Re: Certification requirement for the following network(s): NRB (the "Network(s)")

Dear Ms. Molina:

In response to the certification letter dated December 19, 2022, NRB Network, Inc. (NRBTV) hereby provides the requested certifications for 2023. With respect to your request for Children's Television Act's commercial limits compliance certification, please be advised that NRBTV, as a Public Interest Obligation (PIO) affiliate on your system, is prohibited from and therefore does not air any commercials, including commercials during children's programming. The NRBTV channel is therefore compliant.

With respect to your request for FCC Closed Captioning compliance certification, NRBTV's PIO channel is exempt from the FCC's closed captioning rules pursuant to 47 C.F.R. §79.1(d)(12) because the channel's gross annual revenue from calendar year 2022 was less than $3 million. NRBTV does pass through to the viewer captions that are included in programming aired on the channel.

With respect to your certification request for compliance with the video description rules, please be advised that NRBTV programming does not include programming sources that require video description, and therefore NRBTV is exempt from the video description rules.

To the extent applicable to NRBTV programming on your system, we are in compliance with the 21st Century Communications and Accessibility Act of 2012, as implemented by the FCC.

Finally, with respect to your request for CALM Act compliance verification, NRBTV, as a PIO Affiliate on your system, hereby certifies that its programming on the PIO channel falls outside of the Calm Act's requirements and the FCC's implementing rules because it does not include any commercials or commercial advertisements, as those terms are defined in the Communications Act and by existing FCC precedent, including but not limited to political advertisements, program length commercials and commercial ads promoting television programming. This CALM Act certification of compliance applies to NRBTV's current and future compliance on the channel.

If you have any questions about the above certifications, Please let us know.

Sincerely,
