Issues and Needs covered by KVII

Serving the Public's Interest

First, Pronews 7 attended a career education fair on May 13th at Bushland Elementary School. We had an anchor and meteorologist at the fair to help educate kids about working in the media.

KVII dedicated a great deal of air time to a fundraising effort on behalf of Martha's Home. Martha's Home is a local shelter that helps recovering and abused women get back on their feet. Pronews 7 featured educational pieces on their program and did live shots from four different restaurants who were donating their profits to the home on certain nights. We helped raise well over $3,000 dollars for the organization. That money will be used to help expand their shelter, allowing them to help more women.

KVII did a similar effort for the "24 Hours in the Canyon" bike race. The race raises money for the Harrington Cancer Center, the money funds mammograms for women who might not otherwise be able to afford them. Through live shots and educational new stories, we helped the event raise the most money ever, over $100,000.

The Amarillo School district kicked off a major campaign aimed at raising awareness of the penalties of hosting underage drinking parties. KVII publicized the campaign effort and broadcast those penalties.

Amarillo saw a rash of home invasion robberies in early May of 2010. Working with the Amarillo Police Department, KVII warned people and gave our viewers tips that might help prevent them from becoming a victim.

The Better Business Bureau sent out a warning about certain loan scams. The scams require you to send money to get money, they wanted to warn people about them...so we helped them out.

We continue to air a fugitive of the week, which is a feature on a local wanted fugitive given to us by the Amarillo Police Department.

There has been a lot of construction in Amarillo and the surrounding towns, we have routinely updated what roads will be closed when.
