

WQLN Quarterly Program Topic Report
Quarter Ending 06/30/10

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Alcohol, Drug Abuse/Addiction
NOLA: BMJL 001349

Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000

Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BASE 000105
Series Title: Baseball
Episode Title: Shadow Ball
Length: 150 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 9/19/1994 3:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fifth inning looks at baseball's desperate attempts to survive the Great Depression and Babe Ruth's fading career, while a new generation of stars, including Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, is on the rise. It also presents the parallel world of the Negro Leagues, which thrived in the shadow of the Major Leagues. The inning culminates with the greatest showdown in the history of the Negro Leagues: Satchel Paige, arguably the best pitcher ever, against Josh Gibson, "the black Babe Ruth," in the Negro League World Series.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended

Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/11/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages:

More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016071
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews David Remnick, author, "The Bridge: The Life and Rise of Barack Obama."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016071
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/6/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews David Remnick, author, "The Bridge: The Life and Rise of Barack Obama."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016071
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/6/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews David Remnick, author, "The Bridge: The Life and Rise of Barack Obama."

Category: American History/Biography

NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/14/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016082
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ambassador William vanden Heuvel talks about the long journey of a New York memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt designed by the architect Louis Kahn. Next, discussion on the earnings report about Goldman Sachs today and we will have more about the SEC complaint with Michael Lewis, author of "The Big Short," Andrew Ross Sorkin from the New York Times and David Boies, Attorney.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016082
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ambassador William vanden Heuvel talks about the long journey of a New York memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt designed by the architect Louis Kahn. Next, discussion on the earnings report about Goldman Sachs today and we will have more about the SEC complaint with Michael Lewis, author of "The Big Short," Andrew Ross Sorkin from the New York Times and David Boies, Attorney.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016082
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/21/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ambassador William vanden Heuvel talks about the long journey of a New York memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt designed by the architect Louis Kahn. Next, discussion on the earnings report about Goldman Sachs today and we will have more about the SEC complaint with Michael Lewis, author of "The Big Short," Andrew Ross Sorkin from the New York Times and David Boies, Attorney.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016102
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Jonathan Nelson, CEO Providence Equity Partners. Joel Kotkin, author of "The Next Hundred Million."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016102
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Jonathan Nelson, CEO Providence Equity Partners. Joel Kotkin, author of "The Next Hundred Million."

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/20/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016115
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Wes Moore discusses his book, "The Other Wes Moore." Next, Arne Glimcher discusses his documentary, "Picasso and Braque Go to the Movies." Last, Charlie interviews Rachel Weisz.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016115
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Wes Moore discusses his book, "The Other Wes Moore." Next, Arne Glimcher discusses his documentary, "Picasso and Braque Go to the Movies." Last, Charlie interviews Rachel Weisz.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016119

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi.

Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962

Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010

O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: GROU 000000
Series Title: Great Old Amusement Parks
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 7/21/1999 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Long before the days of giant theme parks, the United States had many, many amusement parks where families gathered for a cool escape on a hot summer day. This program celebrates these pre-Disney parks, visiting places like Playland in Rye, New York; Holiday World in Santa Claus, Indiana; and California's Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, where vacationers can still reach for the brass ring on the merry-go-round. The special also checks out some old wooden roller coasters and other classic rides.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: GROU 000000
Series Title: Great Old Amusement Parks
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 7/21/1999 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Long before the days of giant theme parks, the United States had many, many amusement parks where families gathered for a cool escape on a hot summer day. This program celebrates these pre-Disney parks, visiting places like Playland in Rye, New York; Holiday World in Santa Claus, Indiana; and California's Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, where vacationers can still reach for the brass ring on the merry-go-round. The special also checks out some old wooden roller coasters and other classic rides.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: LEHO 000000
Series Title: Lena Horne: In Her Own Voice, An "American Masters" Special
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 11/25/1996 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In this documentary, Lena Horne tells the story of her journey to reluctant stardom. In addition to exclusive interviews with Horne and her daughter, the show includes interviews with Ossie Davis, Alan King, Liz Smith and others who worked with the performer. Clips from signature movies like "Stormy Weather" and MGM films of the 1940's are interwoven with her early TV appearances to accentuate her life story.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000

Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 6:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 10:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009

Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 4/26/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:

Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt

Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: American History/Biography
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing

Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350

Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016073
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/8/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the play "Red" with playwright John Logan, Michael Grandage, Director of The Donmar Warehouse, actors Alfred Molina and Eddie Redmayne. Next, Richard Stengel editor of Time Magazine discusses his book "Mandela's Way: Fifteen Lessons on Life, Love, and Courage."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016073
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 11:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the play "Red" with playwright John Logan, Michael Grandage, Director of The Donmar Warehouse, actors Alfred Molina and Eddie Redmayne. Next, Richard Stengel editor of Time Magazine discusses his book "Mandela's Way: Fifteen Lessons on Life, Love, and Courage."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016079
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/15/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, architect and recipient of The Pritzker Prize, Jean Nouvel discusses his work. Next, a look at the Museum of Modern Art's 'Henri Cartier-Bresson: The Modern Century' exhibit with Martine Franck, photographer and widow of Henri Cartier-Bresson, Peter Galassi, director of the Museum of Modern Art's department of photography and Agnes Sire, director of Foundation Henri Cartier-Bresson.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016079
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/15/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, architect and recipient of The Pritzker Prize, Jean Nouvel discusses his work. Next, a look at the Museum of Modern Art's 'Henri Cartier-Bresson: The Modern Century' exhibit with Martine Franck, photographer and widow of Henri Cartier-Bresson, Peter Galassi, director of the Museum of Modern Art's department of photography and Agnes Sire, director of Foundation Henri Cartier-Bresson.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016079
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/15/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/15/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, architect and recipient of The Pritzker Prize, Jean Nouvel discusses his work. Next, a look at the Museum of Modern Art's 'Henri Cartier-Bresson: The Modern Century' exhibit with Martine Franck, photographer and widow of Henri Cartier-Bresson, Peter Galassi, director of the Museum of Modern Art's department of photography and Agnes Sire, director of Foundation Henri Cartier-Bresson.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016086
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Christine Lagarde, Finance Minister of France. Next, author Ian McEwan discusses his book, "Solar."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016086
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Christine Lagarde, Finance Minister of France. Next, author Ian McEwan discusses his book, "Solar."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016086
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Christine Lagarde, Finance Minister of France. Next, author Ian McEwan discusses his book, "Solar."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016089
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, former President of Harvard Derek Bok discusses his book, "The Politics of Happiness: What Government can Learn from the New Research on Well-Being." Next, actor Michael Caine discusses British politics and his latest film 'Harry Brown.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016089
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, former President of Harvard Derek Bok discusses his book, "The Politics of Happiness: What Government can Learn from the New Research on Well-Being." Next, actor Michael Caine discusses British politics and his latest film 'Harry Brown.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016089
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, former President of Harvard Derek Bok discusses his book, "The Politics of Happiness: What Government can Learn from the New Research on Well-Being." Next, actor Michael Caine discusses British politics and his latest film 'Harry Brown.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016093
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with PBS great Jim Lehrer on his new book about trains called "Super."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016093
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with PBS great Jim Lehrer on his new book about trains called "Super."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016093
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with PBS great Jim Lehrer on his new book about trains called "Super."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016095
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

We look at the British Elections and who will rule the country. We talk with John Burns of 'The New York Times,' Matt Frei of BBC World News America, Simon Schama from Columbia University, Martin Wolf from the 'Financial Times' and Historian Timothy Garten Ash from Oxford. Next, Anna Quindlen of The New York Times.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016095
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

We look at the British Elections and who will rule the country. We talk with John Burns of 'The New York Times,' Matt Frei of BBC World News America, Simon Schama from Columbia University, Martin Wolf from the 'Financial Times' and Historian Timothy Garten Ash from Oxford. Next, Anna Quindlen of The New York Times.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016095
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

We look at the British Elections and who will rule the country. We talk with John Burns of 'The New York Times,' Matt Frei of BBC World News America, Simon Schama from Columbia University, Martin Wolf from the 'Financial Times' and Historian Timothy Garten Ash from Oxford. Next, Anna Quindlen of The New York Times.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016101
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Jeffrey Katzenberg the CEO of Dreamworks Animation takes us inside the world of 3-D and making movies. Next, Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author has a new book called "Eearth."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016101
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Jeffrey Katzenberg the CEO of Dreamworks Animation takes us inside the world of 3-D and making movies. Next, Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author has a new book called "Eearth."

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016106
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at the life and work of author Stieg Larsson with publishers Eva Gedin and Sonny Mehta.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016106
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at the life and work of author Stieg Larsson with publishers Eva Gedin and Sonny Mehta.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016106
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at the life and work of author Stieg Larsson with publishers Eva Gedin and Sonny Mehta.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016111
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/31/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A rebroadcast of an hour with Neil Young.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016111
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/31/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A rebroadcast of an hour with Neil Young.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016111
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/1/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/31/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A rebroadcast of an hour with Neil Young.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole." Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole." Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016115
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Wes Moore discusses his book, "The Other Wes Moore." Next, Arne Glimcher discusses his documentary, "Picasso and Braque Go to the Movies." Last, Charlie interviews Rachel Weisz.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016115
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Wes Moore discusses his book, "The Other Wes Moore." Next, Arne Glimcher discusses his documentary, "Picasso and Braque Go to the Movies." Last, Charlie interviews Rachel Weisz.

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016126
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrei Kostin is Chairman and CEO VTB Bank. Next, actor Tilda Swinton from 'I Am Love.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016126
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrei Kostin is Chairman and CEO VTB Bank. Next, actor Tilda Swinton from 'I Am Love.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016126
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrei Kostin is Chairman and CEO VTB Bank. Next, actor Tilda Swinton from 'I Am Love.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: COSE 016133
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:05:30 PM
O.B. Date: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ken Feinberg, the man in charge of the 20 billion fund for the victims for the BP oil spill and how it will work. Next, Taylor Hackford the director, and Helen Mirren the actress, talk about their new film 'Love Ranch.'

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/4/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/5/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts

NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance

Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third

movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition

Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents

are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert

Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Arts
NOLA: LEHO 000000
Series Title: Lena Horne: In Her Own Voice, An "American Masters" Special
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 11/25/1996 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In this documentary, Lena Horne tells the story of her journey to reluctant stardom. In addition to exclusive interviews with Horne and her daughter, the show includes interviews with Ossie Davis, Alan King, Liz Smith and others who worked with the performer. Clips from signature movies like "Stormy Weather" and MGM films of the 1940's are interwoven with her early TV appearances to accentuate her life story.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry

NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of

The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African

Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016094

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 2:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016101
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Jeffrey Katzenberg the CEO of Dreamworks Animation takes us inside the world of 3-D and making movies. Next, Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author has a new book called "Eearth."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016101
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Jeffrey Katzenberg the CEO of Dreamworks Animation takes us inside the world of 3-D and making movies. Next, Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author has a new book called "Eearth."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016102
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Jonathan Nelson, CEO Providence Equity Partners. Joel Kotkin, author of "The Next Hundred Million."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016102
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Jonathan Nelson, CEO Providence Equity Partners. Joel Kotkin, author of "The Next Hundred Million."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016104

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Nathan Myhrvold, CEO And Founder, Intellectual Ventures.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016104
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Nathan Myhrvold, CEO And Founder, Intellectual Ventures.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016104
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Nathan Myhrvold, CEO And Founder, Intellectual Ventures.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016123
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/16/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Bill Gates, Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett in an exclusive conversation about The Giving Pledge.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016123
Series Title: Charlie Rose

Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/17/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Bill Gates, Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett in an exclusive conversation about The Giving Pledge.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Symth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Symth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Symth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016126
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrei Kostin is Chairman and CEO VTB Bank. Next, actor Tilda Swinton from 'I Am Love.'

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016126
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrei Kostin is Chairman and CEO VTB Bank. Next, actor Tilda Swinton from 'I Am Love.'

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016126
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrei Kostin is Chairman and CEO VTB Bank. Next, actor Tilda Swinton from 'I Am Love.'

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016130

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: COSE 016133
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:05:30 PM
O.B. Date: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ken Feinberg, the man in charge of the 20 billion fund for the victims for the BP oil spill and how it will work. Next, Taylor Hackford the director, and Helen Mirren the actress, talk about their new film 'Love Ranch.'

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week.

Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance."

Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon

Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004944

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley

McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category:	Business/Industry
NOLA:	WWIR 004945
Series Title:	Washington Week
Length:	30 minutes
Airdate:	5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date:	5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service:	PBS
Format:	News
Segment Length:	00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete

Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said,

"And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where

I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 4:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/6/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson

Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson

Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson

Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson

Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting

the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said,

"With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Business/Industry
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal

Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes

Airdate: 5/1/2010
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States'

rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901

Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive.

Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Community Politics, Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 12:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor:

This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Consumerism
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349

Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University,

Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016103
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews with Scott Turow, attorney and author of mystery suspense novels discusses his book, "Innocent." Next, Charlie speaks with Jules Feiffer, Cartoonist and Author.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016132
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Elena Kagan Supreme Court confirmation hearing with Nina Totenberg of NPR and Sam Stein of Huffington Post. Next, Gen. David Petraeus confirmation hearing with David Martin of CBS News, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" and retired U.S. Army Colonel Peter Mansoor.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: COSE 016132
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Elena Kagan Supreme Court confirmation hearing with Nina Totenberg of NPR and Sam Stein of Huffington Post. Next, Gen. David Petraeus confirmation hearing with David Martin of CBS News, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" and retired U.S. Army Colonel Peter Mansoor.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi.

Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962

Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President

Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed

yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of

USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week.

Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best."

While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete

Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert

Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena

Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime

anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime

anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime

anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Crime/Legal Issues/Law Enforcement
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime

anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Culture
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: Culture
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: Culture
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: Culture
NOLA: COSE 016121
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/15/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On the eve of the President's speech from the Oval office we talk to Al Hunt of Bloomberg News and Jake Tapper of ABC News. Next, Ibrahim Kalin, Chief Advisor to the Prime Minister of Turkey. Last, Chef Mario Batali, his new book is called "Molto Gusto: Easy Italian Cooking."

Category: Culture
NOLA: COSE 016121
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/15/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On the eve of the President's speech from the Oval office we talk to Al Hunt of Bloomberg News and Jake Tapper of ABC News. Next, Ibrahim Kalin, Chief Advisor to the Prime Minister of Turkey. Last, Chef Mario Batali, his new book is called "Molto Gusto: Easy Italian Cooking."

Category: Culture
NOLA: GROU 000000
Series Title: Great Old Amusement Parks
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 7/21/1999 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Long before the days of giant theme parks, the United States had many, many amusement parks where families gathered for a cool escape on a hot summer day. This program celebrates these pre-Disney parks, visiting places like Playland in Rye, New York; Holiday World in Santa Claus, Indiana; and California's Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, where vacationers can still reach for the brass ring on the merry-go-round. The special also checks out some old wooden roller coasters and other classic rides.

Category: Culture
NOLA: GROF 000000
Series Title: Great Old Amusement Parks
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 7/21/1999 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Long before the days of giant theme parks, the United States had many, many amusement parks where families gathered for a cool escape on a hot summer day. This program celebrates these pre-Disney parks, visiting places like Playland in Rye, New York; Holiday World in Santa Claus, Indiana; and California's Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, where vacationers can still reach for the brass ring on the merry-go-round. The special also checks out some old wooden roller coasters and other classic rides.

Category: Culture
NOLA: LEHO 000000
Series Title: Lena Horne: In Her Own Voice, An "American Masters" Special
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 11/25/1996 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In this documentary, Lena Horne tells the story of her journey to reluctant stardom. In addition to exclusive interviews with Horne and her daughter, the show includes interviews with Ossie Davis, Alan King, Liz Smith and others who worked with the performer. Clips from signature movies like "Stormy Weather" and MGM films of the 1940's are interwoven with her early TV appearances to accentuate her life story.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: NZQK 000000
Series Title: RICHARD BANGS' ADVENTURES WITH PURPOSE "NEW ZEALAN
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 6:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/30/2010 6:00:00 PM
Service: APTEX
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:45:13

In his second hour-long Adventures With Purposespecial, Richard Bangs travels to the southernmost reaches of civilization to uncover New Zealand's pristine natural beauty, alluring culture and enigmatic mythology. In RICHARD BANGS' ADVENTURES WITH PURPOSE "New Zealand: Quest for Kaitiakitanga," the father of modern adventure travel traverses the most physically and climatically diverse landmass in Polynesia in the pursuit of an age-old Maori tradition. In this new special, Bangs seeks answers to questions rooted in indigenous wisdom, hoping to unearth the meaning and origins of "kaitiakitanga," the responsibility of human beings to protect the natural world. Today's Kiwis believe the knowledge of the ancients may hold a key to the planet's survival. Bangs begins his 1,000-mile trek in Mt. Aspiring National Park, where he navigates north to the Franz Joseph Glacier and then to the east coast town of Kaikoura. From there, Bangs crosses the Cook Strait to the North Island and the capital city of Wellington. He next visits the Taupo region, heads to Hokianga Harbor, and finally makes his way to Cape Reinga on the upper tip of New Zealand, where he encounters the great tangled "spirit tree" of Maori myth.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 5:00:00 AM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 AM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 5:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/8/2010 5:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 AM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/21/2010 11:00:00 AM

Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 5:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/22/2010 5:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event.

We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 AM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT

Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 5:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/26/2010 5:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: DOCUMENTARY
NOLA: SMOT 000000
Series Title: SCIENCE OF MIRACLES: 50 YEARS OF ORGAN TRANSPLANT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 5:00:00 PM
Service: NETA
Format: DOCUMENTARY
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

It has been 50 years since the first successful organ transplant took place; a process that has touched so many lives. In this film, we take a look at the entire history of human organ transplant; from the earliest attempts at transplant, the many failures and ground-breaking discoveries, to the undying hopes, clear vision and the dedicated medical pioneers who turned something "impossible" into an everyday event. We follow two present day stories - a wife and mother in desperate need of a liver transplant, and a young girl in need of a new heart - and along the way hear from doctors, support personnel, the patients themselves and their family members, how the last 50 years has made this 'science of miracles' possible.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy

NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: Economy

NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/13/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016076
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with James Chanos, President, Kynikos Associates. Next, Stephen Green, Group Chairman of HSBC discusses his book, "Good Value: Reflections on Money, Morality, and an Uncertain World."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016078
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A conversation with Lee Hsien Loong, the Prime Minister of Singapore, about Asia, the west, the global economy and the future.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016078
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/15/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

A conversation with Lee Hsien Loong, the Prime Minister of Singapore, about Asia, the west, the global economy and the future.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016078
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/15/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A conversation with Lee Hsien Loong, the Prime Minister of Singapore, about Asia, the west, the global economy and the future.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg

BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016086
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Christine Lagarde, Finance Minister of France. Next, author Ian McEwan discusses his book, "Solar."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016086
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Christine Lagarde, Finance Minister of France. Next, author Ian McEwan discusses his book, "Solar."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016086
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Christine Lagarde, Finance Minister of France. Next, author Ian McEwan discusses his book, "Solar."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016087

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016094
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie takes a look at the stock market and the impact of the Greek debt crisis, we begin with Floyd Norris of The New York Times. Next, Wall St. veterans Barton Biggs, Roger Altman & Byron Wien on the Greek debt crisis. Last, Matthew Bishop of The Economist talks about his book, "The Road to Ruin."

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016131
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan from the G-20 summit in Toronto.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016131
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan from the G-20 summit in Toronto.

Category: Economy
NOLA: COSE 016131
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan from the G-20 summit in Toronto.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury

Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Economy
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Education
NOLA: COSE 016069
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Mike Krzyzewski, Head Coach of Duke Basketball. Next, a discussion on the Hamas assassination in Dubai with Brian Ross of ABC News, author Edward Jay Epstein, Borzou Daragahi of The Los Angeles Times and Robert Malley of The International Crisis Group.

Category: Education
NOLA: COSE 016069
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Mike Krzyzewski, Head Coach of Duke Basketball. Next, a discussion on the Hamas assassination in Dubai with Brian Ross of ABC News, author Edward Jay Epstein, Borzou Daragahi of The Los Angeles Times and Robert Malley of The International Crisis Group.

Category: Education
NOLA: COSE 016069
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Mike Krzyzewski, Head Coach of Duke Basketball. Next, a discussion on the Hamas assassination in Dubai with Brian Ross of ABC News, author Edward Jay Epstein, Borzou Daragahi of The Los Angeles Times and Robert Malley of The International Crisis Group.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Education

NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on

Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963

Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Education
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 6:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 10:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Education
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A

Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Employment
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: Employment
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: Employment
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose

Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 5:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Employment
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Energy
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Energy
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Energy
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Energy
NOLA: COSE 016124
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Ditlev Engel, CEO of Vestas Wind Systems. Next, Tony Blair, Former British Prime Minister and current Middle East envoy to the E.U., U.N., U.S. and Russia discusses this crucial time in the Middle East.

Category: Energy
NOLA: COSE 016124
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/17/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Ditlev Engel, CEO of Vestas Wind Systems. Next, Tony Blair, Former British Prime Minister and current Middle East envoy to the E.U., U.N., U.S. and Russia discusses this crucial time in the Middle East.

Category: Energy
NOLA: COSE 016124
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Ditlev Engel, CEO of Vestas Wind Systems. Next, Tony Blair, Former British Prime Minister and current Middle East envoy to the E.U., U.N., U.S. and Russia discusses this crucial time in the Middle East.

Category: Energy

NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption?

And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and

Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 1:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan

Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President

Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Energy
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 6/19/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: BEIS 000000
Series Title: Bear Island
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2007 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Chichagof Island, Southeast Alaska, is Jurassic Park in real time. Its dense rainforests hide more grizzlies per square mile than any other place on Earth. Follow veteran tracker Vern Beier, as he meets Chichagof's brown bears on their own turf - the deep, dark forests of Bear Island.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016100
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Oil Spill with John Hofmeister, Steve Wereley, James Tripp and Sylvia Earle.
Next, actor and comedian, Carol Burnett.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters

NOLA: COSE 016101
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Jeffrey Katzenberg the CEO of Dreamworks Animation takes us inside the world of 3-D and making movies. Next, Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author has a new book called "Eearth."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016101
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Jeffrey Katzenberg the CEO of Dreamworks Animation takes us inside the world of 3-D and making movies. Next, Bill McKibben, environmentalist and author has a new book called "Eearth."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Symth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Symth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Symth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: COSE 016133
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:05:30 PM
O.B. Date: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ken Feinberg, the man in charge of the 20 billion fund for the victims for the BP oil spill and how it will work. Next, Taylor Hackford the director, and Helen Mirren the actress, talk about their new film 'Love Ranch.'

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: AMEX 000604
Series Title: Hurricane of '38: American Experience; The
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 11/17/1993 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In September of 1938, a great storm rose up on the African coast and began to cross the Atlantic. The National Weather Bureau predicted it would blow itself out at Cape Hatteras, just as such storms usually did. But there was nothing typical about this storm. Without sophisticated forecasting tools, the East Coast was taken by surprise as the storm suddenly headed north. Within 24 hours of the Weather Bureau's benign forecast, the so-called "Florida cyclone" ripped into the New England coast with a fury that set off seismographs in Alaska. Expecting only heavy rains, people found themselves, virtually without warning, in the midst of the most devastating storm ever recorded in North America. Traveling at 60 m.p.h., with peak gust winds surging up to three times that speed, the storm killed some 600 people, destroyed 8,000 homes, and wrecked 6,000 boats. This program follows the lives of fishermen, Shinnecock Indians, and vacationers who were caught up in this incredible natural disaster.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: AMEX 000604
Series Title: Hurricane of '38: American Experience; The
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010
O.B. Date: 11/17/1993 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In September of 1938, a great storm rose up on the African coast and began to cross the Atlantic. The National Weather Bureau predicted it would blow itself out at Cape Hatteras, just as such storms usually did. But there was nothing typical about this storm. Without sophisticated forecasting tools, the East Coast was taken by surprise as the storm suddenly headed north. Within 24 hours of the Weather Bureau's benign forecast, the so-called "Florida cyclone" ripped into the New England coast with a fury that set off seismographs in Alaska. Expecting only heavy rains, people found themselves, virtually without warning, in the midst of the most devastating storm ever recorded in North America. Traveling at 60 m.p.h., with peak gust winds surging up to three times that speed, the storm killed some 600 people, destroyed 8,000 homes, and wrecked 6,000 boats. This program follows the lives of fishermen, Shinnecock Indians, and vacationers who were caught up in this incredible natural disaster.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: AMEX 000604
Series Title: Hurricane of '38: American Experience; The
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 11/17/1993 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In September of 1938, a great storm rose up on the African coast and began to cross the Atlantic. The National Weather Bureau predicted it would blow itself out at Cape Hatteras, just as such storms usually did. But there was nothing typical about this storm. Without sophisticated forecasting tools, the East Coast was taken by surprise as the storm suddenly headed north. Within 24 hours of the Weather Bureau's benign forecast, the so-called "Florida cyclone" ripped into the New England coast with a fury that set off seismographs in Alaska. Expecting only heavy rains, people found themselves, virtually without warning, in the midst of the most devastating storm ever recorded in North America. Traveling at 60 m.p.h., with peak gust winds surging up to three times that speed, the storm killed some 600 people, destroyed 8,000 homes, and wrecked 6,000 boats. This program follows the lives of fishermen, Shinnecock Indians, and vacationers who were caught up in this incredible natural disaster.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: AMEX 000604
Series Title: Hurricane of '38: American Experience; The
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 11/17/1993 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In September of 1938, a great storm rose up on the African coast and began to cross the Atlantic. The National Weather Bureau predicted it would blow itself out at Cape Hatteras, just as such storms usually did. But there was nothing typical about this storm. Without sophisticated forecasting tools, the East Coast was taken by surprise as the storm suddenly headed north. Within 24 hours of the Weather Bureau's benign forecast, the so-called "Florida cyclone" ripped into the New England coast with a fury that set off seismographs in Alaska. Expecting only heavy rains, people found themselves, virtually without warning, in the midst of the most devastating storm ever recorded in North America. Traveling at 60 m.p.h., with peak gust winds surging up to three times that speed, the storm killed some 600 people, destroyed 8,000 homes, and wrecked 6,000 boats. This program follows the lives of fishermen, Shinnecock Indians, and vacationers who were caught up in this incredible natural disaster.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: AMEX 000604
Series Title: Hurricane of '38: American Experience; The
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 11/17/1993 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In September of 1938, a great storm rose up on the African coast and began to cross the Atlantic. The National Weather Bureau predicted it would blow itself out at Cape Hatteras, just as such storms usually did. But there was nothing typical about this storm. Without sophisticated forecasting tools, the East Coast was taken by surprise as the storm suddenly headed north. Within 24 hours of the Weather Bureau's benign forecast, the so-called "Florida cyclone" ripped into the New England coast with a fury that set off seismographs in Alaska. Expecting only heavy rains, people found themselves, virtually without warning, in the midst of the most devastating storm ever recorded in North America. Traveling at 60 m.p.h., with peak gust winds surging up to three times that speed, the storm killed some 600 people, destroyed 8,000 homes, and wrecked 6,000 boats. This program follows the lives of fishermen, Shinnecock Indians, and vacationers who were caught up in this incredible natural disaster.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: AMEX 000604
Series Title: Hurricane of '38: American Experience; The
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 11/17/1993 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In September of 1938, a great storm rose up on the African coast and began to cross the Atlantic. The National Weather Bureau predicted it would blow itself out at Cape Hatteras, just as such storms usually did. But there was nothing typical about this storm. Without sophisticated forecasting tools, the East Coast was taken by surprise as the storm suddenly headed north. Within 24 hours of the Weather Bureau's benign forecast, the so-called "Florida cyclone" ripped into the New England coast with a fury that set off seismographs in Alaska. Expecting only heavy rains, people found themselves, virtually without warning, in the midst of the most devastating storm ever recorded in North America. Traveling at 60 m.p.h., with peak gust winds surging up to three times that speed, the storm killed some 600 people, destroyed 8,000 homes, and wrecked 6,000 boats. This program follows the lives of fishermen, Shinnecock Indians, and vacationers who were caught up in this incredible natural disaster.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan

Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best."

While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete

Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert

Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena

Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley

McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where

I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said,

"And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters

NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said,

"Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters

NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 5:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed

the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Environment/Nature/Natural Disasters
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016112
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Israel boat raid with Aluf Benn, Ethan Bronner, Massimo Calabresi, Robert Malley, Neil MacFarquhar and Yuli-Yoel Edelstein. Next, author Roger Rosenblatt discusses his new book, "Making Toast."

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016112
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Israel boat raid with Aluf Benn, Ethan Bronner, Massimo Calabresi, Robert Malley, Neil MacFarquhar and Yuli-Yoel Edelstein. Next, author Roger Rosenblatt discusses his new book, "Making Toast."

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016112

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Israel boat raid with Aluf Benn, Ethan Bronner, Massimo Calabresi, Robert Malley, Neil MacFarquhar and Yuli-Yoel Edelstein. Next, author Roger Rosenblatt discusses his new book, "Making Toast."

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: COSE 016133
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:05:30 PM
O.B. Date: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ken Feinberg, the man in charge of the 20 billion fund for the victims for the BP oil spill and how it will work. Next, Taylor Hackford the director, and Helen Mirren the actress, talk about their new film 'Love Ranch.'

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 4/28/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:

Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt

Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing

Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000

Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Family/Marriage
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: GEN EDUCATION
NOLA: NLBE 002010H
Series Title: NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC BEE
Episode Title: 2010 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC BEE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 2:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 6/27/2010 2:00:00 PM
Service: MPT
Format: GEN EDUCATION
Segment Length: 00:56:46:03

The annual National Geographic Bee returns for the 22nd consecutive year with host and moderator Alex Trebek. The 2010 National Geographic Bee will feature 54 fourth- to eighth-graders vying for the Bee crown and the top prize of a $25,000 college scholarship and lifetime membership in the National Geographic Society. Second and third prizes are college scholarships of $15,000 and $10,000. The finalists, all winners of their state-level geographic bees, have triumphed over a field of nearly 5 million students to earn a place in the national championships. They represent the 50 states, District of Columbia, Atlantic Territories, Pacific Territories and Department of Defense Dependents Schools.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501

Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501

Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501

Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501

Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501

Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: SAMF 001501

Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacer" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: PCYB 000000
Series Title: Back Care Basics: Yoga for the Rest of Us
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 9:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/10/2007 12:30:00 PM
Service: PBS-SIP
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Peggy Cappy demonstrates the right exercises and yoga poses to protect the back and improve posture. These simple but powerful exercises stretch and strengthen back muscles and can alleviate back pain caused by muscular tension. With regular practice, they can keep back pain from returning.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: PCYB 000000
Series Title: Back Care Basics: Yoga for the Rest of Us
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 3:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/10/2007 12:30:00 PM
Service: PBS-SIP
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Peggy Cappy demonstrates the right exercises and yoga poses to protect the back and improve posture. These simple but powerful exercises stretch and strengthen back muscles and can alleviate back pain caused by muscular tension. With regular practice, they can keep back pain from returning.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: PCYB 000000
Series Title: Back Care Basics: Yoga for the Rest of Us
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 6/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/10/2007 12:30:00 PM
Service: PBS-SIP
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Peggy Cappy demonstrates the right exercises and yoga poses to protect the back and improve posture. These simple but powerful exercises stretch and strengthen back muscles and can alleviate back pain caused by muscular tension. With regular practice, they can keep back pain from returning.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan

Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Health/Health Care
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: HEALTH/SAF/WELF
NOLA: CKBM 000000
Series Title: CHANGING KEYS: BILLY MCLAUGHLIN AND THE MYSTERY OF
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 AM
Service: EPS

Format: HEALTH/SAF/WELF
Segment Length: 00:52:22:00

Minneapolis native Billy McLaughlin astounded audiences with his innovative guitar technique and composing style. Holding his instrument vertically and "pulling" the strings, his original stylings and compositions enthralled his audiences. Then, in the late 1990s, he began to lose control of his right hand and arm and was soon unable to play his own music. Many thought his career was over when he was diagnosed with focal dystonia, an incurable neuro-muscular disorder. After years of countless therapies, McLaughlin was forced to give up his life's passion, playing solo guitar, and he abruptly disappeared from the stage and his national fan base. Billy McLaughlin decided not to give up and began the arduous task of starting over to learn the guitar from scratch! Producer Suzanne Jurva followed McLaughlin during these five years chronicling his unlikely attempt to re-claim his career by re-training himself to become a left-handed guitarist. The film delves into the scientific mysteries of dystonia and delivers a story about determination, persistence and personal triumph wrapped in the exquisite music of this innovative and newly left-handed guitarist.

Category: HEALTH/SAF/WELF
NOLA: CKBM 000000
Series Title: CHANGING KEYS: BILLY MCLAUGHLIN AND THE MYSTERY OF
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 5:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 5:00:00 PM
Service: EPS
Format: HEALTH/SAF/WELF
Segment Length: 00:52:22:00

Minneapolis native Billy McLaughlin astounded audiences with his innovative guitar technique and composing style. Holding his instrument vertically and "pulling" the strings, his original stylings and compositions enthralled his audiences. Then, in the late 1990s, he began to lose control of his right hand and arm and was soon unable to play his own music. Many thought his career was over when he was diagnosed with focal dystonia, an incurable neuro-muscular disorder. After years of countless therapies, McLaughlin was forced to give up his life's passion, playing solo guitar, and he abruptly disappeared from the stage and his national fan base. Billy McLaughlin decided not to give up and began the arduous task of starting over to learn the guitar from scratch! Producer Suzanne Jurva followed McLaughlin during these five years chronicling his unlikely attempt to re-claim his career by re-training himself to become a left-handed guitarist. The film delves into the scientific mysteries of dystonia and delivers a story about determination, persistence and personal triumph wrapped in the exquisite music of this innovative and newly left-handed guitarist.

Category: HEALTH/SAF/WELF
NOLA: CKBM 000000
Series Title: CHANGING KEYS: BILLY MCLAUGHLIN AND THE MYSTERY OF
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 60 Minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: EPS
Format: HEALTH/SAF/WELF
Segment Length: 00:52:22:00

Minneapolis native Billy McLaughlin astounded audiences with his innovative guitar technique and composing style. Holding his instrument vertically and "pulling" the strings, his original stylings and compositions enthralled his audiences. Then, in the late 1990s, he began to lose control of his right hand and arm and was soon unable to play his own music. Many thought his career was over when he was diagnosed with focal dystonia, an incurable neuro-muscular disorder. After years of countless therapies, McLaughlin was forced to give up his life's passion, playing solo guitar, and he abruptly disappeared from the stage and his national fan base. Billy McLaughlin decided not to give up and began the arduous task of starting over to learn the guitar from scratch! Producer Suzanne Jurva followed McLaughlin during these five years chronicling his unlikely attempt to re-claim his career by re-training himself to become a left-handed guitarist. The film delves into the scientific mysteries of dystonia and delivers a story about determination, persistence and personal triumph wrapped in the exquisite music of this innovative and newly left-handed guitarist.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Immigration/Refugees
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/25/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Capps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Capps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016095
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

We look at the British Elections and who will rule the country. We talk with John Burns of 'The New York Times,' Matt Frei of BBC World News America, Simon Schama from Columbia University, Martin Wolf from the 'Financial Times' and Historian Timothy Garten Ash from Oxford. Next, Anna Quindlen of The New York Times.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016095
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

We look at the British Elections and who will rule the country. We talk with John Burns of 'The New York Times,' Matt Frei of BBC World News America, Simon Schama from Columbia University, Martin Wolf from the 'Financial Times' and Historian Timothy Garten Ash from Oxford. Next, Anna Quindlen of The New York Times.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016095
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

We look at the British Elections and who will rule the country. We talk with John Burns of 'The New York Times,' Matt Frei of BBC World News America, Simon Schama from Columbia University, Martin Wolf from the 'Financial Times' and Historian Timothy Garten Ash from Oxford. Next, Anna Quindlen of The New York Times.

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: Media
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BASE 000105
Series Title: Baseball
Episode Title: Shadow Ball
Length: 150 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 9/19/1994 3:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fifth inning looks at baseball's desperate attempts to survive the Great Depression and Babe Ruth's fading career, while a new generation of stars, including Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, is on the rise. It also presents the parallel world of the Negro Leagues, which thrived in the shadow of the Major Leagues. The inning culminates with the greatest showdown in the history of the Negro Leagues: Satchel Paige, arguably the best pitcher ever, against Josh Gibson, "the black Babe Ruth," in the Negro League World Series.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/3/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016114
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Morgan Freeman discusses his new series on the Science Channel, called "Through the Wormhole."
Next, an appreciation of Dennis Hopper.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016115
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Wes Moore discusses his book, "The Other Wes Moore." Next, Arne Glimcher discusses his documentary, "Picasso and Braque Go to the Movies." Last, Charlie interviews Rachel Weisz.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016115
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Wes Moore discusses his book, "The Other Wes Moore." Next, Arne Glimcher discusses his documentary, "Picasso and Braque Go to the Movies." Last, Charlie interviews Rachel Weisz.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights

NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States'

rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001901

Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 3:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Sarasate's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo

de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo

de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo

de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert

Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert

Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 10:30:00 PM

O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 8:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 1:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens

Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: LEHO 000000
Series Title: Lena Horne: In Her Own Voice, An "American Masters" Special
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 11/25/1996 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In this documentary, Lena Horne tells the story of her journey to reluctant stardom. In addition to exclusive interviews with Horne and her daughter, the show includes interviews with Ossie Davis, Alan King, Liz Smith and others who worked with the performer. Clips from signature movies like "Stormy Weather" and MGM films of the 1940's are interwoven with her early TV appearances to accentuate her life story.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 6:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 10:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: POTI 000000
Series Title: Place Out of Time - The Bordentown School; A
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/24/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

For a 70-year period, when America cared little about the education of African-Americans, and discrimination was law and custom, The Bordentown School was an educational utopia. An incubator for black pride and intellect, it taught values, discipline, and life skills to generations of black children. This is the story of that school, as told by Bordentown alumni, historians, and archival footage. It is also the story of black education in America across three centuries, presenting a nuanced, rarely seen portrait of a separate black space; and a much-needed preface to the growing national discussion about historically black institutions and their role in nurturing identity and accomplishment. What was lost and what was gained in the march toward equality?

