Education

4/1 CMS meeting - the board of education voted to ensure hourly employees have benefits up until May 15 - the earliest schools could open back up - if they do. School has been out long before summer - earnest Winston/superintendent CMS: "it would be understatement of the year to say that we're in unprecedented times. But i do think it's important to keep that thought at the forefront because we're all working hard to adapt to the world that is changing around us"

4/2 nascar hall of fame learning - new at noon--- the nascar hall of fame launched an online education platform. "spark!" offers weekly racing-themed lesson plans for students in elementary through high school. The virtual education program offers steam-driven activities to help students develop real-world problem-solving skills. The program will have new lesson plans every week along with associated worksheets and videos.

4/3 across the carolinas - south carolina is extending its deadline for businesses to renew licenses. Businesses now have until september 30th. Officials say 'continuing education requirements' may also be obtained throughout the extended renewal period. For the first time since world war two -- the biltmore estate is closing. 22-hundred workers are currently furloughed. The eight thousand acre estate -- located in asheville -- opened in 19-30.

4/6 college testing - like many high schoolers across the country.. California's abi grebel was hoping her volleyball skills. Could score some scholarship money for college. "i'm trying to get recruited for volleyball & if recruiters don't have my test scores, i can't be recruited." abi can't get test scores because the tests.. Have been postponed.. Due to the coronavirus.

4/8 cms board meeting - coronavirus forcing the c-m-s board of education to discuss the district's 1-point-6 billion dollar budget proposal over 'zoom'. Board members will use the online meeting program tonight. You can still sign up to speak at the meeting -- and will get a code to enter the video chat. It will also be streamed on facebook live.

4/9 college refund - up until today, the unc system only offered spring semester refunds for housing and dining. Now, parking refunds are on the way too...but that's only a partial victory for one senior. It just kind of seems unfair." leave it to a finance major to appreciate the worth of every penny. "i'm definitely see myself tapping into the savings more and more." laid off from work and now learning online, unc charlotte student zachary himes says the math just doesn't add up. "we're really not getting everything we paid for."

4/10 adorable fat hamster - as you spend more time at home. You might find yourself snacking more out of boredom. Kind of like this chubby cheeked hamster ... Stuffing its face. This is from a b-b-c educational video .. That shows just how much food hamsters can stash away in their cheek pouches for later snacking.

4/11 racial disparities - mark jerrell/mecklenburg county commissioner :48 there's a saying in the black community when the country catches a cold, black people catch pneumonia the voice of county commissioner mark jerrell speaking up about a growing health crisis in the black community. As it becomes apparent—coronavirus is not colorblind—and the hardest hit ethnic group—african american.

4/15 sugar creek charter tech - sugar creek charter says many students already count on the school for the basics, so buying technology for virtual learning is a luxury these families don't have. Tiffany: chaotic is a nice way of putting it. New normal in a nut shell.. Tiffany huger says with two school kids, herself, and one computer... There's a daily battle over the bandwidth. Tiffany: when my youngest daughter has questions and needs help with the assignments, we need to make sure we get that done before it's time for my high schooler to have to do her assignment, but also in time for me to be able to get my work stuff done. And the sugar creek charter mom considers them lucky... Because at least they have a device. The latest "national center for education" statistics show... With an enrollment of 16-hundred students... Sugar creek had nearly 13-hundred eligible for free or reduced lunch.

4/17 nc board of education - north carolina education leaders are disagreeing over how to handle education relief funds. The state is set to receive up to about 484-million dollars in federal relief for public schools. Leaders are now working to figure out how the money should be allocated -- and who should be in charge of those decisions. The board will vote on a formula at an upcoming meeting.

4/19 pampers classes - expecting parents - listen up. You can still prepare for your bundle of joy while staying home. Pampers is now offering a nine-part childbirth education class online. It's free and features real families who are going through the same thing.

4/22 sc school announcement - but first i want to start with that breaking news out of south carolina. Governor, henry mcmaster just announced schools in the palmetto state will *not reopen this school year. He says while some parts of the state are re-opening-- the threat to open schools is just too high. He says there will be flexibility statewide to help kids get their education. We'll have more on this decision coming up in our next half hour when we check in live with wncn charlotte's ashley daley.

4/23 carolina schools - south carolina schools will be shut down until the fall. Students will continue virtual learning through the end of the school year. Here in north carolina - leaders have not decided just yet. But we do know the state board of education is meeting today.

4/24 nc schools - this decision is not made lightly. In an effort to stop the spread of covid-19 -- today north carolina governor roy cooper announcing schools will remain closed for the rest of the academic year. So – by safeguarding core priorities like education and health, we'll be able to build our state back effectively. Despite not returning to classrooms – the governor says class will go on. And today he announced several new partnerships, including one with at&t to ensure all students have access to remote learning. So – they've agreed to provide 100 hotspots to use in school buses to help students with home internet access. When it comes to end-of-year grades – they won't be traditional. Students in elementary or middle school will receive a simple pass or fail. Students in high school will have the option – choose pass/or no credit or receive a numeric grade for spring courses – which students could use toward their gpa and college applications. The state board of education passed the new grading policy thursday – hoping to reward students and parents for their hard work – while not punishing students without remote access.

4/25 nc schools - in 39 states across the country – schools remain closed. South carolina making their announcement yesterday. Decided not to open the schools for the rest of the school year. And now north carolina added to that list. We've decided to continue remote learning for the rest of the school year through our k-12 public schools. The governor says it's still too early to make any decisions regarding summer school or camps – but says plans are underway to reopen schools this fall. The idea is to try to create a safe environment using all of the tools that were putting together between now and then.

4/27 cms graduation task force - c-m-s seniors - listen up! The board of education wants to hear from you. The superintendent started a task force to come up with creative ways to celebrate graduation this year. It includes high school seniors, parents, principals, and teachers. If you have an idea - you can find a link to submit it inside our wncn mobile app.

4/28 uncc lawsuit - the university of north carolina system finds itself the target of class action lawsuits. The suits- filed this week— by students on campuses at unc-charlotte— and other unc schools... all of them alleging the same thing. They paid for a campus experience—and all the in-person classes, multi-million dollar labs and libraries, and extra-curriculars that come with the price of on-campus life—but due to coronavirus--wound up with an online learning experience instead. We've talked to unc charlotte students in recent weeks :32 we're really not getting everything we pay for still being charged the in-person tuition rate. By this finance major's math—the university should be reimbursing him over $1,000.

4/29 sah complaints - city records show continued complaints at some businesses, like this one, but no arrests or citations. The deputy chief told me today similar yet different state and local orders have complicated the situation. Stay at home and public gathering complaints are spread far and wide across charlotte...but public records show no location in the entire city has received more complaints than this one...home to matthews tobacco and vape...denied by the state to be essential...only allowed to operate if social distancing takes place.

4/30 sc education task force - meanwhile south carolina's state superintendent has put together a task force. It convened just minutes ago in a virtual news conference. The task force will provide recommendations for summer and fall school operations. The task force is made up of educators and administrators. We will have much more on this later today on the news at five.

5/1 nc relief bill passes - the north carolina house passed a 1-point-7 billion dollar covid-19 relief bill. It provides assistance for small businesses, education, and healthcare facilities. The senate passed a similar bill earlier this week. Lawmakers will now start discussing a compromise before it heads to governor cooper.

5/4 kings mtn teacher - kids are relying on electronics for school now - but the fact of the matter is not every kid has equal access to those resources and jenny white, who's been in education for decades, is concerned the gap is only going to get wider. Pkg: years from now, history books will shows the wide ranging impacts of the coronavirus. But right now - students are living through it - and their virtual education experience is not the same. Jenny white/teacher: "where we've seen equity issues in the past, this really points a laser at it" a 20 minute conversation with jenny white - that happened twice - shows part of the struggle students and teachers have been facing for 8 weeks.

5/5 stressed students - for millions of high school and college students across the country... Covid 19 has been like an unannounced test of the education system. We got 2 hours' notice, all our professors got 2 hours' notice. They said bring all your clothes and your books and pray for the best. In a recent survey of students, 80% told 'best colleges dot com' the disruption has caused them to feel more stress.

5/6 senior shout out - and as we go to break--- we want to keep sending the love to graduating seniors. Today we want to shout out jacey keener. She is graduating from maiden high school. She will be going to lenoir rhyme university to study elementary education.

5/9 graduating seniors - skylar nicholson, university of georgia, broadcast journalism and political science> moved up "it's hard to transition into this next part of life without a kind of chapter finale or ending." this is the "class of covid-19."

Moved up <alexandra rubin, university of florida, environmental engineering> "it's pretty scary to be graduating at the worst time possible in the last hundred years... i'm fearful that the economy is going to take a massive hit and no one's going to be hiring and i'm going to have a hard time finding a job and i'm gonna live at home with my mom forever." 30 million workers filed for unemployment benefits.

Add in 7.5 times more than the 2009 great recession. Jack hirsh, penn state, journalism and political science> <4:14>it seems most companies are on a hiring freeze right adam michalesko, penn state, journalism and media studies> <1:50>

You can still send stuff out but nobody's focusing on that right now."

5/11 teen returns - what would you do if you found more than a hundred thousand dollars just laying on the street? That was a real life situation for one teenager ... Who found the money laying near an a-t-m ... And turned it straight in to police. The new mexico teen was rewarded with a plaque from his city ... A check to put towards his education ... And some gear signed by major league athletes.

5/12 cms graduating decisions - today - the c-m-s board of education expected to address graduation plans. Last week - students were given three possible options. They include virtual ceremonies or postponing graduation. Thousands of seniors have signed an online petition - asking for an in-person option. The district is expected to address

5/13 star wars teacher - for years matt boone has used a "star system" to help incentivize his students. Every time they earn so many stars they get something so might be homework pass .. Cookies.. Free period outside. But with the abrupt pivot to online learning. He's had to find a new way to reach them.

5/14 sc accelerated meeting - today -- education leaders in south carolina will meet to talk about plans for opening back up. A task force will give recommendations on how they think districts can safely start again this fall. The task force is made up of teachers and administrators from all grade levels.

5/15 devos sued - education secretary betsy devos is being sued- for changing the guidelines on how sexual assault claims are handled on school campuses. The a-c-l-u says they will make the process more difficult for victims to report abuse. The new rules go into effect on august 14th.

5/19 celebrating seniors - we're sending some love this morning to graduating seniors. Congratulations to chyna cornwell from newton conover high school.

She'll be attending u-n-c-c to study elementary education.

5/21 racial wealth gaps - robin blake is just getting back on her feet after paying out thousands of dollars to bury her mother. Last month, she was laid off from her job at a rock hill nursing home and is back at square one; trying to find stability in an economy wrecked by the coronavirus. "we're rolling into another month and there's still no money." (robin blake, rock hill) she hasn't had luck getting unemployment benefits and her 12-hundred dollar stimulus check barely covered a month worth of bills.

