Understanding America's Debt Crisis	July 25	(C3) US only	28:30

Host: Jim Daly and John Fuller

Guest: Senator Tom Coburn

Description: United States Senator Tom Coburn (R-OK) is a retired physician and three-time cancer survivor, who believes in term limits for politicians. His reasons include problems such as careerism, special interests, gerrymandering, partisanship and parochialism. He finds that the desire to win an election above all else and to stay in that office as long as possible, along with the lust for power that trumps previously noble aspirations, are all players in America's ever-increasing debt. Senator Coburn discusses America's mounting debt with our host, Focus president, Jim Daly. They suggest what concerned citizens can do address the problem--attend town hall meetings; write letters to senators and congressmen and vote for fiscally responsible politicians.
