i should preface this comment by saying that I Live in ny and do not listen to your programming. having said that, it's nothing but stunning that you would put an employee on leave for maintaining that 'All Lives Matter'. you are aware that innocent property owners are being brutally attacked while protecting their businesses; and over a half dozen police officers were shot across the nation while attempting to bring order to the recent riots? stop placating the few and bending over for the woke. yea black lives matter, but are you maintaining that no one else's matters, or [they] don't matter as much? time for a gut check, if not a reality check.