"do i pay my bills or do i pay my food? Some of us were already one pay check away from having anything. I was one of those people." (robin blake, rock hill)

A close look at the nation's wealth gap explains why. (source: urban institute)

Annually, black families make just over 17-hundred (17,150 on graphic) dollars that's compared to white families who bring home 100 times more than that. (171-thousand).

5/26 coronavirus set up – new at 6 -- governor roy cooper -- sounding the alarm -- over a looming financial crisis that could have a major impact on public safety and education. Because of the economic effects of this pandemic, state and local governments are losing revenue that support our schools, law enforcement, ems and other critical services. Governor cooper pointed out -- the state *is getting 3.56 *billion dollars from the federal government's coronavirus relief fund. But there are restrictions on how that money can be spent... So in addition to more funding -- he's also pushing for more flexibility.

5/27 clt truck race - the first nascar trucks race since *february is in the books.

At an empty charlotte motor speedway- chase elliot won the "n-c education lottery 200." there's another nascar cup series race at the speedway tonight.

5/28 celebrating seniors - this morning- we continue to shout out our graduating seniors. Congratulations to jacey keener from maiden high school. She'll be studying elementary education at lenoir- rhyne university.

5/29 union co graduation - union county schools voted to move forward with high school graduation plans. The union county board of education held an emergency meeting last night. And families rallied in support ... Driving through the neighborhood where the superintendent lives ... Hoping to get the board's attention. Their request clear on signs ... And in cheers. They want their kids to walk across the stage.

6/2 celebrating seniors - this morning- we continue to shout out our graduating seniors. Congratulations to graciela mejia (meh-hee-uhh) from "challenger early college high school". She'll be attending u-n-c asheville to study elementary education. Keep sending those pictures of your seniors. Download the wcnc mobile app for instructions on how to submit one.

6/5 nc task force - governor cooper announcing a new task force in north carolina. The group will work to combat the covid-19 disparities in communities of color. The task force will focus on five key areas - access to healthcare, patient engagement, economic opportunities, justice and inclusion, and education.

6/6 united marshall park - hundreds gathered to discuss voting, push for education reform and how to use social media platforms for positive messages.

6/8 cpi fallout - the hornets join the list of sports organizations cutting ties with cpi—making it clear how they feel about the comments the ceo made. Sports teams across the queen city taking a look at their security. The charlotte hornets announcing sunday they are ending their partnership with cpi. Saying in a statement, "we are fully committed to improving racial equality, social justice, diversity and access to education throughout our community." this comes a day after the carolina panthers stated the team is severing ties with cpi. The charlotte knights, university of south carolina athletic department, and n-c state athletics also cutting off partnerships with the security company. The c-e-o of cpi kenneth gill is under scrutiny after sending an email to the executive director of "queen city unity" - a non profit calling on city leaders to end police brutality.

6/11 sc accelerated meeting today - three -- education leaders in south carolina will meet today to talk about plans for opening back up. A task force will discuss their official recommendations on how they think districts can safely start again this fall. The task force is made up of teachers and administrators from all grade levels.

6/12 ncd education fall plans - this morning -- we're getting a better understanding of what could happen when students go back to school in the fall. We know the school year will look unlike any before -- and depending on the coronavirus numbers -- students may have to stick with remote learning. Wake up charlotte's billie jean shaw joining us now. Billie jean -- leaders released three different scenarios that could happen come august.

6/15 sc million man march - this is dedicated to everyone that we have lost, in every facet of the system, to everyone we have lost to the murders of police brutality, to everyone that we have lost in our own communities for us not having the education that we need to get ahead.

6/16 racism public health - think about it like this- do you have a grocery store near your home.. Can you easily get to the doctor? Does your child have access to quality education? The proclamation suggests because of how racism has impacted minorities.. For a lot of people, those answers are no.. And that's what this would help tackle. "its past time for something like this." mecklenburg county commissioner mark jerrell is hoping to pass a proclamation declaring racism a public health crisis "racism has adversely contributed to the outcomes that we see" outcomes like minorities living in food deserts and having less access to health care.

6/17 renaming vance - vance high school, in northeast charlotte, will soon have a new name. The school is named after *zebulon b vance ... A two-time governor of north carolina, a u-s senator and an officer in the confederate military. We've learned the board of education will start the process to rename the school next tuesday. The community will have a say in the new name for the school.

6/18 vance hs renaming discussion - vance high school in northeast charlotte could soon have a new name. The school is named after 'zebulon b. Vance' -- a two-time governor of north carolina, a u-s senator, and an officer in the confederate military. The board of education will consider a name change during next week's meeting. That's your morning rush -- more news in less time.

6/19 school update - south carolina schools are one step closer to reopening this fall. Today, the task force in charge of developing recommendations on how schools can safely reopen adopted a final report. The state will be advising districts to push back the start date for school this fall by at least five days. The state superintendent says she's also looking into the possibility of waiving some state requirements on things like testing... Attendance... And teacher certifications. By waiving certain restrictions--- she says teachers and staff can focus solely on the students education and their safety. She is also encouraging everyone to wear masks.

6/21 blm family march - black lives matter- family march was organized by a group of matthews moms. They wanted today's event to provide a peaceful and safe place for families to gather to protest. The goal was to bring heightened awareness to the injustices going on around the nation, including the death of george floyd. Organizers say racism and discrimination have no place in our communities, and that starts with education.

6/22 blm family march - "the issues that we currently face were not developed in one generation and they're not going to be fixed in one generation, its about educating ourselves and our children and this is the first step, because education isn't just what you tell them its also what you show them" alongside the protesters there were also matthews police officers.

6/23 sc final school recommendations - south carolina education officials giving the final recommendations for reopening schools this fall. Some of the new guidelines include requiring face masks, social distancing in hallways, and staggered arrivals and dismissals. Officials pointed out that the plan is contingent on how covid-19 numbers look come august.

6/24 vance update - new at 11 -- the c-m-s education board has started the process of renaming vance high school. They met about the issue tonight. The school is named after 'zebulon b. Vance' -- a two-time governor of north carolina, a u-s senator, and an officer in the confederate military. We know changing the school's name is largely symbolic but it is an important step in the right direction. As we follow this renaming process ..we'll post updates inside the w-c-n-c charlotte mobile app.

6/26 money for college - student loan debt is such a big issue in this country so we wanted to know what was going on – turns out- many students simply don't know they can apply for grants and scholarships. Tyler Jackson had a hand in everything in high school...played football, ran track was on student government and in the school musical...but he struggled to figure out how to parlay that success into helping pay for college. 135i didn't really understand the whole scholarship process for awhile But he knew he needed financial help if he was going to get a degree. Had to make it happen, had to get a scholarship, had to get a scholarship he finally got some help and got a full ride to cpcc...

6/27 kids screen time - when it comes to devices-- the American Academy of Pediatrics says during the pandemic... screen time is likely up for kids. "we've been home a lot more, parents have been working from home while also providing child care and so I think some out of necessity, some out of boredom, some out of just being home more."but-- doctors like Allison Elledge, a pediatric psychologist at East Tennessee Children's Hospital, say not to sweat. It's really hard—and realizing that it's okay if you let a few things go as long as you're kind of constantly thinking about striving to do what you know is best for your kiddo."rather, make sure and monitor what your child is doing on the device. Not all screen time is created equal. Educational materials and videos encouraging movement are better than passive TV shows.

6/29 Forest Suing Cooper - also breaking today--- North Carolina lieutenant governor, Dan Forest talking more about his lawsuit against Governor Cooper. Forest says the governor is failing to follow state law by issuing orders closing businesses and limiting movement without receiving formal support from members of the Council of State. Cooper's office says the governor has other powers granted in state law that let him issue the directives without the council's "concurrence." by the way--- Forest is running against Cooper for the governor's seat in November.

6/30 Kannapolis School Update - an update to a story we first told you about last week. The Kannapolis City School Board approved the renaming of *Woodrow Wilson Elementary School* to North Kannapolis Elementary School... It comes after a student said the school's namesake ... The 28th president of the United States ..is a symbol of white supremacy and racism. That student started a petition to rename it.. The school is saying they are committed to being culturally responsive to all of our students and community.

community

4/1 wild wings café - before we go tonight, we want to share something good in our community. Wild wing café here in charlotte is taking care of healthcare workers. The restaurant donated 50 fresh, boxed lunches to those battling the coronavirus crisis.

4/2 birthday surprise parade - a local community wanted to make sure one of their own got a very special birthday surprise. Cars lined the streets of an indian trail neighborhood to celebrate "rachel flow-ee's" 19th birthday. Her parents set up the whole thing on the nextdoor app.

4/3 tryon medical layoffs - many patients are avoiding in-person doctors' visits...staying home...and at best, turning to telemedicine...which is forcing doctors' offices to make tough decisions...leaving healthcare workers out of a job. Just like any other business...doctors' offices are feeling the effects of widespread fear and stay at home orders. With eight clinics across the area, charlotte's largest primary care practice confirmed friday the 92 physician owners laid off 25% of their non-doctor staff at the end of march....including nurses, nursing assistants and receptionists...the result of a decline in patients...and a shift to telemedicine...which dr. Ryan shelton said requires fewer staff members.

4/4 wearing masks - the new recommendation comes after health officials say there is some value to covering your face even if you dont have any symptoms but with masks in short supply theyre asking people to make cloths masks at home.

Package: on a warm saturday in charlotte, scenes like these.

People wearing masks while running errands. "this debate should be over - everyone needs to be wearing a mask" the cdc now recommending some sort of face coverings while in public. This comes after recent information shows the virus spreads through talking, even breathing.

4/5 coronavirus local wrap - health officials say you should be staying at home, but if you do need to leave the house for essential activities, the cdc recommends covering your face with a cloth mask. Still that didn't stop a group of 50 people from protesting outside of an abortion clinic. Package: north carolinian's are supposed to be staying at home. But some are not. "were beginning to issue citations" saturday, c-m-p-d arrested 8 people protesting outside of this abortion clinic on latrobe drive. "if you havent taken it serious now is the time"

4/6 rock hill positives at senior center - an assisted living facility in rock hill is reporting two coronavirus cases. A resident and a staff member at "chandler place" tested positive. The facility sent out a letter saying that the resident has not shown symptoms.

The staff member also has not worked in the community in the last two weeks. Chandler place is now asking all assisted living residents to shelter in place for the next 2 weeks.

4/7 charmeck covid response - as we all discuss ways to socially distance—one idea is to get people out of the parks and open up the streets for people to walk or ride. The city—not really interested in that idea. The mayor says we don't need more rules, we need common sense. In parks in some of the towns around charlotte—the caution tape is strung—warning people to keep out. In parks in the city of charlotte and mecklenburg

4/8 birthdays - huntersville police department)) "we're practicing social distancing and we want to minimize exposure just like everybody else. But for us to be able to go out there and still somewhat communicate with the community is great. A grand gesture helping to make a memorable moment for this 6 year old.

