KUUL
Quarterly Issues/Programs List

KUUL provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- arts, cancer survival, disabilities, blood donation: Daniel Sheridan from Junior Theatre talks about what's ahead for the new theater and location, as well as the importance of arts in the community. Lexi Bull talks about the Angerer Eats and Live From The QC It's Saturday Night fundraisers for Gilda's Club Quad Cities. Jennifer Davis talks about Special Olympics Illinois and the impact the organization has on people with disabilities.
- arts, cancer survival, mental health: Daniel Sheridan from Junior Theatre talks about what's ahead as they try to find a new place. Daniel Sheridan also talks about the importance of the arts to the community. Emily Schrank from Davenport Central High School continues the discussion of the arts and a show choir event coming up and how both sides of the river can show their support for our youth and the arts. Kelly Craft gives an update on Gilda's Club Quad Cities' fundraising efforts and talks about the various programs that Gilda's Club offers, free of charge, to patients and families as they battle cancer.
- cancer awareness, health, law enforcement: Robert Ginyard, Former Chairman of the Board of Directors for Zero Prostate Cancer. Robert Ginyard shares his personal experience battling prostate cancer and discusses Zero Prostate Cancer's mission to bring awareness, advocacy, and resources to the fight against prostate cancer. Bill Alexander, CEO of the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial Fund. Bill Alexander discusses a new report on law enforcement line-of-duty deaths for 2023, along with the NLEOMF's work recognizing those who died while serving and providing resources and training to agencies nationwide.
- economic development, tourism, heart disease, public health: Dave Herrell, CEO of Visit Quad Cities, talks about the NCAA Missouri Valley Conference Women's Basketball "Hoops In The Heartland Tournament" and "QC Restaurant Week," two major Quad City events that bring tourists to the Quad Cities region and spur economic growth. Cathy Brandt and Scott Nauman talk about the upcoming Quad Cities Heart Walk, which raises money for the American Heart Association of the Quad Cities. Cathy also discusses efforts to educate the public about heart health and heart disease prevention.
- employment, economy, veterans affairs, health, heart disease: CayLeah Blaine from Junior Achievement of the Heartland discusses their need for more volunteers, as they help junior high and high school students better understand business and the careers available in the business field. Lola VanDeWalle from QC Veterans Outreach discusses programs available for veterans in the Quad Cities. She also talked about an upcoming run that is a fundraiser for the program. Cathy Brandt and Scott Nauman discussed the upcoming Quad Cities Heart Walk and how the money raised is used to fight heart disease in the Quad Cities.
- employment, workforce, education, cancer survival, mental health: Julian Vandervelde from Shaw Electric in Davenport, Iowa, talks about the need for young people (and not so young people) to join the trades and the challenges of helping young people find the right trade for their talents. Kelly Craft from Gilda's Club Quad Cities talks about some of the events coming up in the next few weeks, as well as ways that Gilda's Club helps people and their families going through a cancer battle.
- gardening, food insecurity, poverty, health, wetlands conservation: Tracy Jo Mulliken from the University of Illinois Extension Office talks about their new Nursery School at Vibrant Arena on February 10th, which teaches residents how to effectively grow their own gardens and provide self-sustaining foods. Kristin Bogdonas from the University of Illinois Extension Office discusses more ways to deal with the bitter cold, when it comes to your health. Sydney Ozsfolk talks about a fundraiser for Mid-Mississippi Valley Ducks Unlimited at the Starlite Ballroom at the Mississippi Valley Fairgrounds. Ducks Unlimited is a local organization that educates the public and helps to protect and preserve wetlands in the area.

- public health, cancer prevention: Dr. David Spigel, Chief Scientific Officer at the Sarah Cannon Research Institute. Dr. Spigel joins the show for National Cancer Prevention Month to discuss how to be proactive about your health regarding cancer, the importance of screenings, understanding risk factors, and advancements in treatment and cancer research.
- public health, depression, welfare, ecology, nature: Josh Graves from Humility Homes discusses their Hearts for Humility Hygiene Drive which collects basic hygiene items like soap, shampoo, toothpaste, etc., for less fortunate Quad Citians. Becky Buckrop from the University of Illinois Extension office discusses a winter wellness program that focuses on mental health and depression during the winter months. Sydne Ozsfolk from Mid Mississippi Valley Ducks Unlimited talks about efforts to restore wetlands and the bird species that are in danger in the Quad City area.
- senior living, aging, public health, mental health, education, employment: Dan Deibert, senior creative marketing director of CASI (Center for Active Seniors, Inc), talks about their annual St. Patrick's Day fundraiser race, as well as the programs that CASI offers to senior citizens. Mona Pieffer from the Quad Cities Builders and Remodelers discusses the need to get younger people into the trades, specifically carpentry and building.
- veterans affairs, cancer survival, mental health, special needs issues: Stephen Garrington from QC Honor Flight talks about the flights that are heading out to Washington, D.C., this year and how people can help. Stephen also discusses the emotional impact that the Honor Flights have on veterans from World War II, the Korean War, and Vietnam War. Lexi Bull from Gilda's Club Quad Cities discusses the upcoming fundraisers, Angerer Eats and Live From The QC It's Saturday Night. Lexi also discusses the impact that Gilda's Club Quad Cities has had on those affected by cancer, both patients and their families. Jennifer Davis discusses the Polar Plunge Illinois event coming up March 3rd for Special Olympics Illinois and the impact that Special Olympics has on people with disabilities.
- veterans, mental health, arts, economic development, tourism, cancer: Stephen Garrington talks about the Honor Flights that head out to Washington, D.C., in 2024 and how listeners can volunteer. Emily Schrank talks about a big show choir event that is coming up in February at the Adler Theatre in Davenport and how listeners on both sides of the river can support it. The event draws high school show choirs and their parents and support teams from up to 600 miles away. Kelly Craft talks about a couple of events that are coming up at Gilda's Club Quad Cities, which helps patients and their families deal with cancer treatment.
- youth issues, health, economic development: Nicole Zook from Youth Services Bureau of Rock Island County talked about the "Keys To A Good Time" fundraiser on January 20th, which raises money for their organization. Kristin Bogdonas from the University of Illinois Extension Office talks about how to tune up your body and life when the weather turns really cold. Kirk Markse from Renew Moline discusses businesses opening in Moline and how the city works to attract these businesses, which helps the local economy.