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 4/28/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:

Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt

Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing

Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Rosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Rosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Rosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Rosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Rosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Rosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: Minorities/Civil Rights
NOLA: RSVA 000000
Series Title: Roosevelt's America
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2007 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format:
Segment Length: 00:00:00

"Roosevelt's America" is a cinema verite profile of the struggles of a Lieberman refugee to build a new life in America. After being tortured and narrowly escaping execution during Liberia's civil war, Roosevelt Henderson makes his way to America with three of his children, but is forced to leave his pregnant wife behind. He works as a janitor, airport van driver and assembly line worker in order to support his family and help his wife flee their war-torn country. After two year of juggling low wage jobs, Roosevelt's perseverance pays off and he is reunited with his wife, Frances, and his baby daughter. By witnessing Roosevelt's day-to-day struggles, frustrations and achievements, viewers come to appreciate the distance he has traveled during his harrowing journey from torture and desperation in his native Liberia to security and stability in his newly adopted Hamlin. Ultimately "Roosevelt's America" becomes an inspiring story of quiet determination and dignity under duress.

Category: MUSICAL
NOLA: STCN 000000H

Series Title: STAR WARS IN CONCERT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 9:02:51 PM
O.B. Date: 6/5/2010 9:02:51 PM
Service: KNME
Format: MUSICAL
Segment Length: 00:21:05:00

Behind the scenes at Star Wars in Concert, a unique multi-media event featuring music from all six of John Williams' epic Star Wars scores. Included are interviews with Anthony Daniels (the actor who portrayed C-3PO in all six films), the tour director and executive producers about the concert production which features a full symphony orchestra and choir, accompanied by specially edited footage from the films displayed one three-story-tall, high-definition LED super-screen.

Category: MUSICAL
NOLA: STCN 000000H
Series Title: STAR WARS IN CONCERT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 9:43:51 PM
O.B. Date: 6/5/2010 9:43:51 PM
Service: KNME
Format: MUSICAL
Segment Length: 00:21:05:00

Behind the scenes at Star Wars in Concert, a unique multi-media event featuring music from all six of John Williams' epic Star Wars scores. Included are interviews with Anthony Daniels (the actor who portrayed C-3PO in all six films), the tour director and executive producers about the concert production which features a full symphony orchestra and choir, accompanied by specially edited footage from the films displayed one three-story-tall, high-definition LED super-screen.

Category: MUSICAL
NOLA: STCN 000000H
Series Title: STAR WARS IN CONCERT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 9:32:51 PM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 9:32:51 PM
Service: KNME
Format: MUSICAL
Segment Length: 00:21:05:00

Behind the scenes at Star Wars in Concert, a unique multi-media event featuring music from all six of John Williams' epic Star Wars scores. Included are interviews with Anthony Daniels (the actor who portrayed C-3PO in all six films), the tour director and executive producers about the concert production which features a full symphony orchestra and choir, accompanied by specially edited footage from the films displayed one three-story-tall, high-definition LED super-screen.

Category: MUSICAL
NOLA: STCN 000000H
Series Title: STAR WARS IN CONCERT
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 10:13:51 PM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 10:13:51 PM
Service: KNME
Format: MUSICAL
Segment Length: 00:21:05:00

Behind the scenes at Star Wars in Concert, a unique multi-media event featuring music from all six of John Williams' epic Star Wars scores. Included are interviews with Anthony Daniels (the actor who portrayed C-3PO in all six films), the tour director and executive producers about the concert production which features a full symphony orchestra and choir, accompanied by specially edited footage from the films displayed one three-story-tall, high-definition LED super-screen.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000

Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000

Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: ASMP 000000
Series Title: American Stamps
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/15/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:26:46

This documentary about the designers and artists who create postage stamps provides a behind-the-scenes look at how the stamps are conceptualized, designed and produced. Each of the iconic images on all those little bits of paper captures a unique angle of the American experience. In depicting and honoring their subjects, stamps play a significant role in memorializing national icons and showcasing important features of American culture and history. "American Stamps" offers an intimate look at these objects and the people who create them.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001350

Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government

NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal

Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government

NOLA: BMJL 001353
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 90 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A Bill Moyers Essay: A Bill Moyers Essay. Barry Lopez: Acclaimed author Barry Lopez joins Bill Moyers to discuss nature, spirit and the human condition. Lopez is an essayist, author and short-story writer, whose many books include "Arctic Dreams," winner of the National Book Award and "Of Wolves And Men," a National Book Award finalist. Iowa Citizens for Community Improvement (CCI): The Journal also travels to Iowa where one group has been helping ordinary citizens fight for change for more than three decades. Jim Hightower: Bill Moyers sits down with populist Jim Hightower to look at the history and legacy of people's movements and discuss how ordinary people can reclaim political power.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016071
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews David Remnick, author, "The Bridge: The Life and Rise of Barack Obama."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016071
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/6/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews David Remnick, author, "The Bridge: The Life and Rise of Barack Obama."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016071
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/6/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/5/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews David Remnick, author, "The Bridge: The Life and Rise of Barack Obama."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016074
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Vitaly Churkin, Russia's Ambassador to the United Nations discusses the new arms reduction treaty between the U.S. and Russia. Next, historians on President Obama, with Douglas Brinkley, Doris Kearns Goodwin and Jon Meacham.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016075
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the retirement of Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and reflections on the man and the legacy with Jamal Greene, Constitutional Law Professor at Columbia University. Next, a discussion about Latin America with Greg Grandin, Associate Professor of Latin American history at New York University, John Coatsworth, Dean, School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University, Kevin Casas-Zamora, Former Vice President of Costa Rica and Michael Shifter, Incoming President of Inter-American Dialogue.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/14/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016080
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

SEC accusation of Goldman Sachs with Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times, John Coffee of Columbia Law School, Larry Ingrassia of The New York Times and Roben Farzad of Bloomberg BusinessWeek. Next, a look at the film "The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo" with director Niels Arden Oplev.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016081
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Rahm Emanuel, White House Chief of Staff.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016081
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/20/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Rahm Emanuel, White House Chief of Staff.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016081
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/20/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/19/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Rahm Emanuel, White House Chief of Staff.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016082
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ambassador William vanden Heuvel talks about the long journey of a New York memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt designed by the architect Louis Kahn. Next, discussion on the earnings report about Goldman Sachs today and we will have more about the SEC complaint with Michael Lewis, author of "The Big Short," Andrew Ross Sorkin from the New York Times and David Boies, Attorney.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016082
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ambassador William vanden Heuvel talks about the long journey of a New York memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt designed by the architect Louis Kahn. Next, discussion on the earnings report about Goldman Sachs today and we will have more about the SEC complaint with Michael Lewis, author of "The Big Short," Andrew Ross Sorkin from the New York Times and David Boies, Attorney.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016082
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/21/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ambassador William vanden Heuvel talks about the long journey of a New York memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt designed by the architect Louis Kahn. Next, discussion on the earnings report about Goldman Sachs today and we will have more about the SEC complaint with Michael Lewis, author of "The Big Short," Andrew Ross Sorkin from the New York Times and David Boies, Attorney.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016084
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Gen. David Petraeus, Commander of the U.S. Central Command. Next, a discussion about Afghanistan with Dexter Filkins of The New York Times and Greg Jaffe of The Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016084
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Gen. David Petraeus, Commander of the U.S. Central Command. Next, a discussion about Afghanistan with Dexter Filkins of The New York Times and Greg Jaffe of The Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016084
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Gen. David Petraeus, Commander of the U.S. Central Command. Next, a discussion about Afghanistan with Dexter Filkins of The New York Times and Greg Jaffe of The Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 2:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016087
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Evan Thomas and his book, "The War Lovers: Roosevelt, Lodge, Hearst and the Rush to Empire 1898." The Goldman Sachs Senate hearings are in Washington, next, we talk to Gretchen Morgenson of The New York Times. Also weighing in are William Cohan also of The New York Times, Gillian Tett of the Financial Times and Evan Thomas from Newsweek.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016089
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, former President of Harvard Derek Bok discusses his book, "The Politics of Happiness: What Government can Learn from the New Research on Well-Being." Next, actor Michael Caine discusses British politics and his latest film 'Harry Brown.'

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016089
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, former President of Harvard Derek Bok discusses his book, "The Politics of Happiness: What Government can Learn from the New Research on Well-Being." Next, actor Michael Caine discusses British politics and his latest film 'Harry Brown.'

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016089
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, former President of Harvard Derek Bok discusses his book, "The Politics of Happiness: What Government can Learn from the New Research on Well-Being." Next, actor Michael Caine discusses British politics and his latest film 'Harry Brown.'

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016090
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Lloyd Blankfein, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of Goldman Sachs.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016091
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, President of Iran.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016091
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, President of Iran.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016091
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, President of Iran.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016096
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at President Obama's Supreme Court Nominee Elena Kagan. We talk to Walter Dellinger, a Washington appellate lawyer and former solicitor general under the Clinton administration and Sean

Wilentz from Princeton University. Next, Charlie speaks with Edward O. Wilson, Harvard University. Last, Maria Bartiromo, the CNBC Anchor and author of "The 10 Laws of Enduring Success."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016097
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a look at the results of the British elections as David Cameron becomes Prime Minister. We talk to Matt Frei of BBC World News America. Next, Charlie speaks with Norris Church Mailer, she has written a memoir called "A Ticket to the Circus" about her life with Norman Mailer. Last, Charlie speaks with Nouriel Roubini of New York University.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016099
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Thomas L. Friedman. Next, Charlie interviews Jazz singer Nnenna Freelon.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016109
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie has a conversation with Bashar al-Assad, President of Syria.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016109
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie has a conversation with Bashar al-Assad, President of Syria.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016109
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/27/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie has a conversation with Bashar al-Assad, President of Syria.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016110
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews Hamas leader Khaled Meshaal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016110
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/29/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews Hamas leader Khaled Meshaal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016110
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/31/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie interviews Hamas leader Khaled Meshaal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016112
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Israel boat raid with Aluf Benn, Ethan Bronner, Massimo Calabresi, Robert Malley, Neil MacFarquhar and Yuli-Yoel Edelstein. Next, author Roger Rosenblatt discusses his new book, "Making Toast."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016112
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Israel boat raid with Aluf Benn, Ethan Bronner, Massimo Calabresi, Robert Malley, Neil MacFarquhar and Yuli-Yoel Edelstein. Next, author Roger Rosenblatt discusses his new book, "Making Toast."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016112
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a discussion about the Israel boat raid with Aluf Benn, Ethan Bronner, Massimo Calabresi, Robert Malley, Neil MacFarquhar and Yuli-Yoel Edelstein. Next, author Roger Rosenblatt discusses his new book, "Making Toast."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/8/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016116
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 6/8/2010
O.B. Date: 6/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Senator John Kerry discusses the oil spill in the gulf and his bill to cap carbon emissions and expand funding for alternative energy. Next, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" discusses his book, "The Promise: President Obama, Year One."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016118
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

An hour with Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016118
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/10/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

An hour with Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: National Politics/Government

NOLA: COSE 016119
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010
O.B. Date: 6/10/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Chris Matthews of MSNBC. Next, Doris Buffett talks about family and philanthropy.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016121
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/15/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On the eve of the President's speech from the Oval office we talk to Al Hunt of Bloomberg News and Jake Tapper of ABC News. Next, Ibrahim Kalin, Chief Advisor to the Prime Minister of Turkey. Last, Chef Mario Batali, his new book is called "Molto Gusto: Easy Italian Cooking."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016121
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/15/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On the eve of the President's speech from the Oval office we talk to Al Hunt of Bloomberg News and Jake Tapper of ABC News. Next, Ibrahim Kalin, Chief Advisor to the Prime Minister of Turkey. Last, Chef Mario Batali, his new book is called "Molto Gusto: Easy Italian Cooking."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016124
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 2:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Ditlev Engel, CEO of Vestas Wind Systems. Next, Tony Blair, Former British Prime Minister and current Middle East envoy to the E.U., U.N., U.S. and Russia discusses this crucial time in the Middle East.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016124
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/17/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Ditlev Engel, CEO of Vestas Wind Systems. Next, Tony Blair, Former British Prime Minister and current Middle East envoy to the E.U., U.N., U.S. and Russia discusses this crucial time in the Middle East.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016124
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Ditlev Engel, CEO of Vestas Wind Systems. Next, Tony Blair, Former British Prime Minister and current Middle East envoy to the E.U., U.N., U.S. and Russia discusses this crucial time in the Middle East.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Smyth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Smyth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Smyth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016128
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Gen. Stanley McChrystal and Afghanistan: The story of a President, 2 Generals, the future of a war and magazine story. The implications on the resignation of General Stanley McChrystal. We talk to David Kilcullen, former counter insurgency advisor to David Petraeus, Eric Bates, Eliot Cohen, Rajiv Chandrasekaran, Michael Gordon and Dexter Filkins. We close with excerpts from past interviews with General McChrystal and General David Petraeus.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016128
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Gen. Stanley McChrystal and Afghanistan: The story of a President, 2 Generals, the future of a war and magazine story. The implications on the resignation of General Stanley McChrystal. We talk to David Kilcullen, former counter insurgency advisor to David Petraeus, Eric Bates, Eliot Cohen, Rajiv Chandrasekaran, Michael Gordon and Dexter Filkins. We close with excerpts from past interviews with General McChrystal and General David Petraeus.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016128
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Gen. Stanley McChrystal and Afghanistan: The story of a President, 2 Generals, the future of a war and magazine story. The implications on the resignation of General Stanley McChrystal. We talk to David Kilcullen, former counter insurgency advisor to David Petraeus, Eric Bates, Eliot Cohen, Rajiv Chandrasekaran, Michael Gordon and Dexter Filkins. We close with excerpts from past interviews with General McChrystal and General David Petraeus.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016129
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

