Issues and Programming Report

SUNFLOWER BROADCASTING, INC.
KWCH-DT, WICHITA, KS

QUARTERLY SIGNIFICANT PROGRAMS REPORT

Covered the period beginning
April 1, 2014
Ending June 30, 2014

Station KWCH –DT is a CBS Network affiliate in its service area. In carrying out its responsibilities as a public trustee, the station deals with and is responsive to the principal issues arising in its community on a continuing basis. A variety of specials, public service announcements, public affairs programs and broadcasts on matter of concern to our community are supplemented, in some cases, with in-community projects. Our most significant programming, which has dealt with current community issues during the preceding three-month period, is set forth below.

There are three primary satellites of KWCH-DT which simulcast most of the programming. KBSD-DT, KBSH-DT, and KBSL-DT do insert local segments and are listed in the Supplemental Issues and Programming report for each station.

Specific Treatment of Community Issues

News stories carried in any of five daily newscasts, Monday through Friday, and on three per day newscasts on Saturday, and on two per day newscasts on Sunday, ranging in length of 45 seconds or more, address community issues.

COMMUNITY ISSUES

Crime - Channel 12 reports regularly on criminal activity throughout the entire Channel 12 viewing area as well as the rest of the country and the world. Here we are listing just a few of the stories that were included in our newscast this quarter.

Community - Events impacting the quality of life, including community caring and involvement.

Economy - The economy is of major importance to Kansas residents. Continuing growth keeps our employment rate high; new contract acquisitions by the local aircraft manufacturers, old businesses leaving town, new businesses coming in, proposed tax increases/decreases, and major weather concerns for residences and businesses. All of these factors impact the community, and are of ongoing interest and concern for our viewing audience.

Education - Channel 12 has updated its method of covering educational issues in its viewing area, with the assignment of one reporter to focus solely on education.

Environment - Environment issues and concerns are of interest to the Channel 12 viewing area and are aired regularly in our newscasts to keep our viewers as informed as possible of the latest in Environmental technology, treatments, advisories, etc.

Health & Safety - The well-being of Channel 12 viewers is always our top concern and the Channel 12 News Team is on top of every issue from traffic hazards to severe weather warnings, school closings, fire safety, disaster preparedness and emergency situations. And, with severe weather season, storm spotter training meetings are held several times a week in locations throughout the Channel 12 viewing area all over the state.

Politics - Channel 12 makes sure to convey to viewers the issues and decisions by city, county and state government can affect them.

His injuries are not considered life threatening.

4/20/2014 10pm

In the crime watch, a high-speed chase ends with a rollover crash on the Sedgwick-Sumner county line. Wichita police were called to the scene of a domestic violence disturbance in the 500 block of south Ellis at 11 this morning. The suspect drove off... And wouldn't stop when police tried pulling him over. The Kansas highway patrol and Sedgwick County deputies took over the pursuit outside of Wichita. The driver ended up losing control of his pick up northeast of Clearwater, rolling into a ditch. The 22-year-old was arrested.. Charges are still pending... Police found weapons and contraband in his car.

4/22/2014 5pm

Franklin County prosecutors will seek the death penalty against this man. Kyle flack is accused of fatally shooting four people at a rural Ottawa farm. Attorneys entered a not guilty plea on his behalf this morning. Investigators say he shot and killed four people, including an 18-month old girl last spring. All four were killed with a shotgun.

In the crime watch, we have a better look for you of a suspected robber. Check out this video...you can see a masked man walk into the convenience store near Pawnee and Laura on Monday. Police say he demanded money... But when the clerk inside fought back -the man fires his gun in the store. No one was hurt, but a bullet hit a soda machine. If you have any information you're asked to call police.

In the crime watch, a recent string of break-in burglaries in Bel Aire has police warning residents. Last week there were two cases where burglars kicked in doors in broad daylight. One happened in the 56-hundred block of Odessa and another in the 43-hundred block of Jamesville. Police say two suspects kicked in the front door between 9 and 10 in the morning, ran to the bedrooms and stole jewelry while no one was home. Earlier this month we told you about some similar incidents happening in west Wichita. Bel Aire police are working with Wichita police because they believe the burglaries are connected. Police think the thieves are targeting houses that don't have cars in the driveway. If you've seen anything suspicious you're asked to call police.

4/25/2014 4:30am

In the crime watch, a jury finds a Wichita man guilty in a deadly stabbing in College Hill. Kyle Carter was convicted of first degree murder. He'll be sentenced in June. In September, Carter and a co-defendant told police they saw the victim. Carl cooper breaking into their friend's car. Prosecutors say the two men then chased cooper down and stabbed him several times. The other man charged in the case... Trenton Custer is set to go to trial in July.

4/26/2014 10pm

Police are also searching for suspects involved in an east Wichita burglary. It happened just before three this morning at the dollar general in the 19-hundred block of east 13th street. Police say surveillance video shows four suspects - all wearing hoodies - stealing grocery items. No arrests have been made.

4/27/2014 10pm

McPherson College was on lockdown for hours today while police dealt with a barricaded person at a home just a block away. Police say a 47-year-old female was taken into custody. She's now undergoing a medical evaluation. Students were asked to stay inside the school during the incident. We spoke with one student who watched from a second floor window... As it all went down. Deroo says during any kind of emergency, the school is quick to keep students informed.

4/29/2014 5pm

A Wichita senior citizen comes face to face with three robbers who force their way into her apartment and hold her hostage for money. The story could easily have ended right there. But as Brian Heap shows us, one thoughtful police officer wouldn't let it. The story begins in this west Wichita neighborhood near 9th & Sheridan. Our victim -- we'll call her "pat" has lived in the area more than 40 years and never heard of a robbery. She told me the story Tuesday but was too scared to do it on camera. Last Friday night around 10, pat says she had a knock at the door. She didn't hesitate to answer because she thought it was a neighbor." instead, three thugs forced their way into her apartment. They held the 70 year-old woman down and demanded money. Sixty dollars cash. That's all pat had in her purse. She gave it to the robbers and they left. Within a couple of hours police found and arrested three people. They also recovered pat's $60. It was all her spending money for the rest of the month. But she couldn't have it back because it was now evidence in a crime. That's when a police officer assigned to patrol west stepped up. He doesn't want any recognition, doesn't want us to use his name. But we spoke with his supervisor and we know he personally tried to give pat 60 dollars. And when she refused to take it, he left it in her apartment anyway. Pat says she overwhelmed by the act of generosity and thinks is great there are police officers in Wichita who care that much. She calls this officer the neighborhood's new super hero. Brian heap, eyewitness news.

4/30/2014 12pm

Police say it's the kind of case that's very difficult to handle. A one-year-old killed... Unintentionally shot by his four-year-old brother... Who found a loaded handgun in a nightstand? New this noon we're learning exactly how this happened. Pilar Pedraza joins us live with the newest details. Police say they can't remember the last time they dealt with an accidental shooting like this where the victim and the shooter were both so young. They say three children were playing in a bedroom when the four year old reached into a drawer that held a loaded gun. Police say it happened yesterday afternoon in a home on the 1300 block of north Pennsylvania. The three children were in the bedroom with two adults in the living room. The oldest child... A four year old boy... Opened a drawer in the nightstand and reached in. He never pulled the semi-automatic handgun out but did pull the trigger. Police say the bullet went through the side of the nightstand and hit the one year old in the chest. Police say the boy's father and uncle called 9-1-1... But the father was so incoherent he couldn't direct the ambulance to his house. They ended up rushing the child to the hospital in a private car where he died. Police say there could be charges in this case... But won't say what... That's up the district attorney. Investigators expect to hand the case over to the d-a within the week.

5/3/2014 10pm

A man goes on a car theft spree in Saline County, then runs from police. And he still hasn't been found. The man stole three vehicles and attempted to steal two others. He fled Saline County in a grey Chevy Silverado with a fuel tank in the back. He stole it from a crew plowing a field south of Assaria. McPherson county deputies and Kansas highway patrol pursued the stolen vehicle in McPherson County. But he was able to get away. The vehicle was last seen in Harvey County... But authorities believe the man could possibly be in Wichita now. Police do not know the man's identity or what led to the multi-car theft spree.

5/5/2014 5pm

In the crime watch, a standoff in Salina is now over. Emergency crews closed streets in the area this morning after people inside a home refused to come out. Jim Grawe is in Salina with the latest details. Two people are in custody after a four-hour standoff in Salina. Police surrounded a home near 13th and grand, in northwest Salina, around noon Monday. Eyewitness news was on scene where police had their guns drawn, asking those inside to 'come out the front door with their arms in the air.' nearby roads were closed while authorities negotiated with the suspects inside. No one was hurt. It is unknown what led up to the standoff.

5/12/2014 6pm

In the crime watch, a former Winfield teacher. Accused of having a sexual relationship with a student has pleaded guilty to "amended charges." 24-year-old Ashley Eck was arrested last May. She was originally charged with one count of unlawful sexual relations with a student. Today...

She pleaded guilty to one count of contributing to a child's misconduct. She was sentenced to one year probation. She also has to surrender her teaching license. Eck has already resigned from the Winfield school district.

5/13/2014 5pm

Big changes are coming to old town in Wichita. The city wants to give police more power to fight crime in the area... And make sure people feel safe when they're there. This morning... The Wichita city council voted unanimously to designate old town an "entertainment district". The move will help target specific crimes in the area. Anne Meyer is live in old town to explain who will see the changes the most. Anne? Most people who come to old town may not notice the changes - but problem patrons probably will. That's because fines for crimes like fighting or breaking into a car will go up - and some habitual offenders could be kicked out for life. Plus this change gives police officers more power to deal with issues at closing time. Officer Larry Carlson has seen it all - during his seven years working the streets in old town, crowds like this - is what the new ordinance is intended to control. Patrons won't be allowed to loiter outside of the clubs anymore - especially during the closing hours of 11 to three a.m. Plus anyone caught committing a crime here - will now pay higher fines. Officer Carlson says this is just the latest in a series of changes to make it safer in old town. Trees have been trimmed, to help improve lighting in the area. Plus multiple cameras are up and running to give officers a bird's eye view of any problem spots. So expect to see even more improvements coming in old town in the months and year ahead. Another change you may see down here at closing time - this ordinance lets police shut off some streets, to better control traffic when people are leaving old town. Officers had to get special permission from the city to do that before.

5/14/2014 12pm

A woman... Shot in the head while walking down the street with her husband in southeast Wichita. We're learning new information about the deadly shooting that led to an all-night swat standoff. Emily griffin has been at the scene all morning she joins us now live with the latest from police... Who say, they still have no suspects. While police do not have any active suspects in the case, one person was detained this morning for questioning but has not been arrested. I've been speaking with family members and neighbors all morning about what happened here on the 35-hundred block of Roseberry... And all tell me, this Plainview neighborhood hasn't been a safe one for a long time. Police were first called out to the 35-hundred block of east Roseberry around 11:45 Tuesday night... Where they found a 24 year old woman shot in the head. Police say her husband, who she was walking with at the time, is not a suspect. The woman died at the scene. After finding evidence at a nearby home, police made contact with someone they believed had information about the shooting. The swat team cleared the house and was unable to locate any suspects, but one person was taken in for questioning. Police say several shots were fired, and more than one gun was used. Family members i spoke with believe the shooting was gang related. And others who live in the area called the Plainview neighborhood a "dangerous" one. This woman said she's afraid to let her son go outside. The victim and her husband actually live in a house just around the corner from here, where the shooting was. The family, and their neighbor, tell me there have been shots fired at that house more than once. Now, investigators will continue to investigate this scene. They spent the morning scanning the area and looking for any eyewitnesses in the neighborhood. Of course we'll continue to follow this developing story. You can expect the latest online and be sure to check back with at 4, 5, 6 and 10.

5/15/2014 5am

In the crime watch, arrests still have not been made in a deadly shooting in the Plainview neighborhood. This was breaking news we first brought you yesterday morning. We now know... 24-year-old Nichole Saldana was walking with her husband late Tuesday night when someone started shooting. Saldana was shot in the head and died. Police say Saldana's husband is a documented gang member. However, they have not said if either were intended targets.

5/17/2014 10pm

In the crime watch, authorities have arrested several teenagers in connection with a string of burglaries in Garden City. 10 people are arrested in connection with the thefts of 36-thousand dollars' worth of electronics, jewelry and cash. Police say about 10-thousand dollars' worth of stolen goods have been recovered, along with four vehicles police suspect were used in the burglaries.

5/18/2014 10pm

We continue to follow breaking news in Butler County. Where a man with a gun has barricaded himself inside a mobile home. Nearby homes at the pine ridge mobile home park south of Towanda have been evacuated. Anne Meyer is there live right now. Anne what can you tell us? `One man inside - no one else. Sheriff does believe he is armed. Talked to a neighbor - a few doors down, she says it started at about 530 or 6 tonight. She saw the man's wife and children get out safely - she knows the family, and says he's a good guy - but she also knows.

5/19/2014 6pm

New now, the highway patrol identifies a possible car in a deadly hit and run. The crash killed a pedestrian earlier this month in Cloud County. Investigators believe the car is either an Oldsmobile intrigue, Buick century or Buick regal. If you have any information, call the highway patrol.

5/21/2014 5am

In the crime watch this morning, the Harvey County sheriff's department wants to know who damaged and stole road signs. Each one of these red dots on the map.... Is a where the vandalism has occurred. The signs were removed or damaged some time Tuesday night. Eight of them were stop signs. Damage is estimated at around 600-dollars and the signs have been replaced. If you have any information you're asked to call Harvey County crime stoppers at 284-24-hundred.

In the crime watch, we'll learn more today about an officer-involved shooting in Salina. Officers answered a call at a home Wednesday...when they say a man approached with a rifle and began shooting at them. Two officers took cover and a third shot the man. Police say he'll be OK. None of the police officers was hurt.

5/23/2014 4:30am

Salina police release new details on what led to an officer-involved shooting. Officers were responding to a domestic disturbance in the 700 block of Comanche. They say 45 year old Jose Carrillo was drunk and had pointed a rifle at a woman while she was at a home. Police were talking to the woman when they say Carrillo came out of the home the gun and started shooting. One officer returned fire and hit Carrillo in his right cheek and right upper shoulder. He was taken to a Salina hospital and is expected to survive.

In this evening's crime watch, a burglar breaks into a Wichita music store and gets away with several instruments. Police tell us it happened just before six this morning at Starky Music Center. No arrests have been made. So anyone with any information on this incident is asked to call crimestoppers. That number is 267-2111.

5/25/2014 10pm

In the crime watch, the third time wasn't the charm for one man... Police say he unsuccessfully tried to rob a Wichita Laundromat three times this morning. It all began around four am...at fabric care center on east herry. The suspect came in the store gave a note that said this was robbery... The clerk told the suspect he had gun and the suspect left. He returned 15 minutes later... Said he had gun too and left again. The clerk told police the man returned a third time... Poured himself a cup of coffee, took the original robbery note and left. That's when the clerk called police. No arrests have been made.

5/26/2014 6pm

The daughter of Hutchinson's city manager is in critical condition after being struck by a van this weekend. Lacy Deardoff and another woman were standing by a disabled car in overland park when they were struck. Investigators say the van swerved to miss debris from a previous crash. Both women are in critical condition in an overland park hospital.

Police tell us the entire incident began as an argument between three residents of the wind ridge apartments and a fourth person who visited here often. That argument spilled out into the street... And that's when it turned physical. Police say it's possible the tension between the victims was building for days. Then Tuesday night... The fight escalated and three people were shot and a fourth person stabbed in the street near wind ridge apartments. The shooter and one gunshot victim remain in the hospital, both in critical condition and under guard from police. A third victim, 50 year old Eddie Centino-Martinez, died from a gunshot wound at the hospital... The fourth victim, 24 year old Cayli Phillips was pronounced dead at the scene. Her father spent hours trying to find her Tuesday night after he heard there was an incident. Devastated... He says he hopes police are able to figure out what led up to the crime that left his daughter dead. Though both surviving victims are under guard from police in the hospital, no official arrests have been made. But police say they are not looking for any suspects at this time. Police say one person involved was a documented gang member... But they don't believe this shooting was gang related. They are still asking to hear from any witnesses to what happened.

An Ark City man is killed - in an officer involved shooting in Cowley County. The sheriff says a deputy was also injured. Friends and family tell us Tayler rock is the man who died. Anne Meyer talked to them today, to find more about what happened. Many of those friends spent time with rock - just hours before he was shot. They want to know what led up to his death. Cowley county sheriff don read was supposed to give us those details today - but he postponed a press briefing until tomorrow. This started last night during a traffic stop just south of Dexter...along u-s 166. During that stop = a deputy shot the driver. That deputy was also injured, but we don't know the extent of those injuries or how the injuries happened. Again friends and family have identified the driver as 22-year old Tayler rock. They all want to know more about what happened. Rock does have a criminal past. Most of the arrests i found were for warrants issued when he didn't show up in court. Again, we should know more tomorrow ... The sheriff's office plans to hold a news conference...at 1:30. You can watch it live streaming on kwch-dot-com

It's been a rough couple of days for Constantine Sauer. And he has the emotional and physical bruises to prove it. The 89 year-old world war two veteran suffered a hard fall last Friday while doing yard work. His hand was banged up and his face hit the concrete. Sauer says this supposed Good Samaritan brought him inside the house so he could clean up. Then the guy offered to put away the leaf blower and lock up the garage. Sauer thanked him for the help. It wasn't until the next morning he realized his keys were missing and so was his car. The car is a 1995 Chrysler Concorde similar to this one. It's red with a grey stripe on each side. For now, he's borrowing another car from family. Mr. Sauer says he never got a good look at the guy he had come up from behind plus Mr. Sauer was in a lot of pain and covering up his face. He checked with the neighbors though. They didn't see anything either. If you have some information that could help solve this crime, call Wichita police. Brian Heap, eyewitness news.

This morning a grieving mother in Saline County still has more questions than answers over the death of her son. He was shot and killed by troopers in Seattle Monday. Police say Jonathan Whitehead prompted the total closure of a busy interstate when he parked his truck across two lanes and set it on fire. Officers say.... He had a knife and moved towards two state troopers when they shot him. His mom is speaking exclusively to eyewitness news about what happened. As Jim Grawe tells us....what she has to say, may surprise you. Donna Buchanan of Salina grieves over the loss of her son...Jonathan Whitehead. The 33-year-old was shot and killed by Washington state troopers on a Seattle freeway Monday. Witnesses say Whitehead had parked his pickup sideways in traffic and jumped out. He then set the truck on fire and spray-painted a big green circle on the bridge deck. Officers confronted Whitehead. They say he pulled out a knife. Witnesses back up what police say. Buchenau says her son had moved to Seattle three years ago and worked as a carpenter. She attributes her son's bizarre actions to withdrawal from methadone...which she says he'd been prescribed to kick a drug addiction. Buchenau says she'd talked to her son before about a green circle. Buchenau concedes it's difficult to understand what was going through her son's mind. As for the officers who shot and killed him-- another of Buchenau's sons is a police officer in the Seattle area. Whitehead appears to have no criminal history.

An inmate who walked out of Winfield correctional facility this morning will now face new charges. 29-year-old Jimmy Reed went missing from the minimum security facility this morning. He was caught late this afternoon. And the Kansas department of corrections says he will be charged with aggravated escape from custody. He had been serving time for a probation violation.

A deadly domestic dispute in Arkansas City...and neighbors it's not the first time there's been trouble at the home. Police say 44-year old Leonard Daniels died at the hospital after being stabbed in the back. Officers arrested this man - 23-year old Cameron Budd. He faces a charge of involuntary manslaughter. Anne Meyer tells us what may have led to the deadly confrontation. Late last month, officers arrested Leonard Daniels when he barricaded himself in the home after a fight with his estranged wife. The court told Daniels to stay away from the home. But at four this morning, police say he broke in, fired several shots and got in a fight with his wife. During that fight, Cameron Budd stabbed Daniels in the back - i talked to the man who called police. Stephen Sanders didn't want his face on camera - but he did want to tell us what happened in his neighborhood Sunday morning. Justin and Christy Merry live next door with their young son. They didn't hear the gun shots Sunday morning. But say they've had to call police to the home before, when the woman fought with her estranged husband. Police say the woman and her 12 year old daughter got out without injury - and called 9-1-1. That's when officers found Leonard Daniels lying in the street. The Merrys feel Cameron Budd did the right thing. According to Leonard Daniel's criminal record - he got out of prison in February, for a theft charge. I know he was arrested for the standoff May 21st - and was supposed to be sentenced in July. But i couldn't find out when he was released from the ark city jail. That's a question we'll be asking police as this investigation continues. Cameron Budd turned himself into police this morning. He was grazed by a bullet - but not seriously injured. Budd will likely make his first appearance in court later this week.

In the crime watch, a Salina man pleaded "no contest" today to first-degree murder in the death of his three-month-old son. After entering his plea... A Saline county judge found Nicholas Corbin guilty of first-degree murder. He'll be sentenced in September. Corbin faces life in prison with no chance of parole for 25 years. The child's mother, Desirah Overturf, will also be sentenced in September. She pleaded "no contest" to first degree murder charges last week. Officers were called to the couple's home in December for an unresponsive child. Three-month-old Jordan Corbin was pronounced dead at the scene. The cause of his death has not been released.

Also in the crime watch, a second person has been arrested in connection to a murder at a Wichita house party over the weekend. Police say they have arrested 20-year-old Demetrius Williams for first degree murder. A 19-year-old had already been booked into the Sedgwick county jail on murder charges. The shooting happened Saturday morning at a home in the 900-block of south cypress. Police believe the shooting was gang related. A 20 year-old man was killed... A 17-year-old was also shot but is expected to survive. Wichita police are still searching for this man in connection with the murder. Ruben Higadera is considered armed and dangerous. If you see him contact police.

In the crime watch, a 40-year-old Wichita man is arrested... On attempted murder charges. After a woman is found pinned beneath a vehicle early this morning. It happened in the 45-hundred block of south hemlock. Deputies say the 37-year-old woman has critical injuries. The Sedgwick County sheriff department says Chester Randall Jr was driving the pickup that hit the woman. Pinning her underneath it. Detectives plan to present the case to the district attorney's office next week. They say this is a case of domestic violence.

6/29/2014 10pm

In the crimewatch, a Wichita man is stabbed more than a dozen times early this morning. He's being treated at an area hospital... As police work to find who did it. Neighbors tell Emily Griffin they heard fighting before the attack. Police believe the initial stabbing happened here on old manor street, but that's not where they found the victim. You can actually see a trail of blood leading from here up between these apartments where the victim was found, nearly a block away. Chris Peaney stepped outside his home for a quick smoke just after one Sunday night... And after hearing the commotion, quickly went back inside. He found out later that morning, he lives just steps from where a 28 year old man was found... Stabbed & bleeding profusely. After being taken to the hospital... Doctors found 16 stab wounds on the victim, mainly his legs. He's now in stable condition, but it was the large blood trail that led police from where they found him, back to the scene of the stabbing. With no description of any possible suspects, police are still hoping to get more information from the victim... Or any witnesses who saw what happened. Emily Griffin, eyewitness news. Again, there haven't been any suspects identified in this case. If you can any information about the crime, call crime stoppers at 267... 21 - 11.

Also new at noon, the Wichita city council approves new greens fees for three city courses. The fees at Consolver, MacDonald and Sim courses will go up by one dollar. And cart fees will go up depending on play. The city says the increases are necessary to keep up with rising costs. Parks officials say fees at Wichita courses are still below regional competitors. Several years ago the city considered closing some courses to deal with rising costs and debt. But local golfers spoke out in support of a plan to keep all five city courses open... And raise some fees and delay some improvements.