4/9 african american deaths - in cities with large black populations like new york, chicago, detroit, and new orleans - people of color are dying at an alarmingly higher rate than white people. In chicago, for example, black residents account for *72 percent* of covid-19 deaths, but they make up just *half* of the city's entire population. The same issue is happening at home. In north carolina, african americans make up 22 percent of the population, but they account for 38-percent of all covid-19 cases. In mecklenburg county, as of friday, health officials say close to *half* (45% of screen) of covid-19 patients are black. Blacks *only* make up about 33 percent of the county's population. So what's behind these discrepancies?

4/10 beaufort checkpoints - right now in beaufort (bow-fort) north carolina... Police are turning away visitors to protect their community. The waterfront town is usually a tourist destination this time of the year. This is the checkpoint off highway 70 --the only entrance into the town -- and police are letting only residents and people with passes come through. Anyone who's coming there to visit is being told to turn around. The checkpoint will operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and it's the only way into town, as other roads are blocked off.

4/12 meck co census update - don't forget to fill out your census form! Mecklenburg county is reminding residents. The county tweeted that 47 percent of people have responded. The census is important for your community to get the funding it needs for schools, hospitals and fire departments.

4/13 hillside ave raising money - if you've been lucky enough to drive down this street at christmas you know how pretty it can be – but you may not have known about the food and fundraising effort- well now the neighbors have come together with a new effort and it has to do with these simple signs. Hope can sometimes feel a little hard to come by right now. We got the signs printed for free on hillside avenue though...hope is everywhere. *40we wanted to do something different but we wanted to benefit the world and give some inspiration and hope to people inspiring others is what they do on this street.

4/14 testing sites - a mobile medical unit sits in a parking lot on eastway drive.. Right outside of hidden valley. Atrium health put it there today—and chose that spot intentionally. This is where the health system believes we have a coronavirus hot spot. Atrium using real time data to track which communities have the most cases, and the least amount of access to testing. Atrium, bringing that testing directly to the people that need it most. Atrium says it's a groundbreaking effort to reduce the disparity that has emerged in mecklenburg and other communities.. Where black and brown people are contracting and dying from coronavirus at disproportionate rates.

Gibbie: "they don't really pose much of a threat to the community at this point in time. If we were to have a large outbreak where we may have m't teore concern about that, we may very well release that name." andrea watson has a relative who works at a mecklenburg county assited living facility.

We won't say that person's name because they want to remain anonymous to protect their job...

4/18 testing sites - a mobile medical unit sits in a parking lot on eastway drive.. Right outside of hidden valley. Atrium health put it there —and chose that spot intentionally. This is where the health system believes we have a coronavirus hot spot. Atrium using real time data to track which communities have the most cases, and the least amount of access to testing. Atrium, bringing that testing directly to the people that need it most.

4/19 senior facility impact - they don't really pose much of a threat to the community at this point in time. If we were to have a large outbreak where we may have more concern about that, we may very well release that name. Mecklenburg county's health director says she will continue to name the outbreak locations moving forward.

4/20 meck co update - as we start to release people in the community the more likelihood we will start to see more cases. That up and down may happen over time and we've got to be prepared for that. What's going to be very uncomfortable for our community is that we relax a lot and then have to clamp down again because our numbers go way up.

4/21 farmers app - this is a win win all around.. Agribusiness is one of the state's top industries.. And farmers have a huge excess they can't sell with restaurants and schools closed so with the visit nc farms app.. You can see what farmers have to offer right near you "we are very excited for a lot of farmers" excited... because agribusiness developer annie baggett says the visit nc farms app can connect growers directly to the community "our media marketing specialist calls this the amazon of agriculture in north carolina opening the app.. 4/24 reopen nc - "we have seen our curve flatten. We have seen fewer cases. We have seen fewer numbers in our hospitals." the mecklenburg county health director urging people to stay focused on continued social distancing. (have graphic for this) taking a look at the orange line...the seven day average... she says the data in the county appears to be fairly flat. "as we open things up in our community, as the state opens things up, we'll continue to look at that trend data and it will inform the actions that we take moving forward." governor cooper released his three-phase plan to ease restrictions across the state.

4/25 kicker - before we go tonight.. A community wide project bringing some much needed love and light to main street in davidson. Main street books is a davidson staple. They're closed because of coronavirus - but people are still stopping in their tracks to take it all in. It's *ada fitzgerald's way of bringing some peace to her community.

4/27 cox mill seniors - anyone out there who played high school sports knows how memorable their senior season would be. But for thousands of athletes across the area -- that final season was lost. The final decision came on friday -- north carolina high school sports are done for the year. Scottie lister: "when we got the news it was really just heartbreaking." chandler riley: "i think we all had hope that it would just be a little break.

But then when friday came it was just a bummer i guess." in mid-march, the cox mill baseball and softball teams played early-season games. They hoped they wouldn't be their last.

4/28 rnc future - this continued rise .. Prompting officials with the charlotte pride festival and parade ... To cancel the event this year. Charlotte's 20-th annual pride celebration was supposed to be this august ...
But with the coronavirus outbreak. Organizers say there's just too much of a risk. Not only a blow to charlotte's l-g-b-t community ... The pride festival was a major money maker for the city ... Bringing in around eight million dollars last year. The pride festival ... Just the latest casualty from the virus ... Which has shutdown events from coast to coast.

4/29 york co death investigation - also in york county... Deputies are looking for a murder suspect. It happened on quant road... That's in the catawba community near rock hill. Police say they were called there for a shooting and found one man dead. Today officials have confirmed 33 year old tony stephens was the victim. 5/3 ofc sheldon anniv monday - tomorrow - a somber anniversary for the community of mooreville. Monday marking one year since officer jordan sheldon was shot and killed on duty during a traffic stop. The k-9 officer was a graduate of central cabarrus high school and earned a degree from unc charlotte in criminal justice. He served the department for six years... Leaving a lasting mark on the community and department... And was reportedly building a house with his girlfriend at the time of his death. The man who killed officer sheldon, took his own life.. Shortly after the shooting.
Our thoughts are prayers are with officer sheldon's family.

5/4 little big shots - and speaking of "big shots." a local 10 year old just made an appearance on n-b-c's "little big shots." granite falls native "brayden frasure" is already a talented actor. He's appeared in shows, movies and skits with actors like keanu reeves, jennifer garner and katie holmes. But it's his drive to do good in the community that helped get him on the show.

5/5 chalk artist - for like the first 25 days i was drawing star wars characters... Then i ran out of star wars characters... And i was just thinking of characters and faces everyone will recognize, so i decided to go with marvel characters next. He hopes his work will bring joy to his community during trying times. And because he knows the art will eventually wash away-- he is taking pictures of every drawing to show people and keep forever.

5/6 nurses bump - national nurses' week kicks off today! And all week we're highlighting the amazing nurses in our community! This is "meghan england". She's a nurse in the birthing center at caromont health! Thank you, meghan and all of our wonderful nurses!!

5/7 hometown heroes - we want you to take a moment to nominate a healthcare worker in our community that deserves to be recognized as a hometown hero. They might end up winning a 2020 hyundai santa fe s-u-v!

5/8 graduating seniors - wcnc charlotte is celebrating the graduating class of 2020. And right now we want to give a shout-out to *seth pennington. He's graduating from bunker hill high school, and heading off to catawba valley community college. Congratulations, seth!

5/10 fl home virus testing - we felt like just because they don't have a means or are physically unable to get to one of these drive-up sites there's got to be a way to get to them. Butt to s/ rosalyn grant/ lives in delray beach/ received test at home :03 quick! "i was saying 'praise the lord' you know that was good! S/ rosalyn grant/ lives in delray beach/ received test at home :."this coronavirus, lord jesus it needs to be wiped out!>

5/11 what's next for nc - it's carolina flips gym and right now they've been able to open as a day camp as part of the governors phase 1. The owner says it's hard to plan for phase 2... Because theres still no definite date of when it'll happen.. And what the governor will require "have fun!" for the first time in almost 2 months.. Kelly lather was able to drop her daughter off at the carolina flips gym in pineville "i've been trying to train my little girl to not touch her face.. Just explaining what the "new normal" might look like and for the gym, the "new normal" is currently a lot emptier than usual "we're not open to the general public, for phase 1 we're a day camp only for our kids..." Carolina flips owner angela davis says for now, it's the most she's allowed to do "hopefully for phase 2 we'll actually be able to start reopening a little bit more" Phase 2 includes the reopening of playgrounds, increasing the number of people allowed in gatherings.. And the limited reopening restaurants, bars, personal care services ,and fitness centers....something davis is looking forward to to bring back whatever business she can "before all this happened we had about 850 kids in the gym throughout the week.. And we'll be excited if we actually see 150 of those kids once we are able to open back up" phase 2 can't happen until at least 2-3 weeks after phase 1, and only if coronavirus impacts are still going in the right direction.

Economy

4/2 unemployment numbers - as i said at the top of the show--- more than six-point-six million americans applied for unemployment benefits last week. That doubled a record high set just last week. Combined with last week's numbers-- the u.s. economy has now suffered nearly 10 million layoffs in just the past several weeks. That far exceeds the figure for any corresponding period on record. Many economists envision as many as 20 million americans will have lost their job by the end of this month. That would be more than double the number of jobs lost during the great recession. Wcnc charlotte's rachel lundberg shows us how you can get some help if you've been laid off.

4/3 biltmore closes - the coronavirus pandemic has forced the biltmore estate to close its doors to the public for the first time since world war ii. The 8 thousand-acre estate in asheville first opened as a tourist attraction in 1930 -- as a way to boost the local economy during the great depression. These days the estate draws about 1 and a half million visitors a year. More than 2-thousand people work there... They've all been placed on furlough.

4/7 coronavirus latest - leaders in congress ... And the white house ... Are once again ... Talking about more money to stimulate the economy. This ... Following concerns that the two point two trillion dollar stimulus package ... Passed late last month just won't be enough. According to sources who spoke to n-b-c ... House democrats are discussing another trillion dollars in spending. That money could offer a second round of payments to americans.

4/8 drive through testing - looklive: starmed family urgent care is switching their focus to anti-body testing. Here's how it works.

You to sign up, then you drive up, get your finger pricked, and get your results in the matter of minutes. Doctors say it could help save lives. It's a new tool in the battle against coronavirus.

A different kind of co-vid 19 test. A blood test, that detects antibodies. "theres none like this in charlotte right now" starmed chief medical officer, arin piramzadian, started to worry when he realized it was hard to get a nose or throat swab test. "with the swab test theres a very limited supply of those, there very closely controled by the health department and cdc"

4/9 covid setup - the coronavirus having a tremendous impact on the economy. One-in-ten americans have lost their jobs in less than a month due to the coronavirus pandemic. New numbers from the department of labor show 6-point-6 million people filed for unemployment last week. That's on top of the 10-million workers who filed in the two weeks before. We're going to have more on all of this coming up right after a quick break.

4/10 setup - thousands more coronavirus cases are popping up across the country. There are now 465-thousand people battling the virus nationwide- that's more than italy, germany and spain *combined. And that spike in cases is having a direct impact on the economy. Jobless claims rising by the *millions for the third week in a row. 6 and a half million filed for unemployment just in the last week- bringing the total number of those out of work from this virus to a record 16 million.