With increased focus on Afghanistan and the arrival of General Petraeus, we talk to Senator John Kerry, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Next, Pentagon insider and friend of General Petraeus, General Jack Keane.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016129
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

With increased focus on Afghanistan and the arrival of General Petraeus, we talk to Senator John Kerry, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Next, Pentagon insider and friend of General Petraeus, General Jack Keane.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016129
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

With increased focus on Afghanistan and the arrival of General Petraeus, we talk to Senator John Kerry, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Next, Pentagon insider and friend of General Petraeus, General Jack Keane.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016131
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan from the G-20 summit in Toronto.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016131
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan from the G-20 summit in Toronto.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016131
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan from the G-20 summit in Toronto.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016132
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Elena Kagan Supreme Court confirmation hearing with Nina Totenberg of NPR and Sam Stein of Huffington Post. Next, Gen. David Petraeus confirmation hearing with David Martin of CBS News, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" and retired U.S. Army Colonel Peter Mansoor.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016132
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 6/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Elena Kagan Supreme Court confirmation hearing with Nina Totenberg of NPR and Sam Stein of Huffington Post. Next, Gen. David Petraeus confirmation hearing with David Martin of CBS News, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" and retired U.S. Army Colonel Peter Mansoor.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: COSE 016133
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:05:30 PM
O.B. Date: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Ken Feinberg, the man in charge of the 20 billion fund for the victims for the BP oil spill and how it will work. Next, Taylor Hackford the director, and Helen Mirren the actress, talk about their new film 'Love Ranch.'

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901

Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001901
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Awakenings 1954-1956/Fighting Back 1957-1962
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/2/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Awakenings (1954-1956): Individual acts of courage inspire black Southerners to fight for their rights: Mose Wright testifies against the white men who murdered young Emmett Till, and Rosa Parks refuses to give up her bus seat to a white man in Montgomery, Alabama; Fighting Back (1957-1962): States' rights loyalists and federal authorities collide in the 1957 battle to integrate Little Rock's Central High School, and again in James Meredith's 1962 challenge to segregation at the University of Mississippi. Both times, a Southern governor squares off with a U.S. president, violence erupts -- and integration is carried out.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 5:00:00 AM

O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience

Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965

Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: AMEX 001903
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Mississippi: Is This America? 1963-1964/Bridge to Freedom 1965
Length: 120 minutes

Airdate: 4/18/2010
O.B. Date: 10/16/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Mississippi: Is This America? (1963-1964): Mississippi's grass-roots civil rights movement becomes an American concern when college students travel south to help register black voters and three activists are murdered. The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party challenges the regular Mississippi delegation at the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City; Bridge to Freedom (1965): A decade of lessons is applied in the climactic and bloody march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama. A major victory is won when the federal Voting Rights Bill passes, but civil rights leaders know they have new challenges ahead.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: INLE 001126
Series Title: Independent Lens
Episode Title: A Village Called Versailles
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 10:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:56:46

Tucked away on the eastern edge of New Orleans, a community of Vietnamese refugees has thrived for 30 years in a neighborhood they call Versailles. A VILLAGE CALLED VERSAILLES recounts how the residents successfully fought against the opening of a toxic government-imposed landfill after Hurricane Katrina struck and subsequently transformed their neighborhood.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President

Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 4/10/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government

NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 12:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/1/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President

Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004943
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week when the best laid plans went awry--on energy and immigration policy, on the Wall Street crackdown and Florida politics. We'll explain the hows and the whys tonight on Washington Week. Janet Napolitano, Secretary of Homeland Security said, "This is a spill of national significance." Hundreds of thousands of gallons of crude oil, threatening a huge natural disaster in the Gulf. President Barack Obama said, "Local economies and livelihoods of the people of the Gulf Coast, as well as the ecology of the region is at stake." Wind power, nuclear, clean coal, off shore oil drilling--do the risks outweigh the benefits? And thanks to a tough new Arizona law, will energy reform also be knocked off-course by a renewed debate over immigration? Gov. Jan Brewer (R-AZ) said, "Decades of federal inaction and misguided policy have created a dangerous and unacceptable situation." In Florida, one rising Republican star gets knocked off course and out of his party by another. Gov. Charlie Crist (Independent-FL) said, "My decision to run for the United States Senate as a candidate without party affiliation in many ways says more about our nation and our state than it does about me." Marco Rubio, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate - Florida said, "I know this campaign is not about me, it's about what I'm running for and what I'm running on." And a proposed Wall Street crackdown gets knocked back on course after a dramatic Capitol Hill showdown. Covering the week, Margaret Kriz Hobson of National Journal; Naftali Bendavid of the Wall Street Journal; Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post; and Eamon Javers of Politico.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/9/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert

Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena

Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans: Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley

McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004945
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/14/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The selling of Elena Kagan, the oil spill blame game, kissing and making up with Hamid Karzai, and the perilous politics of incumbency, tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "Our solicitor general and my friend Elena Kagan." Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL) said, "It is a confirmation. It's not a coronation." True, but President Obama's Supreme Court nominee is for now on a glide path. Elena Kagan said, "Thank you so much." But who is Elena Kagan and what would she bring to the nation's highest court? On Capitol Hill, another scandal, another oath, as lawmakers wrestle with the consequences of the disastrous oil spill. Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-AK) said, "It doesn't benefit anyone of them for BP to be pointing the finger at Transocean, to be pointing the finger at Halliburton, to be pointing the finger back at BP." President Obama said, "The American people could not have been impressed with that display and I certainly wasn't." So who is at fault? At the White House Afghan President Karzai gets the royal treatment but what's happening on the battlefield? Gen. Stanley McChrystal said, "I think I'd be prepared to say nobody is winning at this point." And incumbents brace for what could be a rocky political season. For Democrats--President Obama said, "We've gone through a stormy time and I know sometimes has made you guys a little seasick." And Republicans. Sen. Robert Bennett (R-UT) said, "The political atmosphere obviously has been toxic." Covering the week: Pete Williams of NBC News, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Martha Raddatz of ABC news, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen.

Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004946
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

This was the week the voters turned conventional wisdom upside down in Pennsylvania, Arkansas, and Kentucky. Now, what comes next, tonight on Washington Week. Rand Paul said, "We've come to take our government back." Rep. Joe Sestak (D-PA) said, "A win for the people over the establishment, over the status quo, even over Washington D.C." LT. Gov. Bill Halter said, "Three more weeks, two more candidates, one choice for change." This is what it looks like when American voters get in a bad mood. Incumbents endangered and the longer they've been in Washington the harder they're falling. Sen. Arlen Specter (D-PA) said, "It's been a great privilege to serve the people of Pennsylvania." Both parties are scrambling to assess what comes next as surprises seem to lurk around every corner. Richard Blumenthal said, "On a few occasions I have misspoken about my service." Covering the week, Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Dickerson of Slate magazine and CBS News, Susan Milligan of the Boston Globe, and Jeff Zeleny of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again.

Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004947
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/28/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Confusion, finger-pointing, defensiveness, stand offs, and blame, from the Gulf Coast to the Korean Peninsula, everybody's on edge. We explore why tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I ultimately take responsibility for solving this crisis. I'm the president and the buck stops with me." Rare admissions of fault from our president who likes to be right. President Obama stated, "Where I was wrong, was in my belief that the oil companies had their act together when it came to worst-case scenarios." Surveying the damage today. President Obama continued, "We've got about seven miles of beach here where two types of boom have already been laid." He viewed efforts to stem the tide of oil polluting the Gulf Coast, as the tide of blame kept rising in Washington. Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "And it's also clear the president has failed in his obligations to the American people to uphold the law and act." Tony Hayward said, "What we're seeing here is a whole series of failures." Rep. Charlie Melancon (D-LA) said, "Our culture is threatened, our coastal economy is threatened, and everything that I know and love is at risk." Six weeks later the BP oil disaster continues. Also, Congress moves to make it easier for gays to serve in the military. And tensions build on the Korean Peninsula again. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "This was an unacceptable provocation by North Korea." Covering the week: Karen Tumulty, of the Washington Post, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and David Sanger of the New York Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/7/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004948
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/4/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Commando raids, an uncontrollable oil spill, an economy that can't rebound fast enough, and political missteps here, there, and everywhere, tonight on Washington Week. Is anything going right? Oil continues to gush from the ocean floor. President Barack Obama said, "Right now, stopping this oil spill and containing its damage is necessarily the top priority not just of my administration, but I think of the entire country." Gov. Bobby Jindal (R-LA) said, "Every day they wait, every day they make us wait. We're losing our battle to protect our coast." Tony Hayward, CEO, BP OIL said, "I'd like my life back. So there's no one who wants this thing done more than I do." A high sea standoff forces the U.S. to mediate newly inflamed tensions between Israel and the Palestinians. Israeli Prime Min. Benjamin Netanyahu said, "Israel should not be held to a double standard. The Jewish state has a right to defend itself, just like any other state." Dr. Ghassan Al-Khateeb, Palestinian Government Spokesperson said, "We think that Israel should be held accountable for this crime and should be punished." Secretary of State Hillary Clinton said, "The situation in Gaza is unsustainable and unacceptable." The economy adds new jobs, but not enough of them. President Obama said, "While we recognize that our recovery is still in its early stages and that there're going to be ups and downs in the months ahead, things never go completely in a smooth line." And the White House political shop stumbles, again. What's a president to do? We assess the challenges and the distractions with the reporters covering the week: Peter Baker of the New York Times, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine and Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed

the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004949
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Hundreds of millions of dollars being spent on the Gulf Coast disaster and on elections coast to coast, the winners, the losers, and the stalemates, tonight on Washington Week. Two California Republicans triumph. Meg Whitman, CA GOP Gubernatorial Candidate said, "Two businesswomen who know how to create jobs, balance budgets and get things done." While some incumbents fall and some survive. Nevada Gov. Jim Gibbons said, "I stand here humbled and grateful for the four years that the people of Nevada gave me." Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AK) said, "The vote of this senator is not for sale and neither is the vote of the people of Arkansas." But outsiders rule. Sharron Angle, GOP Senate Candidate in Nevada said, "We have completed the first step to taking back our U.S. Senate seat." Expensive elections, breakthroughs, and comebacks. What this week's primaries mean for Washington. And the Gulf oil spill turns into a deadly serious numbers game. Rep. Edward Markey (D-MS) said, "It's quite clear that BP has known that this is much more catastrophic right from the beginning." Louisiana Gov. Bobby Jindal said, "It is very frustrating that over 50 days into this they still don't have a reliable estimate of how many oil they've released, how much oil is still out there." Coast Guard ADM. Thad Allen said, "I'm not going to declare victory on anything till I have absolute numbers." What changed and what stayed the same with the reporters covering the stories: John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News, Alexis Simendinger of National Journal, and Karen Tumulty of the Washington Post.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak

(D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak

(D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak

(D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak

(D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconception." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said,

"With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting

the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: National Politics/Government
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/14/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: COSE 016077
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, discussion about the Nuclear Security Summit with Sam Nunn, co-chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Nuclear Threat Initiative (NTI), Joshua Cooper Ramo, Managing Director at Kissinger Associates and David Sanger, White House Correspondent for "The New York Times." Next, Ken Gormley talks about his new book, "The Death of Virtue: Clinton vs. Starr."