Parents of growing children know... It's not always easy trying to carry them once they become a toddler. This week's does it work product says... It could be the solution you're looking for. The makers say... That's why they invented the "piggy back rider." Melissa took the "standing child carrier" to the loss home for this test. It's not often you'll see the oldest loss children without their feet on the ground... Especially Charlie. Charlie is almost three and weighs 45 pounds. But this growing toddler still likes to be carried every now and then. That's why we took the piggyback rider to Michelle and Caleb loss' home. The makers say it's a compact, light-weight standing child carrier for toddlers. We bought the deluxe model on Campsaver for almost 120-dollars ($119.95). That does not include shipping. Caleb follows the instructions, placing the carrier on his back. At first it's really loose. Charlie is eager to step on for a ride. But he needs his safety harness on first. Mom Michelle has to help latch Charlie into place on dad's back. Caleb takes off with Charlie grinning ear to ear. But what does mom think? After a tricky dismount, mom and Livi give it a try. Michelle walks around with livi standing on her back, but she doesn't want to let go of the bar supporting Livi's feet. When they're done, another rough dismount. Besides getting the carrier off, Michelle says it was comfortable. And that could be tricky if you're watching or holding onto two toddlers... And little henry. The piggyback rider is made for toddlers two and half... And up. It can support up to 60-pounds.

For the first time in decades, certain union members in Wichita- across the country and in Canada - are taking part in a union election. The international association of machinists -which represents thousands of spirit workers - cast their ballots today for their international president. Current president r. Thomas Buffen-Barger has been in that position for more than two decades. But a recent Boeing contract agreement that froze member's pensions has made many workers upset. Buffen-Barger's sole opponent - Jay Cronk - is running on a platform to cut the top leader's salaries in order to keep member's dues down. This is the first general election for this union since 1961. 1-thousand local lodges in the u-s and Canada are voting this month. Results of the election are expected in May.

It has not been the easiest of first years for shocker head coach Todd Butler... But on the field they are starting to turn things around and this weekend was a nice example. Still working on erasing that 8 game losing streak. Game two of the weekend series with the salukis... 3rd inning no score and no one on for Casey Gillaspie... He rips this one to right field for a solo jack... And he puts the shockers on the board. New father Cale Elam on the mound for Wichita State and he was dealing... Went 8 and a third... 10 strike outs on the day... Just 4 hits. He did give up two runs on the day... One of them coming at the hands of first baseman Ryan Casillas... Big shot over the gap in left center... Ties the game at 1. Dayne Parker puts the shockers on top in the 6th inning... A big shot to left field... Just high enough to get out of the ball park for another solo homer and a 2---1 lead but s-i-u tied it up in the 9th to force extras. Move to the bottom of the 12th with one on for Parker again... He skies one into shallow right field... Looks easy enough but they drop it... Chase Simpson scores from second... And 4---3 the shockers win their fourth straight. Series finale moved up to noon tomorrow for potential rain in the area.

Breaking news we've been following since five. Part of i-70 gets shut down in north central Kansas... After a grass fire leads to heavy smoke... And five cars are involved in a crash in the same area. In just the last half-hour, State troopers say both lanes of i-70 are open westbound near the saline, Lincoln County line. But only one lane is open eastbound. Michael Schwanke joins us from the breaking news desk with the latest. State troopers say traffic is starting to get back to normal after the heavy smoke and accident on i-70 in far west Saline County this afternoon. Greta Lagerberg sent us this video of the scene after it happened. State troopers say five vehicles were involved in the crash including these semis. Two drivers were taken to a hospital in Salina with injuries. The situation started around 3-30 with a grass fire in western Saline County. It caused thick smoke across the highway making travel difficult. That same time... Several vehicles were involved in a crash... Including the truck you see in this photo. State troopers say they're still looking into whether or not the smoke was a factor in the crash. I just got off the phone with Liz Meeks from Hays...who told me she was on i-70 at the time and the smoke was so thick she couldn't see the front of her car. The cause of the fire is also still under investigation. Storm team 12 saw some of the smoke on radar this afternoon. Meteorologist Merrill Teller shows us from the storm center.

This week's does it work product comes from a viewer's suggestion. The product claims it can take-on a tricky kitchen problem-- tough jars. There are several techniques many people try. But "open ease" says you only need *this to open jars. Melissa finds out. Does it work? Like any cook, every now and then Cindy Houston gets into a jam with some jars. Determined to do it on her own--and to help some older family members with hand issues--Cindy asked us to test the "Hamilton beach open ease automatic jar opener." we bought one online for almost 33-dollars ($32.60). That does include shipping. It comes ready to go with two double-a batteries. Cindy starts with a grape jelly jar. After looking over the instructions, we realized the inner arms need to be fully opened before starting. Next, our largest jar. The pickle jar was no problem for the "open ease." but it removes the lid from the spaghetti sauce jar and the salsa jar too. Now to our smallest jar full of garlic. The makers of "open ease" say it can open lids from an inch to four inches in diameter. Cindy takes off the "open ease" to reveal another opened lid. But there was one issue Cindy had a problem with during our testing. Yep. It just shuts-off automatically. Will that make her decision about the "open ease" a difficult one? The makers say you should not use this on plastic lids. You should only use it on glass jars with screw-top lids.

A Kansas police officer goes above and beyond to help kids with cancer. Derby police officer Trisha Willis shaved her head today to raise money for children's cancer research. Willis says her friend's little boy was diagnosed with cancer, and lost his battle with the disease last month. She had promised if the community raised enough money, she would shave her head. And as you can see, she kept her promise, raising 56-hundred dollars in the process. The event was put on by the saint Baldrick's foundation, which is a nationwide charity that helps fund cancer research.

Back to the clouds of dust causing problems in our viewing area. It cut down visibility for drivers. Shari sent us this shot of her drive east of Ulysses. Some drivers decided to just pull-off the road and wait it out. Janice caught this crowd of truckers in Colby. There was so much dirt in the air - it even showed up on satellite. The national weather service tweeted out this picture earlier today. The dirt cut down on visibility here in Wichita - and the winds did other damage as well. Anne Meyer joins us with that story.

Governor Sam Brownback toured the damage in Baxter springs today. He has already declared a STATE disaster emergency. That opens up money for some disaster relief immediately. He also said... He'll work with neighboring states to combine damage costs... To ensure people in Kansas qualify for federal assistance.

Factfinder 12 checked into the state laws regulating mopeds. A moped with 130 c-c or less is required to be registered with the state, but the owner does not need insurance. Riders who are under 18 are required to wear a helmet, and are also required to have a driver's license. However, they do not need a motorcycle license. If the moped is 130 c-c or greater, it is treated the same as a motorcycle.

New at noon, the Wichita city council approves an emergency water line project... For homes dealing with contaminated wells on the city's west side. K-d-h-e has identified at least 32 homes that will need access to the new lines... Because of contamination from a now closed dry cleaning business. New water lines would cost about one-point-one million dollars... And be running by august first. The k-d-h-e will pay for it with money from a dry cleaner trust fund. Meanwhile.. They are still testing wells in the affected area. You can see the latest map right now at kwch-dot-com.

City leaders want to know what you want the future of Wichita to look like. They plan another round of meetings to get community input on the long-rang investment plan for the city. The community investment plan meetings are scheduled Thursday evenings beginning May 15-th at the downtown y-m-c-a. Each meeting will have a different theme. Topics include neighborhoods, education, and business development. The city will use your comments along with ideas from the open house meetings last month to craft a community investment plan stretching to 20-25. There's a link in this story at k-w-c-h dot com for more information on the meetings.

Expect old town to make headlines this week. The city council is looking to change it into an entertainment district - to help keep the area safe. Bar owners are doing their part too... With help from new technology that keeps better tabs on problem patrons. One old town club is using it - and more could sign on too. Anne Meyer shows us how it works new at 10. It's another busy night at the pumphouse in old town. Crews expect several hundred people will walk through the door before the weekend is through and each one will have their i-d scanned through a new system called bar shield. The system hooks onto an i-pad touch and uses information from the barcode on the back of your driver's license or i-d - to create a file for each person who enters the bar. It can even add a picture - through the phone's camera. But if i got into a fight or walked out without paying - the bar can enter that information into my file, which may prevent me from getting in next time. Now the pumphouse plans to show it off to other bars in old town - and hopes they'll sign on so --that information can be shared. Even though data is shared, brink says the system protects your personal information - by only scanning the first six digits of an i=d. I talked to bar-goers that night, some thought the scanning system slowed down the process of getting in, but many liked the idea of keeping problem patrons out. I also talked to bar owners, i know one plans to get the same system - another wasn't sure. They'll decide once they see the system in action later this month. Anne Meyer eyewitness news. Each system costs a few hundred dollars to start up - and then each bar also pays a monthly fee for the service.

Severe weather means e-mails and angry phone calls for our newsroom. Last night was no exception--as tornado warnings sounded during prime time programming. Interrupting that programming is the last thing we want to do. But sometimes, we have no choice. Michael Schwanke explains how and when we make the decision to break-in. So you're watching one of your favorite shows and then this... frustrating...especially if the weather isn't in your area...we know. Let me start with a couple examples of the feedback we receive e-mails like this that say... here's another. And one final example. They weren't all negative...we got some thank you's too...and i even received an apology call from a woman who told me she felt horrible about yelling at me on the phone. We don't like to break in...some of us watch those same shows and don't want to miss them either--and we sure don't want to upset our viewers. We try not to break in over programming...but last night is an example of when we don't have a choice. There were multiple times when we had confirmed tornadoes...not just radar indicated...but trained weather spotters confirming rotation or tornadoes on the ground threatening populated areas. We had to cover the end of the mentalist last night...which we really try not to do....but remember Greensburg...that tornado also came in at night. We took a lot of angry calls and e-mails that night...but it was because of our warnings that lives were saved. As a broadcast station...it is our duty to inform the public of safety threats...even if it means covering up programming--we apologize and know it's frustrating sometimes. As for the mentalist...c-b-s won't let us replay it...but you can catch it on-line at c-b-s.com. The finale is next week...let's hope the severe weather stays away!

5/13/2014 5am

So where exactly is the area we're talking about? Take a look at this map. The city council designated this area as the entertainment district. It stretches from Douglas to central, and from St Francis to Wabash. The ordinance also requires a minimum 5-hundred dollar fine for 12 crimes. That includes assault, disorderly conduct, drug offenses, and loitering. There are some exceptions to the loitering law, such as standing in line to enter a bar, or smoking in a designated smoking area. You can take a look at the full list right now on our website, k-w-c-h dot com.

A flight bound for Wichita doesn't make it because of smoke in the cabin. Cindy Klose is in the newsroom with more on this developing story. Around 1-30 this afternoon... Allegiant flight 142 was getting ready to take-off from the phoenix-mesa gateway airport. That's when the airline says there was the report of smoke in the cabin. Allegiant says crew members evacuated passengers on to the taxiway. This picture comes from a passenger from Salina on that plane.

162 passengers were on board along with six crew members. Six people reported minor injuries and were treated by paramedics. Folks were taken back to the terminal for a new flight. The plane is an md-80. The airline says it's investigating the cause of the smoke. Passengers were refunded their airfare and received vouchers toward a future flight.

5/20/2014 5pm

Also in Salina, a one-year-old boy is taken to the hospital after possibly ingesting sleeping pills. The child's father says the pills a prescribed to a 9-year-old sibling. Police say the cap on the pill bottle was not secure... And the child was found with the pill bottle and a pill in his hand. Investigators don't know if the child actually ingested any of the pills... But he was taken to a hospital as a precaution.

Criticism for a man who is coming to train Wichita law enforcement officers. They say he's anti-Muslim. They also call him a bigot. They're talking about this man, John Guandolo. He's a former fbi-agent who travels the world speaking on terrorism. His website says he's the founder of "understanding the threat," and does training all around the world. He'll be in Wichita next week as part of a two day training session with Sedgwick County deputies. Guandolo will talk about Muslim extremists groups. The council on American-Islamic relations worries the training will do more harm than good. The training is not mandatory... But it is open to law enforcement officers statewide.

5/23/2014 4:30am

Also New this morning, Kellogg is back open after an early morning crash. It was closed between Oliver and Edgemoor because of that crash. The driver had minor injuries.

From two legs - to two wheels. Hundreds of other Riverfest goers took part in an attempt to break a world record. They were hoping to have the longest moving line of bicycles. It's a record currently held by 916 cyclists in California. Today's organizers believe they reached their goal of 12-hundred bikes. But they still have to go through all the paperwork with Guinness Book of World Records.

6/1/2014 10pm

The severe weather meant a change of plans for Riverfest goers. In fact, many vendors are closing up shop early tonight. Here's a live look from the event... The rain is just pouring down. The Joan Jett concert that would have been going on now started a few hours early. And hot air balloon rides were cancelled. The event is no stranger to the Kansas weather. That's why organizers prepare for such events each year, keeping in close contact with meteorologists and law enforcement. The tornado shelter used for the large number of people is in century two, and was used in 2010 when there was a tornado warning in the area. Jarvis says they have the concert hall at century two reserved in case they need to bring a concert indoors.

There are also questions about Bergdahl's actions in Afghanistan and what led to his capture in the first place. Roger Cornish joins us from the newsroom with more. Some are out and out calling the sergeant a deserter. A former sergeant says Bergdahl simply took off his gear, put down his weapon and walked away in the middle of the night. We sat down today with Cody full who was one of Bergdahl's roommates in Afghanistan. He told us Bergdahl made it clear he disagreed with what the u-s military was doing there. He also talked about making it to India or China by walking through the mountains of Afghanistan. Full says after medical treatment, Bergdahl should be given a chance to defend himself in the investigation. You can hear more from him tonight on the c-b-s evening news at 5:30. Military officials say no charges have been filed against Bergdahl, but they may still question him about why he left his post.

Krueger is the mother of the 3-year-old girl who died after spending days in the hospital. We are only identifying her as "Emma." she died just half an hour after a candlelight vigil last night. Dozens gathered outside Wesley medical center last night to take a moment of silence for the little girl. The crowd was filled with family and friends, but also complete strangers who wanted to be there for Emma. Since Monday - family members have only been able to see her once. They can't stand to think of the battle she's been fighting. They hope by seeing her sweet face ... Others will speak up when something doesn't seem right. There's a Facebook page setup to support Emma and her family. Look for a link to it on our website ... Kwch-dot-com.

It's a big event, 14-hundred athletes show up to compete. But while the weekend was supposed to be centered around the athletes of the special Olympics summer games. Thieves used it at an opportunity. Hannah Davis was at today's games... And spoke to one of the victims. Brayden Hugunin's mom says the entire family looks forward to the trip from Burlington to Wichita for the summer games. They all decorated Brayden's handi-cap accessible van to show everyone their pride. But Brayden's mom think's those decorations are what attracted the thieves. Brayden Hugunin spends most of his life in this wheel chair. But for a moment Friday... His father lifted him up and Brayden got to be the star. Organizers at the Kansas Special Olympics see it too. They named Brayden this year's most inspirational athlete. An honor that included "the lighting of the torch. More than 50 friends and family members made the drive from Burlington to Wichita for these games. That pride is printed all over the family's van. But Brayden's mom says these scribbles of support attracted thieves Friday night outside their hotel. Inside the purse was money they'd raised to pay for Brayden's trip. Brayden's mom says they'll find a way to make do. And it's nothing a little plastic and tape can't fix. Brayden's family won't let this crime ruin his special moment. Brayden's mom says another family with the Special Olympics had their car broken into too. Both families filed reports with the police. Police urge drivers to never leave valuables in vehicles. It becomes an easy target for thieves.

Wichitans get a rare chance to get an up-close look at historic planes today. It was part of the aviation museum's fourth annual "play on a plane" event. Patrons were allowed to climb aboard eight of the museum's 13 planes, such as a B-52 and a Boeing 7-37. Museum volunteers were stationed at each plane to explain its historical significance. The museum's executive director says it's a fun opportunity for people who don't get to see things like this very often. Smith says the turnout was so overwhelming today that they're considering adding more events like this every year.

K-dot is continuing bridge repair work on k-96, and rolling-out an eye-one-35 improvement project. Both projects could slow your commutes this week. Katie Hatfield shows you areas you may want to avoid. Starting at seven p-m tonight, k-dot will close the ramp from westbound k-96 to southbound i-135 to patch concrete. Work should wrap by 6 a-m tomorrow. But the ramp will close again Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, weather permitting. Wednesday night, the ramp from southbound i-135 to eastbound k-96 will also close from 7 p-m to 6 a-m. It's part of the same concrete patching project and may need additional work Thursday and Sunday evenings. Detour these ramp closures by exiting at hillside from k-96 or 21st from 135. I-135 reconstruction from 37th street north to 85th also started today. Now through Wednesday afternoon, you'll just encounter warning signs and decreased speed zones. Starting Wednesday evening, though, k-dot will close lanes intermittently on northbound i-135 on a daily basis for the next few weeks. You'll be free and clear during peak traffic hours from 4 p-m to 7 p-m, but you'll need to prep for delays at all other hours of the day. For more information as that project progresses, follow me on twitter at kwch traffic. And be sure to tune into eyewitness news this morning..... To stay updated on the latest traffic conditions. Katie's live reports begin at 5-30.

In the aviation watch this morning, McConnell air force base will be the main hub for new air force refueling tankers. We kind of knew this already, but it's nice to make it official. Big news for the local economy. It means a lot of construction jobs. And support staff for the current tankers will stay here. That current fleet of tanker has been in service for fifty years. The new kc-46a's will start replacing them in 2016. Eventually, 36 will call McConnell home. But before that happens, the base needs 219 million dollars in upgrades. The local members of congress say they worked hard to get this done. Congressman mike Pompeo says this final decision ensures the future of McConnell air force base for decades to come. And major components of the new plane are built in Wichita....at Spirit aerosystems.

We caught up with Brownback Thursday in newton. He was there to help open a new chemical plant. He also talked about why he believes our state's credit rating was downgraded last month. He says it's because k-pers caught up with the state. That's the retirement system for public employees. He says it was under-funded. Moody's, the investor service that downgraded the credit rating, says it did it because tax cuts have caused revenues to shrink, and the state needs to offset that shortfall with spending cuts.

EDUCATION

4/1/2014 5am

Now the latest from the legislature, where a bill on school funding could be sent to the full house by the end of the day. The house appropriations committee is wrapping up testimony on a proposal this noon. And hopes to have it ready for debate later today. A senate committee is working on its own proposal. Both aim to increase funding by up to 129 million-dollars in the next school year to comply with a state Supreme Court ruling last month.

4/2/2014 5am

Kansas school finance plans move forward in the legislature committees from the house and senate approved plans that will give millions more to poor districts. The money would come from other areas of school district aid... Such as transportation and teacher pensions. House debate could begin by Thursday. Lawmakers hope to resolve the problem before the start of a three week recess on Friday.

4/5/2014 5am

After hours of debate, a deal has still not been finalized. Lawmakers are being watched by hundreds of teachers as they negotiate a plan to add 141 million dollars to public schools. Hannah Davis spoke with Wichita lawmakers in both chambers to find out more. She joins us in the newsroom with the latest. Anne, I spoke with lawmakers... But i also talked to teachers. And whatever the legislature decides... It will directly affect the men and women who teach Kansas' student. And that's exactly why hundreds of teachers... Went to Topeka today... To make sure their concerns were heard before a vote. Teachers from across the state filled the capitol Saturday to show lawmakers where they stand. Lawmakers worked most of the day - debating the best way to fund schools - and meet the funding requirements, laid out in a recent Kansas Supreme Court decision. The legislature plans to add up to 141 million dollars to school funding. But Mousley says they're also taking this opportunity to draft policy changes at teachers' expense. Mousley is referring to a part of the senate's plan that would do away with due process rights for teachers. That was a big reason why teachers wanted to fill the statehouse Saturday - as lawmakers worked to find a compromise. Those teachers are definitely making their presence known tonight. Lawmakers have taken several recess breaks... And some teachers are tweeting that it's a move to make them leave. But teachers are vowing to stay until the final vote. Anne... We'll keep an eye on what happens and have the very latest tomorrow morning at 7 on our sister station kscw.

Breaking news from the Kansas state house tonight as the Kansas house has just passed a school finance bill. The bill...already voted on by the senate takes away teacher tenure or due process. The vote took place minutes ago. Anne Meyer spoke with both teachers and lawmakers. She's live at the state house tonight. Anne...? Mike, that new bill is being debated in the house at this hour. It does not include property tax relief for on-line and private schools. But it would take away due process for teachers. That's been the big issue up here - and it's why teachers plan to stay outside the house chamber until a vote is made. Red shirts filled the statehouse Sunday, as a sign of solidarity. Many of these teachers were in town for a conference, but they stayed to make sure lawmakers heard their voices - even through days of debate. She and others are worried about due process - it gives teachers a hearing before they can be fired, and they want to keep those rights in place. But supporters of the policy change say it's necessary to rid school districts of bad teachers. Listening to lawmakers, teachers here are preparing for the worse. Most I've talked to are predicting a close vote. Some moderate republicans already sided with democrats on this issue - and teachers are hoping that will happen again. Others heard the Koch brothers were here earlier to sway lawmakers - but i did not see them myself. People are asking about is governor Brownback, he has not made an appearance since the debate began. It has been a busy few days for state lawmakers trying to get in votes before the end of the session. We've been tracking all the major pieces of legislation passed. You'll find it all in the "Kansas legislature section" of our website... Kwch-dot-com.

The main thing the bill was supposed to do... Was increase funding to local districts... Especially the poorer districts... As required by a Kansas Supreme Court ruling. Pilar Pedraza spoke with Wichita school leaders today... And learned while they're getting some extra money... They still don't know just how much. School leaders across the state were following this weekend's action at the statehouse closely... Most had representatives in Topeka keeping track of all the changes. Once the bill passed.. They started trying to figure out what it meant for their district. Diane Gjerstad (jer-sted) says based on the new formula... It looks like Wichita should be getting more than two million dollars in extra funds for classroom spending. But, that's before all the program cuts are figured in. That includes things like cutting at risk student spending... And limiting which students the district can count when figuring out local property taxes. But whatever the final total ends up being.. She says it won't be as much as it looks like at first glance. One part of the bill is for taxpayers and not the school districts. The state is kicking in more money for property tax relief... When figuring the local tax rate. This will decrease how much local property owners pay for schools... But it doesn't change the *total schools actually get. To check -out all the numbers prepared for each district by the Kansas department of education... Just go to k-w-c-h dot com and look in the "on-air links section."

4/8/2014 5am

Now the latest on the school funding debate, lawyers for parents and school districts at the heart of the battle say they have concerns about the plan approved by lawmakers this weekend. Attorney John Robb says the plan to spend 129 million dollars to satisfy a state Supreme Court ruling actually contains little new money for schools. Robb says his office is still looking at the overall plan to see if it will meet the court order. The bill is now awaiting Governor Sam Brownback's signature. He hasn't said when he will sign the package.

4/10/2014 6am

Her resignation comes as the state reworks its school funding system. Governor Sam Brownback says he hasn't received the bill yet, but he did have praise for it. Brownback says it accomplishes the goal of increasing state aid to poorer districts. The governor had this to say about the backlash from teachers over the elimination of tenure. The governor says without the school funding bill, some districts would be forced to lay off teachers. Brownback says he plans to look closely at the effect of eliminating due process for teachers.