4/12 us coronavirus - president trump plans to meet with his new corona virus task force this week on reopening the economy. But already his top health experts are pushing back on the president's targeted may 1st start date. They're warning more widespread testing is needed to protect the public. Nbc's jennifer johnson reports.

4/13 us coronavirus barr - the u-s has now surpassed italy with the largest coronavirus death toll in the world. But with signs that new cases are leveling off -- pressure is mounting to re-open our paralyzed economy. Alice barr is in washington with the latest.

4/14 reopening the nation - a big debate on the national stage. Who has the power to get the economy going again. The president declaring last night that the decision is up to him ... And predicting everyone else would fall in line. "i haven't asked anybody. You know why? Because i don't have to"// "we would like their cooperation - they will cooperate perfectly - watch"> but several state governors say they're already working on a plan ... Together. A group of seven states ... And another group of three states announcing joint efforts to start reopen - together and in careful phases.

4/15 warren endorses Biden - Joe Biden picked up another endorsement today. Senator, Elizabeth Warren backing her former rival for the Democratic nomination. She released a video on Twitter saying she saw Biden help re-build the economy back in 2009 and thinks he can do it now.

4/16 US coronavirus - our team coverage continues with n-b-c's Tracie Potts in our nation's capital. Where today -- the White House plans to release guidelines for governors on how to reopen their states.

4/17 setup - President Trump outlining a three-phase plan to reopen the government. Under the *first phase businesses like restaurants and movie theaters would be able to open with restrictions. The president saying *governors will decide when that happens. North Carolina governor Roy Cooper says his first priority is safety.

4/18 Trump update - President Trump addressing the nation right now about the coronavirus pandemic. The president defended his plans to reopen the economy starting in May. Experts say more testing is needed to do that, but the president says a massive capability for testing *already

4/20 coronavirus look ahead - the Carolinas have shown signs of improvement in the coronavirus fight but there's still a long way to go. With people out of work, protesters are calling for a quicker re-opening of the economy amid the pandemic. The group "re-open" n-c plans to rally Tuesday near the governor's mansion. The group says they'll do so every Tuesday as needed. Wcnc Charlotte's Lexi Wilson has what you can expect this upcoming week when it comes to easing restrictions.

4/21 Chris Hobart interview - another tough day on Wall Street. The Dow closing down more than 2 percent. Losses accelerating as oil extends a two-day plunge. Crude oil closing in the negative yesterday for the first time *ever. Meaning, producers had to pay for someone to take the oil off their hands. Today, the oil market closing around 10 dollars a barrel. For perspective - crude oil started the year off at 60 dollars a barrel!

4/23 COVID - Governor Cooper wrapping up a press conference moments ago - announcing nearly two-week extension to his executive order. Nearly 4-point-5 million people filing for unemployment benefits last week -- bringing it to a total of roughly 26-million people who have filed. Wiping out "job gains" since the 2008 recession. Now a strong national push for the country to re-open the economy.

4/24 protests - plus...new video into our newsroom from south carolina. Protestors honking their horns... Marching at the statehouse demanding state leaders to *save our economy and reopen *all businesses.

4/26 mother's day spending - hard to believe mother's day is just a few weeks away. But with so much of the economy shut down due to the coronavirus pandemic, you might need more time to splurge on mom. Only one in four americans plan to spend about the same as last year... Which was 97 dollars on average. Flowers remain the top gift. Followed by gift cards, chocolate and beauty products.

4/27 mcmaster executive order - as south carolina's retail stores were given the greenlight to open last week – today – a new push to allow hair salons the same freedoms. ((sot -- jones)) to tell them that we're going to leave the big box chain stores wide open and that you can stand in a line with 20/30 people in one of those places but you cant go get your hair done 1-on-1 or your nails, is completely – it makes no sense. State rep stewart jones of laurens – says he felt compelled to fight for local small business owners -- after this petition went viral – receiving more than 500-thousand signatures. Standing on the steps of the statehouse today in columbia -- jones says he plans to bring the signed petitions straight to the governor's desk. ((sot –jones)) they don't want to ask the government for any assistance, they want their freedom, they want to be able to run their business and run their lives. This as the state continues to take steps forward.

4/28 pride parade - back to the big news, breaking in the past few minutes. The city's largest parade and festival... Now canceled. Charlotte "pride" was scheduled for this summer. Event organizers tell w-c-n-c charlotte say the decision came down keeping folks safe and healthy during the covid-19 outbreak. This morning we're hearing from those heartbroken organizers, and even the mayor.

4/29 fed meeting today - today ... The federal reserve wraps up a two day meeting. While we're not expecting any major policy changes ... The agency could give more details on just how much damage the virus has done to our nation's economy. We're also likely to get some more details on the tools the fed has used to help stabilize the u-s economy during the coronavirus crisis.

4/30 food bank impact - the shrinking economy and the rising unemployment numbers are reflected at the nation's food banks where demand is high...and expected to grow. More than 4-million jobless claims were filed just last week ... Bringing the total to over 26 million since mid-march. Tough economic times forcing those out of work...and even some still working to get help.

5/1 reopen meck - horns honking loudly with cars making a statement— it was a unique kind of protest in this time of social distancing. "reopen north carolina absolutely. Governor cooper is moving way too slowly." cars drove around and around uptown for two hours... some with flags and others with signs... but all with the same message. "there is a safe way for us to open up workplaces and businesses and to stop crippling and killing our economy. People have got to be able to make a living. Pay their bills. Buy food. Get medical care." protesters were asked to stay in their cars, but if they did come on foot— (someone who came on foot) masks, gloves, and social distancing were encouraged. Some followed the guidance, others did not. The founder of reopen meck is calling their demonstration a success.

5/2 gaston co reopening mixed feelings - we're not saying take unnecessary risks but economy is important too. Governor cooper's stay at home order is scheduled to end next friday may 8th.

5/3 sc reopening - ahead on wake up charlotte at five... A big day for south carolina... As the state's "work or home" order is lifted, giving businesses a chance to reopen and get the economy moving again.

5/5 testing status - we're seeing mobile testing sites popping up all the time. We visited one of those today and there's a few things you need to know. Around noon today --- social distancing did not appear to be an issue -- at the antioch missionary baptist church in grier heights. We didn't find many people getting tested for coronavirus at atrium health's mobile testing site. But overall --- more than 32,000 people have now been tested in mecklenburg county. That's about 3 percent of the county's total population. And nearly 152-thousand people have been tested across north carolina--- that's about one and a half percent of the state's total population. And new state guidelines ---make it easier to be tested. Doctor ana maria temple says if you have mild symptoms ---but are at high risk -- you are now eilligible.

5/6 20 million private jobs lost - new at noon--- u.s. businesses cut an unprecedented 20-point-two million jobs in april. It's an epic collapse with coronavirus outbreaks closing offices... Factories.... Schools.... Construction sites.... And stores that propel the u.s. economy. No part of the world's largest economy was unscathed.

5/8 reopening explainer - the virus has put our economy in a hole -- yet we want to keep people safe. We're explaining exactly why many states -- including north carolina -- are deciding to reopen in *phases*.

5/9 graduation seniors - it's hard to transition into this next part of life without a kind of chapter finale or ending." "it's pretty scary to be graduating at the worst time possible in the last hundred years... i'm fearful that the economy is going to take a massive hit and no one's going to be hiring and i'm going to have a hard time finding a job and i'm gonna live at home with my mom forever." seems most companies are on a hiring freeze right.

You can still send stuff out but nobody's focusing on that right now." 2.9 million college seniors are expected to graduate this year. "i could potentially and probably will be agreeing to work at a campus i've never set foot on...it's really intimidating." .it sucks. It sucks there's really nothing to say besides that....a major let down." "you grow up and hear 'go to college and get that degree and you're going to be on the stage hearing your name called in front of everybody showing your parents you made it. Even next year if they want to push it that far i want to do that, i think i deserve to do that."

5/10 us coronavirus - the covid-19 crisis continues to hit the white house...now three members of the coronavirus task force are isolating after being exposed. And trump administration officials are warning the economy will take another hit in may. They are expecting employment numbers worse than april's historic rates.

5/11 us covid latest - when you have cases increasing, deaths increasing, healthcare workers without adequate protective equipment, and we're suddenly going back to what was once our normal lives, that's not a safe place to be. We can't do that and not expect to see a major increase in cases." these warnings ... As the virus continues to take a severe toll on the u-s economy. The white house .. Expecting may unemployment to hit twenty percent ... After april's dismal numbers. But the trump administration wants to take a minute to breathe after dropping three trillion dollars in economic stimulus ... Before planning to give out even more money.

5/12 coronavirus set up - dr. Fauci and other health officials are testifying today before the senate about reopening the economy. Some worried that reopening too quickly could be deadly. But they are hopeful that a vaccine will be available soon. Thanks for joining us for our extended coverage here on wncn charlotte. I'm ben thompson. Here in the carolinas--- we're seeing two different pictures of reopening. South carolina is moving full speed ahead---- opening businesses like salons... Gyms.... And tattoo parlors next week. However, north carolina is taking things slower.

5/13 stocks update - major averages down... Dow down xxx points. This comes after a couple comments today...first -- fed chairman jerome powell saying more needs to be done to save the economy from a prolonged recession. And that the scope and speed of this downturn is significantly worse than any recession since world war ii... With a severe decline in economic activity and in employment.

5/14 fed chair warning - now to a pretty dire warning from the chair of the federal reserve. Who says we could be facing a long recession ... Even after the virus is over. He's asking congress and the white house to do more to prevent long lasting damage to the economy. Bankruptcies among small businesses and extended unemployment could be

5/15 us coronavirus latest - in washington: lawmakers vote today on a massive package to prop up the economy - and president trump's planning a vaccine update from the white house. Tracie potts has the latest.

5/17 dirty money - money can literally at least be the root of something dangerous.. Anything that touches our hands can get on to our money and be passed" paper money, in fact, can reportedly carry more germs than a household toilet. Money is certainly not sterile and neither are our credit cards" yet, cash remains king.. In much of the economy.

5/18 sc businesses - ahead on wake up charlotte at five. South carolina taking the next step in getting its economy rolling. The businesses set to reopen today.

5/19 construction outbreaks - tanya look live: mecklenburg county and leaders in the hispanic community say it's time to send direct messages to the hispanic community— as they're seeing more than 1/3 of the cases are now among hispanicsthe skyline scattered with cranes.. New ground unearthed on construction sites daily... But now—mecklenburg county health officials say all that development—contributing to an unhealthy development reports of coronavirus outbreaks at construction sites.

5/20 sc latest - we can't keep things close forever the constitution doesn't allow it neither does common sense or neither would the economy we'll post the entire list of businesses that can now open inside the wcnc charlotte mobile app.