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: COSE 016091
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, President of Iran.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: COSE 016091
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, President of Iran.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: COSE 016091
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie spends an hour with Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, President of Iran.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 12:00:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD

NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of

USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury

Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Nuclear Issues/WMD
NOLA: WWIR 004941
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The next big fight: will the government be able to impose strict new controls on the big banks? We talk about that, nuclear politics, Supreme Court politics, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. Sen. Harry Reid (D-NV) said, "Wall Street took advantage of America. It's now our turn to look at Wall Street, have them contribute to a better America." Sounds simple enough, but a bank regulation bill that seemed like a slam dunk only a short time ago has run into a partisan buzzsaw on Capitol Hill. Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner said, "I think we're very, very close." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "This bill wouldn't solve the problems that led to the financial crisis. It would make them worse." Might the same thing happen to President Obama's eventual Supreme Court nominee or to the plan embraced by global leaders this week to reduce nuclear weapons -- buzzsaws everywhere, much of it building under the tea party flag. Ms. Sarah Palin said, "I'm not calling anyone un-American, but the unintended consequences of these actions, the results are un-American." Covering the week: David Wessel of the Wall Street Journal, Gloria Borger of CNN, Peter Baker of the New York Times, and John Dickerson of Slate Magazine and CBS News.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review

Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: BMJL 001349
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

American Inequality: Another study, "The Spirit Level" by Richard Wilkinson and Kate Pickett, shows that the U.S. has the greatest income inequality among the major developed countries. Get the stats and read an interview with the authors. Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander: In the months before his death, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had expanded his focus on racial justice to include reducing economic inequality. On this week's 42nd anniversary of King's assassination, Bill Moyers sits down with attorneys Bryan Stevenson and Michelle Alexander to discuss how far we've really come as a country, how poor and working class Americans have been falling behind and what America must do to fulfill Dr. King's vision. Moyers on Inequality: A Bill Moyers essay. Reflections on King's Dreams: Revisit Dr. King's evolving theories of social and economic justice through his speeches. Plus, a Bill Moyers essay. U.S. Prisons and Drug Laws: The U.S. has five percent of the world's population and 25 percent of the world's prisoners -- how did we get here?

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: COSE 016123
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/16/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Bill Gates, Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett in an exclusive conversation about The Giving Pledge.

Category: Poverty/Hunger

NOLA: COSE 016123
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/17/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Bill Gates, Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett in an exclusive conversation about The Giving Pledge.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/29/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: Poverty/Hunger
NOLA: AMEX 001009
Series Title: Riding the Rails: American Experience
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/13/1998 9:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

During the Depression-era of the 1930s, tens of thousands of teenagers hopped freight trains in search of a better life elsewhere. What they discovered was a mixture of adventure, camaraderie, hardship and loneliness. They saw a country in turmoil and found experiences that impacted them for the rest of their lives -- their ultimate freedom traded for despair, lack of jobs, and even death. Through first-hand accounts, "The American Experience" recalls the stories of teen drifters crisscrossing America during tough times.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000619
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: GREAT INVESTORS: BILL MILLER
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTEX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Bill Miller, Chairman, Chief Investment Officer, Legg Mason Capital Management. On this week's Consuelo Mack WealthTrack, an exclusive television interview with Legg Mason's legendary Bill Miller. How has the only money manager to beat the S&P 500 for 15 consecutive years recovered from the worst performance of his lifetime to the best? "Great Investor" Bill Miller shares his strategy.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000620
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: GREAT INVESTORS: BRIAN ROGERS
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/16/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTEX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Brian Rogers, Chairman, T.Rowe Price Group, Inc. On this week's Consuelo Mack WealthTrack, "Great Investor" Brian Rogers shares lessons learned from the financial crisis and how he is applying them at T. Rowe Price and his Equity Income Fund.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000621
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK

Episode Title: GREAT INVESTORS: DENNIS STATTMAN
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 5/23/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/23/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Dennis Stattman, Portfolio Manager, BlackRock Global Allocation Fund. This week's Consuelo Mack WealthTrack looks at balancing risk and reward in an unsettled world. "Great Investor" Dennis Stattman explains why he has delivered higher returns with less risk than the markets for more than 20 years in his BlackRock Global Allocation Fund.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000616
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: FINANCIAL THOUGHT LEADERS: ROBERT SHILLER
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/18/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Robert Shiller, Professor of Economics, Yale University and Chief Economist, MacroMarkets LLC. Renowned Yale economist and "Financial Thought Leader" Robert Shiller tells Consuelo Mack why he believes home prices could suffer a double dip and stock prices are not cheap.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000618
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: FINANCIAL THOUGHT LEADERS: TOM GALLAGHER
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Tom Gallagher, Managing Director, ISI Group. On this week's Consuelo Mack WealthTrack, Wall Street's top ranked Washington analyst discusses how policy is affecting your investments. "Financial Thought Leader" Tom Gallagher, managing director of ISI Group, shares some of the major changes he is tracking and how investors should deal with them.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS

NOLA: SUEL 000617
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: FINANCIAL THOUGHT LEADERS: BEN STEIN
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/25/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTEX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Ben Stein, Economist, Author, Actor. Consuelo Mack has a wide-ranging discussion with "Financial Thought Leader" Ben Stein about bulletproofing your investment portfolio and Wall Street's culpability in the financial crisis.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000615
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: GREAT INVESTORS: CHRIS DAVIS
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/11/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTEX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guests: Chris Davis, Portfolio Manager, Davis Funds. This week features an exclusive television interview with third generation value investor Christopher Davis. This former Morningstar "Money Manager of the Year" discusses how family tradition helps him find long term financial values.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000614
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/4/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTEX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guests: Charles Ellis, Founder, Greenwich Associates; Author, The Elements of Investing; Jason Zweig, Personal Finance Columnist, The Wall Street Journal; Author, The Little Book of Safe Money. Consuelo Mack, renowned financial consultant Charles Ellis and The Wall Street Journal's highly respected personal finance columnist Jason Zweig tackle one important question: what are the most valuable lessons individuals can learn from the financial crisis?

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000622
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: FINANCIAL THOUGHT LEADERS: ROB ARNOTT
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/30/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Rob Arnott, Founder and Chairman, Research Affiliates, and Author, The Fundamental Index. On this week's Consuelo Mack WealthTrack, Financial Thought Leader Rob Arnott, founder and chairman of Research Affiliates, explains why wide diversification across many asset classes is the way to investment success during a time of slow economic growth.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: SUEL 000626
Series Title: CONSUELO MACK WEALTHTRACK
Episode Title: FINANCIAL THOUGHT LEADERS: CHARLES ELLIS
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 10:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/27/2010 10:30:00 AM
Service: APTX
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

Guest: Charles Ellis, Founder, Greenwich Associates; Author, The Elements of Investing. Consuelo Mack interviews legendary financial consultant Charles Ellis, author of the investment classic Winning the Loser's Game and a new investment primer written with Princeton economist Burton Malkiel, The Elements of Investing. This week on WealthTrack, "Financial Thought Leader" Ellis offers basic rules to succeed in the financial markets.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: INSD 002150
Series Title: INSIDE WASHINGTON
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 1:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/4/2010 1:00:00 PM
Service: APT
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

The healthcare summit: was there any meeting of the minds? Was there a clear winner in the seven-and-a-half-hour debate? Who took the greater political risk? The Governor of New York reportedly decides against running for reelection, clearing the way for NY Atty. Gen. Andrew Cuomo, a Democrat. House Ways and Means Chairman Charley Rangel under a cloud. The Senate passes a bi-partisan jobs bill with some Republican support, including that of newly elected Senator Scott Brown. Toyota in trouble.

Category: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
NOLA: INSD 002206
Series Title: INSIDE WASHINGTON
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 30 Minutes
Airdate: 5/30/2010 1:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/30/2010 1:00:00 PM
Service: APT
Format: PUBLIC AFFAIRS
Segment Length: 00:26:46:00

The Gulf oil spill. Who's in charge of stopping the leak and the cleanup? Is it fair to say this could become President Obama's Katrina? What are the political consequences if BP doesn't "kill the well" soon? What is the future of off-shore oil exploration as a consequence of this? Regulation vs. deregulation? And a word on House passage of "Don't Ask, Don't Tell."

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: PCYB 000000
Series Title: Back Care Basics: Yoga for the Rest of Us
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 9:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 2/10/2007 12:30:00 PM
Service: PBS-SIP
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Peggy Cappy demonstrates the right exercises and yoga poses to protect the back and improve posture. These simple but powerful exercises stretch and strengthen back muscles and can alleviate back pain caused by muscular tension. With regular practice, they can keep back pain from returning.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: PCYB 000000
Series Title: Back Care Basics: Yoga for the Rest of Us
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 3:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/10/2007 12:30:00 PM
Service: PBS-SIP
Format: Demonstration/Instructional

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Peggy Cappy demonstrates the right exercises and yoga poses to protect the back and improve posture. These simple but powerful exercises stretch and strengthen back muscles and can alleviate back pain caused by muscular tension. With regular practice, they can keep back pain from returning.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: PCYB 000000
Series Title: Back Care Basics: Yoga for the Rest of Us
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 2/10/2007 12:30:00 PM
Service: PBS-SIP
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Peggy Cappy demonstrates the right exercises and yoga poses to protect the back and improve posture. These simple but powerful exercises stretch and strengthen back muscles and can alleviate back pain caused by muscular tension. With regular practice, they can keep back pain from returning.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: BASE 000105
Series Title: Baseball
Episode Title: Shadow Ball
Length: 150 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 9/19/1994 3:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fifth inning looks at baseball's desperate attempts to survive the Great Depression and Babe Ruth's fading career, while a new generation of stars, including Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, is on the rise. It also presents the parallel world of the Negro Leagues, which thrived in the shadow of the Major Leagues. The inning culminates with the greatest showdown in the history of the Negro Leagues: Satchel Paige, arguably the best pitcher ever, against Josh Gibson, "the black Babe Ruth," in the Negro League World Series.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016069
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Mike Krzyzewski, Head Coach of Duke Basketball. Next, a discussion on the Hamas assassination in Dubai with Brian Ross of ABC News, author Edward Jay Epstein, Borzou Daragahi of The Los Angeles Times and Robert Malley of The International Crisis Group.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016069
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Mike Krzyzewski, Head Coach of Duke Basketball. Next, a discussion on the Hamas assassination in Dubai with Brian Ross of ABC News, author Edward Jay Epstein, Borzou Daragahi of The Los Angeles Times and Robert Malley of The International Crisis Group.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016069
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/1/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie interviews Mike Krzyzewski, Head Coach of Duke Basketball. Next, a discussion on the Hamas assassination in Dubai with Brian Ross of ABC News, author Edward Jay Epstein, Borzou Daragahi of The Los Angeles Times and Robert Malley of The International Crisis Group.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/28/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016088
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/29/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/28/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mohamed Ibrahim, founder of the telecommunications company Celtel and currently on the board of the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, which supports achievement in African Leadership. Next, Craig Robinson, head men's basketball coach at Oregon State University, brother of First Lady Michelle Obama and author of "Game of Character."

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016113
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 6/3/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Sportscaster Jim Gray on the NBA Finals and Tiger Woods. Next, Vice President Joe Biden discusses issues facing the Obama Administration.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/12/2010
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016120
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/14/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/11/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, an appreciation of John Wooden. Next, Charlie interviews Chef Rene Redzepi.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Smyth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Smyth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016125
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, a World Cup update from Tommy Smyth of ESPN. Next, David Sanger of The New York Times discusses President Obama and the BP oil spill in the Gulf. Last, a look at Wimbledon with Patrick McEnroe, author of "Hardcourt Confidential."

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016130

Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: GROU 000000
Series Title: Great Old Amusement Parks
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 7/21/1999 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Long before the days of giant theme parks, the United States had many, many amusement parks where families gathered for a cool escape on a hot summer day. This program celebrates these pre-Disney parks, visiting places like Playland in Rye, New York; Holiday World in Santa Claus, Indiana; and California's Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, where vacationers can still reach for the brass ring on the merry-go-round. The special also checks out some old wooden roller coasters and other classic rides.

Category: Recreation/Leisure/Sports
NOLA: GROF 000000
Series Title: Great Old Amusement Parks
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 7/21/1999 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Long before the days of giant theme parks, the United States had many, many amusement parks where families gathered for a cool escape on a hot summer day. This program celebrates these pre-Disney parks, visiting places like Playland in Rye, New York; Holiday World in Santa Claus, Indiana; and California's Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, where vacationers can still reach for the brass ring on the merry-go-round. The special also checks out some old wooden roller coasters and other classic rides.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 7:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 7:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001501
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Surgical Slimmers
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/21/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/19/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Demonstration/Instructional
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In spite of the risks, people are lining up to solve their weight problems in the operating room. And if the latest device -- an implantable stomach "pacemaker" -- works out, millions more will be taking the surgical way out.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 1:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 4:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: BMJL 001352
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

FCC Commissioner Michael Copps: As Big Telecom tightens its grip over broadband, is your access to the Web at risk? Bill Moyers talks with FCC commissioner Michael Copps to discuss the future of 'net neutrality,' the fight for more democratic media and the future of journalism in the digital age. Moyers on Deepening the American Dream: A Bill Moyers Essay. William K. Black on Fraud: As President Obama makes the case for strong financial reform, Bill Moyers sits down with veteran regulator William K. Black, who says Wall Street is already been breaking current rules.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016070
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Apple's iPad with David Carr of The New York Times and Walt Mossberg of The Wall St. Journal.