Meteorologist Mark Larson says our day to day weather will be a bit ore 'active' the rest of the week and into the holiday weekend. There's a chance of severe storms Wednesday evening in the west, spreading east Thursday. Early Wednesday, temps fell into the upper-50s across the west and into the upper-60s over south central Kansas. The wind also backed-off while we were sleeping under a clear to partly cloudy sky. Wednesday will start out dry but clouds will increase through the day with scattered storms firing-up in the west after 5 p.m. A few storms could produce golf ball or larger hail, high winds and even an isolated tornado. Afternoon highs will top-out near 90 for most of Kansas however lower 80s are expected in the northwest. More scattered storms are on the way Thursday and again Friday. Right now, it looks like there will be a few lingering showers or storms Saturday morning but we'll dry-out by afternoon. Sunday and Memorial Day will not be wash-outs but another round of showers and storms are in the forecast.

Colleges across Kansas are seeing a spike in enrollment among Hispanic students. Wichita state university officials say...Hispanic students now make-up 9 percent of the university's undergrads - more than a thousand Hispanic students have enrolled for this fall -- the biggest increase for this minority group - now university officials say...the challenge is getting Hispanics to finish their degree. The director of multicultural affairs says... Most of the Hispanic students are first generation students. Who have a harder time adjusting to campus life. That's why the organization launched a "mentor-peer program"...to give Hispanics the skills they need to succeed.

Fifteen million dollars' worth of improvements to Cheney schools are in the hands of voters there today. Voting began as early as six this morning. The 15.4 million dollar bond would help pay for safety and security upgrades, repairs to failing infrastructure, and improvements to academic and athletic facilities on all three school campuses in Cheney. If passed, that would also mean an increase in property taxes for local residents. But it's one many feel is necessary for the sake of their students. The increase would be about 95 dollars in property taxes per year for a 100-thousand-dollar home if the bond is approved.

An update to a story we first brought you Tuesday morning. Cheney voters pass a multi-million dollar school bond. The 15-million dollar school bond project will be used for safety and security improvements. Nearly 75 percent of voters were in favor of the measure.

Time now for a look at your forecast. And Rodney - we got a few phone calls in the newsroom tonight - asking about all the smoke in the air around Wichita. I know it's the time of year when farmers and ranchers burn their fields - but wind plays a factor in all that.

4/6/2014 10pm

Overnight, low temperatures will fall into the 40s with winds turning to the northwest across western Kansas. Light winds are expected around Wichita. Monday looks mostly cloudy with hit and miss rain showers. Severe storms are not expected with highs around 60 for most of the state. Dry weather is expected in the northwest and the wind s will be gusty from the northwest for most of the area. Dry weather and warmer temperatures are expected to return for Tuesday with highs in the mid and upper 60s.

4/7/2014 6pm

Scattered showers and thundershowers will diminish once the sun goes down. Storms are not expected to be severe.

4/8/2014 5pm

Sunny and a bit breezy today but getting windier tomorrow. Tomorrow will also be much warmer. Dry conditions will continue until late Saturday. Saturday night and Sunday will bring a chance for showers and thunderstorms. At this time severe weather is not expected. The storm system that will bring the rain chances will also usher in a cooler start to next week.

4/9/2014 12pm

The winds are up and so are the temperatures today. Fire danger is also in the extreme catagory.

4/10/2014 5am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says after highs soared into the summer-like 80s Wednesday, temperatures will trend a bit cooler for week's end but stay above normal for April. Wednesday was the warmest day of the year so far for many Kansans. Wichita topped-out at 82 degrees making it the first time the town's seen 80 or more since October 11, 2013. Early Thursday, a few clouds passed through our area but everyone stayed dry. Temps stayed mild overnight and only fell into the upper- 40s and low to mid-50s

Thursday will be a tad cooler with winds shifting back to the north. Afternoon highs will climb into the 70s for most of our state and it won't be as windy. Look for increasing clouds Thursday night and a chance for spotty showers or sprinkles across northern Kansas. Our Friday will be fine before a weekend storm system arrives bringing chances for showers and storms Saturday night and Sunday. Severe weather is not expected Sunday but the weekend system will drag much colder temps into Kansas early next week.

Meteorologist Mark Larson says the wind will die down Friday across most of Kansas and temps will be mild. Get set to get wet this weekend. A weak, fast moving weather system rolled out of Nebraska while we were sleeping and spread clouds across Kansas. A few spotty sprinkles even passed through the northeast corner of our state as temps fell into the 40s. Look for decreasing clouds Friday and afternoon highs in the 70s with light southeast winds. A stronger storm system will plow across Kansas this weekend. Expect increasing clouds Saturday with afternoon highs soaring into the 80s nearly statewide. Scattered showers and storms could develop Saturday night but are more likely Sunday when a cold front slashes into Kansas from the north. Some small hail will be possible with a few stronger storms Sunday but severe weather is not expected. The weekend weather-maker will drag much colder temps into Kansas Monday when highs only top out in the 50s with gusty northerly winds.

4/12/2014 10pm

Be sure to download the storm team 12 app for the latest information on storms in our area. With it you can check out the interactive radar and see where any bad weather is, and where it's headed. The app is free for apple and android devices.

4/13/2014 10pm

Overnight light rain showers will change to snow for central and western Kansas. Some snow accumulation is possible, especially in the southwest where as much as 2 or 3 inches could fall. Lows will dip down into the mid 20s west with low 30s in south central Kansas. The wind will be gusty from the north. Monday starts out with a chance for light snow before the skies begin to clear some in the afternoon. Highs will be in the 40s with north winds gusty until late afternoon when they will start diminishing. Another hard freeze is likely into Tuesday morning with temperatures starting out in the 20s. It will warm back up into the 60s Tuesday afternoon. The next chance for rain in Kansas will be Thursday.

4/14/2014 5pm

That freeze has gardeners scrambling to get flowers ready -ahead of the cold. Take a look at the tulips at Botanica today. The snow and frost made for pretty pictures. Landscapers say tulips actually do well in the colder weather... But that's not the case for many flowers.

4/15/2014 12pm

Some record low temperatures were set this morning. Winds are increasing today and will get even stronger tonight and tomorrow.

4/17/2014 5am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we can expect a gray Thursday with more clouds than sun most of the day, a few scattered showers and much cooler temps. Early Thursday, spotty showers made their way into parts of western and central Kansas and under a cloudy sky, temps fell into the 30s and 40s much lighter northeast winds. Thursday will be much cooler than normal with widely scattered showers, especially over the southern half of our state. Afternoon highs will only be in the low to mid-50s. Look for a sunny, dry and warmer day Friday with highs climbing back into the upper-60s and 70s. Southerly winds will also increase throughout the day, Scattered showers and storms will be back this weekend and will be most likely Saturday night and Sunday with highs in the 60s and 70s.

4/19/2014 10pm

Look for storms in western Kansas tonight with more on the way Easter Sunday. Highs will reach the 70s.

Rain will pull out of eastern Kansas Monday with a warming trend to follow. Storm chances return Wednesday and Wednesday night and some could be severe. Stay tuned.

4/21/2014 6pm

2014 is the 4th driest start to the year on record in Wichita. Yearly rainfall is less than two inches

4/22/2014 5pm

Some isolated thunderstorms in western Kansas this evening will weaken overnight as they move to the northeast. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and windy with storms developing in the west by mid to late afternoon. Some of these storms could be severe with large hail and damaging winds. Storms will move into central Kansas in the late evening hours with the threat becoming mainly strong winds. Some showers may linger Thursday morning in the east with mostly sunny conditions doing likewise during the day. Storm chances will increase again Saturday night into Sunday with severe storms being possible once again. Scattered showers and cooler conditions will be found on Monday and Tuesday.

Meteorologist Mark Larson says Wednesday will be stormy for some but windy and warm for everyone. Early Wednesday, a few showers drifted out of north-central Kansas and into Nebraska as temps across Kansas fell into the 50s under a clear to partly cloudy sky. Look for increasing clouds Wednesday, gusty southerly winds and strong or severe storms over the west by mid to late afternoon. Large hail, to the size of golf balls, and damaging winds will be the main threats with any severe storms. Thunderstorms will move into central and eastern Kansas by late evening carrying the threat of damaging winds with them as they form a long north-south line and March eastward. A few showers may linger over the east early Thursday morning but we can expect mostly sunny skies to return by afternoon. Another round of strong storms will plow into Kansas again Saturday night and Sunday with more severe weather possible. Monday and Tuesday will be much cooler with scattered showers but fewer storms.

4/24/2014 5am

Storms roll through this morning. Then cooler weather moves in. Mark Larson is here with a look at your forecast.

4/25/2014 4:30am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we're in for a fine Friday followed by a stormy weekend. After a cool start early Friday, temperatures will warm back into the low to mid-80s by afternoon with gusty southerly winds returning to our area. Skies will be sunny to mostly sunny throughout the day. Friday night, and most of the day Saturday, look dry. Temps will top-out in the mid-80s to near 90 with gusty winds before storms fire-up by late afternoon. The best chance for severe storms will be across central and eastern Kansas after 5 or 6 p.m. Very large hail, damaging winds, and a few, isolated tornadoes will all be possible, especially over southern Kansas. More stormy weather is expected Sunday however the severe threat should push eastward by the afternoon. Monday and Tuesday will be mostly cloudy and much cooler with widely scattered showers but fewer storms.

4/26/2014 10pm

First, it hasn't been the severe weather day we were expecting. But we're not in the clear quite yet. Meteorologist Rodney Price has been tracking the potential storms... Rodney.

4/28/2014 6pm

Strong winds will continue across Kansas for a couple of more days.

4/29/2014 5pm

You've heard of snow days. But what about a dust day? That's what you're looking at out of Stanton County. For the first time in the district's history. The superintendent closed school because of the wind and dust. That dust is making it hard to see on the roads. Hannah Davis joins us live to show us all the problems it is stirring up. Four days of high winds across the state. In Wichita, we're still getting gusts around 40 miles an hour. But that's nothing compared to out west... Where they're getting gusts so strong its closing down school. This is what it looks like out west in Stanton County. One of the driest starts to the year coupled with several days of 60 mile an hour plus gusts created this. You can see just how bad visibility is in some areas. And that's why school officials cancelled class.. They didn't want student driving when it's tough to see the road ahead. Now in Wichita a little bit of rain helped get rid of the dust... But the winds are still blowing hard... And people are tired of it. Strong gusts are also taking down trees. You can see this one in north Wichita couldn't stand the gusts.

4/30/2014 12pm

Clean-up continues in southeast Kansas... From an e-f-2 tornado that hit Baxter Springs. Volunteers have been helping get rid of debris. Meantime, the Cherokee County health department says it's providing tetanus shots to prevent infection. It says it already provided more than 70 shots. If you want to help, you can find out how at k-w-c-h dot com... Click on the "tornado destruction" section on the home page.

Meteorologist Mark Larson says our wicked winds will be backing off Thursday and Friday and it will actually feel pretty "calm" compared to the blown-away conditions we've endured lately. Temps tumbled hard early Thursday, falling into the 30s statewide. A few sub-freezing readings were even found across the southwest corner of Kansas where a warning had been issued. After the chilly start Thursday, we'll see a fairly mild finish with afternoon highs in the low to mid-60s under a partly to mostly cloudy sky. How about those wicked winds? They'll be gusting to 25-30 mph instead of 40-50 and 60, so not too bad, relatively speaking. Look for more sunshine and warmer temperatures as we close out the work week followed by a surge of early summer-like heat this weekend through most of next week.>

5/2/2014 4:30am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says an area of high pressure will pass through our area Friday finally bringing lighter winds and more sunshine to Kansas. Early Friday there were patches of frost in far western and northern Kansas but most areas stayed above freezing with light winds and clear skies. Sunny to mostly sunny skies will prevail Friday afternoon with lighter westerly winds under 20 mph. High temps will soar back in the 70s statewide. Our weekend looks much warmer with highs in the 80s and 90s. A weak front will drift southward into the area Saturday and drag in a few clouds but we'll stay dry. More hot, dry weather is expected next week as severe drought conditions intensify.

5/3/2014 10pm

Many of you may remember this. An f-4 tornado that hit Haysville and south Wichita. Killing 6 people and injuring 100 others. Today is the 15th anniversary of that deadly twister. To hear from survivors of the storm as well as city officials who helped rebuild after the destruction. Head to our website at k-w-c-h dot com.

5/4/2014 10pm

After record heat, look for temperatures to come down some for the start of the week. Overnight, the skies will be mostly clear with lows in the 40s and 50s. Monday will be mostly sunny with north winds early, coming around to the east or southeast during the afternoon. Wind speeds should be under 20 mph with highs in the 80s for most, but could still see some low 90s along the Oklahoma state line. Dry and hot weather returns for Tuesday. Record highs are likely around Kansas with readings between 95 and 100. The next best chance for showers and storms will be coming in with a cold front on Thursday.

5/5/2014 5pm

Tuesday will be windier and hotter with some record high temperatures expected. Rain chances return to the state late Wednesday and Thursday. After the rain, temperatures through the weekend will return to normal for early May. There will be another chance for rain on Sunday, Mother's Day.

5/6/2014 5am

Historic heat. Temperatures across Kansas continue to climb... And it could be a record breaking day. Merrill teller has been watching the thermometer all day. Merrill, how hot is it going to get?

5/7/2014 6am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we're in for one more hot day Wednesday but an approaching weather system will bring storm chances to some and heat relief to everyone. Early Wednesday, temps only fell into the 50s and 60s with a few scattered clouds passing through our area along with gusty southwest winds. Look for mostly sunny to partly cloudy skies Wednesday with highs in the low to mid-90s for most of Kansas. A few more high temp records could be broken too (Wichita's record is 94). Isolated showers or storms will be possible Wednesday evening, and a couple of storms could be severe. A cold front will pass through Thursday bringing a better bet for scattered showers and storms to central and eastern sections of our state. A few storms could be severe with large hail and gusty winds the primary threats. Behind the front Friday, winds will shift to the north and highs fall-back into the more seasonable mid-70s.

5/9/2014 4:30am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we're in for a fine Friday and although the drought continues, if it has to be dry, it might as well be nice. Early Friday, a few lingering showers and storms faded as they raced eastward. Temps were rather chilly behind Thursday's cold front, tumbling into the 40s across most of the state to start the day. We can expect lighter winds and mostly sunny skies Friday as high pressure moves through our area. Afternoon highs will top-out in the low to mid 70s and it won't be quite so humid. Saturday looks dry day for most of us however, a few storms could pop-up over southeastern Kansas later in the afternoon. Saturday will be warmer too as temps will climb back into the low to mid-80s. Most of Kansas will see a chance for rain and thunderstorms Mother's Day, and a few storms could be severe with hail and wind the main concerns.

It wasn't just hail, lightning and high winds. Some parts of the state also had localized flooding today. This is video from Dodge City. The national weather service site there recorded more than one and a half inches of rain over two hours late this afternoon. We also had reports of minor flooding in Osborne County. We could sure use the rain. The latest drought map shows much of the state under extreme drought conditions... In there's even a sliver of south central Kansas in the worst category exceptional drought. Storm team 12 says this spring storm should help the top soil... But it didn't deliver enough rain to significantly impact the record dry conditions.

5/12/2014 5am

If oil production stops on just one Kansas rig... It will impact dozens of people. And some drilling companies say... A bird is to blame for putting them into a holding pattern. New federal regulations, listing the lesser prairie chicken as a "threatened" species went into effect today. Factfinder 12 has been looking into how the rules protecting their habitats impact Kansas. New at six... Investigator Lauren Seabrook shows us.... The change has already put some people out of work. Crys from wildlife activists have been heard and these birds are now protected by the federal government. That fear has oil drilling at many rigs across southwest Kansas on hold. Tim sanders with tomcat drilling says work on a rig typically goes 24 hours a day, seven days a week in Kansas ... And employs hundreds of people. But if that drilling continues in an endangered area companies face penalties ranging from 25 to 50-thousand dollars and jail time. Sanders says about 15 people work on a drill. He says if you consider each worker is married with about two kids . Then multiply that by about 50 rigs in the endangered area ... That's 3-thousand people affected. In response to the new federal law - Kansas passed a state law that allows the a-g or a county prosecutor to file lawsuits against the conservation efforts. Sanders says that'll help ... But his company's first priority is to be compliant. We wanted to know how long the process could take to get a permit for drilling ... Since that's how long employees would be out of work. Fact finder 12 found out... Companies must apply through the "Kansas corporation commission" and file a completion report when the drilling is finished. We asked how much the permit costs and how long it takes to get. But the k-c-c was unable to give us that information today. Once we find out... We will update the details of the process on our website, k-w-c-w-dot-com.

5/13/2014 5pm

Partly cloudy and quite chilly again tonight. Dry and cool weather will continue through the work week and then warm up over the weekend. No significant rain is in the forecast into the beginning of next week.

5/14/2014 12pm

There were more frosty spots across western Kansas early Wednesday but it looks like it was the last time morning temps will dip so low for a while. Temperatures fell into the lower 30s over the west and into upper-30s to around 40 elsewhere Wednesday morning. Wind speeds were less under 15 mph under a mostly clear to partly cloudy sky. Clouds will thicken-up Wednesday afternoon with a few spotty sprinkles/showers possible around northwest Kansas. Highs will only climb into the 60s again with north/northwest winds under 20 mph. We might see a few more spotty sprinkles or showers Thursday, but the likelihood of widespread measurable moisture the rest of the week is very low. High temps will continue to be on the cool side of average for mid-May through the weekend, holding in the 60s to around 70 degrees.

5/15/2014 5am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we'll see spotty sprinkles or a few splash and dash showers through week's end but no significant, drought easing, moisture. Early Thursday, temps fell into the upper-30s across the west with lower 40s elsewhere and winds were light. Thursday will start out with some sunshine, but clouds thicken-up into the afternoon with a few spotty sprinkles or showers possible. Highs will be in the 60s with northerly winds under 20 mph. Looks like there a few more showers will be passing through Kansas Friday, but rainfall totals will be measured by the thimble not a ruler. Afternoon highs will stay on the cool side for May through Saturday but we can expect warmer weather to return Sunday. The warming trend will continue into next week as highs soar into the low to mid-90s by Tuesday and Wednesday.

5/16/2014 4:30am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we'll see another cool day Friday with a chance for scattered rain showers. Sadly, the rain won't be heavy and some areas will even be missed altogether. Our drought continues. Early Friday, skies were clear to partly cloudy and temps fell into the upper-30s and lower-40s.

A reinforcing shot of cool air arrives Friday afternoon and early sunshine will give way to thick clouds with spotty sprinkles and a few splash and dash showers developing. The wind will swing around to the north/northeast and stay under 25 mph. Other than an isolated storm in western Kansas Saturday afternoon or evening, much of the state will be dry with temperatures in the upper-60s and lower-70s under a partly cloudy sky. Sunday will mark the beginning of a significant warming trend that will take Kansas back into the mid-90s by Tuesday and Wednesday.

5/17/2014 10pm

The snow may be long gone... But the sand from snow removal is sticking around but hopefully not for long. The city of Wichita will begin enhanced street sweeping tomorrow evening starting at 7:30 on some of the main roads. They will keep doing this six days a week in 12 hour shifts. The hope is to have at least the main streets cleaned up by early June.

5/18/2014 5am

Summerlike temperatures are on track to return for the start of the new week. Afternoon highs will be close to records the next few days. Overnight, partly cloudy skies can be expected with south-southeast winds gusty for much of the state. Lows will fall to around 60. There will be a good deal of sunshine on Monday with highs in the 90s for most of the state. Hottest weather should be in southwest Kansas where the century mark could be reached by late afternoon. Strongest south winds will be in south central Kansas with gusts over 35 mph likely. Dry weather continues through Wednesday before scattered storms return to the picture by Thursday and Friday. And there will be chances for storms over the holiday weekend too.

5/19/2014 6pm

More hot weather is expected for some parts of Kansas Tuesday. Record highs that may be in jeopardy include Wichita, Medicine Lodge, and some areas of southwest Kansas. Overnight lows will dip down into the 50s and 60s with gusty south winds continuing for most of the area. Some high clouds will be drifting through on Tuesday with the hottest weather likely in southern Kansas where some areas will hit 100. Northern Kansas will have highs in the 80s. The first chance for storms will arrive Wednesday evening in western and northern Kansas with a front in the area. Severe storms can't be ruled out, but the likelihood of widespread severe storms is low. More chances for storms can be expected Thursday and Friday.

5/20/2014 5pm

Active weather is expected for the rest of the week and into the holiday weekend. There is a chance for some severe storms Wednesday evening in the west, and then spreading east into Thursday. Overnight, look for dry weather in Kansas with lows ranging from upper 50s west to upper 60s in south central Kansas. The wind will be backing down through the night. Wednesday starts dry, but clouds will increase through the day with scattered storms in the west after 5 p.m. Some storms could produce hail, high wind, and an isolated tornado. Highs will be near 90, with low 80s in the northwest. Scattered storms are possible Thursday and again Friday. Right now, there will be a chance for storms Saturday morning, but the afternoon looks dry.

The dry year continues to cause drought problems in Kansas. That has many taking extra steps to preserve water. But in one Wichita neighborhood there's a question about how the homeowner's association is keeping ponds from drying out. Pilar Pedraza explains what's going on. Drought is on everyone's mind... Even those who don't think Kansas has reached dangerous levels yet... Say we should all be careful with our water consumption which is why residents in the monarch landing neighborhood contacted us. Upset about what the homeowners' association is doing to keep these ponds from drying out on the phone. The associations' president told me they've pumped water into the two largest ponds once. And in a written statement, said the h-o-a considered a number of things including... "the appearance and property values of the neighborhood, using water resources during the drought, the health of the ponds, " but in the end said the water levels reached "a critically low state" and adding water was "necessary to protect the pond environment and the fish." in an April email to residents.. The h-o-a warned the pumping could impact other neighborhood well levels, even drying them out. That has residents upset. We checked with the Kansas department of agriculture, which regulates water usage in the state. Agents told us the h-o-a has to have a term permit to use well water to fill the ponds and that if other, domestic well owners are impacted... They can file a complaint with the division of water resources which would then investigate. Currently, less than half of Kansas is considered to be in extreme or exceptional drought. The Kansas division of water resources says you should make every effort to conserve water. For more details on water regulations and how to make complaint about water wells.. Go to k-w-c-h dot com after the show.

The storm also forced a southwest airlines flight to divert to Wichita. The plane landed at mid-continent Wednesday evening. It left early this morning for Denver. It was one of 38 flights diverted Wednesday. We did reach out to one of the passengers waiting for that flight. Kevin cooper tweeted us this photo as he was waiting at mid-continent airport.

Rain chances will fade over the next few days and temperatures will be warming up around the state. Overnight, skies will be mostly clear in the west with some clouds lingering central and east. Lows will fall into the upper 50s for the west, with low 60s central and east. The winds will be light. Wednesday should be dry around the area with highs in the mid and upper 80s. The winds will be light statewide with sunshine in the west and some afternoon clouds in the east. The next chances for showers and storms will be coming in for the weekend. Best chance Saturday will be in the north and in the west, with other chances statewide Sunday.

5/28/2014 12pm

Early Wednesday, skies were clear in the west while clouds lingered over the central and east. Temps fell into the upper 50s for western Kansas with low 60s central and east. Winds were, once again, light overnight. Wednesday afternoon looks dry, except for a few showers over the far southeast corner of our state, with highs in the mid and upper 80s. Winds will remain light statewide with sunshine in the west and some scattered clouds in the east. The next chance for showers and storms will move in this weekend. The best bets to get wet Saturday will be across northern and western Kansas then statewide Sunday. A few more storms will be possible Monday followed by a few hot dry days through the middle of next week.

5/29/2014 6am

Another muggy mild morning. We can expect more heat and humidity this afternoon but fewer showers or storms. Look for spotty showers/storms for eastern KS Friday afternoon. More storms on the way, for more folks, this weekend.

5/31/2014 10pm

Riverfest continues all week here in Wichita. And so do our chances for possible rain. Meteorologist Rodney Price joins us with a look at what we're expecting.

