 Quarterly Issues/Programs List
 First Quarter, 2014
 April 8, 2014

Issues

KUUL-FM provides its listeners with programming and public service announcements that address issues of concern to our local community. Among the issues determined to be of most concern to the community during the preceding calendar quarter were:

- Arts & Entertainment: Research shows that the availability of Arts and Culture—everything from museums to parks and recreation systems—can greatly improve an area's quality of life.
- Disabilities: Though the Americans with Disabilities act became law in 1990, society continues to recognize new areas where we can all be made 'more equal'.
- Economic Development: The overall health of our community is tied to its economic health. This health can only be maintained by sustaining the growth of area businesses.
- Education: Providing educational opportunities for our area's children—as well as secondary education for our adults—are important building blocks to continued quality of life in our community.
- Environment: Our natural resources need to be protected for future generations; the price we pay for the "technology now" style of living we currently enjoy has ramifications—both now and for our descendants.
- Health: Recruiting doctors, nurses, and health techs has become more difficult as this need is everywhere in our country and, as a result these persons are living where quality of life is best.
- Mental Health: As cutbacks have occurred in our federal spending, perhaps no area has been harder hit than the funding of mental illness programs.
- Politics: The 2014 elections loom ahead and Iowa and Illinois always have at least a few hotly contested races.
- Tourism: Many cities in the Quad Cities two-state area rely on tourism revenues. The rich history of the region is a big reason people like to visit.
- Veterans: Treatment of all veterans, particularly those from the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, is an important issue to Quad Cities because so many from our area have served.

Section II

Section I lists regularly-scheduled and special programs that represent the station's issue-responsive programming providing the most significant treatment of the issues listed above for the calendar quarter.

NETWORK [and/or SYNDICATED] PROGRAMMING

ISSUE	PROGRAM/TITLE	DESCRIPTION	DATE/TIME	DURATION
Agriculture	Radio Health Journal	Wild extremes in weather have become the norm in the nation's breadbasket. Experts discuss climatological reasons, predictions of how weather and climate will change over time, and how farmers are changing practices to keep producing.	03/02/14 7:00am	9:56
Disabilities	Radio Health Journal	Traumatic brain injury can dramatically change spousal relationships, as the injured may lose the ability to read the emotions of themselves and others, or may suffer a personality change. These relationship issues are often ignored in the rehabilitation process. However, the divorce rate of these couples is much less than previously believed. Experts discuss developing methods to help people with TBI relearn important social skills.	02/09/14 7:00am	9:47
Education	Radio Health Journal	Children facing long-term illness and medical care receive education wherever they are. Technology is helping those students maintain more normalcy and contact with their schools than has previously been possible. Experts discuss.	01/05/14 7:00a	9:27
Elderly Issues	Radio Health Journal	A majority of Alzheimer's disease patients will experience wandering behavior. Yet many families and caregivers have no plan to prevent wandering or find their loved one when they get lost. Experts discuss wandering and how to deal with it.	02/23/14 7:00am	8:29
Employment	Radio Health Journal	Many Americans have been out of work for more than six months, and are considered "long-term unemployed." It's tough for everyone looking for a job, but especially hard for formerly well-paid white-collar workers. We talk to a researcher and author about the toll it takes on workers and their families, get some advice on how to lessen the frustration and depression that comes with being unemployed, and hear some strategies for getting unemployed workers back on the job.	03/16/14 7:00a	11:32
Environment	Radio Health Journal	Millions of Americans suffer pain as a result of weather changes. Experts discuss different conditions affected by weather, why pain responds to weather changes and possible remedies to some of these maladies.	01/19/14 7:00am	11:56
Family Issues	Radio Health Journal	Many kids are victims of bullying by their peers, and they and their parents don't know why it happens or how to stop it. Hazing rituals are similar to bullying, but the victim willingly participates. We talk to two bullying specialists about why kids bully, what makes someone join in a hazing ritual, what are the signs that a child is being bullied, and find out some strategies parents, teachers and bystanders can use to prevent bullying and deal with both the aggressors and the victims.	03/16/14 7:00a	9:19
Gender Issues	Radio Health Journal	Science and society have sought a firm definition of male and female for hundreds of years, but have been unsuccessful even with modern genome analysis. An expert in the history of science discusses how scientists are swayed by cultural considerations in their efforts to define sex and gender, and how research shows there's not as much difference between men and women as most people think.	01/26/14 7:00am	9:22
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	The pool of recruits available to the US military is much more overweight and obese than ever, and some experts worry that it's a threat to readiness. Experts discuss the impact of obesity on our nation's finest.	01/05/14 7:00a	11:14
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Medical mistakes may be far more common than we think. An expert team of medical consumer advocates discusses what patients can do to protect themselves.	01/12/14 7:00am	9:29
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Medicine is changing from technically centered practice to patient-centered, which requires doctors to listen to the patient and relate to them on a personal level. Experts discuss training all new doctors in this style, and whether it suits women better than men as a result of cultural upbringing.	01/19/14 7:00am	9:29

