Flaws In Same-Sex Parenting Studies

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Glenn Stanton, Director of Family Formation Studies at Focus on the Family, about two new reports he wrote about the latest research on the wellbeing of children raised by same-sex couples. Glenn explains the political bias behind most of the same-sex parenting research, as well as the serious methodological flaws. He also discusses some of the findings from these studies that are often ignored by homosexual activists and the media. (March 31)

mp3 — wma

Opposing the Contraception Mandate

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Jeanne Monahan, director of the Center for Human Dignity at the Family Research Council (FRC) in Washington, DC. Jeanne talks about the ongoing controversy over a mandate in the healthcare reform law that forces religious universities, charities, schools, and hospitals to pay for contraceptives that may cause abortions in their health insurance plans. She also talks about a letter, which FRC released, that was signed by over 2,500 religious leaders in opposition to the contraceptive mandate. (March 24)

A Good and Perfect Gift, Part 1

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with writer Amy Julia Becker about her new book, A Good and Perfect Gift, which details the birth and first few years of life of her daughter, Penny. Amy Julia explains how God has used Penny, who was diagnosed with Down syndrome a few hours after birth, to teach her and her husband what it means to view and accept every human being, no matter how broken, as a gift. She also shares how God transformed her grief over the news that Penny had Down syndrome into joy. (March 10) mp3 — wma

162 Reasons for Marriage

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Patrick Fagan, Ph.D., Senior Fellow and Director of the Marriage and Religion Research Institute (MARRI) at the Family Research Council. Dr. Fagan talks about his new report, "162 Reasons to Marry," which details the myriad of benefits of marriage for men, women, children and society. (Mar 3) mp3 — wma

Sixth Circuit Defends Religious Liberty

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Jeremy Tedesco, legal counsel with the Alliance Defense Fund (or ADF), about a recent ruling by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, which defended the First Amendment rights of a counseling student at Eastern Michigan University named Julea Ward, who was expelled by the university because of her religious beliefs. Jeremy, who argued for Ward before the Sixth Circuit, explains the case and the importance of the ruling by the appeals court. (Feb 24) mp3 — wma

Welfare vs. Charity

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Hadley Heath, senior policy analyst for the Independent Women's Forum in Washington, DC, about her new report, Welfare and Charity: Two Different Things. Hadley discusses some of the problems with the current welfare system and how reform could help improve the nation's economy. (Feb 17) mp3 — wma

Politics and The Bible, Part 2

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks continues a discussion he began last week with Wayne Grudem, Ph.D., Research Professor of Theology and Biblical Studies at Phoenix Seminary in Phoenix, Arizona. Dr. Grudem talks about some of the issues he addresses in his latest book, Politics According to the Bible. (Feb 10) mp3 — wma

Politics and The Bible, Part 1

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Wayne Grudem, Ph.D., Research Professor of Theology and Biblical Studies at Phoenix Seminary in Phoenix, Arizona where he has taught since 2001. Dr. Grudem discusses his new book, Politics According to the Bible, which has been described as "a comprehensive resource for understanding modern political issues in light of scripture that all pastors will appreciate having as they address the issues of the day." (Feb 3) mp3
— wma

Darwin's Heretic

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with John West, Ph.D., Senior Fellow at the Seattle-based Discovery Institute, where he is Associate Director of the Center for Science & Culture and Vice President for Public Policy and Legal Affairs. Dr. West discusses a new documentary from the Discovery Institute, entitled, Darwin's Heretic: How the Co-Founder of Evolution Embraced Intelligent Design, which details the life and work of Alfred Russell Wallace, the co-founder (with Charles Darwin) of the theory of natural selection. (Jan 27) mp3 — wma

Why Christians Are Called to Defend Marriage

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Dr. Mark Harris, president of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina and senior pastor of First Baptist Church in Charlotte, about the Biblical definition of marriage and why Christians are called to defend it. He also discusses the importance of voting in the May 2012 primary, when North Carolinians will finally have the opportunity to vote on amendment to the State Constitution that defines marriage as only between one man and one woman. (Jan 20) mp3 — wma

Defending Woman's Right to Know Act, Part 2

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks continues a discussion he began last week with Sam Casey, Managing Director and General Counsel for the Jubilee Campaign's Law of Life Project, about North Carolina's Woman's Right to Know Act, which was enacted by the General Assembly this past summer, and the lawsuit against it. #### The Truth About Comprehensive Sex Education

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Valerie Huber, Executive Director of the National Abstinence Education Association (NAEA), about a new report about sex education in the United States from the NAEA. Valerie talks about some of the findings in part 1 of the report, which focuses on the content, research, and funding of so-called "comprehensive" sex education. (June 30) mp3 — wma