6/1/2014 10pm

Storms will continue moving east through the rest of the evening and large hail and high winds are the main threats. Overnight temperatures will stay in the 60s with much of the state seeing the winds turning to the north. The winds will be backing down (away from storms) as the night continues. Monday will see a mix of sun and clouds. Any leftover chance for storms should be south and east of the Kansas Turnpike. Highs will be in the mid 80s with east to southeast winds. Some storms are expected to redevelop in northwest Kansas Monday night. Those storms will spread across the rest of northern Kansas for Tuesday. Hot and windy weather is expected around the state for Tuesday afternoon. More storms will be coming our way Wednesday night and into Thursday. Those storms could be severe.

6/2/2014 6pm

Lightning from last night's storms.... is being blamed for damaging this home on north grove in park city. Fire Crews were called just before 11. The fire was confined to the attic. Three people were inside... They made it out safely... after smoke detectors went off. An official damage estimate hasn't been released yet. But along with fire and smoke... the lightning strike also caused damage to the home's electrical system.

6/4/2014 12pm

Severe storms will be possible again later today over western and southern Kansas. The severe threat tomorrow will be mainly over south central and southeast Kansas. 1 inch hail and winds 60-65 mph will be possible both days.

6/5/2014 5am

6/6/2014 4:30am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says we can expect more, off and on storms to roll across Kansas late Friday into Saturday morning but the threat for severe weather will be winding down. Friday morning clouds will give way to partly cloudy skies by afternoon with highs topping-out in the low to mid-80s. Strong or severe storms will pass through far western and southern sections of Kansas Friday night into early Saturday morning. Large hail, gusty winds and locally heavy rain will all be threats. Isolated afternoon storms will also be possible Saturday but look for dry weather Sunday through Wednesday. Afternoon highs range from the mid-70s to mid-80s through Tuesday and then climb back into the upper 80s to around 90 Wednesday and Thursday.

6/8/2014 10pm

Storm coming from eastern Colorado will impact western Kansas heading through the night and early morning hours of Monday. Some gusty winds are expected with stronger storms, but the main threat will be some heavy rainfall and localized flooding. Low temperatures will fall into the 50s across western Kansas with low 60s in the eastern part of the state. Flood watches are in effect for western Kansas. High winds will kick in across northwest Kansas later in the night. Monday brings a good chance for showers and storms to the area. Locally heavy rainfall is likely, especially in central and southern Kansas. Much cooler temperatures are likely with highs in the 50s and 60s. Some low 70s are possible near Wichita. Severe storms are not expected on Monday. Rain chances will end early Tuesday with dry weather likely heading into the afternoon. Temperatures will warm back up to near 80.

6/9/2014 5pm

You're going to start seeing more of these popping up across Kansas. Tesla Motors is adding charging stations ALONG I-70 for its electric cars. The company will open a station in the parking lot of the new Applebee's in Hays on Friday. It's the first Tesla station in Kansas. The automaker plans to open 4 charging stations along I-70 in Kansas by the end of the year. It takes about 20 minutes for the car to receive half a charge.

6/10/2014 12pm

Wichita city council unanimously voted this morning to continue a rebate program for using water-efficient appliances. Rain sensors and dual-flush converters are now included. And the program will apply to anyone who pays a water bill, not just homeowners. Rebates would be 100-dollars per item. Each customer would be limited to five rebates. The budget for the program is 450-thousand dollars.

Mostly clear skies and cool temps to start the day. Gusty winds and warmer temps this afternoon. Storm will crank-up tonight out west then plow eastward through Thursday Morning. Flooding rains and gusty winds will be threats.

6/12/2014 5am

That rain and wind probably woke you up this morning. You may even heard some thunder claps. The storm brought strong winds and minor street flooding. Lets go straight to mark who's been tracking this storm since early this morning.

6/13/2014 4:30am

Meteorologist Mark Larson says our Friday weather looks just fine and temperatures will be warming up this weekend along with another round of rain and storms. Early Friday temps fell into the 50s with light winds and clear skies, a delightful, fresh air morning. Friday we'll see some high clouds drift into our area during the afternoon with an increasing south wind. High temperatures will climb back into the low to mid-80s but the humidity should be a bit lower than it's been lately.

A stray shower or storm could pop-up along the Colorado state line Friday night but most of us will stay dry. Saturday will be windy and warmer with highs in the upper-80s and lower-90s. Strong storms are likely Saturday night across northern Kansas where some will be packing large hail and damaging winds. Right now we expect most of the rough weather to be north of I-70. Sunday will bring more scattered storms state-wide and there will be a slight risk for more severe weather south and east of the Kansas Turnpike.

6/14/2014 10pm

Storm team 12 chaser Brandon Ivey captured this video from near Stockton earlier tonight where a tornado was reported. Strong winds and hail were also reported with this storm. Here's a photo a viewer sent in of that rooks county tornado. There's no reports of any damage from it. Here's some damage from my home town, Saint Francis where a tree was ripped out. This photo from my aunt, Sandy Barnhart. There's also reports of some grain bins damaged in northwest Kansas as well as more than 2-thousand people without power. There are a lot of reports of hail tonight. A viewer sent us this photo of some softball sized hail from Goodland Kansas. You can send us your storm shots as well through Facebook or our kwch app.

6/15/2014 10pm

What a difference a day makes, severe storms overnight, but today, clear skies provided perfect weather for father's day activities in much of the state. Merrill can we expect it to stay that way as we begin the work week?

6/16/2014 6pm

Hail damage from this weekend's severe storms is keeping auto-shops busy in western Kansas. "Dinkel collision and repair" in Goodland says... It has had a steady stream of customers since opening this morning. Workers have seen windshields and back windows knocked-out... Or cracked by the hail... in addition to the body dents they normally see after this kind of storm. We've been getting your pictures of the hail from Saturday's severe storms. You can check-out the photo gallery of all this weekend's storm shots, right now in the weather section at kwch-dot-com.

As that tornado was moving through Hesston a second tornado formed just to the north of town. The first storm weakened while the second storm intensified. Their paths met northeast of Hesston and the first tornado could be seen moving around the second storm before the two combined into one. Today, the threat for severe weather lies over much of the northern U.S.

6/18/2014 12pm

The sun is shining now out in hays...but a storm threat will move into the state this afternoon and this evening. Rodney Price is in the storm center with your storm team 12 forecast.

6/19/2014 5am

Partly to mostly cloudy skies, muggy and mild this a.m. Wind are still gusty across the east with lighter breezes for the west. It's warm and muggy again too. Expect another breezy, warm, humid day with scattered strong or severe storms for central and eastern Kansas after about 3 p.m. Highs will not be as hot Thursday - low to mid to upper 80s to near 90 statewide.

6/20/2014 4:30am

We have some morning clouds, even a few spotty showers. No huge impact from either expected for your Air Capital Classic forecast. Pack the sunscreen and keep hydrated!

6/21/2014 10pm

We're tracking thunderstorms on hd super Doppler. Storms have had a history of quarter size hail and are moving east. This area in western Kansas is under a slight risk of severe weather. Hail and some wind are the main concerns. Here's a look at current temperatures. Hd future track shows showers and storms tonight which should weaken later tonight. More storms should develop tomorrow afternoon. Here's tonight's forecast. Here's a look at Sunday's forecast. And now your 7-day forecast.

6/23/2014 6pm

Scattered storms are showing up in parts of Kansas. More chances for storms coming over the next few days.

6/24/2014 12pm

A few thunderstorms are moving across north central and northwest Kansas. Locally heavy rainfall may cause some brief street flooding in areas between Colby and Hays. Isolated severe storms will be possible this evening along the Colorado line.

6/27/2014 4:30am

Recent rain is helping corn farmers here in Kansas. A new drought map shows more parts of south central Kansas improving from extreme to severe drought. The rain couldn't have come at a better time for the corn crop. A Ness County farmer says he's stopped running his irrigation systems and doesn't expect to have to pump water for another couple of weeks. Wheat farmers aren't as fortunate. We spoke to one out of Ness City who tells us that the rain was too late for him. He only expects a quarter of the wheat harvest he had last year.

6/28/2014 10pm

The storms have mainly moved out of our area, but we could see some more before too long. Meteorologist Rodney Price is tracking our next chance for rain.

6/29/2014 10pm

Here's more of the western Kansas flooding Ross mentioned. You can see high water over highway 83 just south of Oakley this morning. That's in Logan County. Just east in Winona... High water made this road impassable today. Ashley sent us this video. If you come across water like this on the road, turn around. It only takes about 6 inches of water to stall out an average car and leave you stranded.

6/30/2014 4:30am

First drought...now downpour. The latest rain is putting a halt on farmers cutting wheat. An agronomist who studies crops tells eyewitness news the worst wheat is in Anthony and the best so far is in Haven and Hutchinson. But no matter what the crop looks like... Many farmers are at a standstill because of all the recent rain. We talked to a farmer today who says the rain has turned his fields into a swamp. Curt Hoobler has been farming wheat for 35 years. But this year is different. Hoobler grows two thousand acres of wheat. He's got about ten percent of that left to cut. To salvage the rest, Hoobler is hoping the rain will take a break. Recent rain has caused a slow down for harvesters in many parts of the state. Wet wheat stalks means a combine struggles to cut. Wet soil means farm machinery could sink. And wet fields wash away chemicals meaning weeds. While this rain is hurting his wheat harvest, Hoobler says it will really help his other crops. He says his corn and soybeans might even make up for the bad wheat. Hoobler says the upcoming holiday is actually somewhat of a deadline for farmers. He says wheat farmers in the Mulvane area try to have cutting finished every year by the fourth of July. Hoobler agrees with other farmers across the state who have told us the weather has decreased the value and quality of wheat this year.

Residents in west Wichita learn more about a toxic chemical found in their water. Many people are worried about how it affects their health this morning. Lauren Seabrook joins tells us about some of their concerns. Questions about the health effects from contaminated water ... Some residents have been drinking for years ... Maybe even decades. The Kansas department of health and environment is providing residents with three 5-gallon water bottles a week - for now. They say the contaminated water is safe to use for watering lawns or washing cars ... But that's about it. Some residents already know their water can't be used ... While others are waiting to hear their results. Meanwhile ... Many are worried about how this will affect property values. K-d-h-e will investigate whether the former "four seasons dry cleaner" that caused the contamination was doing everything they could to prevent it. K-d-h-e expects the entire corrective process to cost the agency a few million dollars but doesn't anticipate residents taking on any of those expenses.

There was another fire... this one at the La Crosse high school gym. The school's superintendent tells us a spotlight being used for prom caught some of the decoration on fire. The decoration fell and set parts of the gym floor on fire. The fire department was called in and was able to contain the blaze. No one was in the school at the time. The superintendent says the La Crosse high school building is off limits until further notice ... And prom has been moved to a nearby community building.

This morning we want to warn you about a scam that targeting grandparents for money. The scam begins with a phone call from a person claiming to be grandchild. It always ends with a plea for money. This man who won't reveal his name, used to be on the other end of the line. The 31-year-old is awaiting sentencing in California for his role in the "grandparent scam" part of the elaborate scheme was run out of Canada...he would call senior citizens in the u-s impersonating a grandchild in distress...begging for cash. Its estimated senior citizens are robbed out of roughly three billion dollars a year in financial scams. The scams are often run from different countries and the con artists usually buy lists with their victims personal information...including age and income.

A few lingering rain showers will continue into the overnight hours and early Monday morning. The chance for rain should end in far western Kansas by early Monday too. Lows will be mild overnight, with most areas staying in the 50s. Winds will be light from the south. Monday should be dry in the west where sunshine will be abundant, but there is still a chance for lingering showers central and east. Highs will reach the mid 70s for most of the state. North winds will be gusty through early afternoon, then begin diminishing closer to evening. Tuesday will be sunny and warmer before a strong storm system approaches from the west, bringing a chance for thunderstorms to the area Wednesday evening. Some of them could be severe. Stay tuned.

Folks in Barton County are remembering a county commissioner this morning. Don Cates died Tuesday in a plane crash in Pawnee County. He was flying northwest of Garfield when the plane hit a power line. The Kansas highway patrol says...the plane then nose-dived into a ditch. Friends tell us Cates loved flying. He also was a decorated military hero...with service in Vietnam. Cates was a former commercial pilot and was elected as a Barton County commissioner four years ago.

A Factfinder 12- don't fall for it this morning. For residents of Garden City. The Garden City electrical department has heard from concerned citizens- who report getting phone calls from people claiming to be from the electrical department. The caller says their meter isn't working and it will cost 6-hundred dollars to replace it. The caller i-d shows the calls came from the city electrical department main number. This is a scam. The garden city electrical department isn't calling and asking for payments. Police are investigating the phone calls.

With severe weather possible, people in Andover are taking steps to prepare for a potential disaster. It has been 23 years to the day since an f-5 tornado tore through Andover. 17 people were killed, and much of the town saw significant damage. So today, butler county emergency teams hit the county landfill. Crews practiced rescue operations that would be required if another severe storm were to hit. Workers at the landfill built special rescue scenarios out of debris to challenge the rescuers. The organizer of this training says for many of the first responders... This is their first look at what a major disaster might look like.

Now Kansas leaders are weighing in on the botched execution. They say there are protocols in place if something goes wrong. Kansas department of correction officials say what happened in Oklahoma was a tragedy. Jeremy Barclay says he and other leaders are taking a closer look at our death penalty process so there's no duplication of what happened in Oklahoma. Keep in mind...the Kansas coalition against the death penalty says the last execution in the state was in 1965. Two people were hanged. The Kansas department of corrections says the state is years away from executing anyone---and that's mainly because of the appeal process. Kansas is one of 33 states that has the death penalty.

Parenting experts say... cases like this are a growing problem. all parents make mistakes, sooner or later. While some things may seem obvious to many of us, for others that's not the case. They say... in the long run, the most important thing is to keep the child safe. if the child can't call for help in an emergency... or escape the home... then leaving the child alone is not a safe option.

5/8/2014 5am

The district attorney will now consider filing charges against the parents of a one-year-old found in an apartment closet. It happened at the twin rivers apartment complex in west Wichita Tuesday. Police say, the mother left the 18-month-old child sleeping in the closet while she took the child's father to work. Maintenance crews working on an air conditioning unit found the child. The boy is now with his grandma.

If you have to replace your roof...you might want to follow these tips factfinder 12 has for you. Never pay for services up-front. Legit companies will deal with your insurance company... They will not ask for cash up-front. If you suspect you've been contacted by a scammer... Call police dispatch. If you hire a company, make sure that it is licensed, registered with the state of Kansas, and bonded. You can check the state's roofer registry online... There's a link at kwch-dot-com... You'll find it in the "on-air links section."

Health officials are stepping up precautions to prevent the spread of mers. That's "middle east respiratory syndrome". Beginning today signs will be posted at airports across the country warning passengers about the illness. It's made hundreds of sick overseas and can be deadly. There have been two confirmed cases of people bringing it to the u-s. Mers is a respiratory illness that begins with fever and cough but can lead to shortness of breath, pneumonia and death.

5/15/2014 5am

A factfinder 12 don't fall for it. it's a scam we've told you about before. Police warn it's moved into Pratt county. Here's how the scam works...you get a call from a man claiming to be with the city. In this case it's the Pratt electrical department. The caller then tells you that you owe money and if you don't send it today your electricity will be cut off. Pratt city and Pratt county never call billing you or threatening to cut off your services. Their best advice...if you get a call from anyone you don't know or by someone claiming to be from the government demanding money just hang up.

5/16/2014 4:30am

More than 70 percent of American adults are Facebookers. It's great for keeping up with friends and family...and posting pet photos...but what about relying on severe weather information? More and more of us are...and Jim Grawe is here to show us why we shouldn't. It's where kids and pets and politics all coexist your Facebook feed is a smorgasbord of stuff. Great for finding a new desert recipe....and for a busy college student like Joe Harder...the place to get the latest news and weather information. But social media Guru Cheryl Gnad says, hold on! There's something you need to know. That's a fancy way of saying that Facebook is filtering the information you see. A lot of posts from pages you've signed up for....may never show up in your Facebook feed. She says it's because Facebook is trying to get organizations and businesses to buy ads. If a post is paid for...then you can be sure it'll show up on your feed. Otherwise...you can only expect to see one in six messages posted...even if they are warning you about severe weather. So...the national weather service in Wichita established a policy: instead, the weather service uses Facebook to provide supplemental information...or to announce an approaching threat....but not anything of an urgent or imminent nature. At the top of the list he suggests a weather app like the stormteam 12 app. There you can constantly monitor the weather....and get severe weather alerts the moment they're issued. And that's even more convenient than Facebook....because the audible alerts can warn you even when you're not looking at your phone. Twitter doesn't filter out posts...but that can make you miss things also because your feed becomes so cluttered. Twitter also has just a fraction of the users Facebook does.

5/17/2014 10pm

An update now on a story we told you about today at six. An elderly man reported missing out of derby has been found. A silver alert was issued for Floyd tiffany this afternoon. He has since been located in Oklahoma and is now safe.

5/19/2014 6pm

For the first time the c-e-o of an Andover nursing home addresses accusations of patient abuse. The investigation led to federal fines of more than 150-thousand dollars. Anne Meyer is live in Andover with the response. Roger that amount is climbing tonight - because the Victoria Falls skilled nursing center here in Andover is still being fined 1000-dollars per day until it becomes fully compliant. Even though it's not fully compliant... The facility has been allowed to take in new patients again after an agreement with the department of aging. The Andover police department began an investigation into abuse at Victoria Falls last January. But c-e-o Dennis Bush said today he did not learn specifics about that investigation until March. At that time, one employee was fired. Then in April, two other employees were suspended. But we do not know specifics of the allegations. Bush says he has worked out a plan of correction with the Kansas department of aging and disability services and he is doing his own internal study of what happened. Dennis bush only read this statement; he refused to answer any questions about what happened or the plan of correction. I did talk to the butler county attorney today - who says a charge has been filed against one employee, for mistreatment of a dependent adult. That employee is scheduled to appear in court June 16th.

A 10 year old boy safe at home this evening in Wichita. Last night police issued an "endangered run-away alert" for the child...which is different from an amber alert. Fact finder 12 shows you the differences between the two alert systems...for an amber alert; a child must have been abducted. They also must have evidence or suspect that the child is in immediate harm. The endangered child or runaway alert is different. Police use this if a child has not been kidnapped but could still be in harm's way. Officers say they use this alert if the child is under 13 has disabilities or lacks the skills to stay safe on their own. Police say the alert has been an effective tool. Wichita law enforcement say this is part of an effort to be more transparent and get more children back home.

A new state law changes how law enforcement agencies across the state deal with seized weapons. Currently, cities and counties to determine what to do with guns they seize. Some destroy the weapons. Others sell them back to dealers. The new law allows guns to be sold. Reno county sheriff randy Henderson says his county has been trading seized weapons for years. He says, the trade-in program allows his department to upgrade its equipment. The new law goes into effect July first. However, not all weapons are allowed to be resold under the law. Those weapons are destroyed.

A frantic parent on the phone with 9-1-1. This mom called for help after a 12-year-old girl took her husband's s-u-v with her daughter inside. It happened Sunday morning. Police tried to get the girl to stop, but she wouldn't. On the 9-1-1 tape you can hear the mother pleading with dispatchers not to hurt her little girl. The vehicle came to a stop after hitting a parked car. The girls inside were detained and turned over to Wichita police.

You should be aware of a recent post office scam. It's a factfinder 12 don't fall for it. The post office in Marion says... It has received complaints of fake emails. Those emails claim the post office is holding onto a package.... and you need to "click a link" for more information on how to pick it up. If you do click it... a virus will download onto your computer. The post office never contacts customers by e-mail about packages it's holding. If you do receive one of these emails, don't click the link. Instead, let the u-s postal inspection service know about it. You can do that by forwarding the scam email to "spam at u-s-p-i-s dot gov."

New at noon, we now know the man who drown in Milford lake Sunday was a Salina resident. Search crews are still working to recover the body. The identity of the victim has not yet been released but we do know it was a 65-year-old man. Investigators say he fell off a pontoon boat while going after a fishing pole.

We did reach out to officials with the bob dole v-a facility today. They didn't want to go on camera but someone with public affairs did answer some of our questions via email. We asked...do you have a waiting list for patient treatment? The reply- yes and they use the v-a approved electronic wait list. They also tell us they have not received any complaints. We also asked if they've had to deal with any investigators to which they replied...no.

Police release new information on an accidental death in downtown Wichita. They say a medical condition likely played a role. They say a medical condition likely caused the man to fall while on a service elevator. He was killed after his head was caught between the floor and a wall. It happened yesterday morning in the 100 block of north rock island. Police say the victim worked for a company called *restoration & waterproofing.

6/3/2014 5pm

This problem isn't just limited to Wichita. At least 42 v-a medical centers are under investigation, but authorities aren't saying which ones. C-B-S news has confirmed hospitals in Arizona, Wyoming, Illinois, and Florida are part of the investigation. At the phoenix hospital, at least 17 hundred veterans waiting to see a doctor were never scheduled for an appointment.

We're learning more about a deadly accident in newton. 28-year-old crystal Stauffer died after she was hit by a car Tuesday afternoon. The driver was not hurt and stopped to call 9-11. No charges have been filed at this time but the accident does remain under investigation. Stauffer was a physical education teacher at Santa Fe middle school in newton. She and her husband Andrew just married nearly a year ago... And were both active members in their church. The school Stauffer taught at plans to honor her in their own way when classes resume in August.

New this morning, a female motorcyclist is in critical condition right now after crashing into a home in south-east Wichita. Disptachers tell us it happened just before 3 this morning in the 1200 block of south Todd near Webb road and i-35. Hannah Davis is at that scene right now. Hannah what's the latest? Emergency crews are on scene of a motorcycle crash in southeast Wichita. A Sedgwick county emergency dispatcher tells us a woman rider is in critical condition after possibly hitting a home. It's not know what led up to it. The crash happened just after 2:45 Friday morning in the 1200 block of s. Todd near Webb and i-35.

6/7/2014 10pm

Hazmat crews are finishing up at the scene of a chemical leak at a business in south-west Wichita. Nearly 7 hours after the leak was reported at farmland foods. The ammonia leak forced more than 100 workers to evacuate. One person was hospitalized with serious injuries after inhaling the chemical. Cleanup crews told us they were relying partly on winds to help dissipate the ammonia. Ammonia poisoning is a serious health risk. Depending on its severity, it can cause a variety of symptoms such as chest pains, fever and vomiting. In very severe cases, it can be deadly.

6/8/2014 10pm

Part of a Wichita meat packing plant will remain closed tomorrow. Hazmat crews were still at farmland foods today, trying to get ammonia gas out of the building. About 100 employees were evacuated from the building near Pawnee and Sheridan yesterday afternoon after a leak was reported. One employee hospitalized because of the gas has been released.

New information tonight about how long veterans are waiting for care at the nation's v-a hospitals. More than 100 Kansas veterans have waited more than 90 days for their appointments with v-a hospitals and clinics. That's according to an audit released today. It found 57 thousand nationwide waiting more than three months. I talked to Congressman Tim Huelskamp today--he drove to Wichita last week demanding answers and says he still has more. Congressman Tim Huelskamp says...this is only a start. Here's what we've learned -- a new veterans affairs audit that found 110 Kansas vets waiting for appointments for 90 days or more. 104 of those at the bob dole medical center. The audit also found...nationwide 13 percent of va schedulers reported supervisors telling them to falsify appointment dates to make waiting times appear shorter. While the report found 104 waiting more than 90 days... We reported last week an official with the dole v-a hospital told the associated press 385 patients were on an unauthorized list. Are these different lists? The bob dole v-a has answered few questions...for the media...or Kansas representatives. But Huelskamp says he has received two calls from employees inside the hospital...and wants more. I also talked to Senator Jerry Moran's office today. Moran is upset he wasn't given this report before the associated press released it earlier today. Asking why the senate v-a committee must rely on press to get va answers? Huelskamp is also on a veterans affairs committee...which meets tonight. He says look for legislation to come out of that committee asking for more accountability and oversight.