Category: Science/Technology

NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016072
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/7/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/6/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mathias Döpfner, Chairman & CEO, Axel Springer. Next, Charlie interviews Martha Stewart, Founder, Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016083
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/22/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On episode seven of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of the Emotional Brain with Nora Volkow of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, Eric Nestler of Mt. Sinai Medical Center, Wolfram Schultz of Cambridge University, and Daniel Salzman of Columbia University. Co-Hosted by Eric Kandel of Columbia University and the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016083
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On episode seven of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of the Emotional Brain with Nora Volkow of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, Eric Nestler of Mt. Sinai Medical Center, Wolfram Schultz of Cambridge University, and Daniel Salzman of Columbia University. Co-Hosted by Eric Kandel of Columbia University and the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016083
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On episode seven of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of the Emotional Brain with Nora Volkow of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, Eric Nestler of Mt. Sinai Medical Center, Wolfram Schultz of Cambridge University, and Daniel Salzman of Columbia University. Co-Hosted by Eric Kandel of Columbia University and the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016085
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Mike Allen of Politico. Next, Charlie speaks with Ken Auletta of The New Yorker. Last, Charlie interviews Alan Rusbridger, Editor, The Guardian.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016104
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Nathan Myhrvold, CEO And Founder, Intellectual Ventures.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016104
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Nathan Myhrvold, CEO And Founder, Intellectual Ventures.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016104
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/20/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Charlie speaks with Nathan Myhrvold, CEO And Founder, Intellectual Ventures.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM

Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016105
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/24/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/21/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

In the emerging field of synthetic biology and the quest to create synthetic life, Craig Venter joins to explain how his research team has created man-made DNA in a living organism. Next, financial regulation reform with Steven Pearlstein of The Washington Post and Andrew Ross Sorkin of The New York Times.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016108
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On Episode Eight of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of fear and anxiety with Antonio Damasio of University of Southern California, Kerry Ressler of Emory University, Joseph LeDoux of New York University, David Anderson of CalTech, and Eric Kandel of Columbia University.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016108
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS

Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On Episode Eight of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of fear and anxiety with Antonio Damasio of University of Southern California, Kerry Ressler of Emory University, Joseph LeDoux of New York University, David Anderson of CalTech, and Eric Kandel of Columbia University.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016108
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/26/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On Episode Eight of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of fear and anxiety with Antonio Damasio of University of Southern California, Kerry Ressler of Emory University, Joseph LeDoux of New York University, David Anderson of CalTech, and Eric Kandel of Columbia University.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016127
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/22/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On Episode Nine of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of mental illness with Kay Redfield Jamison of Johns Hopkins, Elyn Saks of University of Southern California, Jeffrey Lieberman of Columbia University, Helen Mayberg of Emory University, Stephen Warren of Emory University, and Eric Kandel of Columbia University.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016127
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

On Episode Nine of the Charlie Rose Brain Series, a discussion of mental illness with Kay Redfield Jamison of Johns Hopkins, Elyn Saks of University of Southern California, Jeffrey Lieberman of Columbia University, Helen Mayberg of Emory University, Stephen Warren of Emory University, and Eric Kandel of Columbia University.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: Science/Technology
NOLA: COSE 016130
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, the World Cup update with Jen Chang of Sports Illustrated, Tommy Smyth of ESPN and author Roger Bennett. Next, Walter Mossberg of The Wall Street Journal.

Category: SELF-HELP
NOLA: CBCB 000000V
Series Title: CHANGE YOUR BRAIN CHANGE YOUR BODY
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 120 Minutes
Airdate: 6/6/2010 9:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/6/2010 9:00:00 AM
Service: EPS
Format: SELF-HELP
Segment Length: 01:57:28:00

In Change Your Brain, Change Your Body, award winning psychiatrist and bestselling author Dr. Daniel Amen gives you 10 very simple steps that will help you: live longer, look younger, be thinner, and decrease your risk for Alzheimer's disease, depression, heart disease, cancer and diabetes. If you want a better body the first place to start is by having a better brain. The first secret is that most weight problems occur between your ears. The second secret is that there is not one brain pattern associated with being overweight: There are at least five different patterns. And knowing about your own specific brain will make losing weight and keeping it off a whole lot easier. In this program, Dr. Amen gives viewers 10 steps to have a better brain and a better body. Change Your Brain, Change Your Body is the highly anticipated program that will inspire audiences to explore the many ways they, their family and friends, can boost their brains to improve their health.

Category: SELF-HELP
NOLA: CBCB 000000V
Series Title: CHANGE YOUR BRAIN CHANGE YOUR BODY
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 120 Minutes
Airdate: 6/13/2010 4:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/13/2010 4:00:00 PM
Service: EPS
Format: SELF-HELP
Segment Length: 01:57:28:00

In Change Your Brain, Change Your Body, award winning psychiatrist and bestselling author Dr. Daniel Amen gives you 10 very simple steps that will help you: live longer, look younger, be thinner, and decrease your risk for Alzheimer's disease, depression, heart disease, cancer and diabetes. If you want a better body the first place to start is by having a better brain. The first secret is that most weight problems occur between your ears. The second secret is that there is not one brain pattern associated with being overweight: There are at least five different patterns. And knowing about your own specific brain will make losing weight and keeping it off a whole lot easier. In this program, Dr. Amen gives viewers 10 steps to have a better brain and a better body. Change Your Brain, Change Your Body is the highly anticipated program that will inspire audiences to explore the many ways they, their family and friends, can boost their brains to improve their health.

Category: SELF-HELP

NOLA: CBCB 000000V
Series Title: CHANGE YOUR BRAIN CHANGE YOUR BODY
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 120 Minutes
Airdate: 6/17/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/17/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: EPS
Format: SELF-HELP
Segment Length: 01:57:28:00

In Change Your Brain, Change Your Body, award winning psychiatrist and bestselling author Dr. Daniel Amen gives you 10 very simple steps that will help you: live longer, look younger, be thinner, and decrease your risk for Alzheimer's disease, depression, heart disease, cancer and diabetes. If you want a better body the first place to start is by having a better brain. The first secret is that most weight problems occur between your ears. The second secret is that there is not one brain pattern associated with being overweight: There are at least five different patterns. And knowing about your own specific brain will make losing weight and keeping it off a whole lot easier. In this program, Dr. Amen gives viewers 10 steps to have a better brain and a better body. Change Your Brain, Change Your Body is the highly anticipated program that will inspire audiences to explore the many ways they, their family and friends, can boost their brains to improve their health.

Category: SELF-HELP
NOLA: CBCB 000000V
Series Title: CHANGE YOUR BRAIN CHANGE YOUR BODY
Episode Title: NONE
Length: 120 Minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/19/2010 2:00:00 PM
Service: EPS
Format: SELF-HELP
Segment Length: 01:57:28:00

In Change Your Brain, Change Your Body, award winning psychiatrist and bestselling author Dr. Daniel Amen gives you 10 very simple steps that will help you: live longer, look younger, be thinner, and decrease your risk for Alzheimer's disease, depression, heart disease, cancer and diabetes. If you want a better body the first place to start is by having a better brain. The first secret is that most weight problems occur between your ears. The second secret is that there is not one brain pattern associated with being overweight: There are at least five different patterns. And knowing about your own specific brain will make losing weight and keeping it off a whole lot easier. In this program, Dr. Amen gives viewers 10 steps to have a better brain and a better body. Change Your Brain, Change Your Body is the highly anticipated program that will inspire audiences to explore the many ways they, their family and friends, can boost their brains to improve their health.

Category: Social Services
NOLA: COSE 016123
Series Title: Charlie Rose

Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/16/2010 11:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Bill Gates, Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett in an exclusive conversation about The Giving Pledge.

Category: Social Services
NOLA: COSE 016123
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/17/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/16/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Bill Gates, Melinda Gates and Warren Buffett in an exclusive conversation about The Giving Pledge.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/28/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary

Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: SAMF 001502
Series Title: Alan Alda in Scientific American Frontiers
Episode Title: Cars that Think
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/29/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 1/26/2005 8:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The fully automatic car may be down the road a ways, but cars that do your thinking for you are just around the corner - they watch out for hazards, they listen to you, they read your lips, they even know when you're distracted.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 6:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes

Airdate: 4/9/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: AMEX 001902
Series Title: Eyes on the Prize: American Experience
Episode Title: Ain't Scared of Your Jails 1960-1961/No Easy Walk 1961-1963
Length: 120 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 3:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 10/9/2006 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Documentary
Segment Length: 01:56:45

Ain't Scared of Your Jails (1960-1961): Black college students take a leadership role in the civil rights movement as lunch counter sit-ins spread across the South. "Freedom Riders" also try to desegregate interstate buses, but they are brutally attacked as they travel; No Easy Walk (1961-1963): The civil rights movement discovers the power of mass demonstrations as the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. emerges as its most visible leader. Some demonstrations succeed; others fail. But the triumphant March on Washington, D.C., under King's leadership, shows a mounting national support for civil rights. President John F. Kennedy proposes the Civil Rights Act.

Category: Transportation

NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation

NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/24/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation

NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation

NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: Transportation
NOLA: WWIR 004942
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/25/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/23/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Fixing Wall Street, why it's not like fixing health care, plus auto bailouts and climate controversy, tonight on Washington Week. Down to the wire or yet another big reform bill. President Barack Obama said, "What's not legitimate is to suggest that somehow the legislation being proposed is going to encourage future taxpayer bailouts, as some have claimed. That makes for a good sound bite, but it's not factually accurate. It is not true." Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-KY) said, "The administration has said it wants to end bailouts. I say to them, prove it." But this time, both sides say there is hope for bipartisanship. As election year fire is focused instead at financial institutions once deemed too big to fail. At the same time, General Motors, which also receives government rescue help, begins to bounce back. Mr. Edward Whitacre, "I am very pleased to announce that, as of today, General Motors has repaid in full and with interest. Worth clapping about." But there is always another big debate just around the corner, next stop, energy reform. Covering the week, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Janet Hook of the Los Angeles Times, David Shepardson of the Detroit News, and Jeanne Cummings of Politico.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security

NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended

Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001350
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Andrew J. Bacevich: Historian, international relations expert and former U.S. Army Colonel Andrew J. Bacevich returns to the JOURNAL to discuss America's long war in Afghanistan. Endangered Languages: More about endangered languages and the Ojibwe Vocabulary Project. Louise Erdrich: Renowned for her mastery of multiple genres -- including thirteen novels, poetry, children's literature, and a memoir of early motherhood. Louise Erdrich discusses how her Native American heritage and unique cultural experience has impacted her life, motherhood, and work. Web Exclusive: Andrew Bacevich Extended Interview: In a web exclusive continuation of his conversation with Bill Moyers, Andrew J. Bacevich reflects on the politics of war.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 4/17/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 8:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/17/2010
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 4:30:00 PM

O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: BMJL 001351
Series Title: Bill Moyers Journal
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/18/2010 5:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/16/2010 9:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Moyers on the True Costs of War: Bill Moyers on one mayor's efforts to make the cost of Afghanistan and Iraq manifest in his town of Binghamton, New York. Simon Johnson and James Kwak on Bank Reform: How did Big Finance grow so powerful that its hijinks nearly brought down the global economy and what hope is there for real reform with Washington politicians on Wall Street's payroll? Bill Moyers talks with authors Simon Johnson and James Kwak, two of the nation's most respected economic experts and authors of the new book, "13 Bankers: The Wall Street Takeover and The Next Financial Meltdown."

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016084
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Gen. David Petraeus, Commander of the U.S. Central Command. Next, a discussion about Afghanistan with Dexter Filkins of The New York Times and Greg Jaffe of The Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016084
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Gen. David Petraeus, Commander of the U.S. Central Command. Next, a discussion about Afghanistan with Dexter Filkins of The New York Times and Greg Jaffe of The Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016084
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 4/23/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/22/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Gen. David Petraeus, Commander of the U.S. Central Command. Next, a discussion about Afghanistan with Dexter Filkins of The New York Times and Greg Jaffe of The Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes

Airdate: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016092
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/4/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Charlie speaks with Tom Watson, Hall of Fame Professional Golfer. Next, Police Commissioner Ray Kelly discusses the attempted attack on Times Square.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016098
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/12/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

As President Karzai visits with President Obama we look at Afghanistan with Alissa Rubin of The New York Times, Karen DeYoung of The Washington Post and Stephen Biddle from the Council on Foreign Relations. Next, Charlie speaks with Country music legend Willie Nelson.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016107
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 5/26/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Carl Schramm, President and CEO of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation discusses entrepreneurship and education. Next, Sebastian Junger discusses his book "War." The book follows a platoon of American soldiers stationed in Afghanistan.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016117
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/8/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Peter Beinart discusses his book, "The Icarus Syndrome: A History of American Hubris." Next, Academy Award nominee and Tony-winner Viola Davis and director Kenny Leon discuss their play 'Fences.'

