PROGRAM SOURCE: Focus on The Family, Colorado Springs, Colorado

PROGRAM HOST: Jim Daly and John Fuller

Dr. Ireland noted how a number of cities have created a commission that was very cross cultural, very diverse, and they allowed that commission then to look at the individual statues that were being brought into question. In doing so, looking through the lens of diversity, they are able to arrive at something that's fair to each party. Then the decision becomes one that's good for the community. He reminded those that heard the broadcast that when we look at our cultural divides on a practical level, suddenly we realize we're cross cultural and diverse, and before we know it people that are a different race, ethnicity, culture come up to you and they feel safe to talk to you about things that may have happened to them.
