIEAP is administered by the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources (DHHR). Mon Power and Potomac Edison residential customers also can manage their electric bills through the Average Payment Plan (APP). With APP, customers can make consistent monthly payments to avoid seasonal highs and lows in their electric bills. To apply or learn more about other company programs, visit www.firstenergycorp.com/billassist or call 800-686-0022.

In addition to the payment options, a Medical Certification program is also available. An appropriate health care professional must complete a Medical Certification Form describing the resident's medical condition enabling additional notification prior to termination.

Mon Power and Potomac Edison also offer a program called Third Party Notification where a relative, friend, clergy, or social service agency can be notified along with the customer if electric service is about to be disconnected. The third party is not obligated to pay the overdue bills but can help make payment arrangements for the customer who might have difficulty paying their bill.

SUBJECT: Nominations for Greatest Generation Documentary

DISCUSSION; Fort Hill's Historical Research Methods class is requesting nominations for their upcoming documentary film on the Greatest Generation. The Greatest Generation has had a profound impact on American history and includes those who were born between 1910 - 1940 and who experienced major events such as the Great Depression and World War II during the early years of their lives. This generation would be shaped by these great historical events and would go on to lead incredible lives of resiliency, service, and dedication to our community and nation that would have an unfathomable mark on our history. Unfortunately, we are beginning to lose them. All nominations will be reviewed by the Fort Hill Historical Research Methods class. From these nominees, six will be chosen to be featured in the documentary. While not all nominees will be featured in the documentary, the class plans to honor every nominee at the documentary premiere in May. The exact date will be determined in the spring. Unfortunately, we have already begun to lose a large part of this generation, therefore, one of the six spots will be reserved to honor someone posthumously. Please feel free to nominate someone for that honor. Those nominees selected to be featured in the documentary will be video interviewed by students in the class. The students will also need photographs from this person's life that can be used to help tell their story in the documentary. Nomination Forms can be completed by doing one of the following:

- Link Directly to the Form: <https://goo.gl/forms/rIvC3HTQY4HWOCiO2>
- Visit <http://forthillhs.com> and click on the "CALL FOR NOMINATIONS" link on the Home Page

DISCUSSION; Fort Hill's Historical Research Methods class is requesting nominations for their upcoming documentary film on the Greatest Generation. The Greatest Generation has had a profound impact on American history and includes those who were born between 1910 - 1940 and who experienced major events such as the Great Depression and World War II during the early years of their lives. This generation would be shaped by these great historical events and would go on to lead incredible lives of resiliency, service, and dedication to our community and nation that would have an unfathomable mark on our history. Unfortunately, we are beginning to lose them. All nominations will be reviewed by the Fort Hill Historical Research Methods class. From these nominees, six will be chosen to be featured in the documentary. While not all nominees will be featured in the documentary, the class plans to honor every nominee at the documentary premiere in May. The exact date will be determined in the spring. Unfortunately, we have already begun to lose a large part of this generation, therefore, one of the six spots will be reserved to honor someone posthumously. Please feel free to nominate someone for that honor. Those nominees selected to be featured in the documentary will be video interviewed by students in the class. The students will also need photographs from this person's life that can be used to help tell their story in the documentary. Nomination Forms can be completed by doing one of the following:
