

Aldi Issues Cream Cheese Recall --- 5/15/2024

Aldi is issuing a cream cheese recall due to potential salmonella. The Germany-based grocery chain is recalling eight ounce portions of its Happy Farms Whipped Cream Cheese Spread, Chive & Onion Cream Cheese Spread, Cream Cheese Spread, and Strawberry Cream Cheese Spread products. The affected products were sold in Washington, DC and 28 states, and have various sell-by dates between August 30 and September 15, 2024. The recall is out of an abundance of caution and is in cooperation with Schreiber Foods, Inc. Anyone who purchased the products should throw them out or return them for a refund.

CHP to host human trafficking awareness training in Santa Maria --- 5/15/2024

The California Highway Patrol is working to better prevent human trafficking, specifically here on the Central Coast. The CHP is launching their comprehensive Human Trafficking Awareness Training for the public to attend. Officials say the initiative aims to equip individuals and communities with the knowledge and skills necessary to identify, prevent, and respond to instances of human trafficking. Its a crime exploiting vulnerable individuals for labor, sex, and other forms of exploitation. The training program provides community members with a deep understanding of the various forms of trafficking, the tactics employed by traffickers, and the signs to watch for in potential victims. Participants will take part in informative modules, personal stories, and real-world case studies, to gain practical insights into the complexities of human trafficking and learn how to take action within their communities. The training is free and open to anyone. There are two opportunities to attend this training tomorrow (May 16th) from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. or 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. at Allan Hancock College in Building F. Parking is free in parking lot 9.

Mass casualty drill to be held at the SLO County Airport this week ---

5/15/2024

The San Luis Obispo County Airport will be conducting a mass casualty incident drill today. The training complies with Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulations. The primary objective of the drill is to test and enhance the emergency response capabilities of the airport in the event of a mass casualty incident. There will be several agencies and emergency response teams participating in the drill to ensure a coordinated and effective response. Members of the public may notice an increased presence of first responders on and around the airport. This activity is related to the drill and does not indicate any actual emergency. The public may also notice smoke and fire visible during the drill.

>>CA Highway Reopening Ahead Of Schedule After Collapse

(Monterey County, CA) -- Major progress to report on the collapse of a famous California road. Highway One is reopening Friday morning, eight days sooner than expected. Governor Newsom says crews have been working day and night to repair the collapse on Easter weekend. That's when a huge chunk of road fell down a cliff and into the ocean during heavy rain, cutting off access between Carmel and Big Sur. A signal has been installed so traffic can alternate in both directions while crews start work on the next phase of repairs.