People in Ellis may lose access to water today. A water main broke near 12th and Washington this morning. City crews are working to fix it, but if repairs are unsuccessful, crews will have to shut down water to the town. It could be turned off for up to 4 hours.

Health care leaders say it's a minute that could save a life. Those 60 seconds are the time it takes for a surgical "time out". That's the time before surgery where everyone stops to go over a pre-surgical checklist to make sure everything is right. Local health care providers in Wichita joined together Wednesday to unveil a universally accepted protocol for surgery time outs. The new plan coincides with national time out day...a nationwide campaign to increase awareness of safety practices during surgery. You can learn more about the procedures at kwch dot com.

It's a disease having a huge impact on the u-s pork industry. And hog farmers in Kansas are working to prevent the spread of it. The disease is known as the "p-e-d virus." Thousands of pigs nationwide have been infected. Earlier this month.... The u-s department of agriculture announced millions of dollars in funding to fight the disease. The organization also issued a federal order requiring the report of any new detections of the virus to state animal health officials. About 200 cases have been reported in Kansas.

Factfinder 12 wanted to know what local communities are doing to control the mosquito population.

As we mentioned in our story, Sedgwick County and the city of Wichita are watching mosquito traps. Once they get the results... They'll place larv-i-cide discs in storm drains as needed... Those kill larvae. In the next few weeks, Park City will start fogging to control mosquitoes.

6/18/2014 12pm

That breaking news from northeast Wichita, where firefighters are working to put out an apartment fire. Crews were called to the area near 37th and rock within the last half hour. 911 dispatchers say one person is hurt. They are being treated for smoke inhalation. We have a crew on the way, and will bring you updates as we get them.

6/20/2014 4:30am

You will soon be able to bring concealed guns into the state house. Legislative leaders refused to use authority granted to them to block holders of concealed carry permits from entering. Leaders had to act this month to block the policy. Its part of a law passed this year. Lawmakers are already allowed to carry concealed firearms.

6/21/2014 10pm

Three harper county teens are still recovering at a Wichita hospital. After a fatal accident Friday. Two other teens were killed in the crash. Devon Fasbinder talked to friends of the boys who say the towns of harper and Anthony are still in shock. Jade... Friends of the five teens involved in the crash say the boys were all well known, funny and respected by the community. In the small towns of Anthony and Harper, many shook their heads and said they couldn't believe this happened. All that remains of the accident at the intersection of 80th and 10th in harper county is some broken glass and pieces of what was two cars carrying several teens. On Friday, three boys were heading east on 80th and two others were heading north on 10th when their cars collided. That corner shows the damage. The pole has marks and scratches. The street sign shows the strength of the impact....bent and full of dirt. Lieutenant Bryan quick says the state highway patrol is trying to figure out how it happened. Two boys Ayrton Maurer and Sam cook were set to graduate next year. They died in the accident. Three others are still in a hospital in Wichita. Friends of the boys say the community is still in shock. Good kids this community says it will miss. People in harper tell me the boys who died in the accident were both very talented. Ayrton Maurer was involved in baseball at the high school and Sam Cook was a talented musician. Kansas highway patrol says it still has some questions to investigate. There wasn't a stop sign at the intersection... So officers want to know why one of the vehicles didn't yield. Also a 15 year old was driving one of the vehicles involved in the crash. He had a passenger with him who was also 15. The highway patrol says since he only had his farmer's permit... He shouldn't have had a minor in his vehicle. No tickets have been issued at this time and the crash is still under investigation.

More problems for general motors this morning. The company is now recalling 29-thousand Chevy Cruzes because air bags are built with the wrong part. This comes just one day after g-m dealers were ordered to stop selling 2013 and 2014 models. Parts of the air bag could separate in a crash and be thrown into the car....possibly hurting people inside. U-s-a today says it's also possible the air bag may not inflate. Nearly 10 million vehicles with air bags from supplier Takata have been recalled since 2008.

A car... Narrowly misses a woman in northwest Wichita before crashing into her garage. This security video captured it all. It's a story we first told you about it last night. Emily griffin spoke with the homeowners and brings us their reaction. A few quiet moments on the front steps turned to near tragedy for the Robison family on Friday night. Watch this security video... Amy Robison is watering her flowers in front when she sees the incoming car just in time to jump out of the way before it goes plowing through the garage. Amazingly... No one was hurt. But damage to the home and Eric's ca is pretty extensive. The homeowners had already had a temporary wall put up to over the hole, but their garage is still full of debris including parts of the suspects' car. There were two people inside the car when it drove into the house. Police suspect they might have been going up to 60 miles an hour. Something Eric says he's seen on this corner one too many times. Though they've never seen a car come this far up into their yard. Eric & his wife are considering themselves lucky to just have this hole in their wall instead of their hearts. Emily Griffin, eyewitness news. Police say a man and woman in their 30s were in the vehicle at the time. Neither of them were hurt. The crash is still under investigation.

4/4/2014 4:30am

Lawmakers are making their final push for school funding today. Last night both branches in the state house advanced their funding proposals. And today the state house's school funding bill is scheduled to go up for full debate. The proposed measure contains an additional 141-million-dollars in aid for the next school year. The committee backed off payment reductions for teacher pensions... transportation programs, online classes, and programs for at-risk children.

Here's a look at some of the other measures now awaiting for governor's signature. They include A bill that would have Kansas join a so-called compact, hoping to exempt the state from federal health care laws. That move would require Congressional approval. Plus there's A bill to keep a ban on Medicaid expansion in place - otherwise it was set to expire in 2015. Lawmakers also passed a measure to get rid of a requirement on abortion providers' websites - they no longer need to call the state's information on pregnancy "accurate and objective." For more information about these bills and other actions happening in Topeka. Head to k-w-c-h dot com.

Voters in Kingman are deciding whether to approve a sales tax that would fund a new jail and law enforcement center. Taxes would go up one cent. In October, voters narrowly rejected a quarter cent sales tax for the plan. Today's vote is just for funding, no building plans are on the ballot. If approved, the tax would last 20 years. Polls are open until 7 o'clock tonight.

4/9/2014 12pm

Continuing coverage of the court battle over Kansas election rules. Federal election officials appeal the judge's ruling, requiring them to help fully enforce state proof-of-citizenship laws. Last month a federal judge ordered that national voter registration forms include special instructions for people living in Kansas and Arizona. Right now... federal forms do not have details for people to show proof-of-citizenship. Only state voter registration forms do. The judge has not yet ruled on requests by federal election officials to put his order on hold during the appeals process.

A new health and human services director will be announced today. The president is expected to announce Sylvia Burwell to the top health spot. The wall street journal reports she has spent months as a budget director working on relations between the white house and republicans on taxes and spending. Burwell is set to replace Kathleen Sibelius. She's stepping down after 5 years on the job. The former Kansas governor took on heavy criticism when the affordable care act was launched. A president's senior official says Sibelius planned to step down after enrollment period was over.

The education funding bill is now on the governor's desk - he got it about five hours ago. That starts a ten day clock for Brownback to take action. Anne Meyer asked what he plans to do. Brownback says he's still looking at it - so is the Wichita school board. That's why I'm outside of north high school. The board is meeting here in less than an hour = and tonight they will get a good look at what this funding bill will mean for Wichita public schools. Earlier today, governor Sam Brownback was at Wichita state - to tour the campus and talk about the recently approved state funding for higher education. But outside, he was once again met by protesters, who are upset about the k-through-12 funding bill, and specifically the state's move to take away a due process requirement, which pays for teachers to have a hearing before they can be fired. The governor tells me he cannot line-item veto the due process portion of the bill - so it's either all or nothing decision -- one that he says he plans make before the ten day deadline is up. Back to you. Lawmakers are on break right now = they will return to Topeka again on April 30th, to finish up the session

Kansas and Arizona get more time to respond, in a case over the new voter citizenship requirements. In March a judge ordered federal election officials to modify *national voter registration forms with special instructions for Kansas and Arizona residents about proof-of-citizenship requirements. Those officials asked for the ruling to be put on hold. The judge has now given states until Friday to file arguments on the ruling.

First lady Michelle Obama's upcoming appearance in Topeka continues to cause outcries from students and parents. The first lady is set to deliver the commencement speech on May 17th in front of graduating seniors from Topeka's five high schools. She's speaking on the 60th anniversary of brown verses board of education ruling. Despite the district increasing the number of tickets per students, many are worried since the schools will be combined there won't be enough room for all the guests. Currently, students are being given six tickets for family and friends. That's up from the original plan to only allow four tickets per student. Organizers say they still have some last minute arrangements to make for viewing on a large screen at a different venue. One student has even started a petition to have district officials "rethink" the limit on tickets.

Covering Kansas, a fixture of Kansas politics for more than 30 years, is back in his home state tonight. Bob dole is in the middle of a three day tour of Kansas, and today he made a stop in Lawrence. Anne Meyer was there to hear his message to future politicians. Former senator bob dole says one of his greatest accomplishments was keeping in touch with the people of Kansas - and that's what this tour is all about. Always one to tell jokes, former Kansas senator bob dole used humor to reminisce on many of his Triumphs in politics. He also told the crowd, of his wish for the leaders of today to work together. It's a message that hit home for several students in the audience, who may be future politicians - like k-u sophomore Mitchell Depriest. Even those already in the career, say this generation has a lot to learn from dole - who hasn't slowed down yet. And he's not done yet. After this tour, dole will be back in Kansas in mid-May to visit other cities and supporters. AM eyewitness news. That tour in may will include a stop here in Wichita. Dole says he wants to visit all 105 Kansas counties before the end of the year.

A state objections board will meet next week to discuss whether to let senator Pat Roberts run for another term. He re-filed last week but his opponent...Doctor Milton Wolf...has filed an objection...trying to get him kicked off the ballot. Wolf sent a letter to secretary of state Kris Kobach asking that Roberts' candidate filing be rejected claiming that he's not legally a resident of Kansas. Eyewitness news spoke with Kobach about the issue. Roberts was elected to the house in 19-80 and the senate in 19-96. He owns a duplex in Dodge City that is rented out and his voting residence is a room he rents at the home of a friend. Wolf is backed by the tea party and claims that Roberts can no longer claim residency in Dodge City.

5/12/2014 5am

U-s senator pat Roberts can run for re-election. That was the decision of a state board today... That heard objections to his candidacy. Pilar Pedraza tells us.... Those objecting don't think Roberts qualifies as a Kansas resident anymore. She continues our coverage now from Topeka. Six people came to the secretary of state's office here... To explain why they don't think pat Roberts should be allowed to run for re-election. They say he's not a resident of Kansas. Their concern... That the current u-s senator doesn't have a home in Dodge City. Where he says he lives while keeping a house in Virginia just outside d-c. They say the bedroom and bathroom he rents from a Dodge City staffer doesn't count. Roberts didn't come to Topeka for the hearing because the u-s senate was in session. His attorney spoke for him... Saying Roberts has a Kansas driver's license... Pays state, county and city taxes.... And has every intention of living in Kansas when his service is up. Once they'd heard all the objections... It took the board just a few minutes to vote to let Roberts stay on the ballot. In Topeka, Pilar Pedraza, eyewitness news. Those who raised the objections today. Say they'll continue to make this a part of the coming campaign and hope Kansas voters will agree with them.

Also today, the city council voted 5-to-2 to fund plans for a new central library. The 500-thousand dollars goes towards *design of the facility, which would be near exploration place. Opponents questioned whether that cost is necessary. The overall project will cost about 30 million dollars, and be subject to additional votes.

5/15/2014 5am

It's a letter meant to show the governor's policies are working- despite cutting taxes, the state is bringing in more than enough money to pay its bills. But a check by fact finder 12 shows the figures don't quite add up. Jade DeGood has details-- in the letter, governor Sam Brownback claims... When he took office in 20-11.... The state had a total of just 876-dollars in the bank. But numbers provided by a legislative research group show. That's wrong. It says... The state really had 251-million-dollars in the bank when governor Brownback was sworn-in. Brownback's letter goes on to say... The state's coffers grew to 764-million by the beginning of 2014. Again, numbers from research agency show the state actually ended 2013 with 280-million dollars. That's a 29-million-dollar increase from 20-11. Not the nearly 764 million increase Brownback's letter claimed. Friends university political science professor dr. Russell Arben fox says mistakes like this are nothing unusual. In a statement from Mark Dugan... Brownback's campaign manager. Dugan says the numbers aren't wrong. But the campaign letter used incorrect dates for the amounts of money in the bank. He says, and factfinder 12 confirmed, the numbers used in the letter were actually calculated six months prior to what the letter states. Professor Arben fox says most people getting who get letters like this one are already supporters of the campaign... And aren't likely to fact check. You might recall. The governor also used that 876-dollar figure during his state of the state address. But that time, used the correct date. As we get closer to the November election we'll have you covered at kwch dot com when it comes to everything you need to know before you head to the polls.

5/16/2014 4:30am

It's official. Governor Sam Brownback is seeking a second term as governor. Brownback filed for re-election Thursday. This would be his last term as governor, for at least 4 years. Kansas law allows a governor to serve only 2 consecutive terms. Brownback will face a primary challenge from Wichita landscaping business owner Jennifer Winn.

5/17/2014 10pm

Senator Pat Roberts apparently spent less than 100 days in Kansas over two years. That's according to u-s-a today, citing senate spending records. It claims that from July 20-11 through august 20-13, the senator spent a total of 97 days in the sunflower state. This comes as his residence recently came under fire by political opponents, who claimed Roberts actually lives in Virginia and only rents a room here in Kansas. However, the state objections board has ruled Roberts is a legal resident of Kansas.

5/27/2014 5pm

The Wichita city council is considering a one cent sales tax to help pay for expanded transit service. That means for every one hundred dollars you spend in the Wichita, 1 dollar would go to the city. The council says over the next five years, which would add up to 397 million dollars. The city is looking at multiple ways to divide up that income. Some could go to economic incentives to bring more jobs to Wichita. Another idea is to spend it on a comprehensive drought plan. The council plans to vote on the issues in August. You can let us know if you think the city council should implement a sales tax by going to our Facebook page. Just search k-w-c-h news.

5/29/2014 6am

Kansas secretary of state Kris Kobach... formally launched his re-election campaign. Kobach....calls himself a guardian of "state sovereignty"... filed paperwork WEDNESDAY. Kobach will face... Scott Morgan, an attorney and businessman from Lawrence, in the August primary. The winner will be placed on the November general election ballot where they will run against democrat Jean Schodorf.

5/30/2014 5am

Kansas House minority Leader Paul Davis officially enters the governor's race. Davis is the only democrat running for governor. Governor Sam Brownback filed for his re-election campaign earlier this month. He will take-on business owner Jennifer Winn of Wichita in the August primary. Davis will face the winner in the November general election.

6/2/2014 6pm

The filing deadline for the August primary elections came at noon today. Former congressman Todd Tiahrt announced last week he will challenge republican Mike Pompeo in the primary. Senator Pat Roberts is set to take on fellow republican doctor Milton Wolf. Wolf filed an objection which was denied... Roberts is not legally a resident of Kansas. And republican Sam Brownback faces Wichita business owner Jennifer Winn in the governor's race, with House minority leader Paul Davis expected to be the only democrat in the race.

Covering the nation, the Taliban released new video showing the final moments of Army sergeant Bowe Bergdahl's captivity. But questions still surround his release and the prisoner exchange that won his freedom. Craig Boswell brings us the latest details. The Taliban released this video showing the handover of Army sergeant Bowe Bergdahl to U.S. Special Forces in eastern Afghanistan. Bergdahl is quickly searched for possible explosives before being lifted into the helicopter and flying to freedom. The propaganda video then shows the Taliban's farewell message to its former hostage. But the rescue and recovery of America's only prisoner-of-war in Afghanistan is being overshadowed by controversy. Without notifying Congress...as required by law...the U.S. released five Taliban leaders from Guantanamo Bay in exchange for Bergdahl's freedom. The White House is sending a team to Capitol Hill to provide a classified briefing to the full Senate this afternoon. But a similar briefing for a smaller group Tuesday did little to calm outrage over the prisoner release. There's also anger from some of Bergdahl's fellow soldiers who say he walked off his post. A petition on the White House website calling for Bergdahl to be court-martialed has already received 15-thousand signatures. Craig Boswell, CBS News, Capitol Hill. Secretary of Defense Chuck Hagel says it's unfair to the Bergdahl family to presume the sergeant did anything wrong when he left his unit. He says the Army will review the circumstances surrounding his capture.

These are words from a former prisoner of war. John Mock of Eureka served in the Army back in the 1940s. He was taken captive along with hundreds of other Americans when their team moved into German territory. Mock has been following the Sgt. Bowe Bergdahl release closely. Jade DeGood sits down with the former World War Two soldier... Who says the U.S. should have never negotiated with the enemy. John Mock knows what it's like to be in the hands of the enemy. He spent nearly 100 days with the Germans during World War Two. Mock was just 19 years old. He's freedom wasn't negotiated. Instead, U.S. troops discovered him and his fellow soldiers after an attack. 7 decades later... He says the U.S. has made a big mistake. Saturday... The U.S. freed

5 terrorists from Guantanamo bay, in exchange for Sgt Bowe Bergdahl... The lone u-s soldier held captive in Afghanistan. This former prisoner of war is one of many questioning this deal between the United States and the Taliban, along with how the American was captured. An investigation is underway to find out whether Bergdahl deserted his base camp or just wandered away. Mock says the exchange... Means many Americans.. Especially those overseas are in even more danger. Last night... We heard from a man working in Kansas who served in Afghanistan with Sgt. Bergdahl. He says... Bergdahl simply walked away in the middle of the night. You can watch that report ... On kwch.com.

And there's a good reason for all the competition over the convention. Factfinder 12 looked into the impact the event has on the host city. Here's a look at reports from the last three conventions. In 20-12.... The event was held in Tampa, Florida. The University of Tampa says... The total economic impact for the city was roughly 404 million dollars. In 2008... Host-cities Minneapolis-saint Paul reported an impact of more than 168-million dollars. And in 2004... When the g-o-p gathered in New York City, then-mayor Michael Bloomberg announced it brought a gain of roughly 341-million dollars in economic activity.

Just two days after a surprise visit to the Robert dole v-a, representative Tim Huelskamp says the Wichita medical center still hasn't given him answers. The congressman spoke to v-f-w members in Salina this morning. He says the u-s needs to form an independent commission to review the current v-a system... And push through reforms. The state v-f-w commander says congressional leaders need to act... In order to make changes and hold the v-a accountable. Eyewitness news has made numerous requests for interviews by phone and by email... To the Robert j Dole v-a medical center. And each time we were told they cannot comment... Or the people that could were not available.

We could get some answers today about the Bowe Bergdahl swap. Defense secretary Chuck Hagel testifies today before a house committee. It's the first hearing over the Obama administration's decision to swap five Taliban members for p-o-w Bergdahl. A senate committee remains skeptical about the deal, after a briefing last night. A new cbs poll also shows -- the majority of Americans believe the swap was too high of a price.

New this morning, Mulvane residents will soon be paying more in sales tax. Voters said yes last night in a special election. The extra money will fund a new 4 million dollar library.

Since nineteen eighty-three, children's miracle network hospitals has been raising money to provide necessary care, research, and life-saving equipment to save and improve the lives of as many children as possible. Via Christi is in that network of hospitals and tonight we have Jill Bosley in studio to give us more details and tell us how we can help. As always for more information on children's miracle network, you can visit our show's website at the weekend crew dot com. If you're in high school, and looking for an impressive extracurricular activity to add to your resume, we may have just what you're looking for. Recently we got a chance to talk with Mayor Carl Brewer, and some very bright young students, about a program called. The mayor's youth council.check it out.

4/5/14 10:30pm

Casa of Sedgwick County is a local branch of a national organization advocating for children who may otherwise not have an advocate. Their yearly fundraiser - Casa-ino Royale - is coming up and tonight we have executive director Ashley Thorne in studio with all the details. For more information on Casa-ino Royale...just head right on over to the weekend crew dot com. And now let's check in with Casey to find out what's going on this week.

4/12/14 10:30pm

I'm here today with Connie Erbert the director of 'Autism Resources' here at Heartspring. Thank you for talking with us today Connie! Sure, well here at Heartspring you have kind of a program called C.A.R.E. an you kind of tell us what C.A.R.E stands for and what the program is all about? So C.A.R.E's main objective pretty much is to help those kids not only that are falling through cracks, but all the kids that need sort of, sort of, guidance and help with this disability. There is an event coming up that people can help sort of raise funds for the C.A.R.E program, can you tell us about it? I'm here today with Charlie King who is a fifth grader at Colligate, and he's also a participant in the C.A.R.E program. Charlie, thank you for talking with us today. So can you tell me, first question, why is it really important for individuals to be educated about autism? Okay. And, um, can you talk about how autism has impacted you and its impacted your family? What would you like people who maybe have never met a person with autism or they don't have someone in their family with autism? What would you like them to know about autism? With the autism C.A.R.E walk, our community has the opportunity to learn more about autism and also come out and uh, and to raise money for awareness. Have you been to the C.A.R.E walk before? Well that's all from Charlie King, Charlie thank you so much for talking with us! And of course for more information on the autism C.A.R.E walk you can always visit our website at theweekendcrew.com

4/19/14 10:30pm

Children first is a non-profit here in Wichita guided by the purpose of educating children from low-income families and offering a pathway out of poverty. Tonight we have executive director amber beck, well as Isabella, a participant in one of their current programs for young girls called a-stem. What is the mission of children first? What does a-stem stands for? Why is it important for young women to learn about those fields? How can people in our communities get involved? You can also find info on children first at the weekend crew dot com. Do you know someone who has suffered from lung cancer, asthma, or other lung related illnesses? Well then you'll want to be part of the fight for air climb coming up on May tenth. Check out my visit with abbey Brungardt of the American lung association.

4/19/14 10:30pm

I'm here today at Cessna stadium talking with Abby Brungard about the Fight for Air Climb, and thanks for talking with us today Abby. Oh for sure! Now what is the Fight for Air Climb all about? Okay. Now you did say that it was a fundraiser, so what does that money that this event is going to raise, what is it going to kind of go to? And when and where is it again? And then also how can people get registered for it? Now, I see that Shannon and Jody are up there. They're already sort of doing what they're going to be doing up there. Is it okay if I go and kind of chat with them a little bit too? I don't know how well this is going to go. I'm going to give it a shot. Maybe I'll catch Jody while she's down at the bottom! Hey Jody, whoa, whoa, sorry I caught you. I actually didn't want to have to go all the way up there. Actually Shannon is all the way up there too, so we're probably going to have to catch her as well. But, uh, you're the leadership chair, can you kind of tell us a little about what that means? You have done this race before. You haven't done the firefighter one, but you've done sort of the normal one. Tell us what that's like. Is it pretty intense? Is it okay if I go talk to Shannon too? Oh man, she is up there too, isn't she? Alright, uh, thanks for talking Jody, I'll just start up. You were way up here! Oh my gosh this is crazy! So this is what people are going to have to do when they come out and run this right? Oh my goodness. Oh man, it keeps going! The firefighter's challenge, you're going up, you're wearing these things, you don't even have to be a firefighter though, right?

