2nd Quarter, 2012

(April 1, 2012 through June 30, 2012)

Prepared by:

Rodney Lear
Director, Public Affairs

ISSUES OF CONCERN TO CINCINNATI
ADDRESSED IN RESPONSIVE PROGRAMMING
THE
SECOND QUARTER, 2012

1. Teens and Body Image/Eating Disorders: We focus on the link between how teens view themselves and eating disorders. We examine social pressures that teens face from peers and the media to be extremely thin.
2. Summer Learning Loss: Summer learning loss occurs when children lose the academic skills they acquired during the school year over summer vacation. We offered parents practical tips and suggestions to help prevent summer learning loss in their children.
3. Education: We provided information aimed at improving the standard of education for today's youth.
4. Parenting: We explored avenues and methods to improve parenting skills.
5. Race Relations: We presented information to bring a better appreciation of the culture of those of a different race, heritage or socioeconomic background.
6. Health: We supplied information designed to help maintain a sound mind and body.
7. Personal Growth: We Presented information to help listeners improve their lives—personally and professionally.
8. Finance: We presented information to educate listeners about the financial challenges that are relevant today.

13:00 Minutes of a 60 Minute Program

Janet Nash, Division of Psychiatry at Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center. During this edition of Sunday Morning Magazine, we focused on the issue of teens and body image. As a guest on the show, Mrs. Nash discussed eating disorders and how they are so often closely related to body image. She spoke about the impact the media often has on teenagers and the way they view their own bodies. Mrs. Nash detailed the medical complications that occur as a result of an eating disorder such as anorexia or bulimia.

Sunday Morning Magazine

April 15 2012 & April 22, 2012

7:25 a.m.

15:00 Minutes of a 60 Minute Program

Stacy Michael & Kacy Cluxton. During this edition of Sunday Morning Magazine, we focused on the issue of teens and body image. Stacy and Kacy are identical twin sisters who battled anorexia as teens. They joined the show to share their inspiring story of how they overcame the eating disorder. The twin sisters say that images they saw in the media such as music videos and magazines triggered their bout with anorexia. They shared their journey from personal lows to seeking help to recovery, and eventually becoming comfortable with their own bodies. Today they are both registered dietitians and work with teenagers with eating disorders.