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016128
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Gen. Stanley McChrystal and Afghanistan: The story of a President, 2 Generals, the future of a war and magazine story. The implications on the resignation of General Stanley McChrystal. We talk to David Kilcullen, former counter insurgency advisor to David Petraeus, Eric Bates, Eliot Cohen, Rajiv Chandrasekaran, Michael Gordon and Dexter Filkins. We close with excerpts from past interviews with General McChrystal and General David Petraeus.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016128
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Gen. Stanley McChrystal and Afghanistan: The story of a President, 2 Generals, the future of a war and magazine story. The implications on the resignation of General Stanley McChrystal. We talk to David Kilcullen, former counter insurgency advisor to David Petraeus, Eric Bates, Eliot Cohen, Rajiv Chandrasekaran, Michael Gordon and Dexter Filkins. We close with excerpts from past interviews with General McChrystal and General David Petraeus.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016128
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/23/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

A look at Gen. Stanley McChrystal and Afghanistan: The story of a President, 2 Generals, the future of a war and magazine story. The implications on the resignation of General Stanley McChrystal. We talk to David Kilcullen, former counter insurgency advisor to David Petraeus, Eric Bates, Eliot Cohen, Rajiv Chandrasekaran, Michael Gordon and Dexter Filkins. We close with excerpts from past interviews with General McChrystal and General David Petraeus.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016129
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

With increased focus on Afghanistan and the arrival of General Petraeus, we talk to Senator John Kerry, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Next, Pentagon insider and friend of General Petraeus, General Jack Keane.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016129
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

With increased focus on Afghanistan and the arrival of General Petraeus, we talk to Senator John Kerry, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Next, Pentagon insider and friend of General Petraeus, General Jack Keane.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016129
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 2:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/24/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

With increased focus on Afghanistan and the arrival of General Petraeus, we talk to Senator John Kerry, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Next, Pentagon insider and friend of General Petraeus, General Jack Keane.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016132
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Elena Kagan Supreme Court confirmation hearing with Nina Totenberg of NPR and Sam Stein of Huffington Post. Next, Gen. David Petraeus confirmation hearing with David Martin of CBS News, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" and retired U.S. Army Colonel Peter Mansoor.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: COSE 016132
Series Title: Charlie Rose
Length: 60 minutes
Airdate: 6/30/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/29/2010 11:00:00 PM
Service: PBS-PLUS
Format: Interview/Discussion/Review
Segment Length: 00:00:00

First, Elena Kagan Supreme Court confirmation hearing with Nina Totenberg of NPR and Sam Stein of Huffington Post. Next, Gen. David Petraeus confirmation hearing with David Martin of CBS News, Jonathan Alter of "Newsweek" and retired U.S. Army Colonel Peter Mansoor.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/3/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004939
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/4/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/2/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Drilling for energy and for support on health care, shaking hands with the troops on a surprise trip overseas, and uncovering a possible threat to domestic security, tonight on Washington Week. The president rallies for support of the health care law as new poll numbers show low marks for him and Congress. The president says, give it a chance. President Barack Obama said, "The polls haven't changed yet. Well, yes, it just happened last week." Looking to expand the energy sources, the administration takes the first steps in allowing more oil and gas drilling offshore. Sec. Ken Salazar said, "This is a good balance between conservation and development that gives us the energy security that we need." But how much energy would it actually produce at how much risk to the environment? Half a world away, a reminder of the struggles in Afghanistan and Iraq, as the president visits American troops. President Obama said, "We did not choose this war. This was not an act of America wanting to expand its influence." But did he make any headway with the government in Afghanistan plagued by corruption? And the FBI rounds up nine members of a militia style group in Michigan charged with plotting violence against police. FBI Agent: They could kill a lot of people just by themselves. What does it tell us about the threat of domestic terrorism? Those stories this week from the reporters who covered them: Dan Balz of the Washington Post, John Harwood of CNBC and the New York Times, Martha Raddatz of ABC News, and Michael Duffy of Time Magazine.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM

Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940

Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/11/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/9/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crow its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004940
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 4/10/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/9/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Just when you thought the news might slow down, we have a new Supreme Court vacancy, that plus nukes, Karzai, Steele, and tea party politics, tonight on Washington Week. After nearly 90 years on the planet and 34 years on the bench, Justice John Paul Stevens steps aside. We look at his past and the court's future. Just as consequential, two old Cold War foes agree to limit nuclear weapons. President Barack Obama said, "A nuclear weapon in the hands of a terrorist is a danger to people everywhere." While the U.S. wrestles with a newly troubled partnership. President Hamid Karzai said, "Afghanistan is the home of Afghans and we own this place and our partners are here to help in a cause that's all of us." A White House Reporter asked, "Is Karzai our ally?" Robert Gibbs replied, "Karzai is the democratically elected leader of Afghanistan." And at home, the Republican Party searches for a way to crowd its activists. Sarah Palin said, "Don't retreat, reload. And that is not a call for violence." And its party chairman. Michael Steele said, "I hear the leadership. We're taking steps to make sure that we're even more, how should we say, fiscally conservative in our spending." Covering the week: Joan Biskupic of USA Today, David Sanger of the New York Times, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Charles Babington of the Associated Press.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 5/9/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004944
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/7/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Three tangled tales: the latest New York terror plot, the growing oil spill disaster in the Gulf, and the political impasse in Great Britain, tonight on Washington Week. Mayor Michael Bloomberg said, "This was an act that was designed to kill innocent civilians and strike fear into the hearts of Americans. And I'm happy to say that it failed on both counts." Rep. John Boehner (R-OH) said, "Yes, we've been lucky, but luck is not an effective strategy for fighting the terrorist threat." Alert New Yorkers and law enforcement officers foiled yet another attempted terror plot. But was it chance or competence that stopped Faisal Shahzad from carrying out his deadly plans. In the Gulf of Mexico, oil continues to gush into the sea, while the hunt continues for a cause and a solution. Doug Suttles said, "We stress that this has never been done before. We'll likely encounter numerous challenges and but we'll remain committed to make it work." Sec. Janet Napolitano said, "The possibility remains that the BP oil spill could turn into an unprecedented environmental disaster." President Barack Obama said, "I want to emphasize from day one we have prepared and planned for the worst, even as we hoped for the best." While in Great Britain, an unpredictable election yields an unexpected outcome. Prime Minister Gordon Brown said, "People do not like the uncertainty or want it to be prolonged. We live, however, in a parliamentary democracy." Covering the week: Pierre Thomas of ABC News, Peter Baker of the New York Times, Elizabeth Shogren of National Public Radio, and in London, Dan Balz of the Washington Post.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/20/2010 12:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill."

And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/20/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/20/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill."

And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/18/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill."

And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/19/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill." And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004950
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/19/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/18/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

The continuing oil disaster. Apologies everywhere, but not a solution to be found. Plus, the latest on debates on Afghanistan and from the Supreme Court, tonight on Washington Week. Rep. Bart Stupak (D-MI) said, "Truth, the whole truth, nothing but the truth the matter pending before this committee?" Tony Hayward, CEO of BP (British Petroleum) answered, "I do." The oil disaster debate moves to Washington with dramatic hearings." Mr. Hayward said, "If this investigation determines that anytime anyone put cost before safety, then we will take action." Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-GA) said, "Well, with all due respect, Mr. Hayward, I think you're copping out." Mr. Tony Hayward responded, "With respect, sir, we drill hundreds of wells a year all around the world." Sen. Michael Burgess (R - TX) said, "Yes, I know. That's what's scaring me right now." Partial payback. President Barack Obama said, "I'm pleased to announce that BP has agreed to set aside $20 billion to pay claims for damages resulting from this spill."

And wild pitches. Carl-Henric Svanberg, Chairman of BP said, "We care about the small people." Rep. Joe Barton (R-TX) said, "It is a tragedy of the first proportion that a private corporation can be subjected to what I would characterize as a shakedown, in this case a $20-billion shakedown. I want to apologize for that misconstrued -- misconstruction." Yet the oil continues to flow. John Young, Chairman Jefferson Parish Council, Louisiana said, "We're in a war, and at this point in time unfortunately we're losing the battle." While a separate debate rages about a real war. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "This is June, 2010. Are we winning?" Gen. David Petraeus said, "Winning to a counterinsurgent center means making progress. And in that regard I think that we are winning." And the Supreme Court weighs in on text messaging. Covering the week Charles Babington of the Associated Press, Juliet Eilperin of the Washington Post, Doyle McManus of the Los Angeles Times, and Joan Biskupic of USA Today.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/25/2010 11:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News

Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 1:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said,

"With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/26/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 3:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes

Airdate: 6/27/2010 4:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting

the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 12:00:00 PM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: War/Veterans/National Security
NOLA: WWIR 004951
Series Title: Washington Week
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 6/27/2010 7:00:00 AM
O.B. Date: 6/25/2010 8:00:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: News
Segment Length: 00:00:00

Stanley McChrystal is out. David Petraeus is in. What was the ousted general thinking? And what happens now? We tackle those questions tonight on Washington Week. President Barack Obama said, "I welcome debate among my team, but I won't tolerate division." Adm. Mike Mullen said, "We do not have the right nor should we ever assume the prerogative to cast doubt upon the ability or mock the motives of our civilian leaders, elected or appointed." Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-SC) said, "I've been a military officer most of my adult life and there's lines you can't cross. Those lines were crossed." There he goes. Sen. Bill Nelson (D-FL) said, "I think Petraeus is a brilliant choice. I think he is the guy who clearly is schooled in counterinsurgency." Here he comes. As the war in Afghanistan rages, the President gets a commander-in-chief moment. And just as he leaves for an international economic meeting in Canada today, Congress reaches agreement on Wall Street reform. Rep. Barney Frank (D-MA) said, "With the votes of the House and Senate I declare the bill passed and the conference committee is now adjourned." And not a moment too soon, as polls show the president's approval slipping and Republicans get good news in South Carolina. Nikki Haley, GOP Candidate for South Carolina Governor: This is the movement about the idea of government being open and accountable to the people. Setting the stage for critical midterm elections. Covering the week: Martha Raddatz of ABC News, Michael Duffy of Time Magazine, Eamon Javers of CNBC, and James Barnes of National Journal.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo

de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/8/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo

de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/6/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/5/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/7/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo

de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/2/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/3/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000101
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Rhythm and Strings
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/4/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 12/8/2008 10:00:00 AM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," watch a hypnotic performance on the marimba by sixteen-year-old Joshua Jones of Chicago, Illinois. Also featured is twelve-year-old violinist Anna Lee from Queens, New York. Accompanied by host Christopher O'Reilley, Anna gives a performance of Pablo de Saraste's Ziguenerweisen (Gypsy Airs), Op. 20, No. 1, and also appears as one-third of the Maggiore Trio - the third and final performers featured on this episode.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 2:30:00 AM

O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents

Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert

Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/11/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/9/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS

Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/10/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/14/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/12/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert

Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/13/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartók's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000102
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Star Quality

Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/15/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 4/12/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

Renowned violinist Gil Shaham appears on "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," joined by 10-year-old violinist and Red Sox fan Alice Ivy-Pemberton from New York City, for a performance of the third movement Allegro from Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, BWV 1043." Alice, who frequents Lincoln Center's violin shop and spends a great deal of time at Columbia University, where her parents are professors, also performs the first movement Prima Parte (Lassu) from Bartok's "Rhapsody No. 1 (Folk Dances) for Violin and Piano," accompanied by host Christopher O'Riley. Also featured on the episode is 17-year old pianist Ji-Yong Kim from Midland Park, New Jersey, who performs Robert Schumann's "Widmung" (arr. Liszt) and explains what it's like to be both a normal high school student and a classical pianist with professional management.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 1:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/17/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/16/2010 10:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 5:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/19/2010 8:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103

Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 2:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 4:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/18/2010 7:30:00 AM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.

Category: Youth
NOLA: FTOC 000103
Series Title: From the Top at Carnegie Hall Special Edition
Episode Title: Music Is Where the Heart Is
Length: 30 minutes
Airdate: 5/22/2010 9:30:00 PM
O.B. Date: 5/3/2009 10:30:00 PM
Service: PBS
Format: Performance
Segment Length: 00:26:46

In this special edition of "From the Top at Carnegie Hall," we learn that no matter how far from home we are, we always have a home in the things we love. Seventeen-year-old pianist Ronald Joseph grew up outside of New Orleans but temporarily relocated to New York in the wake of Hurricane Katrina to study at Juilliard. Thirteen-year-old Nikki Yanofsky from Hampstead, Quebec sings "Old McDonald Had a Farm," scat-style. And host Christopher O'Riley accompanies 17-year-old violinist Allyson Tomsy as she performs a Gershwin piece.