4/26/14 10:30pm

National statistics show only ten percent of abused children speak up about their abuse. Here in Sedgwick County in 2013, more than eighteen hundred children were helped by an organization called the child advocacy center. Tonight we have Diana Schunn in studio to share more about the organizations mission and how we can help. And for a link to the child advocacy center's website you can also go to the weekend crew dot com. You may think you know about goodwill and all the aid they offer communities, but Shane and i realized we still had a lot to learn on our most recent trip to their new headquarters. Check out our visit with Gayle Goetz.

5/3/14 10:30pm

Well, Shane and I are in the middle here with Dixie and Andy and Dolly here is on our right, a beautiful horse. Thank you both for chatting with us. I understand that Dolly and these other two horses with us have a very special story. Dixie, can you tell us about these horses? Andy, you're the owner and you really started this horse sanctuary, can you speak to the importance of, the story of these horses is pretty obvious, but why is it important for this to continue? Now, there are a lot of horse lovers out there, obviously people that would love to come and pet these animals and take care of them, how do they do that? What's the best way for them to get involved? So, Andy, what are, if someone is watching, what are the primary ways that they can help right now? What are the things that you need the most here at the rescue? Thanks you so much for what you do in our community. And one more time, how can people get more information or volunteer at Hope in the Valley? Of course, you can always find a link on our website at theweekendcrew.com

5/3/14 10:30pm

Today, Katie and I are here at the Habitat for Humanity Re-Store. A store that benefits your local Habitat for Humanity. That's right, the re-store takes in and houses and then resells anything and everything you can think of for a home. Building materials, lighting fixtures, carpet, tile, anything and everything. That's right, I kind of think of it as the ultimate recycling. A lot of this stuff would probably end up in a landfill or things like that, but instead, it's being put to good use. That's right, so if you have a spring project, you're doing some spring cleaning going through your garage and finding lots of supplies you haven't used yet or haven't used in awhile, bring it here instead of trying to throw it out. That's right, and you get them a pretty good discounts too, including those tiles over there. Can you imagine buying that many tiles for that cheap of price? In addition to some tile that Shane and I were just looking at, Re-Store is looking for doors and windows, knobs, painting supplies, lumber. That's right, rugs, plywood, landscaping and building materials. One thing they don't need is upholstered couches. But, if you're a retailer or a larger manufacturer and you've got end of the line items, or scratched or dented inventory, you can bring it here instead. Looking at some of this tile, lots of the projects that people want to look for are needed in bulk. The Re-Store funds go to benefit Habitat for Humanity. The basic mission for Habitat for Humanity is to help people who may not be able to afford it, build homes of their own. Since 1986, over 200 families have benefitted here in the Wichita area. But in addition to a new home, Habitat for Humanity steps in to give these families financial education classes and workshops to maintain their new beautiful home. That's right, because a big part of Habitat for Humanity is a hand-up, not a hand-out. So if you are interested in benefitting Habitat for Humanity with building supplies or your time or money, you can always visit their website at wichitahabitat.org or our website at theweekendcrew.com

Letter carriers nationwide are getting ready for the twenty-second annual letter carriers' food drive, coming up May tenth. Tonight we have Cathy Lamb in studio to share about the mission behind the drive and how we as a community can help. You can also find info on the letter carriers food drive at theweekendcrew.com. Now let's check in with Casey to find out this week's top things to do.

Community Calendar:

Sunflower Broadcasting provides a beneficial service for our community by providing an online Community Calendar to our viewing public. The Community Calendar is available for local groups and individuals to promote their events free of charge. It can be accessed through three of our websites: kwch.com, fetchtoto.com and kansascw.com. We've designed our calendar to be used by the public and monitored by our staff. Each month we list hundreds of events that happen throughout our viewing area that services nearly the entire state of Kansas. Some of these events include, but are not limited to, non-profit events, fine arts events, civic club meetings, city hall meetings, family celebrations, church functions, movie screenings and local music performances.

60 MINUTES

“3 Years Later” – a report on the aftermath of the March 11, 2011 earthquake and tsunami in Fukushima, Japan which caused a nuclear accident at the Fukushima-Daiichi nuclear power plant, generating a radiation crisis in the surrounding areas, now uninhabitable. The report focuses on the town of Okuma, where Norio Kimura is still searching for the remains of his seven-year-old daughter, Yuna Kimura. Cleanup is estimated to take thirty to forty years. Includes interviews with Norio Kimura and his mother, Tomeo Kimura (through translator), former Okuma residents; Yoichi Funabashi, chairman of the Rebuild Japan Initiative Foundation and Lake Barrett, nuclear engineer. Also includes comments by various unidentified children who used to live in Okuma. (C: Bob Simon – P: David Schneider) (See also: “Catastrophe”, OAD: 03/20/11)

“The Health Wagon” – a report on nurse practitioners who are providing healthcare to the uninsured working poor in Appalachia, specifically six counties in southwestern Virginia. These patients are unable to pay for the Affordable Care Act (Obamacare), but are overqualified for Medicaid. The Health Wagon, which runs mostly on federal grants and corporate and private donations, is their only viable option. Includes interviews with nurse practitioners aboard the Health Wagon: Teresa Gardner and Paula Meade; Dr. Joe Smiddy, a lung specialist and the Health Wagon’s volunteer medical director; and patients Glenda Moore (who died 3 months after the interview), Sissy Cantrell, Brittany Phipps and Walter Laney. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Henry Schuster, Rachael Kun Morehouse)

“Discovered” – a report on the billion-dollar missing art trove German authorities discovered in the apartment of Cornelius Gurlitt, the son of Hildebrant Gurlitt, one of Adolf Hitler’s leading art dealers. Most of the collection was stolen from museums and Jewish collectors during World War II, leading to a legal battle over who has the rights to the art now. Includes interviews with Ekkeheart Gurlitt, Cornelius Gurlitt’s cousin; Willi Korte, a lawyer who specializes in tracking down stolen art; Vanessa Voight, art historian; Martha Hinrichsen and David Toren, each of whom had family members whose paintings were confiscated by the Nazis; Hannes Hartung and Tido Park, lawyers who have represented Cornelius Gurlitt; Ingrid Berggreen-Merkel, leader of a task force examining art works potentially looted from Jews and Uwe Hartman, chief researcher of the task force. (C: Morley Safer – P: Katy Textor)

The Mail – selected viewer comments about the segment “Rigged” (OAD: 03/30/14)

04/13/14

“Pope Francis” – a report on the 266th Pope of the Catholic Church, Cardinal Jorge Mario Bergoglio of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and how his actions are restoring faith for Roman Catholics in his first year in the Vatican. The Pope’s closest friends describe a pontiff who is surprising the world by spurning tradition. Includes interviews with: Robert Mickens, journalist for The Tablet; Elisabetta Pique, friend and Argentinean journalist; Abraham Skorka, friend and Argentinian Rabbi; Cardinal Gerald Lacroix, newly appointed Cardinal by Pope Francis; and President Barack Obama. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Nicole Young) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT

“Hometown Favorite” – a report on Boston area-native Shalane Flanagan, a top-flight, Nike sponsored, long distance runner with boosted motivation to win the Boston Marathon this year after the bombings at last year’s race. Flanagan lives in Portland, Oregon but travels to Boston to train along the route of the race and has a real chance of winning the twenty-six-mile competition after placing fourth last year. Includes interviews with Shalane Flanagan, runner; William Evans, Boston police commissioner; Tom Grilik, executive director of the Boston Athletic Association and Jerry Schumacher, Flanagan’s running coach. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Coleman Cowan)

Update: “Discovered” (OAD: 04/06/14)

- 04/20/14 “Robin Hood” - an interview / profile of Wall Street hedge fund manager Paul Tudor Jones, founder of The Robin Hood Foundation, a charity that has given over $1.25 billion to New York City’s neediest, becoming the city’s largest private backer of charter schools, job training and food programs. Tudor Jones was inspired to start a charity after seeing philanthropist Gene Lang on 60 MINUTES. Also includes interviews with Sister Mary Alice Hannan, director of Part of the Solution (POTS); Jabali Sawicki, principal of the Excellence Boys Charter School. The 08/18/13 rebroadcast includes a brief update at the conclusion of the segment stating how much The Robin Hood Foundation raised at this year’s gala. (C: Scott Pelley - P: Henry Schuster, Rachael Kun Morehouse) (See also: “Lang’s Gang” (OAD: 02/23/86); and “I Have A Dream” (OAD: 05/23/04), a followup to “Lang’s Gang”) (OAD: 05/05/13)
- “Memory Wizards” – a follow-up report on people who have “superior autobiographical memory” – which entails the ability to recall details from almost every day of one’s life. Since the initial report in 2010, the number of persons known to science who have this rare capability has grown from six to more than fifty, including the first child whom scientists have seen with this astonishing ability. Includes interviews with Dr. James McGaugh, professor of neurobiology at University of California Irvine (UCI); and Aurora LePort, UCI researcher. Also includes new interviews with the previous interviewed memory wizards: Bob Petrella, Marilu Henner, Louise Owen -- and the new subjects: Joey DeGrandis, Tracy Fersan, Jerrard Heard, and Jake Hausler, a 10-year-old accompanied by his parents, Sari and Eric Hauser. Also includes comments by Tyler Hickenbottom, an 11-year-old with superior memory and his twin brother Chad, who does not have this ability. (See also: “Endless Memory”, OAD: 12/19/10) (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Shari Finkelstein) (OAD: 01/12/14)
- “Joy In The Congo” - a report on the Congo’s Kimbanguist Symphony Orchestra. Based in the Congo’s capital city of Kinshasa, it is the only symphony orchestra in Central Africa and the only all-black orchestra in the world. Includes an interview with Armand Diangienda, a former commercial pilot and founder of the orchestra; and comments by Sabine Kallhammer, a German opera singer who, along with fellow German singer Rolf Schmitz-Malburg, teaches the orchestra’s chorus and soloists; Sylvie Mbela, a violinist with the orchestra; and Carrime Bilolo, who, with his brother Valvi, sings with the orchestra. (C: Bob Simon - P: Magalie Laguerre Wilkinson, Clem Taylor) (OAD: 04/08/12)
- The Mail – selected viewer comments about the segment “Pope Francis” (OAD: 04/13/14)
- 04/27/14 “America’s Missile Fields” – a report on U.S. nuclear missile control centers with a focus on Wyoming’s F.E. Warren Air Force Base “missileers”, officers who work in the control centers that would launch Minuteman III missiles. The report also draws attention to past mishaps that nearly lead to accidental nuclear detonations on U.S. soil during the Cold War, as investigated by author Eric Schlosser for his book, “Command and Control”. The Air Force is making improvements after recent scandals involving test-cheating and drug possession implication in addition to improving aging launch control centers and missile silos. Includes interviews with: Air Force Colonel Carl Jones; Air Force Major General Jack Weinstein; Eric Schlosser, author; and F.E. Warren Air Force Base missileers: Chaz Demerath, Dana Meyers, Daniel Sharp, Claire Reynolds, Melissa Matuu, Brandon Castillo and Jennifer Leute. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Andy Court)
- DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT
- “Saving the Children” – a report on now 104-year-old Nicholas Winton, a British humanitarian who helped save the lives of 669 mostly Jewish children from Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia on the eve of WWII. Winton’s story was shared with the public fifty years after his good deed, when it was revealed that Winton set up an operation to get as many children out of Prague, away from Adolf Hitler’s concentration camps, and into London. This report contains video from the BBC. Includes interviews with

Nicholas Winton; Dr. David Silberklang, senior historian at the International Institute for Holocaust Research at Yad Vashem; and Hugo Meisl and Lady Milena Grenfell-Baines, children Winton saved. (C: Bob Simon – P: Harry A. Radcliffe II, Vanessa Fica)

48 HOURS

04/05/14

48 HOURS: “Wounded by Love” - an investigation into the death of Phillip Peatross, who was shot in the bedroom of his girlfriend, Caryn Kelley. Kelley claimed Peatross shot himself, but the police suspected foul play. After a night of drinking and arguing, Peatross left Kelley’s Orlando, Florida home. Later that night, Kelley, believing an intruder had gained access to her home, drew her gun. She then realized the “intruder” was actually Peatross. Kelley says there was a struggle for the gun, with Peatross telling her “I’m not going to live my life without you,” and then he shot himself. He was dead at the scene. Police were initially leery of Kelley’s story and interviewed her on cell phone video immediately following the shooting. This video became important to the case when police claimed that she changed her version of what happened days later. Famed Orlando Chief Medical Examiner and reality show star Dr. Jan Garavaglia also had doubts about Kelley’s version of events. Kelley was arrested and charged with Peatross’ murder. Secrets then came to light regarding Peatross: he was still married, which was one of the reasons a previous girlfriend had left him, something Caryn Kelley was unaware of. Throughout her ordeal, Kelley always said that Peatross was responsible for his own death. In May 2013, the trial began, with prosecutors using what they said were Kelley’s different stories, along with autopsy findings to build their case. Kelly’s lawyer was able to use the cell phone video and differing forensic opinions to Kelly’s advantage, and she was found not guilty. On-screen text graphic: Caryn Kelly’s gun was legal in Florida. The State does not require gun owners to register firearms. Interviewed: Caryn Kelly; Tamara Lawton, former girlfriend of Phillip Peatross; Diana Tennis, Kelley’s defense attorney; Dr. Jan Garavaglia, Orlando Chief Medical Examiner; and Matt Conway, forensic scientist, Florida Department of Law Enforcement. (C: Troy Roberts – P: Paul LaRosa, Michelle Feuer, Alicia Tejada)

04/12/14

48 HOURS: “Power and Passion” (9:00-10:00p) - a report on the investigation into the death of Alabama real estate agent Angel Downs, who was found dead from a gunshot wound to the head, by her own weapon, outside her Gulf Shores, Alabama condo in 2010. At the time of her death, she was involved with Stephen Nodine, a well-liked Alabama politician with connections in Washington D.C. Though married and the father of a young son, Nodine dated Downs for six years. Friends and family say Angel wanted him to get a divorce, but he refused to give up his double life. On the night of her death, Nodine says he dropped Downs off, and then left to go back to his wife. Within two weeks, Stephen Nodine was indicted for murder and arrested. The timing raised eyebrows, because District Attorney Judy Newcomb was up for re-election, something which Nodine’s attorney says was an opportunity to have some high-profile prosecution immediately before the election. Nodine’s problems multiplied: he was charged with a violation of the seldom-used federal statute which prohibits drug users from using guns. Much of the evidence in the case was circumstantial, including alleged stalking and beatings, and a previous suicide attempt by Downs. Even the state’s own Medical Examiner Eugene Hart could not settle on the circumstances of death. He called it inconclusive. The Georgia State Medical Examiner was called in; he deemed Downs’ death a homicide. Jurors deliberated and a mistrial was declared. Stephen Nodine was a free man for four months; he agreed to plead guilty to the federal gun charge -- possessing a gun while using drugs. After convening a new grand jury, the new District Attorney Hallie Dixon, made the decision that Nodine not be charged again with murder. The family then went over Dixon’s head and demanded a Special Prosecutor. Nodine was to be retried for murder. Surprisingly, there was a plea deal and an admission -- the prosecutors did not have proof beyond a reasonable doubt in the case. The state of Alabama dropped the murder and stalking charges. Nodine pled guilty to perjury for lying on a legal form. He also agreed to plead no contest to a charge that he harassed Angel Downs with e-mails and text messages. On Screen Text Graphic: Stephen Nodine is prohibited from having any contact with the family of Angel Downs. After serving his two year sentence, Nodine will be on supervised probation for three years. He says he has no plan to seek public office. Updated 04/12/14 On Screen Text Graphic: Stephen Nodine's wife divorced him in 2010. Nodine lost his work release privileges because he didn't follow the rules of the program. Nodine's two year jail term will end in October 2014. He'll be on supervised probation for three years. Interviewed: Stephen Nodine; Angel Downs' younger sister, Susan Bloodworth, and her mother, Thelma Hinckley; retired Sheriff of Mobile County, Jack Tillman; Angel Downs' best friends Emily Simmons and Kayla King Donald; neighbor Roger Whitehead; neighbor/nurse Ann Myers; Nodine's attorney Denis Knizley; former District Attorney Judy Newcomb; newly-elected District Attorney Hallie Dixon; and Special Prosecutor David Whetstone. (C: Richard Schlesinger - P: Allen Alter, Avi Cohen) (OAD: 04/13/13)

04/12/14 48 HOURS: “Father and Son” (10:00-11:00p) - a report about the 2011 death of Uta Von Schwedler. Her son, Pelle Wall, believes that his father, pediatrician Dr. Johnny Wall, may have been responsible for her drowning death. Von Schwedler, a university research scientist, was found in the bathtub of her Salt Lake City, Utah, home by her then-boyfriend, Nils Abramson. When the autopsy report was released, the cause of death was stated as drowning, but the manner of her death was listed as “undetermined”, leaving open the possibility of suicide. Her son, Pelle Wall, believed it was murder and was determined to prove his father was responsible. Investigation revealed long-standing issues between Von Schwedler and Wall, many existing before their 2006 divorce -- involving affairs, allegations of abuse and lingering anger. Pelle Wall, who lived at the time with his father and siblings, was determined to get people to believe him and risked everything, including his relationship with his father and future financial security, by filing a wrongful death suit against his father. Police and prosecutors became interested and the state now believes there was probable cause for murder. Dr. Johnny Wall is awaiting trial. On Screen Text Graphic: Johnny Wall is expected to stand trial for murder by the end of 2014. Tomorrow, April 13th, is Uta Von Schwedler’s birthday. She would have been fifty-two years old. Interviewed: Pelle Wall; family friend Klaus Fiebig; Heidi Schubert and Orly Ardon, friends of Uta Von Schwedler; Johnny Wall’s sister, Wendy Wall; defense attorneys Howard Lundgren and Fred Metos; Margaret Olson, family friend; Nils Abramson, Von Schwedler’s boyfriend; Amy Oglesby, Pelle Wall’s family friend; and Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. Erik D. Christensen. (C: Susan Spencer - P: Josh Gelman, Avi Cohen and Bill Kerig)

04/19/14 48 HOURS: “Decades of Deceit” - a report on the investigation into the 1989 murder of 16-year-old Amy Weidner, a young mother who was beaten, sexually assaulted and killed in the bedroom of her Indianapolis, Indiana home while she and Emily, her 2-year-old daughter, were home alone. Even though there was a bloody handprint on the bedroom wall, none of the leads led to an arrest and the case grew cold. In 2011, in response to a newspaper article about the case, the Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Cold Case Unit called upon Detective Sgt. William Carter, a nuisance abatement officer, to help them to print pages from the “Remembering Amy Weidner” Facebook page. Carter became obsessed with the case, and on his own time, found a lead others had missed. After 24 years, this led to the eventual arrest of someone the family was familiar with: Rodney Denk. In 2012, Denk accepted a plea bargain and pled guilty to the murder and rape of Amy Weidner during a robbery gone bad. On-Screen Text Graphic: In January 2014, Bill Carter received the Indianapolis Police Department Award of Merit. Carter was offered the opportunity to join the homicide unit. He has decided to remain a nuisance abatement officer. On his own time, he is looking into another cold case of a murdered nineteen-year-old woman. Interviewed: Emily Weidner (daughter); Gloria Weidner (mother); Cassie Gardner (sister); Taunya Strauss (sister); John-Paul Weidner (brother); Jody George, (Weidner’s teacher); Amy Somers, Angie Moore, and Joy Haney (Weidner’s friends); Captain Jack Geilker, (former Indianapolis Police Department member, now with the Marion County Sheriff’s Office); Lt. Roger Spurgeon (Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Department Cold Case Unit); Detective Sgt. William Carter; and Bruce Kuegel (Kentucky Commonwealth Attorney) (C: Troy Roberts - P: Ruth Chenetz)

04/26/14

48 HOURS: “Dangerous Beauty” - a report on the 2003 murder of Russel Douglas on Whidbey Island, Washington, and how the investigation led to the involvement of Peggy Sue Thomas, a one-time Washington beauty queen-turned-high-end limo driver. The investigation determined Douglas’ marriage was in trouble, his wife Brenna was in debt, and that Thomas had once worked with Brenna. The case went cold until a tipster called police from Florida, saying that his friend and former bandmate, Jim Huden, who was also from Whidbey Island, had admitted to him that he killed Douglas and that Huden’s then-girlfriend, Betty Sue Thomas, was also involved. Huden disappeared in 2004, and it was eventually discovered that Huden’s wife, Jean Huden, had helped him to get out of the country. In the meantime, Betty Sue Thomas married Mark Allen, a multi-millionaire oilman and thoroughbred horse owner. The marriage was over in seven months with Thomas becoming a wealthy woman. By 2011, Jean Huden’s life eventually fell apart, and she began cooperating with investigators. Jim Huden was arrested in Mexico, returned to the U.S., stood trial and was found guilty of murder. Betty Sue Thomas was also arrested. Just weeks before the trial was about to begin, Thomas was offered and accepted a plea deal on a reduced charge of rendering criminal assistance. She still claims she is innocent, but she wouldn’t have gotten a fair trial. On-Screen Text Graphic: Under the terms of her plea deal, even if additional evidence is uncovered, Peggy Sue Thomas cannot be charged with murder. Peggy Sue Thomas is eligible for parole on August 12, 2016. Jim and Jean Huden are still legally married. They have not spoken in years. Interviewed: Betty Sue Thomas; Mark Plumberg, lead investigator; Vicky Boyer, Thomas’ former friend; Greg Banks, Island County prosecutor; Bill Hill and Jean Huden, informants; Jorge Mabarak, friend of Jim Huden’s and CBS News Consultant; Mark Allen, Thomas’ former husband; Craig Platt, Thomas’ defense attorney; and Brenna Douglas. 60 MINUTES

05/04/14

“Over A Barrel” – a report on the dispute between the lawyers for BP (British Petroleum) and the lawyers for BP oil spill victims, and how BP’s agreement to compensate victims of its Gulf oil spill is being interpreted. BP claims businesses not harmed by the spill have collected hundreds of millions of dollars, but compensation lawyer Jim Roy explains this is the deal BP agreed to. Includes interviews with: Ken Feinberg, lawyer; Geoff Morrell, BP Vice President; Patrick Juneau, BP spill claims administrator; Ted Olson, BP’s attorney; and Jim Roy, lawyer for BP spill victims. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Robert G. Anderson) (See also: “The Blowout”, OAD: 05/16/10; and “The Go-To Guy”, OAD: 10/03/10)

“90+” - a report on the fastest-growing segment of the U.S. population, the “oldest old” - people who live to 90 or above. A landmark study, aptly titled “The 90+ Study”, involved thousands of members in a southern California retirement community, formerly known as Leisure World and now its own city, Laguna Woods. The findings, which have been collected since 1981, are revealing factors that may contribute to living longer, such as moderate alcohol consumption and exercise. A primary focus of the study is dementia and Alzheimer’s disease and a recent discovery of microscopic strokes in the brain called microinfarcts might reveal a cause of dementia. Includes interviews with study participants: Jane Whistler, Ted Rosenbaum, Lou Tirado, Ruthy Stahl, Sid Shero, Louise Bigelow, Henry Tornell and Helen Weil; Dr. Claudia Kawas, neurologist and professor at UC Irvine; and Dr. Ronald Kim, neuropathologist. (C: Lesley Stahl – P: Shari Finkelstein, Jennie Held) DOUBLE LENGTH SEGMENT

The Mail – selected viewer comments about the segment “Saving the Children” (OAD: 04/27/14)