5/21 new unemployment numbers - new numbers in this morning show more than two-point-four million americans filed for unemployment benefits last week. Since the economy shut down in order to slow the spread of the coronavirus-- nearly 39-million people have filed for first time unemployment.

5/22 dads and grad gifts - it's a moment of glory years in the making. It was going to be a celebration that made it all worth it you know. But mato seth, like millions of other graduates... Didn't get the recognition they'd hoped for" it was you know me sitting at home instead of all the normal festivities" after four years at yale he's now the proud owner of a degree... But faces an uncertain economy.

5/25 reopen nc - today supporters of reopen n-c planned to rally in five cities across the state. The group asked people to join them in raleigh, greensboro, asheville, wilmington, and right here in charlotte—protesting governor cooper's executive order. Re-open nc supporters believe the covid-19 data does not support the damage being done to the economy.

5/27 trash to ppe - to hear amy aussieker tell it, the future of our planet runs right through this old charlotte warehouse. "we are at the innovation barn which will be the center place for the circular economy which is what charlotte is doing to transition to a more sustainable future." aussieker says they'll build that future by diverting waste from the landfill and into new products. "we're gonna have a precious plastics lab and the first project that we're gonna do is the ppe." ppe - personal protection device. The folks at envision charlotte say they can make it out old take out containers, but they need the public's help.

5/29 nc bars - we want to get our message through to the governor's office that bars can open safely. We can be just as safe as restaurants, breweries, distilleries, and wineries. We're not asking for any special treatment. We're merely asking for equal treatment." governor cooper said today he wants to get the economy reignited in a safe way, but he believes this legislation has the potential to harm public health.

6/1 south park protest - "i can't breathe. For nine minutes." the voices of protestors heard in solidarity. I can't breathe. Nine minutes." on a corner bordering southpark mall— "no justice, no peace." this group stood with signs held high and a message to everyone passing by. "we're all human, and humanity is right. Pressing down on this man's neck with your knee for nine minutes with your hand in your pocket and you're looking god knows where, you can hear him crying for mom. You can hear him saying, 'i can't breathe.' and there's no humanity in that? Where's the justice?" the entrances to southpark mall closed to the public-- with barricades and patrol vehicles blocking the way in. "we know that violence didn't work. We know that non-violence didn't work, so now it's time to hit them where it hurts, and that's the economy." the demonstration remained peaceful with young people leading the way... With older generations supporting the movement.

6/3 vulnerable zip codes - we've learned some zip codes have a few hundred people in that age group but others have thousands.

And after you see what we found---you might think twice about social distancing. For 91 year-old virginia chambers --- virginia chambers i'm very concerned caution has replaced companionship.

Chambers i have not seen anyone since the shutdown instead of venturing out --- she's forced to accept vulnerability. Chambers with my breathing problem, if i get pneumonia or the virus it may do me in. In fact -- it is the exception not the rule ---for her to leave home at al

6/4 rnc latest - when you thnkn about the contracts that the city has signed with the rnc, the contracts the rnc has signed with the other vendors it's gonna really have a staggering hit on charlotte and region economy r-n-c officials say, it's possible some of the secondary events will remain here in charlotte-- but nominating night will move elsewhere.

6/6 joe biden clinches nomination - after tuesday's primaries - in seven states and the district of columbia. Former vice president joe biden has now pulled together the 1-thousand 991 delegates needed to become the democratic nominee to face off against president trump in november. The biden camp releasing a statement last night which reads in part-a little more than three months ago i stood on stage in south carolina and told the american people that ours was a campaign for everyone who has been knocked down, counted out, and left behind.

6/10 us fed reserve - the u-s federal reserve board is meeting for a 2nd day to discuss the state of the economy. No actions on rates or policy are expected - but chairman jerome powell will hold a briefing afterwards. The fed is expected to release its quarterly economic and interest rate forecasts - which it declined to do during the height of the coronavirus crisis in march.

6/12 napa valley reopens - as the u-s continues to deal with the coronavirus pandemic... Businesses are trying to figure out how to make a profit while keeping their customers safe. The travel and hospitality industries have been particularly hard hit. Now, businesses in one popular u-s leisure destination say they're ready to welcome guests back.

6/15 risk of reopening - many people head back out - coronavirus numbers in north carolina are headed in the wrong direction.

(dr. Ryan shelton/tryon medical partners) "everyday is busy again"

A rise in cases was to be expected with phase 2. More people are out - and some have been more lenient with safety guidelines.

(dr. David geier) "i think there is naturally some fatigue with any of these measures, people sort of let their guard down and stop doing them maybe a little sooner than they should" our neighbors to the south have looser restrictions - and are also seeing a surge in cases. Several restaurants in myrtle beach are closing their doors again - after employees tested positive for covid.

6/16 stock update - some good news for wall street today...after retail sales soared in may. There was a record 17.7 percent increase last month. That's well above the forecast 8 percent. There's also optimism for a potential coronavirus treatment...

Dexamethasone... And there's talk as well... About more stimulus spending. The trump administration is reportedly preparing a nearly $1 trillion infrastructure proposal... Intended to help jumpstart the economy. The dow ended the day up xxx points.

6/18 meck masks - we got to remove all the politics out of this, we have to realize strong people wear face masks because it's a sign of compassion and that you actually care about people" governor roy coopthis is a low cost, low tech way to protect ourselves and our communities" right now, face coverings are only mandatory for employees at personal care salons. But that soon could change. The governor currently working through issues surrounding a statewide requirement. It is clear. Face masks will help stop the spread of covid-19.

6/21 trump tulsa rally - president trump.. Back on the campaign trail for the first time in more than three-months.. A return, that comes after a rough couple of weeks for the white house: rebuked by the supreme court on cases involving lgbtq rights and immigration.. Social media messages censored.. The pending release of a book by his former national security advisor john bolton.. Who's called him "unfit to govern.." and a spike in covid-19 cases in many areas.. Including tulsa.

6/22 phase 3 confusion wedding venues, bars, and gyms in north carolina are still closed—hoping for an announcement that the state will move forward into phase three later this week. Homesteads events in gastonia loves to make wedding dreams come to life— "as you can see, we've got the tables separated by six foot." now those dreams will most likely need to include social distancing and sanitation guidelines if and when venues are allowed to reopen. "it's frustrating that other businesses are allowed to have 150, 200, even a thousand people in their businesses at a time with not near the contact tracing, the special precautions that we can take in our industry that no others can." wedding ceremonies have no capacity limits due to first amendment rights-- but indoor receptions can only have 10 people. "we can have a thousand people for a ceremony, which is kind of ironic, but then when we come here, we can only have 10 so you gotta pick your 10 best friends." bars in the state are stuck in a similar predicament. "it's frustrating to watch customers walk by our shuttered bars and climb up, you know, onto the patio next door and continue to drink. They don't have to order food. They can have that same beer they were going to get at my bar if they go sit inside a restaurant and have that same drink." the north carolina bar and tavern association says 85 percent of the state's abc permit holders have been allowed to reopen--while private bars remain closed. "treat bars the exact same as restaurant bars, hotel bars, brewery bars." state officials are not ready to say if the state will move into phase three and what businesses, if any, will be allowed to reopen. "we are trying to find the right balance here between reigniting the economy and protecting the public health." governor cooper said he will make an announcement about whether the state will move into phase three at the first of this week.

6/24 masks wednesday - thinking of leaving your house without a face covering? Think again. "it's definitely going to be a big change; i feel like it's not going to make me go outside as often" "i think it's a small price to pay for somebodies' life" people must wear face coverings all public spaces, indoors or outdoors, where social distancing isn't possible. This layer of protection will be required for all employees and customers in retail stores and restaurants. Cooper (around 10:36;27) "face coverings are a simple way to control this virus while protecting ourselves our families and the other people around us" there are exceptions for those with medical conditions and children under 11 years old. You don't have to wear a mask at home, or if you are outside walking or if social distancing is possible. "i urge everyone to be a leader in wearing face coverings, i encourage businesses to be strong in enforcing it, slowing the spread helps our economy" business could face citations for violating the mandate. But where can you get a face covering? You can buy online at amazon or etsy.

6/25 supporting black owned businesses - its been pretty hectic.. For the past couple weeks i think our business has at least doubled" gregory williams and jamie barnes are coowners of the what the fries food truck "in a few minutes its gonna be a whole bunch of people out here" in fact.. This was the line of people from the moment they opened on thursday waiting to get a taste "its always been pretty busy for us.. But this just took us to the next level" their food truck is just one of the posts you'll find on the clt black owned instagram, a page that's blown up in recent weeks "we have over 14k and the page hasn't even been up for a month yet it was just like wow this is crazy" madeline carothers her husband jeff and friend ashley creft created the page

"i think its giving people a lot of ways to give back to the black community that's a lot of the time forgotten about" barnes says its something they've seen as a business owner... "a lot of black owned businesses get pushed to the back.. They don't get noticed how they should" even a quick search for fashion advice on hair or makeup won't show black women.. Unless it's specified "i think its important to know that, there's somebody that looks like me that has a business that i can patronize" facebook has also added has a lift black voices section.. Where users can find black resources, donation opportunities, and conversations. "black people are america..." [notes:this is mos, al-malik] its why al-malik sharpe tries to support whenever he can.. "forever weve always seemed like weve been stepped on.. So i feel like its important to support black people, and by that way, we're supporting the economy" you can find more information on the charlotte black owned instagram on our website

6/28 coronavirus - in florida... A record number of confirmed coronavirus cases for the second straight day: more than 95-hundredit does follow a increase in testing... But the percentage of positive tests has been steadily growing over the past two weeks, as well the surge causing florida's governor to ban people from drinking in bars... Blaming the young for the surge. There was widespread noncompliance, and that led to issues a tough blow for businesses which reopened just three weeks ago...

6/29 It gov lawsuit - one person in the position of governor or secretary of health is not allowed by law to shutdown large swaths of the economy indefinitely. Governor cooper has not followed the law you can read more about this lawsuit on our website at wnc dot com or download our mobile app.

4/1 bills due - with stay-at home orders still in place and businesses closed – millions are out of work. Data from the us labor department shows more than 3 million people have already filed for unemployment. And many more are waiting on money from the $2.2 trillion coronavirus relief package -- including kaylee harold – a massage therapist in dilworth whose office closed nearly two weeks ago. I need that money. I have bills to pay. So what do you do when the bills are coming in and the money isn't? Lets start with rent – experts say first, reach out to your landlord or property manager and tell them about your situation. Second, if you reach an agreement, get it in writing. And third – experts say you should reach out to non-profit, religious charity and government assistance programs.

4/2 uber measures - uber is trying to help those essential workers get where they need to go. The company is pledging 10 million free rides to healthcare professionals, government employees and more. Uber is also partnering with food banks to help deliver meals to families in need.