Health Care	Radio Health Journal	The Affordable Care Act's enrollment website had a disastrous rollout, and "young immortals" aren't yet signing up for insurance in numbers that would assure the program's survival. Experts discuss deadlines and incentives that they think will encourage signups, and the difficulties likely to be encountered by people who've never been insured before. Experts also discuss studies showing that newly insured people may use healthcare much differently than had been expected.	02/02/14 7:00am	11:17
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Health institutions are increasingly including participation in different forms of art to assist in healing. Experts discuss how it works and offer theories on why it works, as well.	02/02/14 7:00am	10:10
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Low-level systemic inflammation is being tied to many disorders including heart disease, and now research has even tied inflammation to intermittent explosive disorder, a syndrome of repeated rage. Experts discuss these findings and how inflammation can be combatted through diet and supplementation.	02/09/14 7:00am	8:33
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Scientists are learning that they can affect many areas of function of the body through supplementation of "good bacteria" in the intestinal tract. Experts discuss new methods.	02/16/14 7:00am	10:21
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Rigorous scientific studies increasingly show that for healthy people, vitamins do not prevent many major diseases, such as cancer and heart disease. However, the supplement industry contends that's not why people take vitamins. They see an effort to amass disputable ammunition to further regulate the supplement industry. Experts discuss both sides of the issue.	02/23/14 7:00am	9:33
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Thyroid disease affects millions of Americans, many of whom have not been diagnosed. Experts discuss symptoms, causes, and treatments.	03/02/14 7:00am	11:39
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Millions of people who think they have allergies, asthma, and sinus problems may actually have "silent reflux" which can travel up the esophagus all the way to the throat and head. An expert discusses telltale symptoms and the dietary triggers that can cause the disorder.	03/09/14 7:00a	8:42
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Last summer, the American Medical Association labeled obesity as a disease in hopes of getting physicians and society to take it more seriously as a medical problem and not as a lack of willpower. However, some researchers are finding psychological side effects of "having a disease." Experts discuss the effects of the declaration on the public and medical community.	03/23/14 7:00a	10:28
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	If obesity is defined a disease, why do a majority of employer-sponsored health plans refuse to cover weight loss surgery? Experts discuss reasons for this exclusion and new research showing the high costs of obesity's consequences, raising the possibility that paying for weight loss surgery could ultimately save insurers money.	03/30/14 7:00a	12:14
Health Care	Radio Health Journal	Vision difficulties that mere glasses can't correct are often referred to as low vision. Experts discuss the various major causes of low vision and how they can be treated and prevented.	03/30/14 7:00a	8:32
Parenting	Radio Health Journal	About one-fifth of teens at some point injure themselves in order to cope with emotional stress. Experts discuss the difference between self-injury and suicidal behavior, and offer tips on how parents should deal with a child who is trying to deal with stress through cutting.	01/12/14 7:00am	10:33
Psychology	Radio Health Journal	It's a psychological paradox that the greater the numbers of people present when a person needs help, the less likely help will be rendered. Experts discuss reasons why this effect occurs, how it can be broken by technology, and the background of intense research into the effect sparked by the first internationally famous "bystander effect" crime.	03/09/14 7:00a	10:50

Public Safety	Radio Health Journal	Millions of Americans are surprised when they get a bill for their 911 ambulance call. Experts explain the economics of emergency medical services, why communities typically bill for calls, and what insurance will and won't pay.	01/26/14 7:00am	7:14
Women's Issues	Radio Health Journal	Job discrimination or lack of accommodation due to pregnancy has been illegal for 35 years, but courts have interpreted the law very narrowly, allowing discrimination against pregnant women to occur. Experts discuss how and why discrimination occurs, how women can help prevent it, and how a Congressional bill would tighten up enforcement.	02/16/14 7:00am	11:49
Youth at Risk	Radio Health Journal	Young adolescents often are allowed to take over the counter drugs on their own, but many OTC medicines, especially acetaminophen, can be dangerous. Experts discuss how to educate 'tweens on taking OTC drugs safely.	03/23/14 7:00a	11:17