05/11/14

“Washington’s Open Secret” – a report on the current state of campaign financing and congressional ethics in Washington, DC. Members of Congress can and often do use funds donated to their Political Action Committees (PAC) for personal use, such as private trips and the hiring of family members. Since these are not campaign funds, this practice is legal. Includes interviews with: Peter Schweizer, author and fellow at the Hoover Institution; Trevor Potter, former chairman of the Federal Election Commission; Rep. Robert Andrews, D-NJ; Melanie Sloan, Executive Dir. Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington; Rep. Rodney Alexander, R-LA; Rep. Grace Napolitano, D-CA. (C: Steve Kroft – P: Ira Rosen, Gabrielle Schonder) (OAD: 10/20/13; includes an update)

“Emergency” – a report on “Emergency”, an independent Italian organization that provides free, high quality medical and surgical treatment to the victims of war, landmines and poverty. The report focuses on African children who have rheumatic heart disease, caused by untreated strep throat, and how Emergency and its founder, Dr. Gino Strada, perform life-saving surgery on as many as possible at The Salam Center for Cardiac Surgery in Sudan. Includes interviews with Mariata, a child in Sierra Leone with rheumatic heart disease; Esther, Mariata’s mother; Dr. Mimo Risika, cardiologist; and Dr. Gino Strada, Emergency’s founder and heart surgeon. (C: Clarissa Ward – P: Ben Plessner)

“Salmon in the Sea” – a report on why environmentalists and salmon farmers in the Pacific Northwest are at odds over whether the aquaculture business poses a threat to the wild salmon population. Environmentalists argue these farms could be spreading diseases while the salmon farmers say the industry is improving and they’re helping to save the last remaining wild salmon in the sea. Includes interviews with Ian Roberts, salmon farmer at Marine Harvest Canada; Alexandra Morton, environmental activist and scientist; George Eliason, fisherman in Alaska; and Brian Wallace, senior counsel to Canada’s commission to explore salmon decline. (See also: “Fish Fuss”, OAD: 11/19/00) (C: Dr. Sanjay Gupta – P: Peter Klein)

For the first time, Neeson opens up about his late wife, actress Natasha Richardson, and her sudden death five years ago due to a traumatic brain injury she suffered after a skiing accident. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Ruth Streeter) (OAD: 02/23/14)

48 HOURS

05/03/14

48 HOURS: “Temptation in Texas” - a report on the investigation into the 2011 shooting death of Greg Williams, as his wife Michele Williams awaits trial for the crime. Williams was shot dead in his suburban Dallas home, but how it happened is up for debate because, when Michele called police, she said an intruder had shot her husband. Investigation revealed that Williams had been shot with his own gun and that the weapon, as well as the wrench used to hit Michele, were wiped clean of fingerprints. There were allegations of affairs and Michele says Greg was into the bondage/domination scene. As the investigation continued, Michele changed her story to say that Greg killed himself and she cleaned up the scene of his death in order to protect her young daughter from the truth. Family tensions were also evident: Williams’ first wife said he was a complicated man who could be verbally abusive; Michele’s estranged sons from previous relationships said she was not faithful and moved from man to man throughout their lives. Police believed that Michele was the killer. Due to lack of evidence, the District Attorney offered her a plea deal -- plead guilty to tampering with evidence and “deadly conduct”, but just before the deal was completed, something happened to keep Michele out of jail: she was pregnant with twins, and the father was her son Lee’s former best friend. Sentencing was delayed and she remained out of jail. Then tragedy struck, she lost the babies and the judge ordered her back to prison. Many family members believe that Michele was never really pregnant. Then, while being interviewed by 48 HOURS, Michele changed her story again - contradicting herself. The judge threw out the plea deal and ordered her to stand trial for murder. On screen text graphic: Michele Williams is scheduled to stand trial for murder this September. Makayla, now six, continues to live with family friends, who have filed for legal custody. At Michele’s request, Gene Wallis, her fiancé, is filing his own suit to get custody of the child. Interviewed: Michele Williams; Claire St. Amant (journalist/CBS News consultant); Laura Cuisick (Michele’s older sister); Andrew and Lee O’Brien (Michele’s sons); Gene Wallis (Michele’s fiancé); and Kathy and Taylor Williams (Williams first wife and daughter). (C: Peter Van Sant - P: Ryan N. Smith, Alec Sirken)

05/10/14

48 HOURS: “Ambushed” (9:00-10:00p) - a report on the investigation into the 1988 disappearance of David Jackson in Pembroke Pines, Florida; the eventual discovery of his body; and of the efforts of the young man who helped police find his father’s killer. In 1988, David Jackson disappeared, but the case grew cold. In 2003, the case was re-opened with Detective Donna Velazquez in charge. By chance, Police Explorer recruit John Wolfe saw a poster and shocked police by stating that the man pictured was his father. Wolfe told investigators that he felt his mother, Barbara Britton, was holding back information about the crime and agreed to work with the police. Their investigation revealed: (1) the couple had married young, divorced and shared custody of their child; (2) Barbara married Michael Wolfe and relocated to Arizona; (3) Jackson fought and won visitation rights; (4) Jackson’s father-in-law Harry Britton hated him. Detective Velazquez was convinced that Jackson was murdered and that his ex-wife had something to do with it -- and if she was involved, so was Michael Wolfe. Wolfe was arrested. During the interrogation he said that Barbara’s father had wanted Jackson dead and had turned to him for advice about killing him. Both of Wolfe’s ex-wives, Nancy Graham and Carole Larson, corroborated this information. Britton could not be arrested because all the information collected was considered hearsay. At trial, Michael Wolfe was convicted of murder. He then promised prosecutors evidence that would put Barbara Britton away. He told a story of how she and her father were deeply involved in the planning of the murder and that he had agreed to kill David Jackson to keep peace in the family. A few months later, Britton left him and filed for child support. Twenty-two years after Jackson’s disappearance, Barbara Britton was arrested for murder. To avoid prison, she ultimately accepted a plea bargain to a reduced charge because the District Attorney recognized that they would probably not be able to obtain a first-degree murder conviction. On screen text graphic: Despite the plea deal John Wolfe continues to support his mother, Barbara. He is estranged from his grandmother, Judy. John still hopes to be a police officer. He currently works as a security guard at a Florida shopping mall. Michael Wolfe, who offered to testify about Barbara's involvement in David Jackson's murder, never got the reduced sentence he was hoping for. Interviewed: the brother and mother of David Jackson -- Mark Jackson and Judy Carlsson; former wife/defendant Barbara Britton; Det. Donna Velazquez; the son of David Jackson and Barbara Britton, John Wolfe; former wife of Michael Wolfe, Nancy Graham; defendant Michael Wolfe; Barbara Britton's defense attorney Keith Seltzer. (C: Troy Roberts - P: Patti Aronofsky, Peter Shaw, Tamara Weitzman, Alec Sirken) (OAD: 03/16/13)

- 05/10/14 48 HOURS: “A Raging Son” (10:00-11:00p) - a report about the investigation into the 2012 death of Weight Watchers executive Danielle Thomas, and the murder case against her boyfriend, Wall Street attorney Jason Bohn, who claimed being neglected by his mother as a child should keep him from spending his life in jail. Thomas was found dead in the bathtub of the Astoria, Queens apartment she shared with Jason Bohn. Thomas and Bohn had a whirlwind romance and she moved to New York to be with him. Everything seemed to be falling in place for the financial analyst, and while there was talk of marriage, the relationship had become physically and emotionally abusive. Police had been called. Bohn had been arrested for assault. Now, Bohn was arrested and charged with murder. Bohn’s defense is that an explosive moment of anger that resulted in Thomas’ death was directly connected to his bad childhood. Bohn’s attorney asserts he was abandoned by his mother Maureen O’Connell, a wealthy publishing executive, and he experienced profound neglect and abuse that caused a mental illness called Intermittent Explosive Disorder. Prosecutors dismissed his claims and they assert that audio recorded in an accidental phone call made while Thomas was still alive suggest Bohn knew exactly what he was doing. At trial, the Ivy League grad and Wall Street lawyer is found guilty of murder. On screen text graphic: Danielle’s mother plans to sue the police department for not responding to her daughter’s 911 call. There is a scholarship set up in Danielle’s name at her Boyce County, Kentucky high school. Jason’s mother has instructed her lawyer to try to get her son into protective custody. Interviewed: Dennis Frawley (NYPD detective); Patrick O’Connor (lead prosecutor); Marilyn Filingeri (Assistant District Attorney); Jamie Thomas Bright (Danielle’s mother); Juanita Hardgrave (Danielle’s grandmother); Dr. Alexander Sasha Bardey (forensic psychiatrist); Murray Weirs (crime reporter/48 HOURS consultant); Richard Brown (District Attorney); Sherette Corsey (neighbor); Elena Rodriguez and Amanda DeJuto (jurors) (C: Troy Roberts – P: Patti Aronofsky, Elena DiFiore, James Stolz, Gail Abbott Zimmerman)
- 05/17/14 48 HOURS: “The Sweetheart Murders” (9:00-10:00p) - a followup to “The Sweetheart Murders” (OAD: 01/27/07), the story of sweethearts Sabrina Gonsalves and John Riggins who were brutally murdered in Davis, California, in 1980. Initially, police suspected Gerald Gallego, but he was in jail at the time of the murders. In 1989, police arrested Gallego’s half-brother David Hunt, his wife, Sue-Ellen and Richard Thompson and Doug Lainer, calling them The Hunt Group, and charging them creating a copycat murder to call into question Gallego’s guilt in other crimes. But, DNA would prove their innocence and the charges were dropped; still questions remained. In 2002, using advanced DNA technology, not available at the time of the murders, police were able to match samples stored in a FBI database to Richard Hirschfield, a convicted rapist, who was released from prison in 1980. Police interviewed Hirschfield’s brother, Joe -- who committed suicide the day after the interview. Based on information in his suicide note, police assume that Joe helped his brother. Richard Hirschfield was charged in the case. In 2012, 10 years after the DNA hit, and almost 32 years after the murders, the capital murder trial commences. Time has taken its toll: now 63-years-old and confined to wheelchair, Hirschfield is nothing like the menacing figure he once was. David Hunt, suffering from cancer, hopes to live to hear his name cleared, and the families hope to put an end to their suffering. The jury deliberates and the verdict is guilty. Hirschfield is sentenced to death. On-screen text graphic: Richard Hirschfield is appealing his conviction. David Hunt did not live to see his name cleared. He died during the trial. On screen text graphic for the 05/17/14 rebroadcast: Richard Hirschfield is currently on death row in San Quentin Prison. He is appealing his conviction. David Hunt never lived to see his name cleared. He died during the trial. Dawn Bladet received the Sacramento County “Prosecutor of the Year” award for her work on the “Sweethearts Murders.” Interviewed: Detective Carol Daly and Investigator Ron Garverick, both from the Sacramento County Sheriff’s Department; family members Andrea Gonsalves-

Rosenstein (sister); Dr. Richard Riggins and his wife, Kate Riggins (parents); Hunt Group suspects David Hunt and Doug Lanier; prosecutor Dawn Bladet; lead defense attorney Linda Parisi. (C: Troy Roberts - P: Clare Friedland) (OAD: 09/28/13)

48 HOURS: “A Daughter, a Mortgage and Two Murders” (10:00-11:00p) - a followup to “The Mortgage and the Murder” (OAD: 11/22/08), a report on the investigation into the murders of Greg and Bernadette Ohlemacher in 2005. The Albuquerque, New Mexico couple were shot dead in their home. Police immediately suspected their daughter, Renee, was involved. Family members also believed she knew more than she was telling and she was after the $1 million insurance policy. The investigation stalled. In 2006, mortgage loan processor Ron Santiago turned himself in to the Secret Service for a crime unrelated to the murders. Investigation led to a connection between Santiago and the Ohlemachers. A search of his home led to shell casings that matched those found at the Ohlemacher crime scene. Eight years of legal wrangling followed. Before the trial, the District Attorney’s office asked Renee to take a polygraph test; results were inconclusive. The test would haunt prosecutors at trial when the jury was allowed to hear the results when she testified. Santiago was found not guilty. Family members still believe both Ron Santiago and Renee Olchmacher were involved in the crime. On-screen text graphic: Renee is working as a dog walker. The family dog “Sammy Jo,” passed away a year after the murders. Ron Santiago lives in Albuquerque with his parents and is looking for a job. Interviewed: Renee Ohlemacher; Jessica Montoya and Antoinette Curran (Ohlemacher’s aunts) and her grandmother Dora; former Albuquerque Police spokesman John Walsh; Randy Ohlemacher (Greg’s brother); Catherine Howard (mortgage client); Brian Nguyen (Secret Service agent); Joseph Riggs (defense attorney); Kari Brandenburg (District Attorney); and Cheryl Johnston (prosecutor) (C: Erin Moriarty - P: Paul LaRosa, Allen Alter)

48 HOURS PRESENTS: “Cold as Ice” (9:00-10:00p) - a report on a 55-year-old cold case, in which a childhood memory of a friend’s murder was the key to solving the case of the death of 7-year-old Maria Ridulph, from Sycamore, Illinois. In 1957, while playing in the snow with Maria Ridulph, eight-year-old Kathy Chapman went home for mittens. When she returned, Maria was nowhere to be found. Both girls had been talking to a man who called himself “Johnny”; a frantic search failed to locate Maria. The FBI took over the case but when her body was found five months later, the Illinois State Police took over the case, but it went cold. Almost fifty years later, Jeanne Tessier’s mother, a Sycamore neighbor, made a shocking deathbed confession: her son, John Tessier, was Maria’s killer and she urged her daughter to contact the authorities. Jeanne Tessier contacted the FBI and the Sycamore Police. Her brother appeared to have had an alibi and had passed a polygraph test. Both agencies chose not to investigate. Ten years later, Jeanne contacted the Illinois State Police. During the course of the investigation, long buried sexual secrets of the Tessier family came to light. Maria’s playmate, now a 61-year-old grandmother, identified a photo of John Tessier as “Johnny”, who is now a 72-year-old former policeman from Seattle, Washington, and now known as Jack McCullough. He was arrested and charged with murder. There was little or no physical evidence in the crime; prosecutors chose to charge McCullough with a different crime: the rape of his sister, fifty-five years ago. They felt they had a better chance of conviction. But the prosecutor had promised Jeanne Tessier that he would never pursue a rape trial without her consent. With no physical evidence to back up her story, Jeanne Tessier felt betrayed by prosecutor Clay Campbell and feared her word would not be enough for a conviction. McCullough was found not guilty. Five months later, the murder trial commenced. Jack McCullough felt confident he would be acquitted in this mostly circumstantial case too. When both sides rested, the judge delivered his decision: guilty. McCullough was sentenced to life in prison. On-screen text graphic: Clay Campbell won the case, but in November 2012, he lost his bid for re-election. On-screen text graphic for the 05/24/14 rebroadcast: Jack McCullough is appealing his conviction. McCullough claims the judge allowed unreliable evidence, including his dying mother’s statement accusing him of the murder of Maria Ridulph. Interviewed: Maria Ridulph’s childhood friend Kathy Chapman; Maria Ridulph’s brother Chuck Ridulph; Patrick Solar, retired Sycamore Police Lieutenant; the sisters of suspect John Tessier/Ray McCullough: Jeanne Tessier and Jan Tessier; Special Agent Brion Hanley; suspect Jack McCullough (a.k.a. John Tessier); Prosecutor Clay Campbell; Seattle cold-case detectives Mike Ciesynski and Cloyd Steiger; McCullough's step-daughter Janey O'Connor; Tacoma bartender/former 14-year-old runaway Michelle Weinman; defense investigator Crystal Harrole. 48 HOURS (continued)

05/24/14 48 HOURS PRESENTS: "Redemption Song" (10:00-11:00p) - a report on the 1985 death of Natalie Antonetti, a woman who was part of the Austin, Texas music community. She was found beaten at home by her son, Johnny Goodie, and remained in a coma for two weeks before she died. The police investigation at the time focused on Marty Odem, a restaurant manager and sometime male stripper, who had a track record of violence. Police just did not have enough to go on, and he was never charged. He was later convicted of an unrelated rape and sent to prison; police then considered the case closed. In 2007, Austin Police Detective Tom Walsh reopened the cold case when an anonymous call came in naming Dennis Davis, a well-known name in the Austin music scene, as a suspect. Davis had dated Antonetti, and at the time had what seemed like a solid alibi. But now, his wife, Becki Davis, was the one who called the police. Detective Walsh has found several women who have become key players in the investigation: Davis' then-girlfriend Ampour Garcia-Crow is certain he was not with her on the night in question; Linda Bless, who has seen his anger; and an ex-girlfriend Gelinda, who says that Dennis Davis confessed the murder to her. In 2009, 24 years after the murder, Davis was arrested. In April 2011, the case went to trial. Though the prosecution's case was largely circumstantial, they had the phone call that started it all. Dennis Davis was found guilty of the murder. At the sentencing hearing there was another shock: Becki and Dennis Davis had reconciled. He was sentenced to 36 years behind bars. The defense team still insisted they had a solid rebuttal but were unable to present their case. On screen graphic: Dennis Davis will be eligible for parole in 2028. He will be 78. He is appealing the verdict. The 06/09/12 v/o epilogue: A year after the verdict, the DA's office decided to take another look at the physical evidence in this case, and compare it to two similar crimes in Austin from the 1980s. They will search for DNA to see if it matches that of a suspect in those cases. ADA Mark Pryor says he's "happy to have a look" but, he says, he's confident the jury convicted the right man for murdering Natalie Antonetti. Included interviews with: Natalie Antonetti's son and musician Johnny Goodie; Mark Pryor, Austin Assistant District Attorney; Mark Hallman, Antonetti's friend; Austin Police Detective Tom Walsh; Dennis Davis, the suspect; Davis' former girlfriends, Amparo Garcia-Crow and Linda Bless; and defense attorneys Wade Russell, Efrain De La Fuente. The 05/24/14 Epilogue: an appeals court overturned Davis' conviction and ordered a new trial. The reason: Davis' lawyer was ineffective. In April 2014, Dennis Davis walked out of prison, a free man. On-screen text graphic: The new trial is scheduled for November 2014. (C: Tracy Smith - P: Chuck Stevenson, Sarah Prior) (OAD: 10/15/11; 1st rebroadcast: 06/09/12 -- both as 48 HOURS MYSTERY: "Redemption Song". The 06/09/12 rebroadcast contains an update in the form of a v/o epilogue.)

05/26/14 48 HOURS: "End of The Trail" (10:00-11:00p) - a report on the investigation into the 2008 murder of educator/artist Carol Kennedy, who was brutally beaten in her home outside Prescott, Arizona. Kennedy's ex-husband, stockbroker Steven DeMocker, became the chief suspect. Police investigation revealed a man who was a serial philanderer, who was struggling with a heavy financial burden, and had a toxic relationship with his ex-wife. Police arrested DeMocker, saying that they had a strong circumstantial case, but legal maneuvers, court delays and the death of a judge prolonged the case for five years. DeMocker's girlfriend, Renee Girard, then revealed critical information about DeMocker's activities after Kennedy's death: he lived in fear of being arrested for a crime and revealed information about an insurance policy. His large family, including his two daughters Charlotte and Katherine, believe he is innocent. Prosecutors believe he killed Kennedy to avoid paying alimony and to gain access to an estimated $750,000 life insurance payout. After five years, and nearly $2 million in taxpayer money, the trial commences. Steven DeMocker is found guilty of first-degree murder; he is sentenced to life in prison without parole. On-screen text graphic: Charlotte graduated from college this month with a degree in finance. Katherine will finish law school next year. She hopes to pursue a career as a federal prosecutor. Interviewed: Steven DeMocker; Jan Wheeler, Barb Willis, Betsy Petit (friends of Carol Kennedy); Michael, Mary and Sharon DeMocker (brother and sisters of Steven DeMocker); Rich Robertson (defense team investigator); Larry Hammon (defense attorney); Renee Girard (DeMocker's girlfriend); Joseph Moura (private investigator/48 HOURS consultant); Jim Knapp (friend of DeMocker's); Julie Corwin (ex-girlfriend of Knapp's); Craig Williams (new defense attorney); Tricia Greer and Kathy Reay (jury members) (C: Maureen Maher - P: Sara Ely Hulse, Clare Friedland, Asena Basak)

48 HOURS: LIVE TO TELL: “One Last Hug” - a report on growing dangers of dating and breakup violence, focusing on Melissa Dohme, who agreed to meet a former boyfriend, Robert Murton, for one last hug before they broke up forever. The decision nearly cost her her life: in an instant, she was stabbed 32 times and left for dead. Their relationship had started out lovingly, but Burton told her if she ever broke up with him, he would kill her. The couple eventually split up and Burton began calling her. He woke her up on the night of January 24, 2012 and begged her for one last hug. She agreed to meet him in front of her Clearwater, Florida home. After the attack, a police officer responding to the scene did not believe Dohme would survive. Melissa Dohme, police, EMS, doctors and Dohme’s family describe their learning of the attack, Melissa’s treatment, the hunt for Murton, her recovery, facing her attacker in court... and how this event led her to find a solid relationship and a new purpose in life. Also included is an interview with Audrey Mabrey, herself a victim of a domestic attack. Her husband, Chris, an NYPD officer, bludgeoned her with a hammer and set her on fire. Epilogue: the men who attacked Melissa Dohme and Audrey Mabrey will spend the rest of their lives behind bars with no chance of parole. Melissa and Audrey believe they were spared to help themselves and others. Both are advocates at Hands Across the Bay, an organization founded by philanthropist Julie Weintraub, whose goal is to prevent domestic violence and help families in crisis. Interviewed: survivors Melissa Dohme and Audrey Mabrey; Melissa Harris (Clearwater Police Department officer); Vincent Supernor and Cameron Hill (Clearwater Fire & Rescue); Joanne Dohme (mother of Melissa); and Dr. Jeffrey Johnson (Bayfront Health Medical Center). 60 MINUTES

- 06/01/14 “The Shooting at Chardon High” – a report on the shooting on February 27, 2012 at Chardon High School in Chardon, Ohio that left three male students dead. The report focuses on Frank Hall, who was an assistant football coach at Chardon monitoring study hall that morning. Hall’s actions of running towards the shooter to chase him out of the building saved an untold number of young lives. (The shooter’s name is Thomas “T.J.” Lane but the Chardon community asked 60 MINUTES to keep his name and face out of the segment.) Includes interviews with Tim Armelli, Chardon teacher; Frank Hall, former Chardon assistant football coach and current coach at Lakeside High School and Frank’s wife Ashley Hall; Chardon students Nick Walczak and Nate Mueller and Lakeside High School students Tyree Meeks and Damondre Haywood. (C: Scott Pelley – P: Robert G. Anderson) (OAD: 02/23/14)
- “The F-35” – a report on the problems associated with the Pentagon’s newest warplane and what makes the $400 billion F-35 joint strike fighter the most expensive weapons system in history. Includes interviews with Lieutenant General Chris Bogdan, program executive officer for F-35; Lieutenant Colonel David Berke, commanding officer of VMFAT-501; Air Force Chief General Mark Welsh; Marine Lieutenant General Robert Schmidle; Alan Norman, Lockheed Martin’s chief F-35 test pilot; Colonel Rod Cregier, runs F-35 test program and Frank Kendall, undersecretary of Defense for Acquisition. (C: David Martin – P: Mary Walsh) (OAD: 02/16/14)
- “Capturing History” – an interview / profile of Henry Grossman, a freelance photographer whose fly-on-the-wall approach to photography led him to capture iconic images in American history, including the Beatles and members of the Kennedy family. (C: Morley Safer – P: David Browning) (OAD: 11/10/13)
- 06/08/14 “Imminent Danger” – an examination of America’s mental health system, which many experts believe is failing those with severe mental illnesses. In the last seven years, the shooters in about half of the twenty-three mass shooting incidents in the U.S. -- Virginia Tech, Aurora, Colorado, and the recent Washington Navy Yard shooting -- have turned out to be severely mentally ill -- not in control of their faculties and not receiving treatment -- and the majority suffered from schizophrenia. Includes interviews with: Dr. E. Fuller Torrey, psychiatrist; Dr. Jeffrey Lieberman, Pres. of American Psychiatric Association; Mike Robertson, schizophrenic and his mother, Linda Doran; Sandra Luckow, documentary filmmaker; Tom Dart, Cook County Sheriff, Chicago; Elli Montgomery, social worker at Cook County Jail. (C: Steve Kroft – P: Coleman Cowan, Graham Messick) (OAD: 09/29/13)
- “Bassem Youssef” – an interview / profile of cardiac surgeon - turned satirist - Bassem Youssef, whose political humor and Egyptian television show resemble America’s Jon Stewart and Comedy Central’s “The Daily Show.” Youssef’s satire has faced interrogation by Egyptian authorities, protests and even cancellation. (C: Bob Simon – P: Michael H. Gavshon, David M. Levine) (OAD: 03/16/14; includes an update)
- “Cosmic Roulette” – Concern over the ability to detect asteroids and comets that come close to Earth grew after an incident in Russia in February 2013, when an asteroid crashed into the atmosphere. It is estimated there are a million asteroids in space big enough to destroy a city, however scientists only know where one percent of them are. Includes interviews with: Paul Chodas and his boss, Don Yeomans, scientists at NASA’s Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California; Amy Mainzer, NASA scientist; Ed Lu, former astronaut. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Andy Court) (OAD: 10/06/13; includes an update)