4/3 small business forum - if you own a small business in charlotte -- here's something to check out. Tomorrow -- charlotte city government is hosting a coronavirus small business forum. 4/7 stimulus check - is the stimulus check an advance for taxes 2020?" we've also received a number of emails wondering if you have to pay taxes on the stimulus checks. So that's what we're verify-ing. Are the stimulus checks an advance of credit for 2020 taxes? And do you have to pay taxes on them? Our sources are the cares act itself - and the irs and us department of the treasury along with information from senator dianne feinstein. So quick recap: the cares act - which passed in late march - includes stimulus money for multiple businesses and a large chunk- to help american taxpayers. The bill uses your 2018 or 2019 tax returns to determine if you qualify for a payment based on your income. It basically boils down to this: adults who filed taxes get 1,200 each and their qualifying children get 500. If your adjusted gross income exceeds 75-thousand individually or 150-thousand for joint filings - the amount of the credit decreases for adjusted gross incomes up to 99 thousand for an individual or 198-thousand for a joint filing.

4/8 chinese american mask donation - chinese americans say masks are a part of their culture -- they wear them for most any illness or even for allergies -- so hearing that there was a shortage of ppe -- a local group of chinese americans combined their personal stashes – and today donated them here. Charlotte resident faye liu, has first-hand experience with deadly viral outbreaks. I had experience in sars back in 2003, i was visiting my family in china, so i got locked down in beijing. 4/18 us coronavirus - despite pleas from governors.. President trump and his medical experts .. Insisting there is enough testing capacity for coronaries for large chunks of the economy to reopen. We've built sufficient testing capacity nationwide for states to begin reopening. The president's task force promising millions of tests will be available by the end of may. And that not every american will need one.

4/19 coronavirus - new numbers here at home... Show covid-19 cases continue to climb in the carolinas.. But also, signs that progress is being made ... And talks are increasing about when and how to reopen businesses.

4/20 nursing home rules - the federal government releasing new guidelines for nursing homes- to report covid-19 cases. They are now *required to inform residents, their families, and local leaders about any outbreaks. The homes will also report cases and deaths directly to the c-d-c- so they can study the data more efficiently.

4/21 drone surveillance - as local governments across the country struggle to enforce social distancing orders-- some are turning to technology for help. In elizabeth, new jersey authorities are taking to the sky to make sure people are following guidelines. Nbc's rehema ellis has more on the new enforcement technique.

4/22 social security deadline - an important deadline if you receive social security. Today is the last day to claim your dependent children- and receive that extra 500 dollars in stimulus money. You have until noon today- to file on the government's website.

4/23 airport taskforce - the industry is going to change. How people travel, customers preferences when they're in the airport, how they park-- all of those things will be fundamentally changed." the little bit of good news--- the terminal lobby expansion is still continuing and the airport received 135-million dollars from the federal government.

4/24 wrightsville beach parking - wrightsville beach is open with some strict rules in place, but not everyone's happy about it.

Their issue - the parking. Wrightsville's mayor is getting pushback as public parking remains closed -- making it difficult for many people to get on the beach. Local attorneys are questioning the legality of the situation. One attorney says public access to waterways and beaches is a right in the constitution, and while governments are allowed to have closures under a state of emergency, the closures must be reasonable.

4/26 nursing home rules - the federal government is releasing new guidelines for nursing homes to report covid-19 cases. They are now *required to inform residents, their families, and local leaders about any outbreaks. The homes will also report cases and deaths directly to the c-d-c- so they can study the data more efficiently.

4/27 spain kids go outside - kids in spain got a taste of freedom following a six-week lockdown. The country is now allowing kids to go outside for one hour a day within about a mile of their home. The government there says next weekend adults will also be allowed out to exercise. But officials say if the fatality numbers start rising again, the restrictions will be retightened.

4/28 sc restaurant defies order - the last straw is good friends of mine who own businesses telling me through phone calls that, 'weldon, i'm not going to be able to re-open. I'm going to lose my business.' that's where the last straw came from." weldon boyd has owned buoys on the boulevard for three years. He'd set aside a few months worth in savings in case the business came on hard times, but not this hard. "we were told to put all of our people on unemployment. Yeah, that's a joke. Half my people still can't even get paid from the state. We've done everything on our end, but it's not working." weldon decided to reopen his outdoor seating, despite the governor's executive order still being in place. He put four tables outside, spaced several feet apart. Boyd said he had hundreds of people come and eat over the weekend and got emails from people across the country in support.

4/29 us testing international travelers - the president says his administration is also considering making travelers on certain international flights ... Go through virus checks before entering the country. President trump says he's not really sure how it will work yet. It could be done by the federal government ... Or he could leave it up to the airlines

4/30 fda remdesivir - government officials say a new coronavirus drug trial is showing promising results. A study found patients treated with 'remdesivir' (rem-deh-severe) recovered 31-percent faster. Officials say it could get f-d-a approval for emergency use by the end of today.

5/1 virus outbreak congress - meanwhile ... In washington ... House democrats say state and local governments are asking for a collective trillion dollars in help with coronavirus costs. Speaker nancy pelosi acknowledged that they might not be able to give that much in federal aid ... But said money for the frontline is the highest priority.

5/3 coronavirus -right now on wncn charlotte - signs that life back to "new normal" may be closer than you think... But are people listening when asked to social distance..to prevent another shutdown? A look locally and nationally as the battle wages on.

5/4 clt microbusiness - charlotte's smallest businesses can apply for some much needed relief. The "micro business relief fund" will support 100 local businesses with 5 employees or less. Each business will receive up to 10-thousand dollars in grants. You can apply on the city government's website starting at noon.

5/5 bring back business safety - they spoke about how to reopen businesses safely. What guidelines to follow, how to sanitize and disinfect their spaces... Keeping employees and customers safe remains a top priority for many owners. Some say they're just excited to get back to work... And not relying on the government to stay afloat. Social distancing is a term that doesn't seem to be going away any time soon.

5/6 trump in az - now ... To arizona ..the site of president trump's first major trip outside of d - c in recent weeks. He toured a factory making n-95 masks for the federal government. Talking to workers ... The president praised the masks .... Calling them "perfection" to "protect heroic" health careworkers. He also took a moment at a roundtable discussion to turn talks back to re-opening the country.

5/7 sc nursing home testing - lisa: it is a huge undertaking but i have faith that they're going to be able to do that and it's awesome. I thought it was great. Governor mcmaster says the federal government will fund the massive testing effort.

5/8 bridgegate thrown out - the supreme court is throwing out the "bridge gate" scandal. In a unanimous decision, the court says the government overreached in prosecuting bridget kelly and bill baroni for their roles in a political payback scheme. The two created a massive traffic jam to punish a new jersey mayor who refused to endorse then-governor chris christie.

5/10 wh virus invasion - 3 top officials u-s now in self quarantine - after possible exposure to covid-19. The white house working to calm fears... As people question if the president and vice president should now self-quarantine.

5/11 remdesivir to 6 states - the federal government is shipping hundreds of cases of 'remdesivir' to six states. The experimental drug has shown some promise in treating covid-19. The f-d-a approved the drug for emergency use a few weeks ago. But since then, many hospitals have had trouble actually getting the drug.

5/12 stimulus direct deposit deadline - an important deadline is coming up -- for those of you who haven't yet received your stimulus check.

Wednesday is the last day you'll be able to enter your banking information to get a direct deposit from the government.

After wednesday, the i-r-s will begin preparing *paper checks.

Those will start arriving late this month and into early next month.

5/13 stimulus deadline - time is running out to get your coronavirus stimulus check deposited directly into your bank account. So what do you need to do? Let's connect the dots. In order to receive a direct deposit from the irs you have to go to its website... irs dot gov... by noon today. If the irs doesn't get your information in time you will still get a check... it will just come in the mail and it might not get there until june. People making less than 75-thousand dollars are eligible to get 12-hundred dollars from the federal government -- with five hundred dollars added for each qualifying child.

The government has already sent payments to 130 million people. This new deadline is for anyone who hasn't received their payments yet. The better business bureau is warning a lot of scams are popping up related to this stimulus payment. The irs will *not* contact you directly for information about your stimulus check -- and you do not have to hand over any money to get it. And that's connecting the dots.

5/14 coronavirus setup - just a short time ago -- inside this building behind me -- local government leaders said -- there's no indication that we've already seen the peak of the covid-19 pandemic in mecklenburg county... And in fact they're expecting "many more" infections this fall and winter. Statewide -- we're seeing a spike in new cases.

691 since yesterday ... That's the *biggest one day increase since the pandemic began. But during a news conference this afternoon -- health officials pointed out -- we have to look at the overall trend.

5/15 nc prison worker protection - meanwhile north carolina government is offering widespread testing and p-p-e to employees in state prisons starting next week.

It will also be available to employees who supervise offenders in the community. Governor roy cooper says packages of personal protective equipment are also being sent to each of the state's 38 hundred long-term care facilities. More than half of the state's covid-19-related deaths have involved nursing home residents.

5/16 weekly recap - thanks to everyone sending us questions throughout the week. It helps us spot the viral claims and rumors and break down what's really going on. First up - this viral image about fake stimulus checks and security measures that let you know your check is real. We checked with the ftc and treasury department - and they confirmed...fake checks are a scam they're monitoring.

5/17 feeding immigrants - this is a matter of getting food to this community but also to helping their kids stay on track with school as much as possible - proving to be very difficult when many still don't have access to wifi. I think its scary for everyone But especially for charlotteans who are new to the country – immigrant and refugee families.

Our bridge is a non-profit that typically works with these kids serving them in an after school program – but since the pandemic hit, they've switched gears in a big way. A lot of our families are losing their jobs and undocumented families aren't eligible for a stimulus checks and for lot of the benefits that the government gives they realized quickly that many of the families they work with were going hungry and the meals the schools had prepared for delivery weren't enough. We would go to the school pick it up, take it to the neighborhood, it was gone within minutes

5/18 churches - governor cooper reiterating... indoor areas .. Including churches ... remain a risk for contracting covid-19... already in the queen city.. We've seen some churches heed his advice.. While others.. Held service inside over the weekend..

Tom chidester, pastor harvest church charlotte: it was not a question would we have church. Rob hughes: the decision was easy for pastor tom chidester of harvest church charlotte. But not everyone was so eager to bring people back together.

Reverend lori archer raible selwyn avenue presbyterian sot: i just don't think it's easy as turning a light switch on. Rob hughes: reverend lori raible and more than 70 other charlotte area clergy members coincidentally released a joint statement late last week before the judge's order.

5/19 lincoln co restaurant - the owner says it's been busy since they opened at seven this morning. Just take a look at the parking lot behind me --- jammed with customers. And it comes after he was cited for violated the governor's order. On a rainy tuesday --

The parking lot of this restaurant nearly overflowing. It's been unreal, unreal people from different counties coming in it comes as owner and lincoln county commissioner chair – caroll mitchem --- remains defiant against the governor executive order. It prohibits restaurants from allowing customers to dine in. I got the citation and i continue to stay open for business the lincoln county sheriff's office charged him with a misdemeanor --- for violating the order.