Marriage Heads to Supreme Court

This week on "Family Policy Matters," NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Hans Von Spavosky, senior legal fellow at The Heritage Foundation's Center for Legal and Judicial Studies, about two important legal battles over the institution of marriage that appear to be headed to the U.S. Supreme Court. These include a recent court ruling on the federal Defense of Marriage Act (or DOMA), and a lawsuit challenging California's Marriage Protection Amendment, Proposition 8. (June 23) mp3 — wma

Celebrating 700 Programs

This week marks the 700th program of Family Policy Matters, which began airing in 1999. To celebrate that milestone, this week's program features segments from five of our last 100 shows with guests Dinesh D'Souza, Maggie Gallagher, Franklin Graham, Dr. Robert George, and Amy Julia Becker. (June 16) mp3 — wma

How Pregnancy Resource Centers Serve

This week on Family Policy Matters, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Thomas Glessner, JD, founder and president of the National Institute of Family and Life Advocates, a public interest law firm founded in 1993 that serves as a legal counsel for more than 1200 Pregnancy Resource Centers nationwide. Thomas discusses a new report that was co-published by the NIFLA, Family Research Council, Care Net, and Heartbeat International, entitled, "A Passion to Serve," which highlights the diversity of services provided by Pregnancy Resource Centers nationwide. (June 9) mp3 — wma

It Takes A Family

This week on Family Policy Matters, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Dr. Jennifer Roback Morse, president of The Ruth Institute, and Joanna Hyatt, a recent college graduate. Both Dr. Morse and Joanna talk about the hostility toward the traditional view of marriage on so many college and university campuses today. They also talk about The Ruth Institute's upcoming "It Takes a Family to Raise a Village Conference" that aims to help Christian students learn to defend the pro-family view of marriage on their university campuses. (June 2) mp3 — wma

Understanding The Healthcare Debate

This week on Family Policy Matters, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Ryan Messmore, a Research Fellow at The Heritage Foundation's Devos Center for Religion and Society. Ryan discusses issues from his recent article, "Obamacare, Religious Liberty and Civil Society: What the Debate is Really About." (May 26) mp3 — wma

Protecting Christian Student Rights

This week on Family Policy Matters, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Kevin

Theriot, senior legal counsel with the Alliance Defense Fund (ADF), about ADF's new legal effort that targets unconstitutional policies that violate the First Amendment rights of Christian students at universities nationwide. ADF recently sent letters to 40 universities, including several in North Carolina, about their unconstitutional policies, and Kevin talks about those letters as well. (May 19) mp3 — wma

Vanderbilt Solidarity

This week on Family Policy Matters, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Pieter Locke Valk, a junior Chemistry major at Vanderbilt University, and one of the leaders in Vanderbilt Solidarity, a grassroots student movement at Vanderbilt University that was formed in response to the university's controversial nondiscrimination policy. Pieter talks about the nondiscrimination policy, which forces officially recognized religious organizations on campus to accept leaders who do not share their religious beliefs, and explains how Christian students are fighting back against the policy. (May 12) mp3 — wma

Understanding The Marriage Amendment, Part 2

In part two of this two-part series, NCFPC president Bill Brooks continues a discussion he began last week with attorney Anthony Biller about the proposed Marriage Protection Amendment that will be on the May 8, 2012 primary ballot for North Carolinians to decide. Mr. Biller, who is the author of a Spotlight article in the latest issue of the NCFPC's magazine, Family North Carolina, presents the civil and legal case for the Marriage Protection Amendment. (May 5) mp3 — wma

Understanding The Marriage Amendment, Part 1

NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with trial attorney Anthony Biller about the proposed Marriage Protection Amendment that will be on the May 8, 2012 primary ballot for North Carolinians to decide. Mr. Biller, who is the author of a Spotlight article in the latest issue of the NCFPC's magazine, Family North Carolina, presents the civil and legal case for the Marriage Protection Amendment. (April 28) mp3 — wma

Marriage and Religious Freedom

This week on Family Policy Matters, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Galen Carey, Vice President of Government Relations at the National Association of Evangelicals (NAE), about an open letter to all Americans on marriage and religious freedom, which was signed by over 40 religious leaders from a variety of faiths. Galen talks about the letter, and discusses how the redefinition of marriage threatens religious freedom. (April 21) mp3 — wma

Compulsive Gambling, Part 2

In part two of this two-part series, NCFPC president Bill Brooks continues a discussion about compulsive gambling that he began last week with Les Bernal, Executive Director of the Stop Predatory Gambling Foundation. Les explains how government policies that promote gambling harm families and communities. (April 14) mp3 — wma

Compulsive Gambling, Part 1

In part one of this two-part series, NCFPC president Bill Brooks talks with Les Bernal,

Executive Director of the Stop Predatory Gambling Foundation, about compulsive gambling. Les explains how government policies that promote gambling, such as state-run lotteries, not only increase the number of compulsive gamblers but also depend on these gamblers for revenue. (April 7) mp3 — wm