- 06/15/14 “Luxottica: Sticker Shock” - a report on Luxottica, the Italian eyewear company which is the world’s largest manufacturer of optical frames and sunglasses. The company’s properties include the sunglasses brands Ray-Ban and Oakley; the retail chains LensCrafters, Pearle Vision, and Sunglass Hut; they run Target Optical and Sears Optical; and they own EyeMed, the nation’s second largest vision-care plan. Includes interviews with: Luxottica CEO Andrea Guerra; Isabella Sola, Luxottica’s product manager; Mark Weikel, president of LensCrafters; Brett Arends, columnist for Smartmoney.com. (C: Lesley Stahl - P: Shachar Bar-On) (OAD: 10/07/12; includes an update.)
- “100,000 Homes” – a report on the 100,000 Homes Campaign, with a focus on its current operation in Nashville, Tennessee. 100,000 Homes Campaign is a movement in cities and counties across America that has managed to get eighty thousand homeless people off the street so far. Becky Kanis, director of the effort, believes providing apartments to those who have been destitute the longest and at the greatest medical risk can actually save taxpayers money, even before these people receive treatment for substance abuse or alcohol problems if needed. Includes interviews with Becky Kanis, director of 100,000 Homes Campaign; Ingrid McIntyre, executive director of Open Table Nashville; Robert McMurtry, homeless and Will Connelly, director of Nashville’s Homelessness Commission. Also includes comments by Kirby Davis, apartment building owner; Ernest Thomas, homeless; Frank Clements, homeless and outreach workers identified only as Ashley and Jerry. (C: Anderson Cooper – P: Andy Court) (OAD: 02/09/14)
- “Jay Leno” – an interview with the departing Tonight Show host as he talks in depth for the first time about losing his NBC late-night perch twice, once for the failed experiment with Conan O’Brien and now for Jimmy Fallon, who will replace him next month. Also includes comments by his wife, Mavis Leno and comedian, Tim Allen. (See also: “Here’s Jay Leno!” OAD: 03/15/92) (C: Steve Kroft – P: Ruth Streeter) (OAD: 01/26/14)
- 06/22/14 “The Copts” – a report on the ongoing political violence in Egypt which has resulted in unprecedented attacks on the country’s Coptic Christian minority. Copts were the target of revenge by Muslim mobs this summer after Egypt’s first Islamist president, Mohammed Morsi, was overthrown in a military coup. In the aftermath, over 40 Christian churches in Egypt were gutted by arson. Includes interviews with Pope Tawadros II, pope of Coptic Christians; Febe Armanious, Copts expert; Heba Morayef, Human Rights Watch Egypt Director; Youssef Sidhom, editor-in-chief of Watani, the only Christian newspaper in Egypt; and Redha Girgis, a caretaker (through translator). Also includes comments by Father Angelos Shenouda, pastor at Abu Serga Church (translated by Febe Armanios); Father Maximous el-Antony, monk at St. Anthony’s; and Bishop Thomas, senior cleric at a Coptic Church. (C: Bob Simon – P: Harry A. Radcliffe II) (OAD: 12/15/13)
- “Drones Over America” – a report on domestic drones -- remote controlled, unmanned aerial vehicles -- and how they are revolutionizing everything from environmental research to possible package delivery at your doorstep. Many of the drones are equipped with cameras and are raising concerns for privacy issues since the Federal Aviation Administration is still deciphering the rules for them. Includes interviews with Colin Guinn, drone entrepreneur; Michael Toscano, President of the Association for Unmanned Vehicle Systems; Missy Cummings, former Navy fighter pilot and professor of drone research at MIT and Duke University; and Senator Dianne Feinstein (D-CA), chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee. (C: Morley Safer – P: David Browning) (OAD: 03/16/14)
- “The Virtuoso” – an interview / profile of jazz pianist and composer Marcus Roberts, who lost his sight as a child but came to possess an incredible encyclopedic insight into American music. Roberts returns to his alma mater, the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind in St. Augustine, where he performs a duet with Wynton Marsalis. Includes an interview with Marcus' mother Coretta Roberts, and comments by: jazz pianist Chick Corea; Sister Murray, Silas Missionary Baptist Church; Vicky Palmer, teacher; and Marcus' bandmate, Ricardo Pascal. (C: Wynton Marsalis – P: David Browning, Paige Kendig) (OAD: 03/30/14)

- 06/29/14 “Disability USA” - a report on the state of the Federal Disability Insurance Program, which serves nearly twelve million people, up twenty percent in the last six years. Administered by the Social Security Administration, it could become the first government benefits program to run out of money – due in large part to aging baby boomers, the effects of a bad economy, as well as questions of fraud by legal, medical and judicial professionals. Includes interviews with: Senator Tom Coburn (R-OK), who is spear heading an investigation into the abuses of the system; Randy Frye and Marilyn Zahm, disability judges and, respectively, President and Vice President of the Association of Administrative Law Judges; Jenna Fliszar and Jessica White, former attorneys for Binder & Binder; Jennifer Griffith and Sarah Carver, disability claims processors at a Social Security office in West Virginia; and well-known disability lawyer Eric C. Conn of Kentucky. (C: Steve Kroft – P: James Jacoby, Michael Karzis) (OAD: 10/06/13; includes an update)
- “Lamborghini” – a report on Lamborghini, the luxury car company of Italy, as it celebrates fifty years in the supercar business, while building just eleven cars a day. Includes interviews with: Lamborghini employees Mario Fasanetto, test driver; Ranieri Niccoli, industrial director; Filippo Perini, chief designer; and Michael Lock, COO North America Lamborghini. (See also: “Lamborghini”, OAD: 04/05/87) (C: Scott Pelley – P: Nicole Young, Sabina Castelfranco) (OAD: 11/03/13)

- 06/02/14 48 HOURS: “The Lost Daughter” (10:00-11:00p) - a report on the investigation into the 1989 disappearance of college student Tiffany Sessions, a case which at the time generated one of the largest manhunts in the history of Florida -- and whether the Alachua County Sheriff's office has solved the mystery. What is known is that Tiffany Sessions left her home for her daily walk and never returned. A massive search was launched, driven in part by her father Pat Sessions, a marketing executive. It turned up nothing. In 2013, Alachua County Sheriff Sadie Darnell charged Detective Kevin Allen with the cold case investigation. Allen learned that three years after Sessions disappeared, Elizabeth Foster, another student, was found murdered and buried less than a mile away from where Sessions lived. Paul Rowles, the man convicted of killing Foster, denied having anything to do with the Sessions case. After his death in 2014, police found a phone book among his belongings, which included enough cryptic references to Sessions to name him a suspect in her disappearance and presumed murder. The Alachua County Sheriff's Office excavated an area where Foster was found, hoping to find a clue to Sessions' fate, but it produced no results. The belief of both the family and the sheriff's office is that Rowles murdered Sessions, even though they have not found her remains.
- On-Screen text graphic: Tiffany Sessions would be 45 years old. Interviewed: Pat Sessions (father); Hillary Sessions (mother); Jason Sessions (half-brother); Kathleen Frezza (Tiffany's roommate); Jim Eckert (lead investigator); Wayne Black (private investigator); Sadie Darnell (Alachua County Sheriff); Kevin Allen (detective); Marshall Frank (retired detective); Dr. Michael Warren (forensic anthropologist). - 06/07/14 48 HOURS: “Hollywood Secrets” - a report on the investigation into the 2008 murder of Juliana Redding, an aspiring actress and model and the subsequent trial. Redding was found dead in her Santa Monica, California home. According to authorities, the killer hoped to erase any evidence of the crime; trying to blow up the entire crime scene by leaving the gas on and a candle burning. This did not happen, and there was plenty of DNA evidence remaining at the scene. A sometime boyfriend, John Gilmore, who had a history of violent behavior had an alibi and was cleared. Further investigation led to the discovery that Redding had recently broken up with her wealthy boyfriend, Dr. Munir Uwayda after learning he had a wife and children in Lebanon. Investigators also learned of a lucrative business deal offered to Redding’s pharmacist father. Less than week after the deal fell apart, Redding was dead. Inside the home, police found evidence of a struggle and DNA evidence that led to a woman: Kelly Soo Park. Park was in the employ of Dr. Uwayda. She was arrested and within days Uwayda had vanished. Five years later, the trial commenced. While authorities thought the case was a slam dunk, the defense, with the help of jury consultant, Lee Meihls, presented a bold argument of DNA transference. The eventual outcome: Park was found not guilty. On-screen text graphic: The fraud investigation of Doctor Munir Uwaydah continues. His California Medical license has been canceled. Kelly Soo Park is living in southern California managing a restaurant. On-Screen text graphic for the 06/07/14 rebroadcast: In January, Kelly Soo Park sued the lead detective on the case for violating Park’s civil rights by intimidating a witness. On May 27th, a judge dismissed the lawsuit. The fraud investigation of Dr. Munir Uwaydah continues. His California medical license has been cancelled. Interviewed: former Los Angeles prosecutor Alan Jackson; LA Times writer Jack Leonard; attorney Birgit Jarsen; real estate agent Cindy Ogden, friend Genevieve Stewart, John Jay College professor Dr. Nathan Lents; jury consultant Lee Meihls. - 06/09/14 48 HOURS: “The Trials of Cal Harris” (10:00-11:00p) - a followup to “A Time to Kill” (OAD: 11/10/07), which detailed the disappearance of Harris’ estranged wife, Michele Harris, during the night of the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. Harris has been tried and convicted twice of murdering Michele. Both convictions have since been overturned on appeal; now he is facing a third trial. Cal Harris sits for his first-ever interview and speaks with 48 HOURS Correspondent Erin Moriarty about his case. Cal and Michele were nearing the end of a bitter divorce when she vanished. Prosecutors arrested Harris in 2005 and felt they had a good circumstantial case. He was tried and convicted. While awaiting sentencing, a new witness emerged; the conviction was overturned. In 2009, he was tried again and convicted. That verdict was also overturned on appeal. This fall, Harris will go to trial for the third time. Prosecutors will argue Harris killed his wife to protect his wealth; the defense team maintains police never looked closely at other potential suspects, including some of the men in Michele’s life at the time. On-Screen text graphic: Cal Harris’ third trial is scheduled to begin this September, thirteen years after his wife, Michele, disappeared. Interviewed: Cal Harris; his children Cayla, Tanner and Jenna Harris; Bruce Barket, Donna Aldea (new defense team members); Greg and Shannon Taylor (Michele Harris’ brother and sister-in-law); Greg Taylor (Michele Harris’ brother; Barb Thayer; Nikki Burdick (friends of Michele); Mark Lester (State Police Captain). - 06/14/14 48 HOURS: “The Devil’s Twin” - an investigation into the July 24, 2003 disappearance and murder of Heather DeWild, who was never seen again after a visit with her children to her estranged husband Dan DeWild’s house, and how television crime dramas may have given her killer enough information to keep police from quickly solving the case. Police immediately suspected Dan DeWild, but there was no murder weapon, no fingerprints, no blood. His identical twin, David DeWild quickly married his girlfriend, Roseanne. Heather’s body was found one month later, bound and buried on a canyon road. Police came to the realization that Dan DeWild and his identical twin brother David were most likely responsible for her murder, but the case grew cold due to lack of evidence. In 2009, Russ Boatright was assigned full-time to the circumstantial case. Investigation led to a sex tape, and Dan’s fascination with bondage and rope. Heather was found bound in a similar manner. In 2011, Dan DeWild, David DeWild and his wife Roseanne were arrested and charged with murder. David DeWild broke down and admitted that his brother Dan had killed Heather and that he had participated in the crime. Prosecutors then learned that the brothers had been watching television crime dramas and forensic shows. They believed that Heather had gone to the house to retrieve the sex tape and then was killed. David DeWild took investigators to the crime scene and re-enacted what happened. David had to pass a polygraph test in order to secure a plea deal. Roseanne’s charges were dropped due to lack of evidence. Dan DeWild’s trial hinged almost entirely on his brother’s testimony and with the lack of physical evidence, prosecutors hoped it was enough. In the end, it wasn’t. Jurors deadlocked on the first degree murder charge, but agreed on the lesser charges. Plans were started for a retrial, but a month after the conviction, Dan DeWild pled guilty to second degree murder in a plea deal. On-screen text graphic: The identical twins have been separated...they are housed in different prisons. David DeWild will be eligible for parole in less than four years. On-Screen text graphic for the 06/14/14 rebroadcast: The identical twins have been separated, housed in different prisons. David DeWild will be eligible for parole in less than three years. Interviewed: Dave and Carole Springer, Heather DeWild’s parents; Rebecca Barger, Heather’s sister; Mark Crider, detective, Denver Police Department; Al Nelson, deputy sheriff; Curtis Johnson, highway worker; Russ Boatwright, investigator-in-charge; Robert Weiner, prosecutor; Tom Ward, Dan DeWild’s defense attorney; jurors Vicki, Chris and Scott (no last names); Roseanne DeWild, Dave’s wife. - 06/16/14 48 HOURS: “Oscar Pistorius: Shots in the Dark” (10:00-11:00p) - a comprehensive look at what has been called the South African trial of the century, told through interviews with those who covered the case, friends of the victim and suspect, and legal experts. The drama of the case focuses on whether Olympic athlete Oscar “Blade Runner” Pistorius intentionally murdered his girlfriend Reeva Steenkamp -- or was it a tragic accident? (1) There is no question that Steenkamp was shot and killed by Pistorius in the bathroom of his home, but was it an accident or murder? (2) “Was There a Price for Fame?” - Pistorius and Steenkamp made an attractive couple; both were rising stars in their native South Africa, but some say that Pistorius was changed by fame. (3) “The State vs. Oscar Pistorius” - the prosecution side of the case is being presented by attorney Gerry Nel. The South African justice system differs from the American system in that the judge is the arbiter of the verdict. (4) The defense side of the case. (5) “OJ + 20 Years” - it’s been twenty years since O.J. Simpson, the white bronco chase and the murder trial, watched by millions of Americans, with various reactions to the verdict. (6) Pistorius’ mental state will be presented, the trial will resume in two weeks and his psychiatric evaluation will likely influence its direction. Interviewed: Mark Seal (Vanity Fair/48 HOURS Consultant) (1,2,6); Jen Su (friend of Pistorius and Steenkamp) (1,2,6); Mike Azzie (Pistorius friend) (1,2,4); Francois van der Watt (exoskeletal prosthetic creator) (2); Samkelo Radebe (Pistorius teammate) (2); Simphiwe Majola (Steenkamp publicist) (2); Gina Meyers (Steenkamp’s best friend) (2); Mark O’Mara (George Zimmerman

48 HOURS: “The Perfect Family” (9:00-10:00p) - Bernie Pyne returned home one day in May 2011 with his young daughter to find his wife Ruth in the garage, brutally beaten and stabbed to death. To outsiders, the Pyne’s appeared to be an all-American family. Bernie Pyne was a successful auto engineer who, with his wife, had raised a seemingly happy family in Highland Township, a suburb of Detroit, Michigan. They had two children, the oldest, Jeffrey, was his high school’s valedictorian and on his way to college. After Ruth was murdered, police learned the Pyne’s were not as perfect as portrayed. The investigation immediately turned to those who lived with Ruth, and they learned Ruth had some psychiatric issues, including arguments and confrontations about taking her medications. Investigators also learned Ruth and Bernie’s marriage was fractured, and Bernie had had an affair. They also found Ruth’s relationship with their son, Jeffrey, was strained. Ruth’s sister Linda Jarvie thought Bernie was responsible for the murder, and given his affair, Bernie understood the suspicions, but he had an ironclad alibi backed by his boss and four witnesses, ruling him out as a suspect. Five months into the investigation, Jeffrey Pyne was charged with his mother’s murder. Police had circumstantial evidence against Jeffrey -- blisters on his hands, lies about gardening at his neighbor’s home and his detached demeanor when authorities told him what had happened to his mother. In addition, there was no sign of Ruth being sexually assaulted and no sign of a break-in. Before the case went to the jury, Prosecutor John Skrzynski asked the judge for another option for the jurors; a charge of second-degree murder, rather than the original charge of first-degree murder. Skrzynski believed it would make it easier for the jury to convict him. Jeffrey’s defense attorney, James Champion, argued against it, but the judge granted the motion. After three days of jury deliberations the verdict was announced, and Jeffrey Pyne was found guilty of second-degree murder. On Screen Text Graphics: Jeffrey Pyne will be sentenced on January 29th. Under Michigan law, he could receive as much as life in prison with parole or as little as a year. Onscreen text graphic for the 08/10/13 rebroadcast: Bernie Pyne and his daughter Julia regularly make the five hour round trip to visit Jeffrey in prison; A new attorney is working on Jeffrey’s appeal. The plan is to file before the end of the year. On-Screen text graphic for the 06/21/14 rebroadcast: Bernie Pyne and his daughter Julia regularly make the five-hour round trip to visit Jeffrey in prison. 48 HOURS: “Relentless” (10:00-11:00p) - a report on the murder of Nicole Pietz, and how Gael Schneider, the victim’s mother, waged a one-woman campaign of psychological warfare on her daughter’s alleged killer. In January 2006, Nicole Pietz disappeared from her suburban Seattle, Washington home. Nine days later her body was discovered in a wooded field near the airport. The investigation into the murder revealed that Nicole’s life was not as perfect as it appeared. She suffered from painful medical issues and had been addicted to medication. Her husband, David Pietz, told police he suspected she was possibly abusing drugs again. David was also unfaithful. Police had few clues and the case went cold. From the beginning, Gael Schneider believed David knew more than he was saying and started a six-year campaign of harassment: she confronted David at work, left messages at his home and continued to urge investigators take another look at the case. Eventually, two new detectives pieced together enough evidence to arrest David Pietz for murder. They were convinced David strangled her. He was charged with second-degree murder. In September 2013 the case went to trial: David Pietz was found guilty. On-screen text graphic: On Thursday, David Pietz will be sentenced. He faces ten to eighteen years in prison. Gael and her husband plan to move back to Seattle to be close to her daughter Tonia. On-Screen text graphic for the 06/21/14 rebroadcast: David Pietz was sentenced to eighteen years, four months, the maximum under Washington state law. Pietz has filed an appeal. In July, Gael and her husband plan to move back to Seattle to be close to her daughter, Tonia. Interviewed: Gael Schneider, Nicole's mother; Tania Zurcher, Nicole's sister; Tamara Van Der Heyden and Dave Tilzer, Nicole's friends; Sabrina Strieck, David Pietz's girlfriend; Jake Pavlovich and Mike Mollis, detectives, King's County Sheriff's Department . 06/28/14 48 HOURS: “The War in Chicago” (9:00-10:00p) - a six-month investigation into Chicago’s problems with drugs, gangs, guns and the deadly connection between street violence and drug trafficking. Segments include: (1) the story of Hadiya Pendleton, the unintended victim of a gang battle, who died just a week after attending President Barack Obama’s second inauguration. Interviewed: her parents Anthony Pendleton and Cleopatra Cowley-Pendleton. (2) an interview with Jack Riley, head of the Chicago DEA, who says there is a direct connection between drugs and guns: and the drug of choice is heroin. Mexico’s Sinaloa Cartel is the main source of the heroin and the leader of the cartel, Joaquin “Chapo” Guzman, is specifically targeting Chicago. Now, a multi-agency task force is vowing to take down the gangs that do his bidding. (3) heroin is making its way out of the inner city in suburbia. This is the story of the “Heroin Highway” where street gangs give safe passage to those from the suburbs into the city to purchase heroin. Interviewed: Paula Nixon, an addict; her mother P.J. Newberg; Pat O’Neil, Will County Coroner; James Lindbloom, former suburban drug dealer. (4) the story of one man’s fight to rid his street of drugs: for about a year, David Muhammad risked his life by videotaping heroin and crack sales on his street and posting them on to Youtube. His goal was to clean up his street. He did, but most of the dealers have just moved to another location. (5) tragedies like Hadiya Pendleton’s always attract attention. That is not the case in the murder of another murdered teen, Porshe Foster, who was also the victim of gun violence. Interviewed: Garry McCarthy, Chicago Police Superintendent; Porshe Foster’s mother Bonita Foster and aunt, Demitria Rogers. (6) combating this war comes with a price: almost $1 million a week in police overtime. A spokesman for Mayor Rahm Emanuel says that this surge will continue. The DEA has seized millions of dollars of heroin but had yet to execute the type of big-time bust that will cripple the cartel’s hold on Chicago. Meanwhile, Paula Nixon completed rehab again, but is back on the streets. On-screen Text Graphics: the two men charged with the killing of Hadiya Pendleton have pleaded not guilty. No trial date has been set. There has still been no arrest in the killing of Porshe Foster. On-Screen text graphic for the 06/28/14 rebroadcast: The two men charged with the killing of Hadiya Pendleton have pleaded not guilty. No trial date has been set. There has still been no arrest in the killing of Porshe. This year’s murder rate in Chicago is down 33% compared to the first half of 2012. 06/28/14 48 HOURS: “Love, Hate & Obsession” (10:00-11:00p) - a report on the investigation into the 2011 murder of one-time millionaire Lanny Horowitz, who was shot nine times while taking a shower in the bathroom of his upscale Jupiter, Florida home. Only three people were in the home at the time: Lanny Horowitz, his ex-wife Donna Horowitz, whom he had divorced twice, but had reconciled with, and his son, Radley, who also resided there. Both had strained relationships with Lanny. The investigation led investigators to the knowledge that theirs was a deeply troubled family. Both Radley, a former gun dealer, who also served a stint in prison, and his mother Donna, who was bothered by her ex-husband’s close relationship with female business partner Francine Tice, were considered suspects. Eventually, Donna was arrested and charged with first-degree murder. At the trial, the defense ultimately blamed her son, Radley. The jury made a quick decision: Donna was guilty. Radley Horowitz has mixed feelings about her defense, but forgives her. On-screen text graphic: Lanny Horowitz had a $500,000 life insurance policy. He left $200,000 to Francine Tice. Radley sued Francine for her share of the insurance payout. Francine settled for $90,000. As part of the settlement, both have agreed never to speak badly about each other publicly. On-Screen text graphic for the 06/28/14 rebroadcast: Lanny Horowitz had a $500,000 life insurance policy.