5/20 us coronavirus - president trump - on the growing number of coronavirus cases in the u.s., now topping one and a half million: really it's badge of honor. It's a great tribute to the testing all of the work professional have done. Nbc confirms an associated press report that the administration is recruiting doctors to publicly support reopening more quickly. The president went unmasked to talk election strategy on capitol hill - where senators remain split on whether to pump another three trillion dollars into the economy.

5/21 federal loan program - some of those impacted are health care businesses that work directly with the most vulnerable patients. Now, a local congresswoman is calling for a federal investigation. Too many small business owners feel craig rae's pain... "it's been very, very difficult." his salisbury medical equipment store is one more victim of the struggling economy.

5/22 sc remdesivir update - south carolina is now treating dozens of patients with the emergency drug remdesivir (rem-des-uh-veer). The federal government gave the state enough doses to treat 66 people. In a clinical trial- remdesivir was shown to shorten recovery time in some patients.

5/24 shootings - right now on wncn charlotte...a violent saturday night on the streets of charlotte gave way to a violent morning! The very latest on two people shot overnight - and reports of nearly a dozen shot in separate incidents saturday.

5/25 feds tracking spending - here's been no shortage of misinformation about those stimulus checks given to millions of americans. Maybe you saw news stories about the latest development.. The treasury sending debit cards to millions of americans – instead of paper checks...that prompted posts like this... people claiming this will allow the government to "track how you spend the money.

5/26 coronavirus scam costs - coronavirus scams are becoming costly for americans. More than 52-thousand americans have already filed complaints over fraud related to covid-19. The total reported losses is nearly 39-million dollars. A reminder from experts--- never give credit card or other personal information to anyone over the phone-- and don't click on unknown links in emails. You should also never answer the door for someone claiming to be from the government, unless they can show proper identification.

5/27 rnc folo - as debate on rnc continues between national and local leaders...local businesses and government agencies say they're ready for the rnc" just in the last 90 minutes...lieutenant governor dan forest slams governor roy cooper's handling of the rnc convention this month. Forest...a republican who's trying to unseat cooper...says "if governor cooper wants the economic boom that a convention brings to a state, then he is responsible for putting together the rules to make that happen."

5/28 contract tracing apps - show endless scroll of posts because we're seeing it thousands of times on facebook. Quote..."to all my contacts who intend to install this covid-19 app "healthy together"...please delete me from your phone contact list and facebook." it then claims the app will know all of your contacts - and facebook friends. But is it true? We're verifying: will these apps automatically give your contacts and facebook information to the developers?

5/29 setup - now to your top coronavirus headlines-south carolina will remain under a state of emergency- for at least two more weeks. The governor just extended the measure through june 11th. It allows him to call for assistance from the federal government- and put special rules in place until the pandemic is over. Right now- More than 40 million americans have lost their jobs because of covid-19. While unemployment is at a record high- the latest jobs report shows fewer people applying for unemployment each week- as more businesses reopen across the country.

5/31 open - now at six--- state of emergency. Charlotte's mayor has put the city under a state of emergency after violent protests. Local leaders are calling for protesters to do so peacefully...you have the right to protest and to do it in a way that you can hold your head up high and make a difference demonstrator took to the streets once again... Calling for justice over the death of minnesota man, george floyd. The news at six starts right now.

6/1 trump national unrest - several cities -- including our nation's capital -- are recovering from fiery protests over the weekend -- over the death of george floyd. While the federal government offered some assistance -- president trump reportedly resisted efforts to make a national address to try to calm the unrest. Alice barr reports from washington.

6/2 government center protest - we're expecting more protests today in the charlotte area. That includes a peaceful one at the government center this evening. Today's protest - organized by "kids fed up" and the n-double-a-c-p it's planned for 4-45 today.

6/3 government protest - a massive crowd gathered in uptown charlotte- to peacefully protest police brutality. You can see hundreds taking a knee in honor of george floyd. The crowd marched to the government center. Some c-m-p-d officers walked alongside them.

6/4 obama carter react - two leaders calling for change. Former president barack obama saying it starts at the ballot box. You've communicated a sense of urgency that is as powerful and as transformative as anything that i've seen in recent years. And former president jimmy carter - releasing a statement - saying in part, "humanity is beautifully and infinitely diverse...we need a government as good as its people. We are better than this." that's your morning rush- more news in less time.

6/5 freedom drive protest - as the country honors george floyd -- so does the queen city. Hundreds of people gathered in freedom park to pay their respects... Writing messages to his family on banners that will soon be given to them.

6/6 bars reopen - the bill would have allowed bars to reopen in outdoor areas. It would have also limited the power of the governor and local officials to shut down bars if there was a spike in new cases. In a statement cooper said "state and local government leaders must be able to act quickly during the covid-19 emergency to prevent a surge in cases that could overwhelm hospitals and harm the public."

Bar owners say they don't understand why they cant re-open when restaurant and breweries can.

6/7 uptown protests night - "this is something for my people" for the past week, walter wright has taken to the streets of uptown charlotte.

Horrified by the death of george floyd, wright felt compelled to act. "its going to really challenge our government and the people that are in charge at cmpd" the message here isn't just justice for floyd.

It's justice for all who have experienced racism and police brutality. "i feel like we should all be treated the same, all treated equally"

"do you think that change is possible? Honestly i do, if everyone comes together i do"

6/8 clergy die in - this morning, multiple faith leaders from churches across charlotte united for a protest outside the city's government center. They were demanding reform within the charlotte-mecklenburg police department. Among the issues discussed was de-militarizing the police force and instilling severe penalties for officers who don't wear or don't activate their body cameras while interacting with the public. In honor of lives lost at the hands of police--- the protesters laid on the ground.

6/9 clt scuffle with police - protestors clashed with police in uptown.

Take a look at this video of a cmpd police captain attempting to fight off a crowd of protesters - outside the government building in uptown. This is the second time this particular officer has gotten in a scuffle with protesters in as many days. 27-year-old 'james marciano' was arrested -- and charged.

C-m-p-d is looking for others involved.

6/12 cct first amendment protesters - the first amendment protects religious practice, speech, the press and the right to assemble and petition the government.

So generally, yes, it protects protesters. But there are still restrictions on how you can express yourself. For example, protesters have the most rights on public land, like sidewalks and parks. This would include places like lafayette park or the national mall. But if you assemble on private property without the permission of the landowner, that is considered trespassing and is not protected. If protesters plan to shut down streets, in most places they need a permit. Many of the arrests we've seen lately also occur when protesters are out past a city's curfew. After curfew, law enforcement can declare a demonstration as an "unlawful assembly" and begin arresting people. Additionally, rioting, threats and damage to property are not protected forms of free speech and therefore, are not protected by the first amendment. But it's worth noting, just because police can legally arrest people who breach these guidelines, it doesn't mean it's the most prudent course of action. In many cases, there's a lot of grey area. Many police departments have come under fire for arresting peaceful groups or using excessive force, tactics which critics say are only making tensions worse.

6/14 blm mural - the 'black lives matter' mural in charlotte has been defaced.. The efforts to restore the new painting this morning.

6/15 ft mill confederate symbols - drive around downtown fort mill.. And you see a lot of streets names— with historic ties. But, what's in a name? A name means a lot. A name means a lot for diane gleen... 3:00 i never, ever brought my children here a lot of hurt. Diane gleen/lives in fort mill 2:39 it's just appalling butt to 2:20 when you see these monuments and those flags, it just sets you back it takes you back and it's damaging which is why she and about two dozen others.. Gathered in the heart of fort mill.. At confederate park... nats of speaker on bullhorn calling on new name for this old park... and some of the street signs tied to confederate leaders, and wealthy slave owners. Molly anderson/event organizer 350 i just want something to happen, we've lived like this for too long it's time for a change it really is but in south carolina—it's not as simple as a town council or a mayor changing a name. There's something called the heritage act. In order for a name change to happen, a local town council has to petition state government.. And then 2/3 of both the house and senate have to approve that name change.

Anderson 1:54 a ridiculous oversight of legislative power, it's a absolute waste of time.

6/16 across the carolinas - tomorrow marks five years since the charleston shooting at emanuel a-m-e church. Today -- congressman jim clyburn -- the house majority whip -- will take part in a virtual discussion about the documentary 'emanuel'. The documentary is available through several services -- including starz, prime video, and i-tunes.

6/18 floyd flag - the day after george floyd's funeral - his brother philonese floyd testified before the us house judiciary committee. And after his testimony - speaker of the house nancy pelosi tweeted photos showing her give philonise a us flag that quote "flew over the capitol on the day of his brother's murder." for the last week - this gift - has led to articles and social media posts. It show article: "pelosi gifts george floyd's brother folded american flag reserved only for fallen veterans. Claiming that folded america flags are only meant to be given to the families of fallen veterans.

So is that true?

6/20 trump rally -campaign rally commotion. The president.. Appearing to threaten protesters at his first in-person event in months.. As campgian organizers look to contain another concern.

6/21 covid bars and restaurants - set backs and shutdowns for some restaurants in the queen city.. Others getting back to business and hoping they're not next - as the coronavirus takes a toll on local businesses.

6/22 ppp loans - the federal government is now promising to release the names of businesses that received paycheck protection program loans, and how much coronavirus relief they received. The change comes after lawmakers and small businesses raised concerns about p-p-p. The defenders' nate morabito previously uncovered widespread delays and large loans given to publicly traded companies. In this "where's the money" update. .he learned the program is about to become much more transparent.

6/23 gun tax - there's a *new* online rumor that the government is pushing to tax your guns and ammo. The verify team has the facts - right after the break.

6/24 ctd mandated masks effects - for some -- the debate over face masks has become a political fight -- but new facts are emerging about what happened in states that mandated their use. Let's connect the dots. When coronavirus started to spread in the u-s -- governments in at least 15 states and the district of columbia issued orders requiring face masks. A new study by the university of iowa looks at what happened after those orders were put in place. It found that up to 450-thousand cases may have been prevented by those mandates.

6/25 federal funding covid 19 test - it's time to connect the dots -- when we make the news make sense. A controversial move by the federal government. They announced they are pulling funding for more than a dozen testing sites. And local leaders worry this could have lasting impacts.

6/26 airline ceo's at wh - the c-e-o's of the major u-s airlines are set to hold a meeting at the white house today. It's to discuss several coronavirus-related travel issues. That includes a push to convince the federal government to mandate temperature checks for passengers. The talks will also include the possibility of more restrictions by the european union on u-s travelers.

6/28 coronavirus latest - startling new numbers in the fight to curb covid 19. And now that masks are being forced to wear masks for safety.. Are people now failing to follow other guidelines in place(?) A look at the new fallout that people may be creating.

6/29 remdesivir cost - the cost of remdisivir has been released. And gilead sciences say -- it will charge over 23-hundred dollars for a treatment course for people covered by government programs in the u-s. The cost will be over three-thousand dollars for americans with *private* insurance. Gilead says -- the amount people who will have to pay out of pocket... Will depend on individual insurance plans. Gilead will begin charging for the drug next month.

