Issue: Update on Haiti earthquake

Discussion: Kate Michel, of radio station 4VEH in Cap-Haitien, updated listeners on the Haiti earthquake that occurred Sunday, Aug 15, 2021 . 24 people were discovered alive in the rubble and rescue is still happening. Because of poor infrastructure, reaching those who need help is difficult. Keep praying for Haiti because God is not absent in suffering, Kate reminded us. 4VEH is the only radio station on air in the earthquake area. This is a new area for 4VEH on the air since December. They give updates and have extended prayer times on air. Food, emergency needs and solar radios are being handed out.

Issue: Art Tuesday with Sementha Matthews

Discussion: Sementha invited listeners to the first Score-Classical Music Appreciation concert "tonight". Waft listeners had an opportunity to "score" a pair of tickets if they were the first 5 to call Sementha. Tonight's guest is Adam Frey on the euphonium. Miya Suen will accompany on the piano. School 5th graders attend the Turner Art Center as part of their school year. They will attend today and hear Adam and Miya personally. Score is made possible by a grant from the NEA and matching sponsorship from Dan and Carolyn Coleman. Sementha also invited us to the 2nd Friday Music in the Art Park with Creeksiders. Food and beverage trucks will be available. People are urged to bring chairs or blankets for these free events. Sponsors make these Music under the Stars free events. Classes at the Turner Art Center include pottery, painting, ukulele and guitar lessons. FMI turnercenter.org
