

As a non-commercial broadcaster, Minnesota Public Radio does not sell commercial time of any kind, including commercial time to candidates for political office.

MPR has received no requests for political time.