6/30 scam alert - scams on the rise. The federal government says covid-19 related scams are *skyrocketing. How you can keep you and your money safe.

health

4/1 wild wings café - before we go tonight, we want to share something good in our community. Wild wing café here in charlotte is taking care of healthcare workers. The restaurant donated 50 fresh, boxed lunches to those battling the coronavirus crisis.

4/2 panic buying - as the coronavirus pandemic spreads in the u-s... People continue to converge on grocery stores... Some still buying up everything in sight. But are they getting prepared or panic buying? Crammed carts.. Store shelves stripped bare. Even gun sales... Skyrocketing. A continued buying frenzy... Still going weeks into the pandemic.

4/3 white house cloth masks - grab those cloth masks before hitting the store. The white house and c-d-c are expected to recommend that people start wearing them in public. But it's important to note - wearing a mask is *not* a substitute for social distancing. Health officials also say you should *not* be using n-95 masks. Those are for healthcare workers only.

4/4 nurse demands - frontline health care workers at new york's city's mount sinai hospital are demanding additional protective measures. Friday morning, nurses and doctors held a demonstration calling for more personal protective equipment. We don't want to be your body bags. I don't want to be your body bags. I want you to take this seriously. I want you to give us the equipment that we need to provide safe quality care for our patients. They're also calling for free testing for workers who've been exposed to the virus or have symptoms of infection.

4/5 covid - our top story this sunday... 3 more deaths this weekend in the carolinas ... One right here in mecklenburg county, one in york county.. Another in burke county. This news coming as the number of confirmed cases shows *no signs* of slowing down anytime soon. Our current number of cases in mecklenburg county is 650 .. That's 49 more than this time yesterday. The latest victim - was 78 years old... And had underlying health conditions.

4/6 finger prick testing - and soon knowing if you were exposed to covid-19 could be as simple as pricking your finger- and picking up your smartphone. A company called scanwell health is working on an at-home blood test- to show if your immune system has developed coronavirus antibodies.that would mean your body has already fought off the virus. Scanwell is waiting on clearance from the fda.

4/7 city council update - c-m-p-d chief kerr putney ... Also warned that there could be more restrictions on places like public parks.

That decision would have to come from the county health director ... Ultimately. But chief putney says people were out and about this past weekend ... And not social distancing ... Even after officers issued more than a dozen citations ... And arrested eight people ... At a protest ... For violating the stay at home order.

4/8 disney honors medical workers - going blue to say "thank you. Disney world is lighting its iconic cinderella's castle in blue to honor medical workers on the frontline of the coronavirus crisis. Staff members also spelled out thank you throughout the orlando, florida park to honor "world health day." a nice gesture from the "happiest place on earth".

4/9 novant clinical trial - and as virus cases continue to grow this morning ... Passing up four-hundred thousand cases nationwide ... The need for ventilators keeps growing ... But one drug that's being tested right here in the queen city at novant health is hoping to change that. Doctors say the drug may help stop inflammation in the lungs. That could keep patients off ventilators. "this is really a model that we've used to take care of patients with cancer and other diseases where we really change the course of their illnesses." trials are going on right now in charlotte ... Winston salem ... And salisbury. The long term goal is to get it approved by the f-d-a.

4/10 costco healthcare workers priority - and speaking of a salute to healthcare workers. Costco ... Also offering up a gesture of support. The chain ... Now letting healthcare workers and first responders cut in line. Costco says because they're so important to the fight against the coronavirus ... Doctors ... Nurses ... Police officers ... E-m-t's and others will be given priority access. Just show a membership card and an employee i-d badge to get the access.

4/11 tp troubles plumbers warning - listen up - a warning this morning for people attempting to flush wipes and paper towels. Officials say the materials are creating problematic backups in the city's sewer systems. The problem got so bad in west palm beach... Extra crews were called in to try and clear the lines. Backups there have gotten so bad they could lead to public health and environmental hazards. They warn in could happen anywhere - as people search for alternatives due to current shortages of toilet paper.

4/12 novant health parade - they're sounds usually heard during an emergency... Yesterday... They were sounds of appreciation. Matthews police, fire and other agencies lined the streets around novant hospital to honor the hard working medical professionals, custodial and support staff inside. They say it's their way of showing their unwavering support for those workers.

4/13 google changes - google is rolling out changes to make it easier to find virtual health care options. The company will highlight more tele-health services in search results. Those have seen a surge in demand during the virus outbreak. Health care providers that offer a virtual option will be able to add a link on their business profile. If they have a page dedicated to information about covid-19, google will automatically surface a link to that page as well.

4/14 noda brewery healthcare workers - noda brewing has created a special beer... To honor our heroes on the front lines. The brewery released "zuper heroes"...a percent of the sales from the batch is being donated to "22 and you" to support healthcare workers in the carolinas. You can pick up your case or growler of the new beer at noda's drive-thru.

4/15 atrium mobile testing - local hospital systems are rolling out new testing sites this week. 'Atrium health' is using its mobile medical units at two new sites to serve charlotte's minority communities. We're told they will be able to screen and immediately test for covid-19.

4/16 meck co face mask recommendation - grab your face mask. Mecklenburg county health officials now recommending we all wear cloth face masks in public. Specifically - they say we should wear them in places where it's hard to social distance. And remember to *wash your mask every day.

4/17 amazon workers test positive - the virus isn't slowing down deliveries... But as workers who handle your packages fall ill... There's growing concern about if the virus can be passed onto you, just by taking your packages inside. Tonight -- two more charlotte amazon employees now have covid-19. The online shopping and delivery giant -- confirms two workers at the clt2 fulfillment center on old dowd road are now in isolation after contracting the virus. This is the third case at this location alone. It means there have now been at least 5 local amazon workers with the virus. ((all the surfaces at this point, we should consider as infected)) fedex also confirming some of their employees have the virus, too -- but won't say where. ((you know, it is possible for objects to get contaminated by a virus, from the hands of someone who just handed you an object.)) Now, some are questioning -- can you be at risk when receiving your packages? According to the cdc -- the virus can live in the air for up to 3 hours, on stainless steel and plastic for 72 hours, and cardboard boxes for 24 hours. But medical experts say the risk for you getting the virus from your package or mail -- is low. ((contact can be a mode of trasmission -- the experts still firmly say that the main mode of transmission is via respiratory droplets)) still, they advise you to clean it with disinfectant if you want, but always wash your hands after handling your mail to be safe. We reached out to amazon -- they said in a statement -- that they are following guidelines from health officials and medical experts, and are taking extreme measures to ensure the safety of employees -- calling them heroes.

4/18 who update - the head of the world health organization says he is concerned by a recent jump in covid-19 cases across africa.

At a press briefing in geneva, the w-h-o noted that in the last week, there has been a 51-percent increase in cases and a 60-percent jump in deaths.

4/19 should you wear gloves - if you have to do any grocery shopping this week -- experts say if you're healthy -- leave your gloves at home! The c-d-c and world health organization are both recommending shoppers not wear gloves at stores, because they can become contaminated pretty easily... Which can be just as bad as dirty hands. Doctors say -- the virus is spread by droplets you inhale by either touching your face or not social distancing -- and the best way to kill it is with soap and water.

4/20 meck co latest - up to yesterday — there have been nearly 20,000 tests done in the county.... But health director gibbie harris says thats not enough... She says we are still having a hard time getting access to tests.. Especially when it comes to getting ppe. Right now, the county's stay at home order is in effect through april 29th... But there are concerns on the impact south carolina could have on mecklenburg county as they plan to loosen restrictions in the palmetto state

6/4 solutions moving forward - students set on a mission.taking their message all across the streets of south charlotte. Mason murr// myers park senior "i see this as love as a time for change." for days protests like this all across the city have called for change, justice and racial equality... but this time it's the young people who wanted to have their voices heard too. Mariah davis// thug life protest "it's good for the youth to get out and see how they can help their community, how to get out in their community, how to start getting into activism and advocating for others." organizers offered protesters ways to donate to the cause, join advocacy groups and have those tough engaging conversations with family and friends. Mason murr// myers park senior "spreading the word just helps get the point across and get more people involved. "i want to look back to the year 2020 and be like wow i was apart of that change." and a powerful scene like this is just the start. But certainly not the end.

6/5 dj moore - standup: yesterday we heard from several panthers about peaceful protests -- today -- a panther showing that the biggest stars in our community haven't forgotten about healthcare workers either. Panthers receiver d-j moore showed up to novant health with meals -- and a mask -- a panthers mask.

Dj moore: "our marketing team put them together. I was happy when i got it."

A group of nurses were happy to see more -- he along with his foundation more 2 life and fit kitchen of charlotte -- delivered meals and words of encouragement to a group that works in critical care. "i just want to say thank you." moore: "that's big to have them come out here and be able to help them. That was beautiful to me." the critical care nurses are truly the front line for the coronavirus and for any severe illness.

6/6 youth united marshall park - meanwhile -- a 'youth united rally' also happened in uptown's marshall park today -- where protesters raised their voices against racism and social injustice.

6/23 christian mccaferry helping out - checking out what's trending... Panthers star, christian mccaferry--- in partnership with teammate, shaq thompson has announced an initiative to bring the charlotte community together through sports for under-served youth. Its called the "22 together" initiative. It will help address the divides that exist between the public and law enforcement. The first sports will be football and cheerleading

6/26 clt teen summer opportunities - queen city officials presented checks for more than 2 million dollars to the ymca of greater charlotte this morning. The money will go to launch new teen and youth center activities. Summer programs have been especially hard hit, with approximately thirty percent of large cities cancelling seasonal employment programs. One hundred thousand dollars will go to my brother's keeper, a program designed to help young men of color. Officials with ymca of greater charlotte say the donations are just in time.

FORMER BEST FRIEND OF LORI VALLOW, IDAHO MOM CHARGED IN CONNECTION WITH THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HER KIDS, SPEAKS OUT IN FIRST NETWORK TV INTERVIEW

Interview Follows Discovery of the Remains of Vallow's Two Children

"What Happened to JJ and Tylee" Airs Monday, June 22 at 10pm/9c

In her first network television interview airing this Monday at 10pm ET/9pm CT on Dateline NBC, Lori Vallow's former best friend, Melanie Gibb, speaks out after investigators discovered the remains of Vallow's two children in the backyard of Vallow's husband, Chad Daybell. The two children had been missing from Rexburg, Idaho since last September.

Gibb tells NBC News' Keith Morrison that Vallow and Daybell "had deception in them," explaining: "I saw him as the hand and her as the puppet on that hand. They were both, like, gasoline and fire - equally destructive to each other." She added: "And they both lie. And so, that was their common thread, that they were really good lying to each other. [It] seemed a good fit, for them to be like that with each other."

What Happened to JJ and Tylee features the latest in the case since Dateline last reported on the investigation in May. Daybell was recently charged with two felony counts of destruction, alteration or concealment of evidence. He has pleaded not guilty. Vallow was charged in February with a felony desertion of children and three misdemeanors related to her children. She has not entered a plea and her lawyer has declined to comment.

The special is the first of several Dateline broadcasts to air this summer on Mondays.
